Glenn seemed to have a knack of finding the different companies in plumbing, wiring, painting, etc to help him in his work and he worked for others, too.

A young fellow of his age left such a mark in so short a time, a feat that people much older than Glenn often do not accomplish in a lifetime. Therefore, Hardisty feels this loss of so capable a young man very deeply.

He and his brother Stanley had great plans for building various projects in town this summer. His brother was just moving to Hardisty from Fort McMurray when this tragedy occurred.

The impact that Glenn had on other peoples' lives was tremendous and we all feel this loss greatly.

His father and grandmother in Ontario, as well as other relatives, mourn his passing, as does his brother Stanley, Jean, his loving wife Janis, Tracy and Sammy, as well as Janis' relatives in the Duncan, B.C. area.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives and many friends for their kindness shown us during the tragic accident of husband and father, Glen Oldfield.

To the unknown person reporting the accident, to MacLeod's Funeral Home, Rev. Jackson, the choir and organist of St. Paul's United Church.

For the many, many donations of food to the house, cards received, telephone calls, also various donations.

For the comforting presence of relatives from Ontario and B.C., our grateful thanks.

Thank you, too, to pallbearers Elgin Queenel, Eric Meigaard, Richard Burnett, Stanley Oldfield, Lon Oldfield, Leonard Quast.

Your thoughtfulness will be long remembered.

Janice Oldfield, Tracy, Sammy

Lougheed sees week of visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schmidt of Weyburn, Saskatchewan and daughter Doreen of High River were visiting Lloyd and Louise Schmidt and family a few days last week.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. T. Kenny and family on the death of his grandson in an accident in Edmonton.

Molly Ferneyhough spent a few days visiting her brother near Chauvin last week. While there, she visited with Jack and Betty Gibbs and family, also the Frank and Noreen Halletts.

Congratulations to the Lougheed Grade 9 students. Their graduation night was Friday, June 22.

Well, it seems like it can rain quite easily now, especially in some places. It keeps busy, busy with mowing lawns and the weeds.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Grove and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Loaness and family were last weekend visitors in Lethbridge with the Johnnie Groves' family.

Mr. Chuck Mareschal spent last week with his parents in Domremy, Saskatchewan. Chuck returned home Sunday.

On Sunday, June 17, visitors for dinner at Essie Dragers were her relatives from Nova Scotia, Mel and Sandra Pushie, also Isabel Drake from Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan, and Mr. and Mrs. William Pushie and Steve of Wainwright. Then last Friday, Essie had Mrs. Beth Freathy of Kamloops, B.C. and Dave and Ida May Black and Mrs. Dorothy Lane from Sedgewick for afternoon tea.

Sympathy is extended to the Storbakken family on the passing of Mr. Storbakken of Sedgewick. A number of Lougheed people attended the funeral on Friday.

On Sunday night, Lougheed and district was shocked and saddened when four Lougheed and two Edmonton young people lost their lives in a car-truck accident just east and south of Lougheed. Deepest sympathy is extended to the families from the Lougheed community.

Thunder showers followed by warm suns make excellent growing conditions. During the month of June, 119.4 mm of rain and hail were recorded in Alliance.

This entry of Porky Pig, Big Bird and the Cookie Monster from Sesame Street was a popular entry in the July 2nd Parade at Sedgewick. While we are not sure, the people walked a lot like some unnamed ladies from south of Sedgewick.

These are before and after photos of part of Hardisty's Main Street Project. A number of these flower and shrub barrels were placed along main street thus adding a touch of green to the town.

But it seems not all people appreciate the beauty or efforts to enhance the town. Late Saturday evening or morning the contents of one of the barrels were upturned and strewn about and the barrel taken away.

Anyone who may know anything about this should contact the R.C.M.P. or you may contact The Community Press.

Busy Time At Hardisty

A big event coming up this weekend is Hardisty's Round-Up Days on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, July 6, 7 and 8.

Friday's activities start at 1 p.m. featuring, among others, a Sidewalk Sale and Farmers' Market all afternoon. Last year's popular "Gong Show" is going to be repeated and goes at 7:00 in the arena. Following that is a free Ched Disco from 9:00 to 1:00 a.m.

Saturday starts with a Pancake Breakfast at 7:00 at the Elks Hall. The parade goes at 10:00 a.m. with lots of activities filling the afternoon. The Hardisty and District Agricultural Society is sponsoring a barbecue at 5 p.m. in the arena, followed by a Snack and Dance from 9:00 to 1:00.

Sunday is rodeo day, put on by the Battle River Light Horse Assoc. A Pancake Breakfast will be served at 7:00 once again, in the Elks Hall, with the rodeo and gymkhana starting at 1:00 at the Stampede Grounds.

Two new businesses are also holding Grand Openings in Hardisty this weekend. Danny Sims will be opening "All Season Sports Centre" and Granger Enterprises will be opening a "Hardisty Mohawk". Go and congratulate the new owners during the weekend.

Play It Safe

Many boaters are setting out this summer on Canada's lakes and waterways, and some are not familiar enough with the operation of their boats.

Learning to navigate involves mainly two things. The first is to become full conversant with all the rules regarding steering and navigation before setting out because it will be too late to look things up when you are headed on a collision course with another boat. The second is to gain the necessary experience.

If you don't feel confident with boats, it would be safer to take your boat out accompanied by an experienced friend and try your hand at steering before you take others out for a spin.

Sound seamanship is not only knowing your boat and your own capabilities, it is also knowing the waters you want to navigate. The Canada Safety Council recommends that you familiarize yourself with local tides and the buoyage system. If you are planning to navigate only on inland waters such as lakes, then tides won't be a problem.

There is however a certain amount of tidal action in rivers that flow into the sea, especially at their mouth. If you intend to do most of your boating in the ocean then you should, for your own safety, learn all you can about wind, tides and tidal currents.

As the boat population increases, so do accidents. For example, fire and explosions are still claiming lives and causing injuries. Most experts agree that the highest risk of explosion exists immediately after refuelling. So if you are refuelling you should take extra precaution in order that your holidays don't start with a BANG!

What Others Say

Challenge to the work ethic

Sir William Osler, the Canadian physician who was one of the makers of modern medicine, said this in one of his essays: "Happiness lies in the absorption in some vocation which satisfies the soul."

Yes, of course. But the kinds of drudgery which many people today must face in their work are enervating and demoralizing and terribly frustrating. For many there is little satisfaction, little fulfilment, in their daily work. For them work is primarily an ordeal that must be undergone in order to make money for the basic necessities of life and for leisure-time activities in which some personal fulfilment may be found.

We who find fulfilment in our work must resist the temptation to be over critical of those whose work is dull or distastefull, those whose work consists mainly of routines which can put callouses on the heart as well as on the hands, those who labour merely for existence and for the leisure in which they can find their main fulfilment.

A few years ago, a team of social scientists predicted that in the year 2000 the general pattern of work in the developed parts of the world will be one of a seven and one-half work day instead of eight, with four working days a week instead of five and only 39 working weeks per year compared to the present 50. In the face of all that is now happening in our society, that seems a fairly reasonable forecast. Our society is already becoming leisure-oriented in many ways.

How will we respond to the new leisure? Will we use it for making our lives more humane and more fulfilling? Already there is evidence that many of us are succumbing to the devastating boredom that is always a threat to those who have much leisure.

Dr. Viktor Frankl, one of the more influential psychiatrists of our time, points out that "Boredom is now causing, and certainly brings to psychiatrists, more problems to solve than is distress." Bertrand Russell one said, "Boredom is a vital problem for the moralist, since at least half the sins of mankind are caused by fear of it."

In an age of increasing leisure for most people, art and music and drama and literature and sports become increasingly significant in our society. And religion can play a creative role here, helping people get beyond their anxieties and insecurities to awareness of life's deepest meanings. And, as Bertrand Russell went on to say, "If a leisure population is to be happy, it must be an educated population, and must be educated with a view to mental enjoyment as well as to the direct usefulness of technical knowledge."

JASPER, Canada's Safety Bear

In climbing a dead tree, the fun may be great. But beware, the old limbs may not bear your weight.

The Third Column

by Truncate
I Write As I Please

"BOAT PEOPLE" is the appellation the Western world has seen fit to apply to the refugees from Vietnam who are desperately attempting to establish a new life elsewhere in the world. Sick unto death of the restrictive nature of their homeland and the economic conditions of a forced way of life, they are willing to surrender all they have, property, yes even life, for the freedom to live as free people. Here is a people starved to the point of emaciation, drained of sensitivity, physically & emotionally bankrupt, yet holding fast to the desire for a better way of life. Vietnam displays to the world today a total disregard for human life, and the absolute power which holds supreme in Hanoi has become the prime example of totalitarian power gone mad.

THE ASIAN NATIONS of that part of the world have taken many, many thousands of these unfortunates and are bravely attempting to provide the basic necessities of life. Yet with so many millions of their own on the verge of starvation it is difficult to condemn them for not accepting more. China alone has ten percent of its population starving by western standards. To the average layman that may not seem like a very high percentage, yet ten percent means millions when based on the total population of 700 million. Many of the other countries are in the same situation. Communist countries just do not consider such charity as part of civilization, so where does that leave us?

ONE OF THE MOST POISONOUS among contemporary forces confronting us today is RACISM. It is exceeded in immediate emergency only by the necessity of avoiding the prospects of atomic warfare. Racism is more explosive than any other social congerie and it endangers, in all its various forms, the survival of Western civilization. It threatens essential values with extinction, and it is tragic to see honest and earnest Western countries talking about Racism as though it can be dealt with at our leisure. Time may be running out on our thinking, for after all the supposed superior white skinned man is only a minority.

THE PATHETIC DISEASE of prejudice reached its climax in the doctrine of Aryanism devised by the Nazis for the purpose of political expediency. This notion of a master race was expanded in the exingencies of military alliance and finally global warfare. There is no need here to expand on that aspect for too many of us have lived through it. Suffice to say we had better make certain that it happens no more.

WE HAVE BECOME a "fat and sassy" people, a race of self-satisfied people who are content to wallow in our wealth and revel in a society which is slowly but surely sinking into moral decay. Sometimes I wonder if we really deserve Democracy which was founded upon theistic, not atheistic, secular or humanistic presuppositions. Democracy is simply faith in the capacity of the common man to discern truth, to see and accept and live by ideals. It is belief in freedom of speech and assembly and press, while recognizing that perhaps some untrue and foolish things may be said, and that we may even say some of them. Democracy is the belief that individuals have a capacity for high moral dignity; that what hurts personality is wrong and what enriches it right. Democracy believes that man can be inspired and led to put the general good of mankind above his own selfish interests and ambition and that he finds true happiness in service to others.

WITH THIS KIND of background it does not seem reasonable that we should be quibbling about accepting a few thousand destitute refugees whose only ambition at present is to live and survive in some place where freedom and dignity have not given way to tyranny and where honest labor is rewarded with enough to provide the necessary food, clothes and shelter to afford a decent way of life. Can we as citizens of a Democratic country do less than offer our accommodation to these destitute refugees?

These were very exciting. And results were sometimes surprising, but lots of prizes were won. It's not really that easy to run very fast with your head inside a paper bag!

A downpour of rain with thunder and lightning and some hail sent everyone home in a hurry, although it was almost impossible to see the road at times.

However, nearly all of the people came back to Galahad and had coffee and cake in the Church basement. There was hardly any rain in Galahad.

GREEN ACRES

by Roger Andriuk, DA

Throughout the countryside I noticed that many hay crops are at the stage where they should be put up. This brings to mind two major factors that should be considered for turning a good hay stand into good winter feed. These are proper timing at haying and proper storage of the hay.

Forages are most nutritious, palatable and most digestible at an early stage of growth. When legumes are cut as soon as they bloom, and grasses as soon as they head, they will have a maximum protein and nutrient level with a minimum of fibre. Most of the nutrients in forages crops are found in the leaves, for example 70% of the protein and 80% of the carotene in legumes are found here. High quality forages is determined by leafiness, bright green color, succulence and a palatable texture. Growth beyond the previously stage results in increased fibre content as the nutrients concentrate in the seeds and roots of the plants.

Early cutting of hay also permits taking off an extra cutting. Besides providing better quality hay, early cutting removes the crop before soil moisture is depleted, thereby giving a better chance for a second cutting. Care should be taken not to second cut late in the fall when the forage is still growing. During late August and early September, carbohydrates are being stored in the roots, for the winter dormancy. If the top growth is removed during this time, the amount of carbohydrates stored may be insufficient, resulting in greater susceptibility to winter kill.

Weather is an important factor in achieving high quality hay, because so much depends on the length of curing time. Rapid curing is essential so that the chances of spoilage due to weathering are minimized. A crimper or conditioner is recommended because it greatly reduces drying time. To avoid excessive leaf loss, the hay should be handled when still slightly tough.

Once the hay has been harvested, proper storage is needed, to maintain high quality. Loose hay and round bales as hay characteristics to build a natural canopy. Moisture droplets will slide along the stems and shed from the stack or bale. Round bales should not be stacked on top of each other or rolled against each other, as moisture will collect in pockets formed and penetrate the hay, resulting in spoilage.

Square bales are ideal for handling smaller amounts of hay. These bales should be stacked as soon as possible after baling and protected by a shed or covered by a sheet of plastic.

In almost any haying system, good quality feed can be put up, keeping in mind the proper timing at haying and good storage of the hay crop.

I robbed you again this morning, of maternal instincts

His fullness
No magical powers.

You, tried desperately but in vain
with dry grass, leaves sage boughs, mud bits of string shaping a nest frantically framing my front door lamp.

But there will be no tiny eggs laid no gaping babies eagerly begging worms no fledglings spreading open wings soaring deep blue skies.

How intentional as I tear down you, rebuild bursting with excitement anticipating hardships you cannot win
unless of course
I, choose to let you

From one good energy manager...

You may think of an energy manager as a power plant engineer. You're right. But energy management is important in your home too!
Why? For one thing, we have to use Alberta's non-renewable resources to generate your electricity. For another, the costs of building and operating additional facilities are escalating.
The more you do to manage energy at home, the more you can save on your electricity bill now. And the more you'll help keep future cost increases to a manageable level.
There are many ways to manage electricity yet still enjoy a good lifestyle.

Most are little ways.
- Turning off lights when not needed does save electricity.
- Generally, small appliances use less electricity than larger ones, so for small amounts of cooking, use your frypan as a "mini-oven."
- Wash only full loads in your dishwasher.
- Plan your energy day to avoid using major appliances during the 5-7 p.m. "peak load" period.

Come to it. It's worth the energy!

Shower For Galahad Girl

Adeline Kuefler and Barbara Perreault were hostesses to a bridal shower for Donna Prohn in the Galahad Catholic Church basement on June 22, 1979.

Pat Wetmore was in charge of the program and as guests arrived they were given paper and pencil to write their advice for a happy marriage. Later in the program these were read aloud, then presented to Donna to keep as reference if ever needed. Several contests were enjoyed by all.

Donna, her mother, Kathleen Prohn and Peggy Prohn were seated at a beautifully decorated head table. Ethel McGowan with the assistance of Paul Maynes, presented the gifts to the bride-elect.

After the gifts had been opened and passed for all the guests to see, Donna thanked her hostesses for putting on the shower and all those present for coming. She also thanked everyone for the beautiful and useful gifts.

She invited all to her open house on the day of her wedding, June 30 at the Galahad School auditorium and also issued an invitation to visit her in her new home, which will be in Forestburg.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Pat and Curtis Wetmore and Ethel McGowan.

SECOND SECTION WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1979

Chamber Sponsors Contest

Drumheller has a Tyrannosaurus Rex. Vegreville has a Pysanka. Valleyview, a huge trumpeter swan, St. Paul, a flying saucer landing pad and Wainwright has a giant buffalo. Biggar, Saskatchewan has a sign proclaiming, "New York is Big, but this is Biggar".

What has Hardisty got that could entice passers-by and tourists to leave Hi-way 13 and drive one mile to visit our town? This was the question put to the members of the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce when they met for their regular meeting on June 27 at the Parkland Manor. Hardisty is blessed with a beautiful setting, a variety of accommodation and services, and friendly and imaginative people.

So, to these imaginative people, the Chamber issues a challenge for you to think of an idea to put Hardisty on the map, so to speak. The Chamber has decided to sponsor a contest involving three phases. We would like a suitable tourist attraction along the line of the ideas mentioned above; a town logo; and a slogan that would be suitable for use on a highway sign to entice people to visit us.

There will be a prize of $25.00 offered in each category and some bright person might actually pick up all the prize money by coming up with an idea that could be incorporated into all three categories. The contest will be open over the summer, closing date to be Wednesday, September 26, which will be the next regular meeting date for the Chamber, after the summer recess. A panel of judges consisting of chamber members will make the selections and it is to be noted that if no suitable entry is received in any of the categories, then no prize money will be awarded in that category.

So come on people and put on your thinking caps, and help us come up with a super idea. This would be a wonderful way for Hardisty to honor Alberta's Diamond Jubilee which occurs in 1980. Mail your entries to Rose Marie Thompson, Publicity Chairman, Hardisty Chamber of Commerce. If you have any questions regarding the contest feel free to contact Rose Marie at 888-3519.

In other Chamber business, Alan Thompson, Hospital Building Committee representative, asked the Chamber to circulate and tabulate the results of a questionairre in regards to the new hospital facilities. These questionaires should be ready in a few weeks and the results will be used by the Building Committee as part of their Government presentation in support of a new hospital. These questionaires will be mailed to all people in the area and because such an important issue is at stake, it is hoped that everyone will take the time to complete theirs and send it back.

Continuing with committee reports, Doug Drever had no new report on membership. Lacy Syder and her Welcome Committee are nearing completion on preparing the Welcome Book. Rose Marie Thompson reported on Publicity and the Downtown Main Street Project. The main street planters are in place and once the trees and shrubs are fully leafed out and the flowers in bloom, they will provide a welcome addition to main street. It should be remembered that each business person is responsible for care and watering of the planter in front of their premises. Failure to do so will result in the moving of the planter to a different location. Lucy and Alan volunteered to keep an eye on the situation.

The remainder of the meeting was conducted by Business Manager Doug Broughton and dealt with Round-Up Days. The Legion Pancake Breakfast on Saturday morning will be held in the Elks Hall and not in the Legion Hut as previously advertised.

Darcy stated that 31 firms have contracted to participate in the Round-Up Days promotion package and a tremendous amount of interest has been shown by out of town concerns in taking part in the Sidewalk Sales on Friday. Parade Chairman Joyce Harrison has already received a sizeable amount of entries for the Saturday morning parade. There are still openings for entries to the Gong Show on Friday night. Please phone Jean Dunn at 888-3662 or Shari Drager at 888-3567. Remember $300. in prize money is offered to the winners of the Gong Show.

Sedgewick Chamber Re-Elects Al Strobel

A combined regular and annual meeting of the Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce followed a barbecue held Tuesday, June 26 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pottage. Forty members and guests were welcomed by Vice-President Al Strobel.

Reports from four committees were heard. The crossing committee, lead by C. Beairsto, reported that the county had been approached with a suggestion for an emergency route into town which would be north from town, then west past the county shops to a line east of the Tisdall farm then south across the tracks and onto Highway 13. It urged that this project be pursued to completion.

The committee concerned with issuing permits to out-of town tradesmen doing business in town, led by Mel Kapicki, reported that a letter had been printed to the town council and the matter left to their consideration.

Mr. Kapicki also reported that a map remembering all the streets and avenues except the new section had been prepared.

Ken Offord, reporting for the town, stated the storage building was now up next to the fire hall and that a new fire truck was being bought. No cut in taxes is anticipated. Tenders to complete the curbs and gutters are out. Engineers are working on Phase 2 in the new subdivision where multiple unit housing will be provided. Three other areas of the town are to be developed, two for industrial and commercial and one for residential use. A new neon sign for the town office has been obtained.

The trailer dump, which was built by Hal Sparrow is now complete and the chamber is ready to grant the assistance requested.

The secretary was instructed to write a letter to Travel Alberta asking that more information about Sedgewick be included in next year's publication, copies to be sent to the Battle River Tourist Association and to Tom Lysons, M.L.A for our constituency.

A discussion about the repairs to the sidewalks in the main part of town, and sidewalks, curbs and gutters for the new areas took place. It was pointed out that residents in the new area had paid for these amenities and were entitled to them.

Mr. Ray Pottage made a request for help on the gate Sunday, July 1.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: President - Al Strobel; Vice-President - Vic Albrecht; Secretary-Treasurer-Mrs. Helen Alexander; Business and Promotion - Ray Pottage and Ernie Koshki; Membership - Mel Kapicki and Terry Robinson; Entertainment - Judy Kapicki, Bob Hansen, Colin Cumberland, and Colvin Beairsto; and Agriculture - Carol Arntzen, James Baker, and John Baker.

Next chamber meeting will be the third Tuesday in September.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Curtis Johnson

"Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of His good pleasure." Phil. 2:12, 13

"Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling." What does this mean? It means that every day you are to distrust your own human efforts and wisdom. You are to fear to speak at random, fear to follow your own impulses, fear that pride of heart and love of the world and lust of the flesh shall exclude the precious grace the Lord Jesus is longing to bestow upon you.

Man's working, as brought out in the text, is not an independent work he performs without God. His whole dependence is upon the power and the grace of the Divine Worker. Many miss the mark here, and claim that man must work his own individual self, free from divine power. This is not in accordance with the text. As other argues that man is free from all obligation, because God does it all, both the willing and the doing. The text means that the salvation of the human soul requires the willpower to be subjective to the divine will power. And it is the very hardest, sternest conflict which comes with the purpose and hour of great resolve and decision of the human to incline the will and way to God's will and God's way.

Man is allotted a part in this great struggle for everlasting life; he must respond to the working of the Holy Spirit. It will require a struggle to break through the powers of darkness, but the Spirit that works in him can and will accomplish this. But man is no passive instrument to be saved in indolence. He is called upon to strain every muscle in the struggle for immortality, yet it is God that supplies the efficiency.

Here are man's works, and here are God's works. With these two combined powers, man will be victorious, and receive the crown of life at last. He puts to the stretch every spiritual nerve and muscle that he may be a successful overcomer in this work, and that he may obtain the precious boon of eternal life. Through it all, God sets the pace, directing, strengthening, empowering man to accomplish the task.

Ladies Attend Rally

Ten ladies from Galahad enjoyed the Missionary Rally at the Caster Church Thursday.

After coffee and registration at 10:00 a.m., the ladies were welcomed by Joyce Neilson, W.M.S. President.

Music and singing were most inspiring. There were ladies from a number of different churches present. Hanna, Coronation, Kirriemuir and Alliance were among the districts represented.

June Duguid told of her work as a missionary in Niger, Africa which has a tropical climate and is very hard to adjust to, as well as the different customs and language, etc.

She requested prayer that she might have the patience, wisdom and love necessary to teach the message of Salvation to the native people.

Another missionary, Karen Hoel, who has been working as a nurse in hospitals in Ethiopia, spoke. Many missionaries have had to leave there because of persecution and some of the native people have been imprisoned or killed because they would not take part in the repeating of a curse on all of the non-communist nations of the world.

A delicious dinner was served at noon. In the afternoon session, there was more singing and a skit by two Castor ladies; and slides of Ethiopa were shown and explained by Karen Hoel. A time of prayer was led by Mrs. Vickie Snyder. The meeting closed and coffee was served.

It was of interest to learn that Karen Hoel is a sister of Mr. Garland Hoel who was the school principal at Forestburg a few years ago. He and his family attended Galahad Missionary Church at that time. They are now working as missionaries in Peru.

The Rector's Corner

There is constant study going on amongst the ministers of the County of Flagstaff, attempting to reinstate some form of Christian education in our public school system. We are receiving a great deal of worthwhile advice from the deputy superintendent and his assistant in regards to this matter.

We realize this is not an easy task because it cannot be part of the assigned course, unless it is taught by a certified teacher or by a clergyman who is aided by a certified teacher. We are not discouraged by this law.

The question we would like answered is, "Do you want your children to be taught 'Christian Education' as part of the public school system?"

Write your clergyman today. We need your answers before the end of July. The first week in August has been set aside for clergymen to meet in conference as to a 'Curriculum of Study' to be presented to school boards in early September. We need your help!

Awards Presented at Sedgewick

On Wednesday, June 27, the Sedgewick Public School honored students who had achieved special recognition from grades four to nine. The grade nine class was especially honored with diplomas. They entered the auditorium to the strains of the Grand March.

Mr. Dwight Rasmussen, a former Sedgewick teacher, was the guest speaker. His words of advice and slight nostalgia were well received. Miss Linda Hebert sang the evening's theme, "Do You Know Where You're Going To?" and Michael Badry gave the valedictory.

M.L.A. Report

The Spring Sitting of the Legislature is winding down and will likely adjourn next week.

Several things happened lately that I would like to get your reactions to.

1. The Minister of Hospitals and Medical Care suggested that in an effort to give more flexibility to hospital boards, some way must be found so that hospitals could raise funds of their own. This could be by a direct charge to the patient, or by a small assessment to municipal taxpayers. Strong cases could be made for either method, but likely a stronger case could be made opposing the methods. As the Minister pointed out, he was only floating a balloon in an effort to have a method whereby we could have Albertans in general want to cut hospitals costs, and give local boards more autonomy in their operations. He wants input from Albertans, so let's give him ideas and suggestions. You can write, phone or talk to me about this and I'll be happy to pass along any comments, suggestions, or criticisms, of which we expect a lot!

2. The Minister of Housing and Public Works laid out the Government's Pioneers' Repair Program. This program is similar in nature to the previous home repair program but greatly expanded and with additional benefits.

The Alberta Pioneers' Repair Program, commencing July 1, 1979, provides a grant of up to $3,000.00 to senior citizen home owners to repair and improve their own homes as an alternative to seeking publicly operated accommodation.

The grant applies to senior citizen homeowners whose income, when combined with that of their spouse, for the calendar year before applying, did not exceed $12,000 after allowable adjustment.

The amount of the grant is determined as follows: If the total income of applicant and spouse for the last calendar year is $9000.00 or less or presently receiving the Alberta Assured Income Supplement, a grant of $2,000. is available. If total income is from $9000.01 to $10,500.00, the amount of the grant is $1,500. If total income is from $10,500.01 to $12,000., the amount of the grant is $1,000.

When the application for the Alberta Pioneers' Repair grant is approved, credit for up to $2000 will be established at your Treasury Branch or participating financial institution.

You will have five (5) years from the date of your approval in which to spend the grant money.

This program now includes such items as appliance repair and security devices, as well as water supply systems for the house, including connections to a public water system.

Further information can be found at your financial institution or from me.

The Spring Sitting of the Legislature should conclude next week. I can then be reached at home. My home phone is 853-3965, and my Edmonton number is 439-4631.

— Tom Lysons

Unless you worked at least 20 weeks in the past year, these changes could apply to you.

In December 1978, Parliament changed the Unemployment Insurance program. Changes starting July 1 mean that some people will have to work longer before they can qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits.

Please remember, these UI changes affect only those claims which start on or after July 1, 1979. And, the changes may or may not apply to you. So please read on to see if you are affected.

(You'll find terms such as "Weeks of Work", "Qualifying Period", "Variable Entrance Requirement" (VER), and "Unemployment Rate" marked by an asterisk (*). For easier understanding, see the box "Explaining UI terms" at the end of this message.)

Here are the details of those changes.

Have you worked 20 weeks or more in your Qualifying Period*?

If so, this message does not apply to you. For you, the number of weeks you need to qualify for regular UI benefits and for UI illness and maternity benefits, or the one-time benefit at age 65 has not changed.

Are you working for the first time?

To get UI benefits, you will usually need 20 Weeks' Work*, no matter where you live.

An exception to this would be if you were on a training course approved by the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission for at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*. Then you would need only 10 to 14 weeks, depending on the Variable Entrance Requirement* where you live.

Are you starting to work again?

If you're coming back to work after being away a year or more, you'll usually need 20 Weeks of Work* in your Qualifying Period* before you can qualify for UI benefits.

This applies wherever you live.

This 20-week rule won't apply, however, if you were in any of the following situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*.

These are the situations that count:

1. You were getting temporary worker's disability compensation from a provincial program;
2. You were receiving sick or maternity leave payments;
3. You were out of work because of a labour dispute at your place of work;
4. You were on a Commission-approved training course;
5. You were on UI claim;
6. You were working in insurable employment.

So, for first-time workers and those coming back to work:

A. If you were in any of these six situations for a total of at least 14 weeks in the year before your Qualifying Period*, then you need only 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* in the Qualifying Period*, depending on the VER* where you live.

B. If none of the six situations fit your case, you will have to have worked at least 20 weeks to qualify for UI benefits.

NOTE: If you are returning to work after being away more than one year, the 20-week rule will normally apply to you.

Did you get UI benefits in the last year?

If you got UI benefits in your Qualifying Period*, there are new rules that may apply to you – unless the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent.

1. If a claim you had in the last year has not run out, you may be able to renew it.
2. If yours is classed as a new claim, you will need the usual 10 to 14 Weeks' Work* depending on your local VER*, plus up to six "extra" Weeks of Work*. The number of "extra" weeks you'll need depends on how many weeks you got on your previous UI claim. You need one "extra" week (up to a maximum of six) for every week you got over the VER* needed in your area.

Here's an example: You need 12 Weeks' Work* in your region (your local VER*) to qualify for benefits the first time. On your last claim, you drew 15 weeks' benefits before going back to work. Now, you would need the usual 12 weeks, plus three "extra" work weeks. (That's the difference between the 12 weeks you needed to work and the 15 weeks of benefits you drew. In total you would need 15 Weeks' Work* to qualify again within one year. The most anyone needs anywhere is 20 weeks of work to qualify.

Again, please remember, when the Unemployment Rate* in your area is over 11.5 per cent, this rule won't apply to you. You'll need only 10 Weeks' Work* to qualify for regular UI benefits.

Other changes have been in effect since January 1979:

- The weekly benefit rate was reduced to 60 per cent of your average insurable earnings (from 66⅔ per cent).
- Most people employed for less than 20 hours a week are no longer covered by UI.
- Higher-income claimants may have to repay part of UI benefits drawn in the 1979 tax year. This will only affect people whose income, including UI benefits, is over $20,670. This will be explained when you get your 1979 tax return.

These things haven't changed:

Just as a review, these points haven't changed:

- You may still get UI illness and maternity benefits and the special benefit paid at age 65 if you've worked 20 weeks in your Qualifying Period*.
- There's still a two-week waiting period before UI benefits start.
- To get regular benefits, you must still be available for and looking for work each day you are on claim.
- You must report any work and earnings while on claim.
- You can be disqualified from getting benefits for up to six weeks if you quit your job voluntarily, you were fired for misconduct, or if you turned down a suitable job offer.
- You can still appeal a decision by UI to deny you benefits.

Explaining UI terms:

Weeks of Work
This means weeks of work that are insurable for Unemployment Insurance. Most employment of 20 hours or more a week is insurable.

Qualifying Period
What UI calls your Qualifying Period is the 52 weeks before we start your claim. Or if you had a claim in the last year, it's the time since that claim started.

Variable Entrance Requirement (VER)
To qualify for Unemployment Insurance benefits, you must have worked from 10 to 14 weeks in insurable employment during your Qualifying Period*. The exact number of weeks depends on the Unemployment Rate* in the economic region where you live. (See below.) If you don't have enough weeks to qualify when you file your claim, we keep your application in the computer file. If the Unemployment Rate* changes so you then have the weeks you need, we will send you a notice.

Unemployment Rate
For Unemployment Insurance, the Unemployment Rate used for each of the 48 economic regions of Canada is not the current monthly Statistics Canada unemployment rate in each region. It is a three-month average of seasonally-adjusted monthly unemployment rates.

Sedgewick and District News

Mr. and Mrs. Dunne Freeman and children of Sherwood Park spent the holiday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Freeman and with her mother, Mrs. Agnes Carlson.

Four games of baseball were played on an ideal day at the July 1st Sports at the Sedgewick Recreation Centre. The first game saw Killam shut out Hardisty 6 to 0. Sedgewick ran up a big lead in the first innings in the next game and beat Viking 12 to 5 in five innings. As there were only 5 teams, Lougheed received a bye so they played Killam in the third game. Killam jumped off to a big lead but Lougheed finally pulled ahead and beat them 16 to 15. Sedgewick had received a bye into the finals so met Lougheed and beat them 9 to 2 in five innings.

I haven't the complete fastball results but I know Viking beat Sedgewick in the final of the Men's A Event. In the B Event, Lougheed beat Hardisty 9 to 7 in a game that went about 15 innings. Sorry but no Ladies Fastball results.

Lougheed and District News

Eric and Roxy Toppe and boys of Red Deer spent a few hours with their families in Lougheed and Sedgewick before proceeding north to do some fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ramsden of Dauphin, Manitoba are visiting their son and family, the Jack Ramsdens, here.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCubbing and children of Saskatoon were recent visitors with Jack and Elsie Ramsden.

This has been a week that Lougheed and district will not forget very soon, we hope and pray. The accident that took six of our young people so quickly on June 24th was a great shock to all. Deepest sympathy is extended to the families.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Clouston from Provost, Mrs. Irene Lister of Camrose, Mrs. Ella Clouston of the Lodge, and Mrs. Edith Wilson of Hardisty were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. T. Clouston.

The Lougheed 13 years of age and under Beaver ball team played at the County playoffs, June 24th at Strome. Lougheed beat Strome, then they played Sedgewick and won the trophy for the league. Congratulations boys.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitbeck on the death of Mr. Jes Harding of Sedgewick. The funeral was last Saturday.

Shirley Drager had a surprise visit from a close friend last week, Mr. and Mrs. Forester and family from Toronto, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Burghardt from California were visiting east of Lougheed last week. Bud's dad, Esper Burghardt, lived on the farm which is owned by Lester Metz and Harold Probst has a quarter section of land just about 1 mile east of his farm. This was many years ago - I would say the early 1940's - when Burghardts moved away.

Sackville) and Hilda, and also their aunt, Mrs. Ella Clouston from the Lodge.

Hardisty Club Visits Garden

On Tuesday, June 19, some 16 members of the Garden Club paid a visit to the Devonian Botanical gardens. The weather was lovely, and the three car loads of ladies enjoyed the day immensely. A picnic lunch was taken and the noon meal enjoyed at the campground at Devon. Then a very interesting few hours were spent in seeing a part of the gardens. It would be impossible to see the whole project in a day. It was most interesting, showing types of plants in all soils, and many of our Alberta plants.

On the way home, stops were made at the Devon nurseries at at the TAR-CEE Greenhouses, then supper at the Gwynne campsite. Everyone voted it a very worthwhile and enjoyable day.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews and Bill attended a family gathering on Sunday, June 17 at the home of Edith and Laurie Blades of Ohaton, when some 50 family members gathered. Special guests were cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fielding from Surrey, England. Also honored were Barbe's brother, Dr. Gerald Hutchinson and his wife who are leaving for Toronto. After an indoctrination course there, they will go to Trinidad where he is to serve as an exchange minister for a year.

School and hospital take most

The money comes out of the ground and goes into the class room and hospital.

If someone asked for an explanation of government financing in Alberta in less than 15 words, that would be it.

Despite constant government statements that we Albertans must watch our reliance on oil and gas income, increasing prices have made it by far the biggest factor in government revenues.

Even though the Heritage Fund now receives 30 percent of natural resource revenue off the top, non-renewable resources contribute more than half the province's revenue - 52.6 percent. The Heritage Fund, meanwhile, will grow to $4.2 billion.

Personal income taxes, by contrast, are responsible for only 13.2 percent of total revenue. The $695 million that individuals will pony up compares to $2.8 billion that will come from resource extraction.

Corporate taxes, meanwhile, supply just a shade under 10 percent of total income, about $346 million.

"We are continuing our efforts to keep take home dollars in Albertan' pockets," Provincial Treasurer Lou Hyndman says.

This year, the province will face a one-time only expenditure of $1 billion for the municipal debt reduction plan promised by Premier Peter Lougheed before the March 14 election.

More that $700 million of that will be used by cities, towns, and municipal districts to retire their debt. The other $300 million will go directly into the coffers of local governments whose debt load is less than $320 per person.

While the program is the biggest single expense this year, it just misses out education which will take up 20 percent of the budget, compared to 21 percent for the total amount of municipal grants and spending.

Ranking just behind education (where total spending will exceed $1.1 billion) is hospitals and health care, responsible for more than $700 million in expenses.

The social service departments are responsible for the next biggest chunk, 9.6 percent That includes a welfare bill of $116 million and $24 million in community preventative services.

Total spending this year, including the $1 billion for debt reduction, will be $5.6 billion. Hyndman says his working budget is $4.52 billion, which represents a 19 percent increase from last year.

The provincial treasurer says three percent of the increase comes from capital expansion, eight percent from inflation and eight percent from new programs.

Presents book to Lougheed library

The Metropolitan Ladies Club has recently completed a book entitled "Metropolitan Memories" compiling the history of the Metropolitan District north-east of Lougheed. A copy of the book was presented to the Lougheed librarian. Sadie Marlow, by Lorna Bevenscamp, president of the Ladies Club.

Much of the credit for this history book goes to the committee of Vivian Firkus, Muriel Rawiuk, Audrey Barns and Yvonne Rawiuk. A great deal of time and effort goes into a book like this, but the task was made lighter by the excellent cooperation they received.

There are 4 chapters in the book, School History, Settlers of the district, Family Stories, and Pictures. They have included old maps of interest, a copy of the assessment and tax roll from 1908 and excerpts from the minute book. Some of the family stories include pictures, and the final chapter includes many interesting pictures of years gone by.

Anyone wishing a copy of the book "Metropolitan Memories" should contact any one of the above committee.

Rodeo queen crowned

Debbie Pelletier (above) happily accepts a bouquet of roses from Ralph Manning. Debbie was judged Hardisty Rodeo queen after receiving 88 of a possible 100 points in the contest, and was sponsored by the Battle River Light Horse Club.

Second and third places went to Toni Smolski, sponsored by the Killam Agricultural Society and Corleen Rominiuk, of the Heisler 4-H Stampeders, with 80 and 77 points respectively.

These three and the two runner-ups, Darcy Bexson and Sherry Maul received silver buckles for their participation in the contest. Making the presentation was Jim Bronson, president of the Light Horse Club. The queen contestants were judged on poise, equitation, and ticket sales.

The crowning took place on Sunday, July 8 at the Hardisty Amateur Rodeo. A capacity crowd was on hand for the afternoon rodeo events and midway. The rodeo culminated the three day Hardisty Round-Up Days which saw a variety of events for the whole family, both in town and at the Stampede grounds.

The whole event was coordinated by the Chamber of Commerce and received the support of the Light Horse Club, businesses and town citizens as well.

Summer playground program begins

Playground workers from around the County recently attended a training workshop sponsored by Flagstaff Preventive Services and Alberta Recreation and Parks.

The workshop, held July 3rd and 4th, prepared these students hired under S.T.E.P. (Summer Temporary Employment Program) to organize and run a creative and efficient playground program. Leaders of the workshop - Wendy Archbold of Alliance, Carolyn Gehl of Alliance, Terry Flanagan of Edmonton, and Agnes Hilker of Killam - gave instruction on the theory of play and program management, arts and crafts, drama, music, sports, first aid and community resources.

The playground program is being run by town councils and will be operating in Lougheed, Sedgewick, Killam, Strome, Forestburg, Daysland, Galahad, and Alliance. Contact your town office and your playground worker for further details.

Editorially

It's still up to you

Some time ago we wrote on the lack of community involvement and volunteers on a lake project which is an asset to the area. There was much left unsaid and perhaps now more could be added to the subject of community involvement.

It's the volunteer co-operation that built our towns in the early days and have kept them from dying. It is this same feeling of working together that sets us apart from the cities and is one of the good things about living in rural Alberta.

Recent parades have indeed been a credit to their communities but several things must be noted. In all cases there was a number of businesses and clubs who did not have entries. For example there were only 25% of the 4-H clubs represented in the parades and the Flagstaff band has a 38% record.

You will probably say that there just wasn't time to do your part at the gate, booth or organizing and still enter the parade. Poppycock, many of those who do have floats, etc. still take their shifts at the days events. If they realize the success of their towns promotions takes just a little more effort from them, how much easier would their load be if you just gave an extra 10% more effort.

A hearty 'well done' must be extended to those people who really 'put out' to make Killam Rodeo, Sedgewick Sports Day and the Hardisty Rodeo such an outstanding success. Their total involvement of 110% included your 10% and to those people should go 110% of the credit.

What Others Say

4-H Project

Approval has been granted to the 4-H Foundation of Alberta to develop a wilderness outdoor program on the 97 acres of land the foundation owns on the shore of Battle Lake. Considerable controversy had surrounded any development along the lake shore as many of the local residents objected to any changes in the present bylaw which would open up the lake to overcrowding.

Part of the controversy came about because there was some talk of building a centre which would be capable of housing up to 400 persons at one time. This perhaps was someone's pipe dream because the financing required was estimated two years ago to in excess of $400,000, and this was only for the structure itself.

Now that matter seems to have been settled in that the foundation has been granted approval to develop a "wilderness park" with five temporary metal buildings joined as a common unit.

There is one disturbing fact to this entire episode, and that is the manner in which the whole project was presented for approval. The 4-H Foundation failed to do its homework before committing 4-H members across the province to raising money for a project which contravened an existing bylaw. In a statement printed in The Edmonton Journal recently, Allan Shenfield, the current president of the foundation is quoted as saying the County of Wetaskiwin was more or less shamed into granting approval since the county would have looked bad taking a group of kids to court for having contravened the development bylaw.

We hope that Mr. Shenfield was misquoted, because this gives the impression that the county council was forced into changing its mind to maintain its public image. It further gives the impression that any project presented in the name of 4-H can be pushed through without question, regardless of what rules or regulations exist.

What has happened in this instance is that the original bylaw affecting development adjacent to Battle Lake passed by council in 1974 has not been amended. What did take place was the 4-H Foundation re-applied for approval of a project which was within the terms of the 1974 bylaw.

This is what should have happened in the first place, and it would have saved a lot of people a lot of time. We commend those people who stuck by their concerns for Battle Lake and forced this change of plans. We hope the 4-H Foundation can see the reasoning behind these concerns and put together a project which will aid in the conservation of our limited wilderness areas and not their destruction, but then being a conservation minded group, as we are told they are, this should be no problem at all.

The Third Column

by Truncate
I Write As I Please

THE STORY IS TOLD OF A MAN obviously deep in his cup who wandered into a church service and sat down in the front pew. As the service commenced and the Preacher intoned the opening phrases, this chap repeated it in a loud voice. This unwelcome dialogue went on until one of the Elders at the back went forward, sat down beside the man, put his arm around his shoulder, took a firm hold on his arm and whispered in his ear. The man became silent and remained thus for the rest of the service. The Preacher commended the Elder after the service for his apt and brotherly handling of the situation and asked him what he had said to the fellow. The Elder replied that it was really not that much, but at the prodding of the Minister, finally said, "Oh, I just told him to keep his mouth shut or I'd break his arm." The threat of violence to attain an objective.

VANDALS DESTROY lakeside; Beserk man kills two and wounds three; Toronto Blue Jays bewildered; Nations ignore Boat People; Pipeline break destroys environment. And on it goes. The world's windshield is cluttered and chalked up with a gloomy picture of life, and it doesn't matter what attitude we have, or what hopes we hold, we are affected by this dark and cloudy picture of the world and its goings on. I think we are somewhat like the Village drunk who regularly appeared in court. One day the Judge asked him how, with all this drunkeness, did he manage to support himself. The drunk replies as only a drunk could, "Well I usually lean against a light post". This seems to be the thing today. The Press, Radio, T.V., all seem to lean against the fence of gloom and after a while this gloom becomes useful in quoting statistics on how bad the world is. Yet it can also open the door for declarations about the hope, after these glooms have passed away. Bad news of the world's condition just sharpens the need for some good news. And this is the problem of our day. Can we see anything good in life? So we ask the question; is there anything right with the world?

IT SEEMS TO BE THE TREND today in the Press, Radio and T.V., and all the other current means of dispensing the news, to play up the bad until the eyes water and the ears echo with it. Robbery, Murder, Sex Crimes, Wars and rumors of Wars . . . all on man's inhumanity to man; it's legitimate news and it gets the headlines, while all but forgotten is the fact that life is also made up of that which is good, fine and decent. It's like two sides of a coin, for after all alongside of all that is wrong with the world, we should also place what is right with the world. Almost everything is relevant in some way or another, just as bad is bad for those of us who think so and good is good in the same way.

A PREACHER was going on about the evils of the world. He started on drugs and went on at some length on the detremental effects of such. A little old lady in the congregation got up and said, A-A-A-MEN. The speaker then switched to alcohol and gave it the same going over. Once more the lady got up and repeated, A-A-A-MEN. He then got onto the very loose morals of the society and how it was degrading life. For the third time the lady got up and said, A-A-MEN. At last he got onto the prevailing habit of some people to smother themselves in very penetrating and nostril-busting perfume and deodorants. At this the old lady jumped and said loudly, "STOP. Stop right there! You are not preaching now, you're interfering."

THERE ARE LOTS OF GOOD THINGS in the world. There isn't room here to let you in on them because I've taken up too much space saying what I didn't intend to say at the outset. So the rest will have to wait until another week. That's my way of telling you that this subject will be continued next edition. In the meantime it might be fruitful to try and recall all the things that are right with the world.

Killam Scouts take canoe trip

On June 30th, Scouts Keith Mackey, Brian and Bill Stainthorpe, Kelly Spaulding, Roger Chevraux, Donnie and Bob George, Richie Olsen, Reggie Moore, Kevin Campbell and Dean Kelndorfer, and 5 adults - Stan Hobbs, Rick Child and Ken Stainthorpe and young Darren Hobbs began their week long canoe trip on the North Saskatchewan.

Beginning the trip at Genesee Bridge near Devon, they paddled their seven canoes and made it to east Edmonton by Monday noon, where they took on fresh drinking water.

Here they were treated to pop by Mr. and Mrs. Sagan of Edmonton. They camped out of Fort Saskatchewan on Monday night.

The first three nights they camped in heavy rain along the river banks. Most of their fresh water came from springs.

The boys saw different wild life and the beavers were very tame, coming alongside the canoes.

Mr. Lloyd George trucked the troop to Devon and Mr. A. Spaulding picked them up July 7, very sustanned and somewhat tired but all agreed it was a great trip.

Galahad District News

Robert Bownes accompanied Glen Nelson and Glen's brother on a fishing trip up north, to try out his Father's Day gift of a new fishing rod. Results were apparently quite successful.

Peggy Bownes and Ken Prodor from Edmonton are visiting at the Robert Bownes home.

"Gone Fishing" and "On Holidays" are the signs of summer but that doesn't mean those left behind are not being good neighbors. Plants are watered, gardens and lawns attended to. Galahad's plan of "Neighborhood Watching" is in effect and believe me, it works. Even patients in the hospital can tell who are strangers, etc.

Garry Koenig is visiting his brother and sister-in-law in Estevan, Sask.

Quite a few Galahad folk went to the Huxley Stampede.

Alaire Detert from Providence, Kentucky, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Oberg, a few weeks ago, before they left on a week's family reunion in the Okanagan.

We are happy to report that Alley Wetmore was home for the long weekend, and was able to attend Donna Prehn's wedding and open house. He returned to the University hospital the forepart of this week. Then he was able to come back to Galahad permanently, just going to the city for checkups at intervals.

Wayne Mah was called to Edmonton late Saturday night because of the serious illness of a relative who later passed away. Wayne and Michael were in attendance at the funeral on Wednesday. Our sympathy is extended to Wayne and Michael.

Correction - In our announcement of the new daughter at the Garth Archer's in Grande Prairie, we gave the baby's name as Belinda. It should have been Brianne Elizabeth. Thank you Vern for letting us know the correct title.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Farnquist of Camrose and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Innocent of Stettler were visitors at the Butch Borgel and Pete Willis homes on Sunday. Valley Innocent had recently paid a visit to the home of Herb and Jeanne Quants of Drumheller. Volley and Jeanne had been close friends in their school days at Galahad, but had lost contact with each other. It was our history book address list that brought the happy reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Waters of Edmonton spent the long weekend at the Rudy Reisner home.

Visitors at Kay Pescod's home for the long weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Teddy Hall, and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Parker and children, all of Calgary. The ladies are Kay's sister Betty and niece Helen.

Hazel Coppock of Vallejo, California and Annie Strachan of Fort Saskatchewan are enjoying a visit with Galahad folk. Hazel and Annie were born to pioneer parents in 1909. Hazel in a sod house belonging to the Jim Nulph family, on their homestead (later the Hugh Taylor farm). Annie arrived at the Pete Gamroth homestead, also in a sod house, just over the fence from the Nulph's.

Seventy years later, these two ladies met for the first time, when Hazel arrived at Namao to become the guest of Al and Annie Strachan. Hazel had visited Galahad several times in the past, hoping to contact someone who could remember her family, but she was never successful. How did the reunion come about? The address which Hazel had left at the Post Office fell into the hands of the history committee and eventually was given to Annie.

Hazel's visit to Galahad has brought joy to all who had a part in bringing her search to a happy conclusion. The Nulph family are not strangers to many of the old timers of the area, as Dennis, Stewart, and Mary were among the first pupils of the Loveland School when it opened in 1906 with Hugh Taylor as teacher. Hazel and Annie plan to visit Scotland where the Nulphs moved from their homestead to in 1911. They remained there until 1918.

We of the pioneer era are becoming few in number, each one that returns is greeted like a member of our own family and a certain kind of family we are. "The homestead kids", often shoeless, with flour sack clothes, the wearers of hand me downs, who tread barefoot in the furrows of the horse drawn plow, savoring the smell of the newly turned soil, who knew where to find the first wild strawberries, where the shy violets hide, and where the wild roses, lilies and shooting stars first burst into bloom. Who watched the sharpe tailed grouse do their dance, and heard the partridge drum.

Welcome home Hazel and come again soon.

Romidie Zimmer and children are holidaying with Romille's mother, Proxy Gamroth. Other guests are Hazel Coppock of Vallejo, Calif. and Annie Strachan of Fort Saskatchewan and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Strachan of Edmonton were visitors at Proxy's on Tuesday.

Shirley Holben had the pleasure of taking Dena's family from Holland to the game farm on Monday. They and Michael Szeto are presently enjoying a holiday in the Rockies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene White head spent this week at James River family cap, where Gene, and Anna were in charge of the children's work. A number of Galahad and Alliance folk left at the weekend for the closing days of camp.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FROM A CITIZEN

In this day and age of runaway inflation, poor markets for Canadian goods, staggering national debts, and dollar values crashing down around our ears, one way to reduce the financial strain on our government is to find innovative uses for our present institutions. This would reduce specialization problems and monetary costs in other fields, thus benefitting the whole economy. However, extensive modifying of the institution to be used would wipe out any gains, so it is important to choose an institution which would be able to handle divergent tasks. Such is our Post Office.

Now our postal system isn't the best in the world it is true, but neither does it deserve half the ill will that it receives. It is severely handicapped by a four day work week, 20% wage increases per annum, strikes every six months, overemployment (the old saw about too many cooks etc.), and being attached to our government in the first place, whose love of paperwork grows proportionately with its inability to handle it.

One way to increase the Post Office's efficiency is to turn over to them the storage of any and all kinds of material. Government records, business transactions, letters - cum - memoirs, personal records, stocks, bonds, all would be perfectly safe in the Post Office. Even time capsules could be scrapped. Just bundle up whatever would interest distant generations and mail it. Retrieval might be a slight problem, but our civil servants can solve that quite easily.

Winemaking: Canadian wines are decidely behind on world markets, and this would be a way to rectify the situation. Simply mail several pounds of grapes (or any other fruit or vegetables for that matter) in a container marked FRAGILE. The person on the receiving end would strain, bottle and label the product. As the ageing process is already complete, all that remains is the marketing.

Garbage disposal: Litter has become quite a problem in some areas, but the Post Office can handle it with ease. After all, the most important dispatches seem to disappear readily enough, so the same should be true for waste.

These are only a few suggestions for one institution. There must be several more that could work for others, and I sincerely hope that they are all seriously considered for implementation. Canada still has great potential.

Killam District News

Nice to hear Michael Borth is home from hospital where he underwent surgery. Hope you Borth guys all stay well now.

Nice to see Mr. Dan Fossen home after his stay in University Hospital after undergoing nose surgery. I thought he might come home looking like Jimmy Durante but he still looks the same. Guess he likes the original best.

Holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fossen and family are Mary Ann Gant of Duncan, B.C. and Jean Stover of Camrose. Also visiting them were Donna's uncles, Leonard and Clayton Fox of California. From here they are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Don Stover of Daysland.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fossen met Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Stover of Vernon, B.C. at Garner Lake for the weekend. Also there fishing were Mr. and Mrs. Jay Prichard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kossowan, Mr. and Ken Grant and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McRae and Dan, Mrs. Margaret Manning. Mr. Jim Kueber, Mr. Ernie Kueber, Mr. Eddy Kueber, and Mrs. Frances Kueber motored to Drumheller on Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Lena Roehgen.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Fee and family of Kelowna, B.C. were visiting parents, Mr. and Mrs. Big Fee.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan and family of Sherwood Park spent the weekend with parents, the Dick Kinners and Bill Morgans and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Erickson.

Congratulations to Mr. Keith Stell and Zena Bible who were married June 30th. Open house and dance were very well attended by friends and relatives.

Misses Colleen Swoboda and Tammy Weisgerber are holidaying with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan.

Mr. Doug Morgan, Mr. Bill Brausen of Heisler and Mr. Al Anitt of Surrey, England were callers on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan. This is Al's first visit to Canada and is really enjoying his stay.

Mrs. Chris Enghoi was a lucky winner of $200.00 on a Provincial ticket. Have not heard of too many winners on these. Maybe someday someone will hit the jackpot. Congratulations Karen.

Mrs. Barb Morgan and Billy and friend Heidi of Morris were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan.

Congratulations to Wayne Shepherd and Syllie Larson who were married on Tuesday, July 3rd in Hinton. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Larson. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smoleki, Bill and Toni, and Mr. and Mrs. John Kueber attended the wedding.

We hope all out-of-schools are enjoying the holidays and hope you all passed.

Congratulations to Mr. Dale Kelndorfer and Miss Karen Simpson who were married in Killam on Saturday, July 7th. Open house and dance were very well attended in Lougheed with many friends and relations attending. Dale and Karen will make their new home in the former David Kelndorfer home.

I guess the hail adjusters will be busy for a while with the bad hail storm on Saturday night. It took in quite a few miles. Some field looked 100% and sure makes one sick to see the mess these storms leave.

A family gathering was held at The Blue Heron Resort on beautiful Battle Lake, honoring Mrs. Ellen Nattrass on her birthday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Unger and Shawn, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Walk, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Unger, all of Red Deer, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Smith and Betty of Camrose, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nattrass of Morinville, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nattrass of Strome, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Fossen, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bakr r of Plymouth, England.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Erickson and Miss Diane Erickson are off to Vancouver, B.C. for a holiday with Betty's mother, Mrs. Webster, an aunt and uncle and Constable and Mrs. Tom Erickson.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dabbs and family (nee Darlene Young) had a very narrow escape in June. While boating at Buck Lake the wind came up suddenly, causing their boat to turn over. Luckily all five had life jackets on. They were in the cold water for 55 minutes before another boat happened along, helping them all. Darlene said everyone in camp helped them all, heating water and getting dry cloths. They were all taken to hospital but were all discharged. The water was very cold and little Paul suffered the most from it. I'm happy to say all are home and okay, but an experience they are not likely to forget too soon!

Visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spiller were Don and Audrey Spiller and their youngest daughter Kim.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gair spent the weekend at Sylvan Lake.

The Fee families held a reunion recently at Pigeon Lake at the cottage of Dr. and Mrs. Alan Fee. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fee and Hazel from Kelowna, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fee and their two sons Reginald and family of Killam and Gerry and family of Kelowna, B.C., Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fee of Killam and their eldest son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Fee and family of Innisfail, Mr. and Mrs. Garry Oberg and family of Edmonton, and Dr. and Mrs. Alan Fee and family - Mr. and Mrs. Barry Shipticke and family of Edmonton and Beverly and Kenneth, also of Edmonton. The only missing member of the Fee clan was Reverend Richard Fee who hopes to make it for the 1980 Reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spiller spent the weekend with Rita at her cottage at Sylvan Lake.

Bea Jae and Dallas Gair are spending two weeks at Hinton with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Les Larson.

Those attending the Convocation Exercises of the Royal Alex School of Nursing were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schnettler, Mrs. Clara Schnettler, Miss Val Schnettler, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Clark, Mrs. Lis Kelndorfer, and Lynn and Cheryl.

Miss Val Schnettler, along with three friends from Hardisty, motored to Moore (Crane) Lake for the weekend. Waterskiing and fishing was really good.

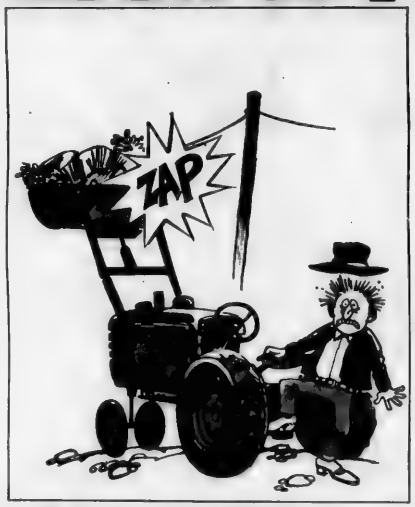
LOOK OUT
LOOK UP!



THE SHOCKING TRUTH IS . . . .
Farm machinery can often reach high overhead power lines which may have a dangerous charge of electricity! Anyone making contact with the ground and the equipment can be immediately electrocuted. Before you operate farm machines, be aware of overhead wires and stay clear of them. Look up and stay alive!

The Art of Barbecuing

There seems to be various theories as the origins of the word barbecue. Some feel it comes from the Spanish "barbocoa" meaning a raised platform for cooking. Another school of thought is that it originated from the French Bitlers in Florida, who roasted native goats whole 'de barbe enqueue' - from beard to tail. But, what ever the origins, barbecuing has become a popular Canadian pastime. This is evident by the wealth of information written on how to successfully barbecue. The unique flavor of barbecued meat comes with singeing the surface and the smoke that rises from the smoldering meat drippings. A successful barbecue depends on 2 factors. Firstly, you need an adequate bed of coals. Secondly meats must not dry out, this is ensured by using a marinade or basting.

The Fire:

As we mentioned above, one of the most important considerations of barbecuing is the fire. The coals need to be started ½ to 1 hour before cooking time. The charcoal is ready when covered with a whitish-grey ash. Charcoal needs a draft from the bottom up, to burn properly. If your barbecue has a solid metal firebox, then line the bottom with a layer of gravel or sand. Also, the firebox can be lined with aluminum foil, to help keep it clean and act as a heat reflector. The amount of charcoal you'll require varies with your equipment and the kind of food you wish to cook. Have enough charcoal for the entire cooking time, as adding more charcoal or poking the fire causes uneven heating and poorer results.

There are several ways to start the fire. The simplest way is to use an electric charcoal lighter. Liquid starters may also be used. Choose a fluid sold specifically for starting barbecue fires. The liquid starter can be poured directly on the charcoal or a few briquets can be soaked in liquid starter and placed with the other briquets. The use of a "kindle can" or tin chimney can improve the efficiency of lighting a barbecue. If you need a reserve supply of hot coals, place the cold coals around the edge of the firebox. Never put the cold coals near the centre of the live ones. This will reduce the heat and slow the cooking.

The Food:

Barbecuing is classified as a quick cooking method. Therefore, if you wish to use less tender cuts of meat, barbecuing doesn't allow enough time for tenderizing. But, at today's meat costs, we are all probably purchasing more of the tougher cuts of meat. Greater success can be obtained if the tougher cuts of meat are marinated for 1-3 hours before cooking. Most marinades can then be used as a basting sauce. Besides preventing drying, marinades and basting sauces also give unique flavors to the meats. If you wish to have a wood smoke flavor, throw on a few chips of an aromatic wood such as hickory.

For more information and recipes, there are three barbecue publications available free from Alberta Agriculture: "Let's Barbecue", "Barbecue Cooking" and "Barbecue Pork Cuts".

They are filled with recipes and useful tips. If you would like a copy write, P.O. Box 3710, Sedgewick or phone 384-3737.

Pampered Dugouts Pay Off

Algae and weeds may lead to poor water quality and early summer is the time to watch ponds and dugouts for signs of trouble.

Algae and weeds thrive in warm and sunny conditions. Phosphates and nitrogen carried down to the water by field and feedlot runoff also help promote growth.

A certain amount of algae and weeds is beneficial since it provides food and shelter for aquatic life. However, an overabundance of algae and weeds may cause serious de-oxygenation of the water. De-oxygenation occurs as a result of death and decay of massive mats of vegetation and if serious may result in fish-kill.

Excessive vegetation in a pond or dugout often causes an unpleasant taste or order odor in the water. Some algae are toxic - these are the blue algae and will cause a bluish tinge to the water. Also, decaying organic matter increases the acidity of the water, causing iron to dissolve out of the soil. This in turn promotes growth of iron bacteria, which damages plumbing fixtures and other metals. An indication of the presence of this bacteria is a brown slime in pipes.

Aquatic vegetation can be controlled by mechanical methods such as hand cleaning, skimming the water surface, or dragging a chain along the bottom using a tractor on each side of the dugout. Weeds are torn loose and float to the surface, where they can be skimmed off.

If mechanical control is not practical, you may have to resort to chemical control.

An application of Copper Sulphate (Bluestone) in the spring, another in mid-summer, and yet another in the fall will usually control algae in a dugout. Bluestone is applied at a rate of one pound per 100,000 gallons of water. We have tables here in the office that can be used to figure out the number of gallons in a dugout. Bluestone can be dragged through the dugout in a cloth bag until dissolved. Bluestone is toxic to fish so DO NOT use in water that is stocked with fish.

Cutrine (chelated copper algacide) is recommended for control of algae in dugouts, that are stocked with fish, ONLY IF the water is hard. Cutrine is toxic in soft water. Cutrine is applied in the form of a dilute spray, but only if water temperature is above 16.5 degrees.

Amitrole T can be used to control emergent aquatic plants such as cattails and rushes. Amitrole should be sprayed above the water level after flower heads have formed on the plants. The water should not be used for drinking for 7 days, after treatment with Amitrole. Care should be taken to prevent drift onto crops.

Regione A (Diquat) is used to control aquatic plants, surface floaters and some algae species. It is best applied when weeds are actively growing. About 1.5 to 2 pounds of Regione A mixed with 100 gallons of water is an effective spray. Avoid contact with skin of clothing. Observe the wait period before using the treated water for drinking or swimming.

When using chemical control follow the precautions and warnings on the label.

Whatever method is used, the treatment should be done when weeds and algae are actively growing.

For further information on aquatic weed control, contact our office at 384-3737.

P.S.S. forms organizations

Since April, Flagstaff Preventive Social Services has been a busy place! Four organizations have been formed to meet some of the needs of the County: the Flagstaff Playschool Association - to assist playschools in providing a better service for children; the Flagstaff Women's Council - to develop an awareness of women's concerns; a lay counsellors group - to provide neighborhood help to people in need and to assist with family life education; an interagency council - to cut down on program overlap and to promote amongst the county's agencies; the Killam Teen Workshop - to provide matched visitors for patients in the Killam Auxiliary Hospital.

Apart from these activities we are offering a training workshop to towns operating a summer playground program; looking into a program for high schools on alcohol and drug abuse; developing a project for economic development in the County; and developing training courses for early childhood education (with Lakeland College), lay counsellors and homemakers. The PSS library is now ready to lend books to anyone who needs information on psychology, sociology, education, economics, law and much more.

This is your PSS program! Why don't you come around to see what we can help you develop for your community?

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

When I hear the word 'marketing' I tend to think of selling in the simplest sense — a salesman going door to door or a clerk in a department store pushing this or that product. But 'marketing' is also a description of our whole economic system — in which all of us earn our living from selling. Today, few Albertans can exist on only their own resources, and most of us must obtain such things as food and shelter either through exchanging money for goods or bartering one service we can supply for another someone else can perform.

Farmers are just as much a part of this system as anyone else. After all, don't farmers really market their grain through the elevator system. No, it isn't 'hard' selling in the sense of persuading the elevator agent he needs your grain — so long as you have some quota to fill — but in the end it is still part of the marketing process.

In many ways marketing is of prime importance to farmers, a function where, if they don't get things just right, farmers can lose a great deal of money.

One related case I've heard about concerns marketing cattle through local auction markets. The problem, particularly prevalent throughout northern and central Alberta, is that slaughter cattle and feeder calves are being shipped and sold in 'undesirable' market condition.

Now, by 'undesirable', I don't mean that cattle are being sold undefed. Rather, I'm referring to other salable characteristics of cattle such as their being dehorned, castrated, vaccinated and branded. I also point to cattle that are simply dirty or those that have not been treated for [illegible].

If you were to tour some of the better auction markets around the province, you might find that cattle in some areas were selling for 5-10¢ per pound above the normal selling range. That represents a 5-15 per cent premium for simply marketing cattle that are in good condition. Considering a whole herd, those figures represent many thousands of dollars.

So — what is the problem? Well, in many auction markets, calves are being sold that have not been castrated or dehorned. "They're not too attractive to buyers," to quote one of my department marketing officers. "Buyers pick them up as bargains, taking advantage of the seller." In this case, the seller is the farmer.

On the other hand, that officer pointed to areas where cattle raising is a specialty rather than just one part of a mixed farming operation. Because cattle is their only business, the operators try to ensure their product is in the best possible condition before going to market, and by doing so, they get more money. Over the years, these areas have gained a reputation for handling 'marketable' cattle, and buyers enter these areas expecting to pay higher prices. They don't have to be convinced everytime they show up for sale.

On the other hand, many northern and central auction markets cannot make this same boast. Some are improving their reputation, but it's been a slow process and there is still a great deal more to be done.

For instance, during June the Alberta Auction Markets Association released a series of radio announcements in an effort to spur farmers to pay more attention to their animals' market characteristics. In co-operation with the Alberta Cattle Commission and Alberta Agriculture these ads were aired over the entire province. It will be some time before we'll know if these ads had any effect, but over time I hope we'll find more producers will market their cattle with greater care.

This 'good example' can be extended to other areas as well. Just a few warbles infesting an animal's back can ruin a hide, a loss that is increased when meat surrounding the infestation must be cut out. The average loss is about $25 per animal. Now, on a 100-head herd, that represents a lot of money to producers, year after year, if buyers were paying less for infested animals. And they are, even if there is no direct discount applied, because lower returns to the packer mean lower returns to the producer.

Alberta Agriculture is working on programs to raise producer awareness in these areas. Our Animal Industry Division is holding demonstration days around the province. We're also looking into other techniques to raise producer involvement. But these will take time, and time costs money. If you're in a position to get better returns by taking more time preparing cattle for market, I urge you to do so.

Be Careful!

In speaking of a person's faults,
Pray don't forget your own,
Remember those with homes of glass,
Should seldom throw a stone,
If you have nothing else to do
But talk of those who win,
Remember to commence at home,
And from that point begin,
Some may have faults, and who has not?
The old as well as young,
Perhaps you may for ought you know,
Have fifty to their one,
So please recall when you begin
To slander friend and foe,
Think of the harm one word may do
To those you little know.
Remember curses sometimes like our roosters roost at home,
Don't speak of others' faults
Until you have none of your own!

Holden wins Lougheed ball tournament

The Lougheed Baseball Tournament took place in ideal baseball weather on Sunday, July 8th. Due to recent heavy rain, a lot of work was needed to get the diamond in shape but it was in very good condition when the games got underway late in the morning.

The first three games were all close. In the first, Lougheed beat Amisk 5 to 4. Then Hardisty won out 8 to 7 over Czar. The third game saw Holden take Sedgewick by a 5 to 3 score.

The semi final game was between Hardisty and Lougheed as Holden received the bye into the final. This only went five innings with Lougheed winning 13 to 5.

So the final saw Holden and Lougheed meet. This was a straight 7 inning game which Holden won 15 to 5 to take top money in the tournament.

It was a pity a larger crowd wasn't on hand as it was a day of really enjoyable ball played in perfect weather.

Hardisty and District News

Bill Matthews left on Thursday for Judy Creek, where he will be working with Imperial Oil.

The first step was taken in planning a Hardisty history on Monday afternoon at a meeting in the Drop-in Centre.

There were not many present, but a thorough discussion as to what is entailed in this project was held. Vivian Robinson and Shari Irving were elected chairman and co-chairman and Barbe Matthews in charge of publicity. Other committees will be set up at a meeting to be held July 30. Watch for posters. All interested persons are asked to attend, more information will be available at that time.

This is a project that has long been neglected and it will take much work and research, and the co-operation of all is asked. The Social Club is sponsoring the effort.

Barbe and Barney Matthews were pleasantly surprised on Sunday to have a visit from former Hardisty residents, the Hume family. Mr. Alec Hume was a blacksmith here in the early 20's and the family lived in the present Matthews house. The children who called were Ivy, Molly, Ned, Eileen and Doreen, and they really enjoyed visiting the old home. They visited the Drop-in Centre and went on to visit other old friends.

Seen in town were Mrs. Frances Budzyna of Wilkie who was visiting her parents, the Jeckells.

Jack Trupp drove all around the lake trying to catch up to some of the Hendricks and was very disappointed not to find them.

Karen Freebairn and family visited with grandmother, Marion Elm. They have just returned from four years away, 2 in Tehran and 2 in Scotland. Karen's husband was employed in off-shore drilling by Peter Bawden's company.

Isabel Nelson and Allen Lawson were pleasantly surprised by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Nordfors of Red Deer. Elma was an oldtime friend and neighbor of both of us. As Ivor has been in the construction business for many years he was shown Allen Nelson's project of remodelling and renovating the former Gordon house from Strome.

That evening, they returned with daughter Joan, her husband and two children to look things over. Joan worked with the Rail Suspension Program at Penhold for some time.

They all enjoyed an outing in the country on Elma's old home farm, the Emil Anderson farm.

A letter from Sister Joseph Mary said that Sister Elizabeth Veitch had her good days and bad, but the good not that good anymore.

Sister Mary Leonard, who had been in Hardisty for some years, came from Boston to visit with her good friend.

A large crowd attended the Steve Masures' wedding dance and we wish this young couple the best in the future. Haven't caught up to out-of-town guests yet, but we know that Mr. and Mrs. Max Sirko of Burnaby, B.C. were there as were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sirko.

Best wishes go to Jeannette and Pat Patten on their wedding.

The Irma golf tournament was held July 1st and I have not the names of the winners but Don Wilder won first in 2nd event and Allen Nelson came 2nd. What could be more appropriate for Allen than to win a hammer. Now he'll have one for each hand with his building. Hugh Duncan brought home a prize also.

Mrs. Rodney Todd, Lynn and Kim called on their Aunt Isabel last week.

When the town does try to beautify the place, look what happens! Shame, shame on the vandals who dumped the tub that was in front of the show hall.

The Hendricks families have just had a large reunion at Camp Kajo, Hardisty Lake.

Those coming from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Earle Hendricks who are retired and live in Rumsey. Earle's wife was the former Kay Parker and her father used to have the oil agency long ago.

Mrs. Violet Sampson of Edmonton visited her Hardisty relatives, also Vernon in Irma.

Hardisty District News

Orval and Doris of Calgary with son Jim; Harold and Joyce Hendricks; Norma Dell and Ken Angvine (Norma Dell was the youngest of the Hendricks family); Bernie and Donnie, too all of Calgary, and Mabel (Hendricks) Morrison of Edmonton. Mabel was very well known in Hardisty as she was telephone operator for many years. Their father used to have the dray and many a child had a ride on the wagon with him. It is nice to see these people come home again. Earle worked with Eldon Bone in the garage.

Then when we are recalling the past, along comes Joe Armstrong to help fill in a few more episodes.

One of the first blacksmith's in town was Alex Hume and although he has passed on some time ago, his children were at Hardisty Lake too - Ned, Molly, Ivy, Eileen and Doreen of Banff

When they left Hardisty, the blacksmith shop was sold to John Bennifield. No doubt there are some around who went to school with this family.

Then we greet our new storekeeper, Mr. Gordon Brits whose place will be known as Gordy's Big Way Foods. Mr. and Mrs. Brits and children Chris, Camy, Cory and Connie have come from Kitscoty and will be living in the former Mrs. Redman's house on the corner. They replace Debbie and Dean in the store.

Next to welcome are Mr. and Mrs. John Skene, David and their daughter of Lacombe. They will be located between the Western shop and the bake shop.

There has also been a large family reunion held on the Torbyorn Woyen farm near Ponoka. This was the home place where Ruth Longman and Eleanor Moody grew up. About 87 attended and a niece, Mrs. Irene Penny from Vancouver, attended. She is a daughter of their oldest sister. Mrs. Penny and a second cousin, Mrs. Olufson of Fontana, California came back to Hardisty for a few days. It was Mrs. Olufson's first visit to Canada and she was enjoying herself very much.

It was a real pleasure to be greeted so lovingly by Faith, Karen and Veronica Quast from Creston. Surely nice to see those girls again.

Sympathy to the Baska family on the passing away of Mrs. Baska after a long illness. She had been in Killam Auxiliary hospital but was recently moved to Provost where her husband and son reside.

The Calvin Cavanaghs are also visiting in Hardisty. Helping J.C. get his house painted I believe.

I was nice to see Mabel Marlow in town again. She had been down for Alvin's wedding and Mabel lives in Grande Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Powell of Sacremento, California have been visiting with the Paul Powells and will spend the coming week with brother Perry and Doris.

Monica Chavarria, who has been a student in Irma and staying with the Irving Bells on an International Fellowship Exchange, has gone back to her home in Durango, Mexico. Her mother, Mrs. Chavarria came to the Bells and visited Doreen's parents as well. On returning to Mexico, Monica took Valerie Bell back to Durango with her.

When school starts, Valerie will come back accompanied by Monica's sister who will attend school in Irma this coming year.

Randy Johannesson and family, also Carey were here to attend their sister Jeannette's wedding.

Photograph exhibit held in Hardisty

An exhibition of photographs entitled "Landscape within Landscape", a presentation of the Canmu Curators Assoc. will be shown in the Drop-In Centre in Hardisty from July 11th to 18th.

Lauren Dale, a professional photographer and a native of Edmonton, took the photographs. In exploring the provinces with her camera, she became particularly intrigued by the primeval Badlands and the Cypress Hills. The result of her exploration is a striking exhibition of photographs, in both color and black and white.

The exhibition has been assembled specifically for circulation to Alberta's small and remote communities.

During its week in Hardisty, the exhibition can be seen from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesday, Friday and Monday; and from 2 to 4 p.m. on Thursday, Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday. It is sponsored by the Hardisty Social Club.

Local Couple Celebrates 40th

On the evening of July 6, 1979, friends and relatives gathered at the Lougheed Community Hall to help Gwen and Eldredge Freeman celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary

The traditional colors of ruby and white were displayed by streamers and bells throughout the hall. Stage front featured entwined hearts with the honored couples names written in gold. A two tiered ruby and white cake topped with a bouquet of red roses and white daisies was the focal point of the head table. The cake was flanked by ruby candles and white vases, each featuring a red long stemmed rose.

The Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Ian Burden, called on Mr. David Black to say the Blessing before the buffet-styled supper

Following the meal the M.C. called on Mr. Jack Butler of Youngstown, a long time friend of Gwen and Eldredge, to reminisce about their early years of marriage. Mr. Butler then proposed a toast to the honored couple to which Eldredge and Gwen warm heartedly replied.

A poem, "The Ranger and His Wife" composed by daughter, Darlyne Schmidt of Rosyth, took us on a trip down memory lane from the couple's marriage to the present time.

A letter from Morton Freeman of Calgary was read, reminiscing about the early childhood years of Eldredge. Telegrams were read. Two parchments were then presented to the couple; one from the Premier of Alberta, Peter Lougheed, and one from the MLA, Tom Lysons.

Best wishes were conveyed from "all the in-laws and the out-laws" as expressed by Howard Zajic of Edgerton.

Grandchildren, Shauna and Darren Freeman of Sherwood Park, performed a duet and separate solos, with Shauna on piano and Darren on guitar.

A friend of Gwen and Eldredge, Myrtle Roggenbuck read a poem she composed and performed a medley of piano selections. As Myrtle played "Little Grass Shack", Granddaughter Tracy Dee Schmidt of Rosyth modelled her Hawaiian outfit.

A tap dance routine from Switzerland, "Syncopated Clock" was capably performed by granddaughter Shauna Freeman. Her costume was in the traditional Swiss style.

Mrs. Hazel Skoberg of Lougheed brought greetings and best wishes on behalf of the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge, emphasizing what a dedicated Lodge member Gwen has been and commending Eldredge on being a good Rebekah husband. A fitting poem was also read by Hazel. This was followed by some of the Rebekah Sisters singing a song composed for the occasion by Myrtle Roggenbuck. The audience participated in singing the final chorous of "Our Best To You."

The couple's son, Duane Freeman of Sherwood Park, presented the family gift of a chest of stainless steel flatware. This was followed by other gifts presented by the four grandchildren, Shauna, Darren, Troy and Tracy.

A long-time neighbour and friend, Mrs. Eileen Paterson, reminisced about the couple's life in the Groveland farm district and presented a purse of money from Groveland and Lougheed communities.

The program was finalized by Gwen and Eldredge cutting the cake.

A dance followed with lively old-time music supplied by the Lyle Metz orchestra.

Farm Safety Week

Severed arms, legs, hands and feet; cuts, burns and bruises; stitches; lost time and money; death - - the effects of farm accidents are many and well documented.

In Alberta, farm accidents take a high toll. Absolute numbers don't lie. Last year 25 Albertans who lived and worked on farms were killed. Well over 400 more were injured. In each case the cause was a farm accident. The loss in working time and earned money was incredibly high, and that does not even consider the unmeasureable tragedy that beset hundreds of Alberta farm families.

Yes, farm accidents in this province are costly – in terms of both dollars and human misery. Yet, they also cost us much more. Among those 25 Albertans killed through farm accidents during 1978, six were children under the age of 16. Six young people out of the next generation of Alberta farmers were simply eliminated.

The answer to this terrible tide of broken bones and lost lives isn't easy to find. Why? - because much of the responsibility for staying safe belongs to each individual in the farm family.

My department and Alberta Occupational Health and Safety have cooperated to monitor farm accidents from 36 hospitals. The monitoring system has assisted us in the design, organization and delivery of on-going farm safety awareness programs.

It isn't easy. Farm accidents have many causes, and many are split-second affairs when an unguarded thought or action lead to a terrible conclusion. And especially during the hectic, stressful times of seeding, harvest and spraying, a single mistake, such as leaving a pesticide container within reach of a young child, can become very costly.

For these reasons I heartily endorse the Canada Safety Council's Farm Safety Week taking place across the country from July 25 - 31. If you can, I ask that you support and take part in any activities taking place in your area in conjunction with this week.

In the meantime, please stay alert on the farm. Farm accidents, however they may happen, are just too expensive in every way for all of us.

Dallas W. Schmidt,
Minister of Agriculture.

What Others Say

No "deterrent" fee

It has been suggested that a $10 per day charge be made to hospital patients as a "deterrent" to unnecessary hospitalization, and also as a means to assist in paying for escalating hospital costs.

It cost $151.87 a day to keep an average patient in a general hospital last year, an 8.4 per cent increase over 1977. Major reasons for the increase were a 14.2 per cent jump in the cost of medical and surgical supplies and a seven per cent increase in gross salaries.

On the other hand, occupany in the 1,049 public hospitals in the country was only 1.2 per cent higher than the previous year.

If it is essential that a reduction be made in hospital occupancy, as some critics seem to think, a deterrent fee is no answer. People don't put themselves in hospitals: doctors do. It is a simple matter of educating doctors to be more discriminatory in hospitalizing their patients.

People who are sick should not be penalized. One of the original purposes of universal medical care was to relieve the sick of the onerous burden of hospital and medical costs. It is a form of group insurance.

If the plan is in financial trouble, then the rates should be increased. No extra fees should be charged to those ill and injured who must seek hospital services.

The Third Column

by Truncate
I Write As I Please

"I CANNOT TELL A LIE. I CHOPPED DOWN THE CHERRY TREE". I wasn't around when George Washington was credited with the above statement, at the risk of getting his britches warmed, but I said last week that the subject of "What's Good In The World" would be continued this week. So rather than risk bruising my conscience, here goes. Washington taking the risk he did in telling the truth, is an example of good. Yet I am going on to some things I think are good in our day, and that in spite of the gloom that some people spread.

FIRST IT ISN'T LIKE IT USED TO BE and that is the fact that there is still much laughter in the world. I like laughter, because I think it is important. When a person can honestly laugh, this is good. When he can laugh at others, but more espically when he can laugh at himself; at his own situations, at the ridiculous, the humorous and at the subtle as well as at the boisterous joke, this is good, for when you cease to laugh, well, you just cease. If we may believe our logicians, man is distinguished from all the other creatures by his ability to laugh, this notwithstanding the fact that some cat and dog lovers claim that these animals also laugh. To me the proof is hard to find. The faulty of laughter sets man apart in this own realm. It is not only distinquishes man, but theability to laugh marks the degree of his health associating with people, even in the midst of battles won or lost, the average human does not forget to laugh. It's true of course if he hasgrown up in mind and conscience, as well as in body he no longer laughs as a grown person who has lost a battle and came back to try again. He learns the kind of laughter that gives him at least partial victory even is defeat–laughter that gives has humility in it, and perspective too. A humorist once remarked that: We are all absurd. We can be laughed at and laughed with. Laughter is the gentle and benevolent custodian of the mind. It can always be depended upon to well up out of balanced mind, out of courage for the truth, right where it started in the beginnong. I think he's right. Laughter amid the gloom and fear and imperfections. That's good in the world.

SECONDLY, this is right with the world, and good. As long as there is hope in man, something is very right. The horizons of our imagination may be clouded, and they cannot help but be, but the answer is not a case of self hypnosis, but if we believe and stick to it, that there are solutions and that there will be solutions, then we can live unconquered by the situations we meet. Hope, the necessary step or attitude of mind to win through or wait out the storm. This is why I personally believe that order will be created out of disorder, harmony out of discord, brotherhood out of prejudice and peace of of tension and unrest. There is hope alive in the world you know; sound marriages, good student-teacher relations, national leaders going the secondmile, always trying. United Nations functioning in spite of conving, tension and vetoes. Really we should have more hope than we have.

THIRDLY, this is also right with the world,and good. It is thegoodness of people. We hear so much today about how bad some people are, and we need very much to remember how good most people are. We hear so much about the delinquent, the thief, the drunkard, and so very little about the vast majority from whom comes nothing but good. No matter how evel or how degrading we might be, there is some good in us, and no matter how saintly there is a bit of the devil. Man's inhumanity to man is always in front of us, butit doesn't take much searching, little remembering and little imagination to see that man is also good and decent. This is seldom in the press for it is the usual, the unsensational and it does not make headlines. But goodness is crucial and it is a real part of what is right with the world. Ther is no substitution for the good teacher, the good parents, the good friends, the good Grandma and the good stranger. In fact there is no substitute for the good human being in human affairs. The heart, the core of our morality lies in the relationship of goodness, and no power of science, wealth, guns or authority can take its place. It's true isn't it? We only need to look closer to find that there are many unforgettable pictures of the basic goodness and decency of people everywhere. They outnumber the bad, but it is not news; it is not headlines, yet thisgoodness of people is one of the greatest things that is right and good in the world.

Shout The Good News

The Power failure on Tuesday evening July 10, turned out to be quite an 'illuminating experience' for the Bethania Lutheran Ladies as Molly Magee led the group in a bible study "The Gift of the Gospel" by candlelight.

The study opened with a discussion on Jesus, the true light of the World' and leading into its implications for world evangelism. Beginning in Jerusalem with eleven intimeadated and frightened Jewish Disciples, followed by the Pentecostal experience, it spread throughout Judea, Samaria reaching out to the Gentiles, until a few years after its humble beginning, its rippling effects had reached every part of the then known World.

Molly pointed out the important truth that we as Christians have a great responsibility not just to live for Christ, but to introduce the Master to others and share Him and the Message of Salvation. If the early Disciples of Christ had merely 'let their lives speak for Christ' the Gospel would have died with them and there would be no Church today, which we take so much for granted, but are slow to proclaim.

We are to Shout The Good News.

Thursday evening, June 12, a shower was held in the Chapel honoring Master Christopher Neibergall. After a short program, Beverly opened his gifts, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Loberg.

Plans have now been finalized for the annual flower show. It will be held as formerly, in the Sedgewick Hall, Aug. 18-19.

COME ALIVE . . .

Rev. Robert Chappell

DOES ANYONE REALIZE THE VALUES OF LIFE?

At this time, I would like to share with you some of the thoughts and feelings that are expressed so beautifully in Thornton Wilder's play called "Our Town."

In this play, Emily, a young lady died in her early years, was permitted to return to her home in Grover's Corners, and to live for one day with her family. For that one day, Emily chose to return on her 12th birthday.

On returning to earth that day, she discovered that all the members of her family are so frantically busy that they hardly have time for each other. Emily pleads with her mother, "Mum, Mum, just look at me for a moment; just stop and look at me as if you really see me."

But the ceaseless activities of the family continue. Eventually Emily cries out," I cannot take any more! O time passes so quickly, and we do not even have the time to really see each other. When I was on earth, I never realized that."

Emily then requested that she be taken back...but before she leaves, she turns and looks back at her busy family and all the things that had once meant so much to her, and with tears in her eyes, she says, "Goodbye world; goodbye Grover's Corners; Mum and Dad...goodbye ticking clocks, tall trees, and colourful flowers. Goodbye to food and coffee and newly ironed dresses, and warm baths. Goodbye to sleeping and waking up. O earth, you are too wonderful for anybody to realize you!" Emily sighed, "Does anyone realize the values of life while he or she live it?"

I personally believe it to be important to consider Emily's question. Do we realize the value of life while we live it? Have we time for each other? Have we time to really look around us and see what treasures we already possess? Have we got our priorities in the right order? Many times in life, we discover the value of someone or something only when they are no longer ours.

It is my hope that this season will be for you a beautiful time of discovery...and that indeed, you will learn to enjoy the ordinary, but priceless things that God has so lovingly placed within our reach.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Look.. in the sky! Is it a crow with a hormone problem? Is it another DC-9 biting the dust? No, it's Skylab, the 84 ton brain child of NASA plummeting to the earth proving that the cosmos can't be conquered.

Why is it that twenty years ago the only thing you had to worry about when looking upward were passing birds? But now if you look to the heavens you could get squished by the remains of a disembarked aircraft or satellite. It's getting so bad lately that one wonders if they are possibly the droppings of some gargantuic iron butterfly periodically visiting the earth from deep space.

Between the months of June and July, we can expect another astral visage from our ethereal insect. It's during this time many people will lapse into their 'Chicken Little' routine and run about helplessly squeeling "The Skylab is falling! .the Skylab is falling while others take this phenomenon with a grain of salt.

For example, since the news of Skylab's crouch-ay descent Lloyd's of London has issued a new insurance policy to protect your person against impending peril. Sounds ominous, right? Wrong. To date only one policy has been sold. So what makes you think the landing scene in 'Close Encounters of the Third Kind' can't happen to you? It has to happen to someone.

Can you imagine rising on that fateful morning to find this metalic monstrosity sitting on your garage desperately trying to hatch it? What could be more heart warming? Probably watching it hatch someone else's garage.

Such a sight for any lucky couple could be distasterous. As the husband pokes his head out of the window for that first whiff of dew drenched air, he comments,"Martha, you know that noise that shook the house and blew asort all the windows lst night? Well come quick! May be now you'll believe me that it wasn't the gas."

What does one do with such an exotic treasure? Use your imagination. Remember those tacky bookends you picked up in Hawaii last year? Well, throw them out replace them with a piece of Skylab. Or if your wreckage(Skylab that is, not the house) is long and flat, use it as a coffee table. The girls will flip over it when they come for coffee and gossip. Or better yet, if it's radioactive, bollow it out and use it as a microwave. The family and the energy commission will love you for it.You could even rise in the economy with a song. How about 'Skylab Keeps Falling On My Head?' The possibilities are innumerable.

On that historic day, one should dress accordingly, like designer name hard hats and football gear. It would be embarassing if some intelligent creature from a neighbouring galaxy hitch-hiked to earth on a piece of the debris just to catch you drugging around the house in your bathrobe, mules and curlers.

It's very important to make a proper impression on interstellar visitors. After all courtesy reigns supreme in all galaxies, but the again so does the fear of being evaporated by some little green man's death ray. If such company should step in one day play it safe and be courteous.

During this threating time, should any doubt or fear cause you to hesitate from living a natural life, just before bedtime stroll outside and wish:
Star light, star bright
Protect me from the satellite
For should it drop while I sleep
I pray to Lloyd's my insurance keep.

The manager of Recreation and Agriplex Brian Bawles was present and explained the activities on July 28 and encouraged Senior Citizens to participate in Record Makers Day, with noon show, free swimming and many more activities.

Due to wet weather it was decided to plan for a picnic at Big Knife Park for the August meeting.

Donna McCormick reported she and Eleanor Burns recorded the 33 books the Senior Citizens had received as to number, title and authors. The books are mostly on Canada and are written by Canadian authors.

After the meeting adjourned, tables were set up to play cards and Scrabble, followed by lunch.

The next Whist Card Party will be July 19 and "500" on July 26 at 2:00. Come and enjoy yourself.

DON'T HESITATE VENTILATE

Poisonous gases on the farm! No, it's not the beginning of the 3'rd World War. However poisonous gases can be found on the farm and two likely places are in silos and in liquid manure handling facilities.

Silo gas is a combination of nitrogen dioxide (NoO) and carbon dioxide (CO2) produced by fermenting silage matter. Carbon dioxide is colorless and odorless and nitrogen dioxide has a disagreeable odor. Both of these gases may be fatal.

Silo gas can collect in any non-ventilated area connected to the silo where the material is present, such as the actual silo, silo chute, or converting barn. The greatest danger of silo gas poisoning occurs during the three week period after silage is placed in the silo.

Both carbon dioxide and nitrogen dioxide are heavier than air and will tend to settle in spaces above the material and in lower connected areas. Prolonged exposure to carbon dioxide may result in death as carbon dioxide will decrease the relative amount of oxygen in the air. Enough nitrogen dioxide may be inhaled to cause lung damage or death, with little discomfort to the worker.

Silo gas poisoning can be avoided by proper ventilation of the silo and connecting areas. If it is absolutely necessary to enter a silo provide ventilation by running the blower at least 15-20 minutes. Use a lifeline before entering danger areas and a self contained breathing apparatus to protect you from these gases.

Liquid manure gas is made up of ammonia (NH3) hydrogen sulphide (H2S) carbon dioxide (CO2) and methane (CH4) gases These gases are produced during the decomposition of organic matter. Carbon dioxide and methane are both odorless and all four gases are colorless. Hydrogen sulphide (H2S) and methan (CH4) are explosive.

Liquid manure gas is produced in manure pits or tanks and under the slats of slat floor barns. Hydrogen sulphide gas, being heavier than air, collects just above the surface of the manure.

Gas is always being produced but there is a special danger when the liquid manure is being agitated or emptied from the storage area. Agitation of the liquid manure forces the gas from the liquid into the air, thereby increasing the concentration of gases in the air.

H2S, in large amounts paralyzes the nervous system and causes death. Carbon dioxide and methane are asphyxiants, they decrease the relative amount of oxygen in the air. Ammonia has an intense odor and is irritating. Prolonged exposure to ammonia causes lung damage and can cause burns and blindness.

Be careful when working at floor level where liquid manure gas can accumulate. Supply adequate ventilation and protection before agitating liquid manure. Never enter a liquid manure tank or pit without a self contained breathing apparatus. When silo or liquid manure gas poisoning is suspected-

-get out quickly at the first sign of throat irritation or coughing

-get the victim out and if breathing had stopped, start artificial respiration

-call a doctor immediately, even after recovery severe lung damage or death may occur. Don't hesitate - Ventilate!

Urgent!

There is constant study going on amongst the ministers of the County of Flagstaff, attempting to reinstate some form of Christian education in our public school system. We are receiving a great deal of worthwhile advice from the deputy superintendent and his assistant in regards to this matter.

We realize this is not an easy task because it cannot be part of the assigned course, unless it is taught by a certified teacher or by a clergyman who is aided by a certified teacher. We are not discouraged by this law.

The question we would like answered is "Do you want your children to be taught 'Christian Education' as part of the public school system?"

Write your clergyman today. We need your answers before the end of July. The first week in August has been set aside for clergymen to meet in conference as to a 'Curriculum of Study' to be presented to school boards in early September. We need your help!

Richard L. Conrad
President of the Flagstaff County Ministerial.

FROM YOUR HEALTH NURSES:

Health Programs are carried out in the County of Flagstaff by Community Health Nurses from the Alberta East Central Health Unit No. 10 in Sedgewick.

In September the nurses spend a great deal of time trying to locate health records and permission forms for each new student before beginning the year's programs. If you feel the health unit nurse previous immunized you please contact us and give us the name of your children, ages, grades, where and when received previous immunization and what schools they have previously attended. The Health Unit phone number is 384-3662.

Consent forms signed by the parents or guardians are required in order for your child to participate in the program. The form gives your child the opportunity to have immunizations updated as required. The consent form also covers other immunization such as would be required for overseas trips. I.e. when a high school group goes to Europe, without the parents being present. These immunizations however, are given only on request by the individual involved.

It is extremely important that the parents contact us should there be any major change in the health of their children, for example, if they develop drug sensitivity, allergies, chronic ailments, illnesses such as epilepsy, etc. Any consent that is signed is in force and is effective This consent shall remain the child leaves school from the date signed or until the child reaches school age 18 years of age.

The Selective Health Program includes:

Vision testing of all students in grades one, three and five plus any other students that teachers wish to refer.

Hearing is tested on all grade three students plus any other students that the teacher may refer.

Urine testing and brief physicals (for any visible defects) are done on grade one students. Notices will be sent home with the students to bring a urine sample to school. The urine is tested for sugar and signs of infections.

Tuberculin testing is carried out on all students in grades one, five, nine and seven yearly.

Immunization is carried out as each student requires it. If a child has had immunization completed before starting school, the further immunization for Polio, Diptheria, and Tetanus is required every 10 years.

Rubella (German Measles) immunization is available to 12 year old girls. Special consent forms will be sent home with those eligible. A girl should receive the serum even though you think she may have had the disease because of the unreliability of diagnosis on this particular disease.

Health Education Programs are also carried out upon request of particular schools and include topics such as Safety, Nutrition, Babysitting, Growing Up, VD, Smoking, Hygiene, Drug Education, etc. If you have any questions about our programs, please do not hesitate to call us.

IMPORTANT:
DUMPING OF GARBAGE, ETC. ON ROAD ALLOWANCES:

We are still receiving complaints of rocks, garbage and refuse being dumped in road ditches and along unused road allowances. No refuse of any kind may be placed on County road allowances. The County Constable will be checking out each report and will give notice to the guilty party to remove the refuse and rocks. CHARGES CAN BE LAID UNDER THE LITTER ACT.

ROAD PROGRAM:

During the summer months the County crews are trying to accomplish road construction, repair of grades, oiling of roads and patching of oiled roads. We appreciate your co-operation in driving slow and obeying signs, especially for the Patching Crews. PLEASE USE EXTREME CAUTION when passing or overtaking the Patching Crew trucks as the boys are working behind the trucks.

HAYING ROADSIDES:

The County of Flagstaff requests that anyone swathing or cutting hay along the side of the road must ENSURE that no windrow is left on the road surface as this makes the road difficult to maintain with the grader.

PLEASE NOTE - Your Councillor is a busy person and cannot always be aware of all road problems in your area. Please report any road problems to your Councillor to help him/her do a better job for you.

RE: TAXES: To facilitate procedures in the office, we would appreciate the return of the signed application form for Property Tax Reduction and Minimum Benefit at your earliest convenience. It is not necessary to pay your taxes at the time you return the application form.

PLUMBING FOR THE HOME OWNER

If you propose to buy or build a home, whether it is in town or on a small parcel of land in the country, may we suggest a few guidelines which may help you avoid the many obstacles which seem to appear during renovations or new construction?

First, you must decide if you are going to do the plumbing installation or have a plumber do the work for you. Should you decide to have a plumbing contractor do your work, you must check these items for yourself:

1. Know who the plumber is. If you do not know him, who has he worked for? Would they have him do more work?
2. Is the man a qualified plumber? If in

Anglican Church News

I haven't seen much Anglican Church news in the paper lately. Could it be because Greg and Donna Martin and Margaret have been away visiting relatives in Peshkid and Edmonton? We're back home now, where Greg is recovering from dental surgery for removal of all of his wisdom teeth, and is finding that a semi-liquid diet can be a trying experience.

Mrs. Bessie Brodie has returned from her visit to England, and is now keeping busy by picking fruit in British Columbia.

The Brodie families recently attended a wedding in Edmonton.

Wendy Fuczjak is now employed for the summer by the Town of Killam.

Maureen Collins is now employed in the Killam Town Office.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvert and daughters of High Prairie were recent guests with Mr. and Mrs George Bennett of Killam.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bennett made a trip to Fort St. John to visit with son Gerald and his family.

Bob Rosiechuk and the boys recently made a trip to visit the Norm Rosiechuk family in Medicine Hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Walmesley of Edmonton and grandson of Fort McMurray recently called on Irene's aunt, Mrs. Elsie Cookson, during their summer visit to Hardisty Lake.

Mr. Ed Collins has been released from hospital.

We are happy to hear that Mrs. Rose Lindquist has been transferred from hospital in Edmonton to the Killam hospital.

Ted Lister and Doreen and Bobby Conrad are paying a quick visit to British Columbia this week.

Word has been received from Thelma Tanton in Norway and Ned Butcher in England to say that they are enjoying their travels very much.

Our rectory is expected to be graced with eavestroughs and a back patio or at least good sturdy set of back steps this summer. The only question now is when.

Please try to attend summer Bible class, being held every Wednesday evening at 8:00 pm, and currently situated at St. John's Parish Hall. Classes can be moved to other locations by popular demand.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Norman Calbert on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. Judging from the number of vehicles parked near their home last weekend, they must have enjoyed quite a gathering.

See you at the shower on Thursday evening for Miss Penny Rose at St. John's Parish Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Wonder Foods? Don't Be Gullible!
Part 1

In recent years, there has been a reawakened interest in health foods. Home Economists (like myself), nutritionists, dietitians, and persons working in the public health field are concerned that the consumer be able to evaluate the promoter's claims. The public is being bombarded with mis-information about foods. How can the consumer tell mis-information from the truth? One simple rule to follow is - consumer beware! Use reliable sources of information. Remember, no one food is a "wonder" food.

There is scads of literature filled with half-truths about food. This column and the next week's will deal with three of the more popular topics.

Powdered Alfalfa Leaves

Some of the claims for these leaves include their being a source of iron, magnesium, copper, phosphorus, cobalt, lithium vanadium, titanium, protein, and chlorophyll (the green blood of plants.

But the truth is that alfalfa is a legume used largely as animal fodder. Alfalfa does contain protein (5%), calcium, chlorine, iron, magnesium, phosphorus, potassium, and sulphur as major minerals; and trace amounts of cobalt, copper, manganese and zinc. Whether lithium, vanadium, and titanium are contained in alfalfa is questionable. There is a recognized human requirement by the Canadian Dietary Standards for calcium, iron, phosphorus and magnesium. If you eat according to the Canada Food Guide, you should obtain all the major and trace minerals you need. (Iron for some women may be the exception, but check with your doctor.)

Use a balance between whole grain foods and enriched refined foods. Refining causes the loss of trace minerals, though enrichment means the major minerals have been returned to the food.

Chlorophyll has no significance in human nutrition.

Lecithin

Lecithin claims to be a natural "nerve food", it prevents mental fatigue, promotes sound sleep, and acts as a emulsifier to keep the blood cholesterol in suspension and dissolves the fatty cholesterol - containing plaques of coronary heart disease.

The truth is that lecithin's a phospholipid which means it's a member of the fat family. Lecithin is manufactured in the human body for structural purposes in the cell membranes. Even in starvation, lecithin is maintained in its structural roles.

Because our bodies produce all the lecithin we require, any lecithin consumed in food or pill form is broken down by the body and burned for energy or excreted in the urine.

Lecithin is found in eggs and seeds, example soybeans. It is also used in many processed foods as an emulsifying agent (that means it prevents oil and water from separating). Even though lecithin is an emulsifying agent, it will NOT lower your blood cholesterol.

Next week, I plan to discuss one of today's most controversial vitamins - Vitamin E.

Reliable Nutrition References

There are several excellent reference books on the market. Two of these are: "Nutricore" by Dr. Zak Sabry and Ruth Pyenson; and "A Diet For Living" by Dr. Jean Mayer.

Horticultural Tour

The County of Flagstaff Agricultural Service Board is planning a tour on July 26 to the Brooks Horticultural Station.

Daysland News

Mr. and Mrs. W. Barton from Sault-Ste-Marie, Ont. and Mrs. Della Barton from Edmonton visited Mrs. Ethel Graham last weekend.

Butch and Faye Brausen have recently purchased the former Joe Swoboda and more recently, Mrs. Shirley Blatz' house and have moved in.

Sympathy is extended to Jerry Karpovick on the passing of his sister. Also sympathy to Mrs. Olga Wirth and Mrs. Mary Saiber on the passing of their mother, Mrs. Mary Karchut.

Mrs. Irene Garbe and daughter Doreen Garbe of London, Ontario visited with Mrs. Anna Boggs and also visited other friends in Daysland.

Mrs. Anna Boggs visited her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Michel Swiun of Leduc.

Mrs. Lydia Wendt returned from visiting her father in Vancouver.

Rev and Mrs. Mel Deitrich and family are holidaying in Vancouver.

Mrs. Margaret Dolaney of the Westside Manors has gone to reside in the Bethany Home in Camrose. Mr. John Gerhart has moved into the home Margaret did live in.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lane received a phone call from their neice, Mrs. Marion Schwaier of Calgary to tell them of the arrival of a baby boy, eight pound Ian Frank. He is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Runnalls of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Smith and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Doc MacKinnon and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Del Bergum and Deanne arrived home yesterday from a two week holiday in Yellowknife, N.W.T. where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. David Muirhead and daughter Kelly. I hear that they had a wonderful time and really enjoyed themselves.

Miss Dolly Rankin and Miss Sue Rankin, both of England left last Tuesday evening after spending almost a week at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Russell. A family gathering was held one day while they were here with Mr. and Mrs. David Russell and son Kevin of Edmonton, Mrs. Vera Lien and Bonnie and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Russell and children all enjoying a meal at Hardisty.

Visiting in our town last week and dropping in to the Senior Citizens Centre on Wednesday were Mrs. Hazel Coppock (nee Nulph) of Vallejo, California and Mrs. A. Strachan (nee Gamroth) of Fort Saskatchewan. The Nulphs were some of the earliest settlers in our district as were the Gamroths in the Galahad district. We enjoyed the company of these ladies and hope they'll visit again.

Mr. Walter Freeman of Squamish, B.C. is visiting at the home of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. Freeman.

The Jim Walsh's were at the Grant Blaeser home in Heisler on Sunday.

Present were daughter Nina and her husband Don Angelstad of Red Deer, son Robert Schurman of Calgary and son Jim and wife Carol of Sedgewick. Also attending were Don and Roberta Robinson and son Greg from Saskatchewan. I understand Mr. and Mrs. Schurman have been residents of our town since last summer so here is a very very belated welcome to them. And many happy returns to Mrs. Schurman. They are living in the house where the Jack Sparrow family lived.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Tanton of Edmonton spent the weekend at the Bob McBride home and attended the Storbakken wedding anniversary.

News From Hardisty

The Hardisty garden club met at the home of Vera Hendricks on Monday afternoon. The main business of the meeting was the further planning of the Flower Show. Word was received that Mr. Lenzie Bladen will again be the judge. Committees were set up for the day. Entries will be received in the Drop-In Centre on the Saturday before the show and all exhibits must be in between 8 and 10 a.m. the morning of the show. It was decided to hold the August meeting on August 6 to allow time for final arrangements, and all members are urged to attend.

The Legion Hut was the scene on Tuesday evening of a lovely shower in honor of bride-to-be Dianne Metz. Hosting the affair were the Goodeed Club, the U.C.W. and the Legion Auxiliary, and some 35 ladies and children attended. Mrs. Josephine McClements acted as M.C. Mrs. Barbara Hayes gave a humorous reading and a game of scrambled words amused the guests.

Seated at the head table with Dianne were her attendants, Brenda Couston, sister of the groom, and her aunt, Mrs. Connie Boizar, her mother Mrs. Gerry Metz and Allan's mother, Mrs. Edith Wilson. After the opening of the gifts a lovely lunch was served by ladies of the three groups.

It was so nice to see Mrs. Aide and Marjorie of Edmonton down for Bob Quast's 50th anniversary. Mrs. Aide was a neighbour of long ago and is 92 years old now.

Anna and Joe Saruga looked after the little Oppenorth family while Henry and Teresa took Henry's cousins from Germany, on a tour of Alberta's beauty spots.

Joe Armstrong visited around the Hardisty area until after the rodeo. Then he left for North Dakota but will be back again.

Seen in town were Mr. and Mrs. Max Leedholm of Innisfail and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saville who used to have the post office in Castlegar B.C. but are now retired in St. Albert.

The Strong Ladies Club held a very successful booth During Sunday's rodeo. The volunteer help was greatly appreciated and as Mary Brown was helping all day what better place than Camrose for their trophy to go to for the best looking chuckwagon won by O'Riodans.

Sam Moor's sister Emily, her husband and a cousin from Sutherland, Sask. came up for the rodeo and while the men helped Sam with the pop, his sister helped us tremendously in the booth.

Dorenlee and Meredith McGhie of Camrose visited Grandmother McGhie and went to the rodeo.

Anita Young has just returned from being in Ontario for three weeks, so that daughter Bobbi could have a little holiday On her return she attended a neice's wedding at Weyburn. The next big event on her calendar is a teacher pupil reunion at Spinrey Hill, Sask.

Congratulations to Mike Chomyshen on winning the t.v. in the Tom-Boy Store.

Others seen in town were Mr and Mrs. Bill Gutowski of Drumheller. Mrs. Gutowski said that it was very dry down that way.

Visitors at the Jimmy Bell home are Mr. and Mrs. Whyte from Chilliwack B.C. They had been to Saskatchewan to visit their son so stopped in Hardisty for awhile.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Landals were at the Elks bingo. Bill says that he is on that picture found in Sears store.

Among the over 70 guests who signed the Quast's guest book were Carl Wallser & family also Darrell Walker and family. Darrell has two little boys and lives at Devon, I believe.

Another really good picture of part of Hardisty was given to Wes Pedlar by Ralph Sorenson's father, taken about 1907. These pictures are so valuable to have.

The Elks blackout jackpot was won by Lois (Bone) Maier of Beaumont. She won $125.00 and her mother and Gwen Baumgartner split the bonanza.

Elsie Parkin accompanied by Isabel Nelson attended the funeral of the late Jack Walters in Czar on July 12. Jack would soon have been 89 and when a young fellow had a livery service in Killam and drove people between Killam and Provost. His son Warden is well known for his chuckwagon at various rodeos.

Get well wishes go to Ben Cibert, Leonard Harris and Mrs Bob Quast who are hospital patients, also Theodore DeKock who underwent surgery in Edmonton.

A nice evening was spent at the Rosyth Hall Thursday night in the form of a card party and shower to honor Mr. and Mrs. Randy Larson. Eight tables of whist were played and later Randy & Sharon with Randy's two sisters Sandra Duncan and Penny Leadlay sat at the gift table where they helped Randy and Sharon open and pass the gifts around. A Very nice assortment of household items were received. Randy and Sharon thanked everyone for coming and invited people to come over for coffee sometime. Then a lovely lunch followed for which the Rosyth ladies are well known and then it was home time again.

100 years young

Many friends and relatives gathered in the United Church Sociarprom on Saturday July 14 to help Mrs. Mae Pryor celebrate her one hundredth birthday which is July 19. Mrs. Pryor has been in the Viking Nursing home for the past two years but is well known in the Dayaland and Strome districts.

A delicious lunch was served by members of the U.C.W. Seated at the head table were Mrs. Pryor, her daughter Alice Bhyerson of Vancouver, and 2 sons Allen and Edwin Pryor of Dayaland and Mrs. Edwin Pryor. A large birthday cake with 100 on it was on the center of the table flanked by blue candles and red roses.

Norman Nickerson, an old friend and neighbor of Mrs. Pryor's, was M.C. and spoke very highly of her and her family. One son Kenneth from California was unable to be present. Congratulations and messages were read from Prime Minister Joe Clarke, Premier Lougheed, Doe Mazankowski of Vegreville and a pin was presented from the Lieut. Governor Stienhauer Minister of Health and Welfare, and a letter from Joe Robertson of Ottawa, an old friend, was read. A song entitled "Mother" was sung by Mrs. Margaret Schmidt and a duet by Margaret and her sister Anna Boggs was accompanied by Mrs Zerah Candlish at the piano.

Among those present were Mrs. Pryor's granddaughter Elsa from Denver, Col and her daughter Mrs. Leroy Robinson and Mr. Robinson and their son Edward, a great great grandson and another great granddaughter Tania from West Virginia, Gordon and Madeline Pryor and 3 daughters from Prince George, B.C.

Also there were Mr. and Mrs. D. McDougall from Penhold, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McDougall from Red Deer, and other relatives and friends from Strome, Edmonton, Camrose, Bashaw, and Killam. Mrs. Pryor thanked everyone for coming and for an enjoyable afternoon.

Legislature Report

The Alberta legislature's diminutive Opposition gave the Lougheed government one of its worst batterings in years during the just-completed spring session.

While the government, now in its third term in office, moved to make good its promises of the winter election campaign, the five-member opposition comprising four Socreds and a lone New Democrate, was successful in diverting attention to Government actions which it claimed demonstrate the Lougheed administration's increasing arrogance.

The Opposition found its best issue when NDP Leader Grant Notley accused social services officials of launching commando-like raids" to seize documents from the offices of several Metis colonies. The seizures, which set off a two-week long barrage of questions in the House, were portrayed as further harassament of the colonies in their legal battle to get the rights to minerals underlying their lands.

From the beginning of the session six weeks ago, the Opposition hammered away at the government's "high-handedness...insensitivity...(and) double standards."

It condemned patronage appointments of former cabinet ministers to high-paying government jobs, called into question an election fundraising scheme directed at the construction industry by Housing and Public Works Minister Tom Chambers and turned the spotlight on the safety of the province's X-ray equipment, eventually forcing Jill Dieduk, the minister of worker health and safety, to admit his department is ignoring a law requiring safety inspections of new equipment.

The Socreds also exposed a series of blunders in Chambers' department's rural and native housing program, including the construction of a number of houses in a creek bottom that floods every spring.

When called to defend the patronage appointments and charged with ignoring appropriate ethical standards, Premier Lougheed put of a show of self righteous indignation on the floor of the assembly, telling his critics Albertans should be thankful that the former ministers had agreed to serve again in government and saying repeatedly he was "disturbed" by inferences in Opposition's questions.

But though the Opposition's efforts may have damaged the government's image, they were not enough to result in any legislative action to deal with the problems they saw. Attempts by both the Socreds and the NDP to have the legislature pass codes of ethics bills died on the order paper as the session adjourned.

Only in the case of the Metis files seizures was the Opposition successful in getting some results. Provincial Ombudsman Randall Ivany is investigating the matter and will report back to the legislature in the fall.

Camping in full swing

Judging by the traffic jams on our highways Friday afternoons - I'd say its safe to assume that our camping season is now in full swing.

Every year, the arrival of summer holidays and adventures in the wild produce tragic accidents that could have been prevented. Care and caution is all thats needed to ensure that you and your family have a happy and safe summer.

If your family members are avid campers take heed- particularly if you are camping out in a tent. Tents are for the most part exceedingly flammable. An open flame in or near most tents, can and does create a serious fire hazard. In fact a cotton tent that has not been treated with a flame retardant finish can burn to the ground in as little as 45 seconds. Don't be fooled into false security with nylon tents either. They may not ignite as readily or burn as quickly - but they will burn.

Even after tents are treated with a flame retardant finish at the factory, neither cotton or nylon are then fireproof. The retardant finish only makes the tent more resistant to ignition and ensures that it won't burn as quickly. So campers take care.

Be sure and build campfires downwind from your tent - and be sure they are extinguished before you retire at night.

Of course, it goes without saying that you should keep all flammable liquids - gasoline, kerosene etc. in tightly capped safety cans - and away from the tent.

It is also a good idea to include a portable fire extinguisher in amongst your regular camping gear.

And finally - do keep a knife handy while in your tent. This will ensure you and your family will be able to cut your way to safety should your tent catch fire. Use common sense - and happy camping.

What Others Say

We're too tolerant

Canadians are much too tolerant of drinking drivers.

That fact is emphasized by a report just released by the Camrose Detachment of the RCMP which reveals that accidents involving death and injury caused by drinking drivers are on the increase. This is not something that is just happening at a local level but, is province wide and dominion-wide. The local police report merely emphasizes the fact that it's not happening somewhere else, but it's also happening here.

Police all across the country are increasing their efforts to eliminate the drinking driver from the highway. While they are nailing more drivers, the number of drivers under the influence who don't get caught is suspected to greatly outnumber those who do get caught and have to pay the penalty.

Stiffer penalties are required. While the present law allows a penalty of up to $2,000 for a conviction of impaired driving, a check on court reports indicate that the usual fine is considerably less, amounting to about $250. That minute sum is hardly a deterrent in today's high-wage earning soceity. Probably the most severe part of the penalty is that the driver's license is suspended, usually for a six-month period.

If the courts were to increase the amount of fines levied, it very probably would remove many more drinking drivers from the highways. Any increase in the duration of a license being suspended would be an additional deterrent.

While there are many who would feel that any increase in the present penalty system would be excessive, it still wouldn't be as severe as is the case in some European countries while a driver could be jailed for a lengthy period of time while have his license suspended for life.

Surely anyone that is careless enough to drink and drive with the result that a person loses his life, should expect to pay a severe penalty. A person's life is their most precious possession, and should not be lost because some idiot gets behind the wheel when he's too drunk to drive.

Our lawmakers should see to it that penalties for drunken driving should be enforced to the limit, and if that doesn't improve the situation, much more rigid penalties should be drafted.

Politicians are swayed by public opinion. In this regard, a loud outcry from the people might see the legislators enact laws that would remove this menace from the nation's roads.

Letters to the Editor

OPEN LETTER TO AREA FARMERS by Arnold Malone, M.P.

Farmers delivering grain in the Canadian Wheat Board blocks numbered 75 and 76, namely those communities on CP rail-line from the Saskatchewan border through Provost to Hardisty, have been experiencing an unusually harsh year respecting the transportation of grain.

In these areas, the Canadian Wheat Board has not provided for a C quota which would allow for the shipment of 3 grade red wheat. The denial of that quota has resulted in severe congestion of #3 wheat.

For several weeks I have been intensely aware of this situation and have been working vigorously to seek a suitable resolution. I have had numerous meetings with Transport and Wheat Board Minister Donald Mazankowski and telephone conferences with staff members of the Canadian Wheat Board.

Across the Prairies, there are 21 Canadian Wheat Board blocks that have the same problem as outlines above. The affected blocks are in southern Manitoba and those blocks in Saskatchewan which are serviced by Canadian Pacific Railways. The problem in my constituency is that block 75 and 76 are on a CP line and designated as the "Wilkie" and "Wilkie West" Saskatchewan-related blocks.

Had the situation with blocks 75 and 76 been unique, it would have been possible to implement special measures to ship grain from the elevators and to open up the quota. However, with 21 blocks being affected, it is very difficult to make any significant progress with only two to three weeks remaining in the crop year.

We have inherited this problem because the past Administration has been retiring about 2,300 box cars per year and the rate of replacement of hopper cars has not been enough to retain traditional capacity. In recent weeks, the Port of Vancouver has been receiving 150 hopper cars per day even though the grain handlers can unload 700 hopper cars per day. For weeks ending June 22nd, the Port of Vancouver received 1,300 less hopper cars than were projected for that week. And an official of the Canadian Wheat Board has stated: "We are really desperately short of hopper cars."

Although I wish I could extend immediate promise, I uphold that the only responsible action open to me this time is to let farmers in the area know there is little that can be done in the 1978-79 crop year to enhance the shipment of grain to Port. Even though that is not welcome news, I believe that a farmer is more likely to make better managerial decisions with the facts in hand.

In looking to the future, we are taking extensive initiatives that will enhance the movement of grain. A special three-man committee has been established with the order to get the grain moving efficiently during the next crop year. Moreover, consideration is being given to alowing special status early in the next crop year, which starts August 1st, 1979, to those areas that had very restrictive quotas in the past crop year.

The western arm of the Canadian Transport Commission was made into a permanent institution by Transport Minister Mazankowski last week. A very long list of new initiatives will announced in the very near future.

While we have inherited a problem that is severe and unjust our new policy directions are singularly aimed at selling grain in the international market and improving all parts of the system that affect the movement and sale of grain between the farmer and the international marketplace.

NEST DOWN — A female duck will pluck downy feathers from her breast to form a blanket surrounding the newly laid eggs. When the duck leaves to feed, the down is carefully pulled over the eggs until they are entirely hidden. Insulation is important to early nests as cold weather frequently endangers the eggs, particularly if the duck is flushed off the nest and is unable to return for some time. Second nestings (due to loss of the first nests) will contain much less down.

I Write As I Please

SOMETIMES I GET ANNOYED with the "Bleeding Hearts" in our society. Those people whose hearts are bigger than their heads and whose common sense is smaller than their hearts. Those humanitarians who are ever ready to jump on every compassionate band wagon that happens to drive down their street. They just jump on without consideration as to where the wagon is going and how its going to get there. They are a bit like the man whose car broke down and upon taking a mechanic to it got the following results: The mechanic lifted the hood, took a hammer and tapped the motor twice, with the result that the car ran like a clock. When the mechanic charged $100 for the job the customer protested, whereupon the mechanic itemized the bill as follows – 10c for the two taps and $99.90 for knowing where to tap. Our bleeding heart people are something like that: they have a cause but know little about the mechanics.

THE CAUSE REFERRED TO HERE is that of the so called Boat People, those unfortunates whose lives are at stake and whose future lies only in finding a new means of living, and in a new place. I am not annoyed with the humanitarian instincts of people for after all this is a very intergal part of society. Their concern is admirable and my own real instincts are with them. And I think every Christian heart, including mine, bleeds a little for them.

NO, THIS IS NOT WHAT ANNOYS ME. What gets to me is the utter impulsive bleeding heart people display, and their disregard for the necessary mechanics of getting such momentous movements in place. They want these people brought NOW, without hesitation and with total disregard for some very important aspects of the matter. For instance, there is the important matter of health and physcial well-being. Do we want to bring in many thousands of physically incapacitated or mentally bereft? Do we want the terminally ill, do we want suffers from social diseases, do we want the totally untalented, do we want those who will become a burden on society? Ye gods, we have enough of these kind of people already and we are not doing a very good job of looking after our own. For goodness sake let us not compound the issue and find that when we take them we forsake them. This may sound a bit harsh, but read on and see if there isn't some justification.

THERE IS AN ABSOLUTE NEED for screening these people, not only for the above reasons but also for political reasons. Who knows for certain what mesh of people we are dealing with, really? Who knows what political intrigue has sponsored the expulsion of many really? There is no humanity in Hanoi, but there may be something else, and of a sinister nature. Who really knows. That is why I say time and screening is a must. Screening takes time, the movement takes red tape, subsistence takes money. There is no earthly reason why these people cannot be helped with food, clothing, medicine and even some accomadtion while this screening and processing is carried out; right where there where ever they are. Then when all this has been done, start bringing them here. But before you do, know what you are going to do with them. Know where you are going to put them. Know how you are going to keep families together and if possible reunite families, and do it in such a way that they will assimilate with others and not be formed into ghettos, for this would be one of the worst things to happen to them and to our country. We need more good citizens, we can use more good citizens, but we have not right to expect desirables not undesirables.

THE WESTERN WORLD is being plaguily beseeched to help financially and materially, those countries who have mismanaged their affairs or laid waste their land through revolution and turmoil. No interference in their internal affairs mind you. Let us run our own business, but give us the money to do so. It gets kind of tiresome being asked to help people who can't and wont help themselves, yet this is our human instinct. We must continue, but let us do it properly, not with compassion alone, but mixed with judgement and

COME ALIVE . . .

Rev. Robert Chappell

THANK YOU GOD FOR THINGS WE SEE

Have you ever stopped and said thank you, God, for things that you can see? You know something that we hardly ever think of, is children who can't see. Have you ever looked at the sky and thought how beautiful it is, or looked at a little puppy with his big eyes and floopy ears, and his waggley tail, and said "O how cute he is!" or looked at a pretty little dolly , or a big red fire truck, and said, "Wow!"

Some little boys and girls are blind and can't see the beautiful sky or a puppy or a dolly or a lot of other beautiful things that you can see. I want you to shut your eyes for a minute and try to picture a sunset in the evening after a hot summer day. The sun is bright red and the sky is blue with red and yellow and orange blazing through it. Now open your eyes...that sounded pretty dull didn't it.

Well, to a blind child, that is how their mommy and daddy tell them about a sunset. We can see everything, and often we take things that we can see for granted, and we don't really see things as beautiful as they are. Things like the heavens above, little puppies, dollies and fire trucks, and beautiful sunsets.

Let's thank God that we are able to see and for all the beautiful things He has given to us that we do see, and let's pray that someday the unfortunate blind boys and girls will be able to see everything that we can.

Thank You God, for things we see...mostly life and all eternity...life and joy and happiness are some of the things that we see best. Our faith in You will some day be a life with You...all men will see. So praise to God where the glory will be. To our God in Heaven; we will rest with Thee.

Korth Reunion

On two fine sunny days, July 7 and 8th, the Korth family reunion was held at the Bellshill Hall. Two hundred people signed the guest book but more than that amount were present. They enjoyed dinner and supper on the Saturday, then danced to the Kinsmen Orchestra in the evening.

Many stayed on to picnic and visit on Sunday. In attendance were folk from Surrey, Burnaby, Quesnell and Vancouver, all in B.C.; from Montreal, P.Q., and in Alberta from Edmonton, Camrose, Calgary, Peoples, Calmar, Grimshaw, Wainwright, Provost, Redwater, Benalto, Rocky Mountain House, Innisfail, Stettler, Markerville, Wetaskiwin, Spruce View, Czar, Amisk, Lougheed, Hardisty, Alliance and Sedgewick. All present enjoyed a wonderful time on two very special days.

GREEN ACRES

By Glen Weeser, D.A. Roger Andreiuk, D.A.

Oops- I goofed!

An old proverb goes something like this- "may your words be so seasoned that they will remain palitable if you ever have to eat them." Well it appears as though I'll have to eat some of mine.

Last week Roger and I inspected a number of fields and found an unusual problem in certain Barley crops. About one or two percent of the heads in some fields were dead. Preliminary investigation indicated that the stem had been severed about one or two inches above the last node. Close investigation also revealed a number of insects present within the sheath and in the area of damage.

I suspected that the evidence was in favor of insect damage and blamed these little "bugs" for it. Then to make matters worse, I was questioned later that day about the problem and offered my opinion to a large group of farmers. All of this before I could confirm my suspitions.

Well, the bad news came the next morning when I checked with an entomologist. I was totally wrong. I must apologize and take it all back. The problem is NOT caused by the little bugs" as I had suggested.

Here are the facts as the entomologist gave them to me:
1. The little bugs are in fact thrips and a few springtails. They are NOT sawflies.
2. The damage is not caused by insects but is either: or a bacterial diseases known as white head disease, an environmental problem which occurs when there is high moisture and high temperature
3. The damage is not a spreading disease - that is it will not take over the whole field. The actual amount of damage will be about one or two percent.
4. There are no necessary or known controls available.

Again I apologize for any unnecessary concern I may have caused you. I always try to give you the most accurate information but this time I goofed.

After everyone realized it was an anniversary charivari they joined over fifty neighbours and friends for the already prepared breakfast of pancakes, sausages and eggs served in the yard. What began with a bang ended in a good time of fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Saunders are back from their holidays in northern Saskatchewan

Congratualtions and best wishes go to Andrew P. Nelson of Hoquiam, Washington old time resident of Killam on his 100th birthday July 28. A reception honoring him was held in the First Baptist Church. Mr. Nelson was born July 28, 1879 in a one room sod shack in Cottonwood Minnesota. He began his career as a clerk in a county general store. He had a family of ten children. In 1916 he bought land at Killam, the farm known as "Stonewall Farm" now owned by Ross Grant. After leaving the farm he worked in the shipyard at Portland employed by Acme Door, returning after 25 years service. He is a member of First Baptist Church since 1948 and known to most as Mr. A.P. In recent years health and hearing have made it hard at times but Andrew still enjoys seeing his friends. His family includes 23 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren. Old friends and neighbours send best wishes to him.

Monday evening was a joyful occasion at the Killam Baptist Church as Pastor and Mrs. Robert Cochrane and family were officially welcomed. They come to us from Regina, Sask.

Greetings to the Cochrane family were extended by Rev. Wayne Wicks on behalf of the District Conference, Rev. Richard Conrad from the local Ministerial, as well as by other local ministers of the immediate and surrounding areas.

Representatives of the Baptist Church women, the young people and the church gave their greetings and two vocal selections were given.

A family friend and former pastor of the Cochranes, Rev. Wally Weiser, who is Pastor at Lansdowne Baptist Church in Edmonton, gave a very challenging message to our new pastor as well as to the congregation as to our responsibilities to one another as a church family and to God and His work The prayer of installation followed which was deeply meaningful to many.

A time of fellowship was enjoyed in the lower auditorium.

WONDER FOODS: - DON'T BE GULLIBLE Part 11

In the last week's colum, I expressed concern that the consumer be aware that not all claims about health foods are the CIMPLETE truth. To continue in the same vein, I plan to discuss one of today's more controversial vitamins - vitamin E. There is a multitude of claims for vitamin E and I couldn't begin to discuss them all in this space. But let's take a look at one of the more popular ones.

CLAIMS FOR VITAMIN E.

It is claimed that vitamin E will prevent coronary heart diseases and is useful therapy in Cardiac treatment. It is a miracle drug which will cure diabetes, ulcers, cancer, sterility, and muscular weakness. Some athletes claim they have extraordinary powers when they take vitamin E supplements. All in all, it's an amazing product!

THE SCIENTIFIC FACTS

What has science found out about vitamin E? If there is a vitamin E deficiency in chickens, there is tissue swelling and brain damage. But in rats and other rodents sterility can result. Rabbits react by showing a kind of muscular dystrophy, but it's different from the human disease and calves have degeneration of the heart muscle and heart failure. Because of the deficiencies produced in animals, massive doses of vitamin E has been given to treat similar human diseases. The outcome has been that vitamin E won't cure diseases, improve your love life, or make you a star athelete.

In the late 40's, the Shute brothers and Dr. Vogelsang reported success in treating angina pectoris (chest pains associated with heart disease) with vitamin E. Since then many medical centres have tried using Vitamin E theropy and failed. By self diagnosing and treating using Vitamin E a patient may not seek medical help in time.

WHAT DOES VITAMIN E DO

The roles of vitamin E in the human body is not entirely clear. One role seems to be that Vitamin E protects cell membranes. Very few deficiency cases of vitamin E have over been reported. The main symptom is the cell membrane of the red blood cells becomes fragile and ruptures readily causing a pre-mature destruction of the cells. This is called hemolytic anemia which is NOT the same as an iron deficient anemia.

DAILY REQUIREMENTS FOR VITAMIN E.

Science has determined that the human daily requirements for vitamin E ranges from 15 international units to 30 international units per day. This could be obtained by using two tablespoons wheat germ or four slices whole-grain bread. Also oils we use for salad dressing or frying are good sources of vitamin E. Our bodies store vitamin E so one 100 I.U. or 400 I.U. vitamin E capsule is good for many days.

FOOD SOURCES OF VITAMIN E.

Vitamin E is available in many of the food stuffs we use frequently, such as margarine, salad oils, shortening, whole grain cereals, wheat germ, liver beans, and most fresh green leafy vegetables.

DON'T BE GULLIBLE

Consumer Beware! No one food or product is a wonder food. Use reliable information sources such as:

Alberta - Tennessee exchange '79

On July 3rd, 3 members from Battle River Beef Club went to the airport to meet 14 other kids and 2 chaperons who were also taking part in the Alberta - Tennessee exchange.

This exchange took members from all over Flagstaff County and Robertson County, Tennessee. The three girls who went from the Battle River Beef Club were Debby Spady, Sherri Spady and Lorraine Barnes. Others who participated in the exchange were Shawn Badry, Rhonda Dammann, Ralph Davideon, Sharon Erickson, Judy Gamroth, Carmen Gaume, Allen Henderson, Wendy Henderson, Lester Robinson, Nan Schafner, Marion Smith, Ken Vincett, Fran Wilson, Lee Wilson and Eldred Tindall and Herb Robinson for chaperones.

After a long day travelling via air that started at 7:30 a.m., they finally reached Nashville, Tennessee at 9:30 p.m. This day included a 4 hour bus tour of Chicago while they waited for their plane transfers.

The group was spread all over the Robertson County which was 40 miles from Nashville. Following is a schedule of what they did in the nine days they spent there.

Wednesday, July 4, we had a fourth of July picnic which included a supper, square dancing, games and of course "firecrackers."

Thursday, July 5 was a free day until evening. They had a hayride and after homemade ice cream and cookies.

Friday, July 6 they went to Opryland and Grand Ole Opera in Nashville.

Saturday, July 7 this day was also spent in Nashville. They started off with a cruise down the Cumberland River, later we went to the Country Music Hall of Fame and Museum where they had a guided tour of it. For supper they went to the "Western Sizzling Steak House." To finish the day off they went to the "Nashville Sounds" vs "Orlandoes" baseball game.

Sunday, July 8 was a free day to spend with your hostess family.

Monday, July 9 was also another day spent in Nashville. That day they toured the State Capitol in the morning. They went to the Centennial Park for lunch and visited the Hermitage in the afternoon.

Tuesday, July 10 was a county tour and involved things only in Robertson County. They went in that day to the Robertson Cheatham Farmers Co-op, Jackson Farm, Hall & Cotton Inc., St. Michael Catholic Church, Wessyngton, Washington Hall and Glen Raven. Ending the day they had a swim party and barbecue.

Wednesday, July 11 was a free day to spend with your family.

Thursday, July 12 had a farewell breakfast and then left to go to the airport for home.

Everyone had a great time and enjoyed the Tennessean's hospitality and the entertainment that they provided.

The 4 - H members who participated would like to thank the District Council, especially Carol Arntzen who organized this exchange. They also thank the chaperones Eldred Tindall and Herb Robinson for taking care of us and bringing us back safely. They also thank James Billings and Jim Whillhite from Tennessee for setting the exchange up down yonder and giving us such a terrific time.

The Tennessean students will return next summer and be billed at 4 - H homes throughout Flagstaff County.

Automotive consumer action line formed

The Alberta Automobile Dealers' Association (ADA) announced at their Annual Convention in Jasper today that a new consumer service has been introduced in Alberta.

AUTOCAL (AUTOmotive Consumer Action Line) is a public service program sponsored and funded by ADA, an association of franchised new car and truck dealers in Alberta AUTOCAL is a continuing program encouraging the retail automotive industry to be more responsive to the needs of the motoring public.

AUTOCAL investigates any type of consumer complaint against member dealers in an attempt to resolve consumer problems. AUTOCAL also deals directly with new vehicle manufacturers when necessary in its effort to resolve complaints. AUTOCAL is not in competion with any other consumer mechanism now available but is set up to give the consumer a direct industry contact method.

Should the complaint not be satisfactory resolved by AUTOCAL staff, the consumer has access to a panel of industry and consumer representatives who will review the problem and make appropriate recommendations.

Vacation Time

Vacation time is here again,
The highways hum in every lane
As the cars with trailers and boats speed by Rushing the time
Not seeing a line.
Keeping the speed down and you'll see
Four shades of green, in dimensions three
Of spruce and poplar, birch and pine,
As the rivers flow
Far down below.
The snow clad mountains
Such beauty show,
The waterfalls trickle high and low,
The underbrush form a carpet of moss
In the big country there is no loss.
The railway winds in the rocks below,
The road curves as it climbs up so
The clouds hanging low against the mountain show,
The lakes so calm as we pass
Reflecting the beauty of the country so vast.
The mountain sheep on the side of the road
Stop the cars as they go,
Take care too of the black bear
Peeping his head up, just to stare
At the hurrying traffic in the sun's glare.
And the prairies beauty of blue yellow and white
On a background of green, what a pretty sight,
The farmers have worked
With all their might
God's patchwork quilt, which is just right.
Take time on your vacation
To see and be patient,
Enjoy the beauty
Of our vast country side, and return in safety and alive.

The Homecare Program is slowly beginning to develop in the County of Flagstaff. Flagstaff Preventive Social Services and Flagstaff Homecare Area Management Committee have been co-operating to develop homecare services like homemakers, meals-on-wheels, and handymen. As yet, few of these services are available but we hope that in the fall of 1979 homemakers will begin to be available.

PSS is not operating the homecare program. We are simply assisting individuals and groups to set up the services. The Area Management Committee has been created to coordinate the development of homecare in this area and therefore should be contacted directly if you have concerns or questions. As services become available, the various communities in the County will be informed. You can contact the Area Management Committee by writing to Wilf West, Chairman c/o Dayaland Hospital, Dayaland.

We hope to get community clubs and individuals involved in providing some of the services. Perhaps you or your club would be interested in helping your community. Get involved! This is your PSS program!

Merna Beef Club holiday tour

"Everybody ready? Let's go!" That was one of the shouts as 4 vehicles (campers and tents), with Merna Beef Club members and parents left Norman Wegenast's on Thursday, July 5 at 4:30. There were five parents and 13 members in all. It was the start of a long trip to "Stamp Around Alberta", focusing on the Redcliff and Medicine Hat area.

We stopped for supper just outside of Hanna at a campsite. After we continued on, arriving at Redcliff "Scout Hall" at 9:30. (We were allowed to use their indoor facilities).

On Friday, July 6th we left for our first tour at 9:00 to the Pottery in Redcliff. It was interesting to find how clay plant pots, ornaments, jugs, etc. are made. We saw from when the clay was "raw" to when it was molded and decorated, to when it was packed for shipment.

Next, we went to the greenhouses where they grow English cucumbers. They don't grow on the ground, they grow on tall vines, hanging down. We were very grateful when at the end of the tour, they gave us a bag full of delicious cucumbers for our dinner.

CHAT - TV Station was our next stop. We were greeted with smiling faces and an explanation of how a TV station works. We saw the stages where they tape commercials and "shoot" the news, and also the control station. Did you know at night, aside from the 11:00 news, there is nobody in the station? It's all on tapes which play and shut off automatically.

Red faces came out of the Brickyard "Kiln" area after our tour through it, due to the heat. The bricks are molded from sand and clay into their shapes.

From there they are stacked and moved into a kiln. Boy, was it hot in there! We saw the finished products of red, light red, white and brown.

After a fabulous meal made by the mothers; we left after dinner to go to "The News" in Medicine Hat. We were shown how a paper was laid out. Typewriters were raging as we went on to the computer room. Here news from Saskatchewan, Ontario, U.S.A., everywhere, comes through on computer. We also saw photography and how an advertisement may be taken. To finish off an exciting day we went to a museum and a national exhibit.

Saturday we visited the glass factory. A very large building compared to the others. It was mostly bottles they made, such as pop, beer, whisky, wine etc. Automatic maneuvers do the first stage, where the hot material is dropped into a trough, which feeds a mold, to shape the bottle.

We were refreshed from the heat, when we walked into the cooler department of Wahls Nursery Greenhouses. They keep the arranged bouquets in the cooler to preserve and keep them fresh. It was beautiful with all the roses in bloom and the heavenly smell. Misfortune came upon this "glass" greenhouse when a hailstorm occurred damaging a lot.

Our last tour was a dairy farm out in the country. They milk 260 holstein cows, then there are your calves, and yearlings also. It was all very modern, all the dairy-maids had to do was chase the cows in and out of the milking parlours and put the milk machines on. The rest was all automatic. All the milk cows are kept inside, so we got to see their feet being clipped. It was a very educational and exciting experience and was enjoyed by all.

On the way home we stopped in Dinosaur Park. We all went swimming in a river; and hiked up hills to see dinosaur bones.

Next year we hope to "Stamp Around" another part of Alberta, as this way we all get to go on a trip and at the same time learn about our province. We would like to thank Mr. John and Clarence Buckholz and the parents who came with us.

Merna Beef Club Jane Christenson.

Seems like we have not had the rain showers the last week or so, but we are getting wedding showers. There will be a Bridal shower for Valda Probst in the Lougheed Hall at 8 p.m. on Monday July 30.

It is nice to have a little cooler breeze blowing after all this week with a terrific heat that we have been getting. One of the hot afternoons Essie Dreger, Mrs. Inga Haugen and myself went for a drive all around the Metropolitan district, of which I had not travelled around in this district myself before. The crops and scenery was beautiful, even though we all suffered the heat. We stopped at Mr. and Mrs. Pete Groves and had a lovely big lunch there before making our way home.

Two sisters in Sweden are the only survivors, besides his many nieces and nephews both in Canada and Sweden.

Rev. Jackson conducted the service from St. Paul's United Church in Hardisty with Mrs. Hahs the organist.

It was a real surprise to find out that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Livingstone were around town. Mrs. Livingstone, the former Evelyn Gregory and a few of us worked in the cafe together, so she saw a few of the old gang. They now have a farm at Vilna and her husband operated a cat at the different oil sights. They have four children, grown up now. How time does fly. The Landscape within a landscape display at Drop In Centre was not quite up to expectation. Possibly the ones who appreciated it the most would be the two girls with Lois Lomond from North Sydney N.S. The scenery is very different there and to us these pictures were quite familar.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Froese visited at Rev. Jackson's where a number of their friends called in to say "hello". Dennis taught school in Hardisty for a few years and was very well liked. They brought their two children and now reside at Laird Sskatchewan where Dennis is teaching.

It was a success!! Record Making Day on Saturday was very interesting. The pool recorded 276 swimmers throughout the day.

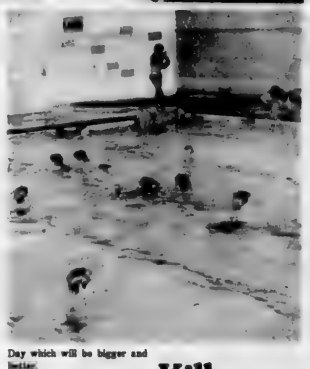
The highlight of the noon show was the rubber dinghy races. Teams were entered from Lougheed, Strome, Killam Town Council and the Killam Recreation Board. The Strome representatives (Donald Hayes, Rosemary Hayes, Jim Miller, Mick Miller) proved to be the most highly skilled and trained, as they walked away with the title of "North American Rubber Dinghy Champions".

June Gair, Wendy Romaniuk and Brenda Graham displayed some excellent talents in the synchronized swim demonstration. Cynthia Bajoid and Brenda Clausen tumbled to the applause of the crowd in the fast moving gymnastics display.

In conjunction with the pool activities, the curling rink was the scene of a ball hockey tournament. Competing were two Killam teams, Dayland and Heisler. Dayland and Heisler both had strong representatives and won their first games. However, as the day wore on, the final game pitted Heisler against Killam. It was a very fast, exciting and disciplined ball hockey games between two well matched teams. In the end, the winner of the Prasco Air Seeder Cup was Killam (the O'Connor kids).

Killam-Strome Co-op Assoc. Ltd. donated 2 ping pong trophies. Mike Wallace won the male singles ping pong trophy and Connie Fleck won the honours for the ladies.

If there are any suggestions or comments, please contact the agriplex. Meanwhile, we will see you next year at the 2nd Annual Record Making Day which will be bigger and better.



On Sunday, the Killam Aqua Aces hosted a swim meet. The meet was very successful and attracted 215 swimmers. The Hanna swim club won the trophy for the most team points while Camrose won the trophy for most points individually.

Attention sun tanners! The sun deck is almost completed. "Kim-alta Enterprises" donated their time and effort in cementing the sundeck. Special mention goes to Clarence Rott and Ken Towers for a job well done.

"Bruce's Welding Ltd." will be putting up a steel linked fence in the near future.

The pool will be open for the long weekend. On Saturday, Sunday and Monday, public swimming is from 2-4 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Family swim on Sunday is as usual 4-5 p.m.

Hardisty couple celebrate 50th

On Sunday July 8th,1979 friends and relatives gathered at the Elks Hall in Hardisty to help celebrate the surprise 50th anniversary for Bob and Sina Quast, which they thought was a family reunion when they entered the hall. Music was played on the piano by granddaughter Wanda Price of Sedgewick.

Flowers of yellow were pinned on the couple. Assisted by daughter Shirley Becktold and daughter-in-law Mabel Quast they were then taken to the head table and seated with Lydia Quast of Hanna, acting bridesmaid and Alex Quast of Wetaskiwin, acting best man. The table was centered with a lovely cake which was decorated by granddaughter Wanda Price of Sedgewick. The cake was flanked by two gold candles and candle holders. A lovely cake done by granddaughter Faith Quast sat on a table with the gold guest book.

Master of ceremonies was a nephew of the grrom, Don Quast of Hanna. Cindy Quast of Camrose granddaughter of the bride and groom played music on the piano until all were seated for a lovely dinner. Carl Walker from Edmonton, nephew of the bride gave the toast to the couple. Best wishes were conveyed from various friends and relatives. Greetings were presented from Prime Minister Joe Clark, Premier of Alberta Peter Lougheed, Lieutenant Governor, Arnold Malone M.P. Tom Lysons MLA. Edward Schreyer.

After all greetings and gifts were presented they all embarked down to Hardisty Lake to finish the day.

Out of town guest were from. Hanna, Penoka, Wetaskiwin, Calgary, Edmonton, Devon, Elk Point, Coronation, Wildwood, Camrose, Sedgewick, Lougheed, Turieford, Sask. and British Columbia.

Auxiliary to delivery meals

A special meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary was held Monday, July 23 at the home of Erma Matthews. The meeting was called because a meals-on-wheels program is to be instituted in Hardisty beginning in September.

Hospital Administrator Will West has asked the leader of the Auxiliary, if they would be responsible for delivering the meals. The food will be prepared at the hospital and delivered at noon each day to the persons involved in the program. So far it appears that approximately eight persons will be involved. All members agreed with the value of the program but because the num-

Killam couple celebrate 25th

Saturday, July 21st was a pleasurable evening for those attending Ken and Jean Child's silver wedding anniversary. It was held at their farm home at Killam.

The building chosen for the occasion was attractively decorated with flowers and streamers.

The assembled relatives, friends and neighbours were welcomed by Ron Rozneberg of Calgary (nephew of Jean's) MC for the occasion.

Seated with the honored couple were the original attendants, Stella Rozneberg (Jean's sister) from Calgary, Lillian Fitzmaurice from Viking, Jack Cotton of Hinton and Eddy Thompson from Camrose.

After a delicious buffet supper prepared by daughter Lyan and her "help mates" the MC got the program underway. Doug Bornas entertained with a few solo's accompanying himself on the guitar.

A humorous poem was composed by Stella, reminiscening Ken and Jean's past 25 years.

A skit was performed by Sheila Paulson and Tom Spiller called the "Old People" illustrating Ken and Jean's future life. Ronald Doyle and Rick Child performed a skit called "Spike". Rick played the part of 'Spike'. After answering questions that netted him $64,080, Rick is determined he belongs in movies, rather than on the farm. Syd Doyle on the guitar and his son Brian on the violin favored us with a few duets.

Helen Nikiforuk related an incident about Jean's unfailing efforts at being the perfect help mate at harvest time.

Allan on behalf of himself, Lynn, John and Brent presented his parents with a gift.

Ken and Jean expressed appreciation for the enjoyable evening.

The rain storm outside didn't dampen the lively dance that followed, altho we did experience moments of "lights out."

Guests came from Victoria, Vernon, B.C., Hinton, Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Scottis, Kerrobert, Saskatchewan, Viking and Killam.

Editorially

A Job for 4-H

A recent article in "The Edmonton Journal" dealt with handicapped children and the riding of horses. It seems a three year program to bring young people and horses together is about to halt because of a lack of funds. For the past year funds have been provided by parents and other interested persons. It has been organized as the Lil Bits Riding Club and costs run to $15 for ten 90 minutes lessons. Each child is accompanied by two adults and two instructors.

The Club president, Sheron Curry says, "The children's coordination and reflexes are quickened, their body balance improves and their muscles are strengthened." Anyone who knows horses knows this to be one of the fine things about riding. There now is a 36 member club and a waiting list of people wanting to join, "but we just can't afford to expand," says Mrs. Curry.

The program teaches the riders theory and riding on an equal basis and in some instances, they have become quite proficient. In fact one girl, although physically disabled, can ride unassisted.

I wonder if it could be possible to bring our 4-H horse clubs and their skills in horsemanship together with another group who share an interest. If one looks at the problem, there is some distance involved in getting horses from this area to the city. Would it be easier to bring the youngsters out to horses? If they were to come out here, it would involve some extra volunteers but we do have some horse clubs who have adults that could handle this.

Part of the 4-H pledge is "Health" that could be shared and "Heart" which could be opened and fulfilled with such a program of "Help". If you care to investigate it further you can phone Mrs. Currey at 489-6613.

What Others Say

No Favoritism

From the time Prime Minister Clark chose his Cabinet Ministers, some in the media have tried to play up a feeling of Alberta being left out. Surely more Albertans are astute enough to realize that any action indicating pampering of his home province would seriously threaten the precarious position in which a minority government places him.

Despite the solid Conservative vote, it was not Alberta that put him in power. Albertans have been voting Conservative with John Diefenbaker, and Robert Stanfield as leaders and when the crunch was on, it did not put them in as Prime Minister. It was disenchantment of Trudeau and his Liberals in the other nine provinces that swung the election, so Alberta need not feel that it has special consideration coming.

Add to this the disfavor Alberta is facing simply by being favored with much needed oil and gas reserves and justifiably wanting to benefit by this bounty. There is always jealousy and resentment for those who "have", by those who "have not" or who have wasted what they had, so now Alberta sits in this enviable - or unenviable position.

There is a lot of Canada, and a lot of different problems. One of the thorns in western flesh was the seemingly preferential treatment accorded Quebec by the previous government and the surplus of ministers with French names and leanings. It is worthy of commendation that Mr. Clark has avoided this pitfall and (we hope) has chosen men and women for the job rather than a job for the favored person.

One thing we can rely on is that Mr. Clark does have a good understanding of Alberta, and the West, and the problems they face, not just the superficial knowledge received from stepping off a plane, bus or train, and hopefully will put them in proper perspective.

I Write As I Please

WHOEVER IT WAS THAT COINED THE PHRASE, "Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown", probably had little idea how universal the saying would become. Most likely, having framed it as the result of a local situation and applied to a local personality, the author would doubtless be surprised to find that the trite saying had turned out to be one of the most truthful utterances of the ages. Those who aspire to and attain the highest rank and position, in the main, find that the office demands more responsible action and re-action to the wishes of those they govern than their mental and physical capabilities are able to supply. Not only that, but oft times the attainment of the position leads to such a degree of self importance and the lust for personal aggrandisement that the responsibilities of office are waived with the result that a ruthless dictatorship replaces sensible re-action and mental alertness.

This generally, and too often, leads to a belief of possession of a god-like stature in whom no moral or physical wrong exists. Fortunately for mankind such persons are the the minority, and most of them are finally caught up in the web of their [illegible] and [illegible].

ANOTHER SAYING which has survived the ages is the old adage that "By the sweat of your brow shall you earn your bread." The world thus far has survived on that principle because those who toil and toil to provide a living for themselves and those for whom they are responsible far out number those who rule with an iron hand and subjugate the common man with cruelty and violence. Mankind the world over has fought this with determination and where the means have been available, have overthrown the strangling yoke and gained their freedom. Never in the history of the world has this become more evident than during this century when emerging world has abandoned reasoning and taken to violence to obtain a better way of life.

THE EVIDENCE IS THERE We need only to look at history during this 20th century, let alone the centuries past, to see the ignominious end to the careers of irrational leaders. Let's take a look at some of them.

IT MIGHT BE INFORMATIVE but of little practical value to go back to the times of the Roman Empire and bring you back through the centuries to the times of Napoeon, the little General whose ambition to conquer the world led to his humiliating exile and passage out of the annals of history. Then go on through the succeeding reigns of Kings and Queens of England and the British Empire and relate the humiliating end to some of those careers brought about by ineptness, hunger for power, honor and wealth. I don't wish to chase you off to the libraries to renew your knowledge of these past events. Suffice it to say that history, if honest, will relate them all as failures, whose lives ended ignominiously.

IT MAY BE BETTER to stick to the 20th century and the lives of some of the people we know more about: those power-hungry leaders and dictators whose infamous acts brought them to the same humiliating end. So, let's start with the Little Corporal (Hitler) and his ill-advised henchman (Il Duce). The latter ended up strung up by the heels at the hands of his angry countrymen for the disgrace he brought upon them. Hitler did not suffer such humiliation for his true nature surfaced in the end in the taking of his own life, because he could not bear to face the reality of his situation.

TO GET MORE MODERN, we have the unsavory attitude and behavior of Idi Amin whose ruthless hold over his people was at last broken by the fed-up victims of his dictatorship. He is now an exile and a wanderer from his homeland, living in disgrace. Now we have Somoza who has finally been revealed in his true light and for his life; unable to hold on and unwilling to face the consequences. Then on to Ayatollah Khomeini, the self-styled Saint who places himself on an almost equal basis with God, whose Islamic belief is charity to all men yet whose personal philosophy is to ruthlessly murder all those who dare oppose him. This is the worst crime of all, to kill in the name of God. His life has been threatened, his existence is in danger.

YES INDEED. Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown, and the object of this whole article is to ask you: Aren't you glad that you are one of the mollers and tollers?

Funeral Held for Glenn Smith

After several years of rather indifferent health, Glenn Smith died on Sunday at the age of 66 years.

Born in Illinois on February 3, 1913, he moved to the Lougheed district as a young man, and lived there for many years before moving to Camrose about 25 years ago. On moving to Camrose, he became a bulk oil dealer, and later worked selling mobile homes as health reduced his heavy labor.

While in Lougheed he was active in nearly every phase of community activity, serving on the council, with the fire brigade, the sports clubs, and so on, and on moving to Camrose, he continued his keen interest in community affairs.

He was elected to two terms on city council, and ran unsuccessfully in the last election. He was also active in politics at the provincial and federal level, and was a central figure in constituency organizations.

One of his keenest interests over many years was hockey, and over many years he served as a member of the executive for the Camrose Maroons, and was also a member of the CLC Vikings promotion committee.

A long-term member of the United Church, he had been a member of the Lions Club and several other groups in both communities.

Mr. Smith is survived by his wife, Joan; two sons Cliff and Keith; six daughters, Carol Butcher, Linda Campbell, Bonnie Smith, Pat Michalko, Irene Weitz and Muriel Carver; two sisters and five brothers.

Rev. R. Conrad conducted services, Thursday, July 26, in Camrose United Church. Interment followed in Camrose Cemetery.

SCIENCE AND THE RESURRECTION

Science through the years has proven and convinced us of many things. We thank God for our scientists who have devoted innumerable hours of painstaking research in their laboratories to bring to us evidence that many things that at one time were unexplainable are now explainable and thus now are accepted as fact. However, because of this light that has been brought to us, many have drawn the conclusion that science has all the answers to existence, so much so that the Biblical accounts of creation, sustenance of life, and the resurrection of Jesus Christ and of the dead are looked upon very skeptically. The great scientist, Dr. Wernher von Braun, says that science has a real surprise for the skeptics. Hear his words and the conclusions he has drawn.

"Some people think that science has made religious ideas pass. Science has a real surprise for the skeptics. Science, for instance, tells us that nothing in nature, not even the tiniest particle, can disappear without a trace. Nature does not know extinction, only transformation. If God applies this fundamental principle to the most minute parts of His universe, doesn't it make sense to assume that He applies it also to the soul of man? Everything that science has taught me strengthens my belief in the continuity of our spiritual existence after death." He continues, "I believe in an immortal soul. Science has proved that nothing disintegrates into nothingness. Life and soul, therefore, cannot disintegrate into nothingness, and we are immortal."

What conclusion have you drawn? Thank God for men like Dr. von Braun who have interpreted the findings of the laboratory to be supportive in many ways to the Biblical accounts of the resurrection and that man does have an immortal soul. He therefore found need personally of the quickening power of Jesus Christ on his immortal soul so that he would experience the assurance of eternal life through faith in the One who gave His life and overcame the grave through His glorious resurrection that Dr. Wernher von Braun might live eternally with His Saviour and Creator. Be careful in the conclusion that you draw. Your eternal destiny depends upon it. Jesus died and rose again for you.

Thirty five children enrolled in Vacation Bible School last week. Friday evening parents and friends enjoyed a visit from the puppets - "bionic grandpa and grandma", class presentations of the theme "Life Choices and the Bible" and the musical "Cat on board, children" or "What do you do on a rainy day in an ark?" completed the program. Thank you parents for sending your children to learn of God and his word.

Teens met Monday evening for a sample of good things in store next week when they shared song and testimony with John Jackson, youth director. After a marshmallow roast an afterglow singspiration was enjoyed.

There will be no Sunday School August 5 & 12 but a worship service will be held at 11 a.m. in Sedgewick for those unable to attend Family Camp. Visitors to the area are cordially invited to worship with us.

Michelle Wahland is a patient in Killam Hospital. Come home soon.

The truly religious man does everything as if everything depends upon himself, and then leaves everything as of everything depended on God.

GREEN ACRES

Glen Werner, D.A. Roger Andrastuk, D.A.

Has the "Great White Combine" visited any of your fields lately? There has been numerous reports of hail damage throughout the County. If your crops have been hailed out and if you are taking off the damaged crop for livestock feed you might be wondering about the possibilities of nitrate build-up in the feed.

There can be nitrate build-up in all crops if they have been damaged or stunted by hail or an early frost and if enough nitrate is built up it may be toxic to livestock. The only safe and sure way of determining if feed is safe for livestock is to have it analyzed for nitrate content. We have the sampling kits here in our office for your use.

Nitrate build-up will occur shortly after the crop has been damaged and the peak concentration may occur anywhere within a few days to a couple of weeks. The time of peak concentration depends upon the growing conditions after the storm. If they are good the peak concentration will be reached sooner that if the growing conditions are poor.

A level of nitrate in the feed of less than 0.8% is considered safe. A nitrate level of 0.8% to 1.6% warrants careful feeding. A nitrate level greater than 1.6% is toxic.

Hail damaged oat crops when taken in as green feed or silage are usually the most prone to high nitrate levels. Barley green feed or silage is the next in line with wheat usually having the lowest levels of nitrate. Crops grown on highly fertile soil are also more prone to nitrate build-up if damaged by hail.

The feed samples for nitrate analysis should be taken during or soon after the crop is put up so that you will know well in advance what you are feeding your cattle. The nitrate content does not diminish much, if say, in the stack, so a nitrate test taken in August still gives good results for a winter feeding program.

All in all, if you are worried about nitrate poisoning because you have had hail or an early frost, your safest bet is to have a feed analysis done to determine the level of nitrate. If the level of nitrate is toxic, the feed can be made safe by diluting it or mixing it with other feeds that do not have nitrate build-up in them. The resulting mix will be safe feed for livestock.

For sampling kit phone 384-3737 or write P.O. Box 270, Sedgewick, or visit us at our office. Cost is $2.00 per sample.

Elsie Johnson Passes

Elsie Lauretta Johnson was born in Galahad, Alberta, on April 7th, 1922 to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson. She moved with her parents and brother, Steve and Bruce to the Leedale district in 1937.

In 1941, Elsie attended Mountain View Bible College in Didsbury. It was soon after that she met her future husband, Willard Alfred Bingeman They were married February 2, 1942 at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bingeman of Tees, Alberta.

The first year of marriage was spent on Vancouver island before moving to Tees, where they took up farming. To their union, blessed so richly of God, there were born five children: Joy, Gwen, Gerald, Diana and Beverly.

Willard and Elsie lived on the farm until 1978 when they took up residence in their new home in Ponoka. Elsie was loved and appreciated by all. Her's was truly the gift of serving. She derived pleasure out of entertaining and cooking for others. The fellowship and warmth of the Bingeman home, and of Elsie's reached out and embraced many, among whom was Campbell Dick, who became like a son to Willard and Elsie, and a part of their family. Elsie was very much a part of the Concord and Ponoka Baptist Churches.

She went to be with her Lord on July 16th, 1979. She passed away at the age of 57 years in the W.W. Cross Hospital, Edmonton. Elsie was predeceased by her father, Ralph Cecil Johnson, March 9, 1949 and her brother Steve Johnson, April 23rd, 1978.

Those that are left with many happy memories include her beloved husband Willard of Ponoka, four daughter Joy Perry and son-in-law Dennis of Calgary, Diana Stickel and son-in-law Gary of Kamloops and Beverly Poison and son-in-law Tim of Clive, and Gwen. One son Gerald and daughter-in-law Nancy of Tees; her mother Mrs. Margaret Johnson of Ponoka; one brother Bruce Johnson of Kitimat; eleven grandchildren numerous nieces and nephews, aunts and uncles, sisters-in-law and brothers-in-law.

Many Christian friends will miss Elsie, but only for awhile. We are comforted with His promise of seeing her again and that for all eternity. Funeral services were held from the First Baptist Church of Ponoka on July 18, 1979. Pallbearers were: Bob McLaren, Edgar McLeod, Don Miller, Phil Reed, Henry Pregitzer, Albert Stickel Interment followed at Forest Home Cemetery, Ponoka.

KALEIDOSCOPE

THE SUMMER SUNTAN

We hear many things about sunbathing, skin cancer, and all the sun products available on the market. Burning Questions about Suntans was the title of a Market Spotlight newsletter put out by Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs. Here are a few highlights.

Good news! There is no reason why we need to endure a painful sunburn in order to get a tan. There are several good suncare products on the market.

Our genes determine our tanning ability. Apparently, no suncare product yet made will make you tan faster or darker that you naturally would. But, suncare products will help you to avoid burning.

Burning and Skin-Cancer

There seems to be a definite link between skin cancer and people who over-indulge in the sun. The incidence of skin cancer is highest in the 2 warmest countries populated by white people - Australia and South Africa. One bad sunburn will not cause cancer. But, it seems the damage done by burning is cumulative and irreversible. Therefore, its sensible to avoid burning by using the proper sun screen.

Sun Care Products

There are three kinds of products available on the market.

PHYSICAL SUNSCREENS

These are opaque, white pastes which block ALL ultra-violet rays. If you use these such as zinc oxide or titanium dioxide, you will neither tan or burn. Physical sunscreens are recommend for people who spend their lives in the sun - farmers, skiers, lifeguards.

Quick - tanning Formulas

These are the ones most of us buy. Chemical sunscreens work by absorbing burning ultra-violet rays while permitting tanning rays to reach the skin. Harvard's Medical School, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and the National Cancer Institute all agree that the best ingredient for filtering out burning rays is para-amino-benzoic acid, or PABA. Many products boast of their PABA content but it works best in a 5% concentration, suspended in an alcohol-base, rather than oily formula.

In order to choose a sunscreen to match your skin type, many products have a "sun protection factor" on their label. This is a number ranging from 2 to 15. A "2" rating means you can stay in the sun twice as long with the sun screen as without before burning; a "4" lotion allows four times the exposure. Therefore, fair-skinned sunbathers should choose a sunscreen with higher numbers or described in terms such as "ultra" or "maximal" protection Complete coverage is essential. Apply the sun screen before going into the sun, and reapply every one to two hours, and after swimming or exercising. Continue to use after you have tanned to save your skin from accelerated aging.

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW

By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Just over 12 months ago, the Honourable Marvin Moore, then Minister of Agriculture, commissioned The Sibbald Group of Calgary to make a study into surface rights compensation. Their report, which I received last May, was tabled during the Spring Session of the Legislature.

Several reasons prompted this study. Among them was our wish for a review — to see if our method of handling surface rights, last altered through amendments made to The Surface Rights Act in 1972, was equal to today's frantic activity in the areas of mineral exploitation and exploration, as well as to renewed pipeline and utility construction.

However, probably the most important reason was the growing volume of surface rights cases being handled by the Surface Rights Board. For instance, the number of right-of-entry applications being received by the board more than tripled from a mere 334 in 1973 to 1100 in 1978. Over the same period outstanding applications at the end of each year rose from 387 in 1973 to 1115 in 1978. Simply put, the Surface Rights Board continues to be swamped by the workload it faces. That fact alone was enough to require this study.

As I look through this report, I see that it presents almost 100 pages of recommendations and background information; so in this column I'd like to limit my remarks to one area where we intend to take almost immediate action — to reduce the workload now imposed on the Surface Rights Board and, in turn, to cut the waiting time farmers must endure before they receive a compensation hearing and judgment after a right-of-entry order has been granted.

To meet this aim, we hope by September 1 to implement one of the report's major recommendations — to appoint a special mediator who would be able to negotiate settlements between mineral rights holders and surface rights holders.

As a member of the Surface Rights Board, which currently has eight members and a chairman, the mediator would be given specific duties and limitations. To further expedite matters, we would expect to establish two positions of this type with one being located in Calgary, the other in Edmonton.

As much as possible these positions would be neutral, for the incumbents would be expected to make fair and impartial judgments based on the merits of each case. Settlements would be largely made on the basis of good will, and if this were not enough, then the case would proceed into normal channels which would probably end up in a right-of-entry order and a compensation hearing.

With two new mediators, each negotiating settlements independently of the board, it's quite possible that three times as many cases could be handled — that is, a regular Surface Rights Board hearing and two other 'negotiated' settlements at the same time.

The same type of system has worked well elsewhere in Canada. According to the Sibbald report, "This person (the mediator) is charged with attempting to explain and mediate the situation between the landowner and the company. Either party may ask for mediation; as well, the (Board) may suggest mediation during or after a compensation hearing.

"The mediator may take as long as he wants, but if he feels a settlement cannot or will not be reached, he then informs the (Board) chairman and a compensation hearing is held. Nothing the mediator says or has done is brought before the hearing. It is the opinion of (one Board) chairman that the mediator is one of the more successful parts of (his Board) and assists in settling a large number of the cases which come before it".

I think that statement accurately describes the type of position we intend to establish in Alberta. Any case referred to or entering mediation will be stayed by the Surface Rights Board, i.e. the Board will avoid the case until the negotiator has effected a settlement or decides that further negotiation will produce no relevant results. If a settlement is reached, then the settlement will have the same legal force as it would if the Board had made the same ruling in an official hearing and judgment.

Other aspects of the Sibbald report may also help us to reduce the workload of the Surface Rights Board. One interesting recommendation was that all compensation awards be broken down by category. These not only would serve as future guidelines but also would let both parties in a case know how a particular compensation award was derived.

The report contains still more recommendations, including some which will most likely result in amendments being made to The Surface Rights Act. These recommendations are still being studied, and I intend to comment on some in the future. In the meantime, by establishing a mediator's post, I expect we will have taken the quickest possible course of action to reduce the current workload that threatens to plug up our Surface Rights compensation system.

Josh Ramsden, accompanied by his sister Anne of Saskatoon motored to Dauphin last week to attend the funeral of their paternal grandmother, Mrs. Vera Ramsden. Our sympathy to the bereaved family.

Mr. Hugo Potts is in Killam hospital. We wish him a speedy recovery. His sister Mrs. Kathleen Saltfleet is out visiting at Lougheed from Vancouver to see her brother.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Clouston last week were Mr. and Mrs. Norse Lassdal from Brenton on their way to visit relatives in Alliance.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Clouston returned home from holidays last Friday from Montana, Fernie and Golden B.C. and spent a day with the Bill Reimer family of Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riddell had a nice surprise visit from Deanne Guerrier from Surrey B.C. and Edna Singleton of Burnaby, B.C. (Edna's first trip out since she left here in 1956.) These are daughters of Bob and Mary Rennbaugh. So we girls had a good chat of our school days together. Edna saw a big change in the country.

Terri Martin of Vancouver, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Martin from Weslaco, Texas, U.S.A. are visiting with the John Martins and families.

Sympathy is extened to the family and relatives of Mr. Glenn Smith of Camrose. Glenn passed away on Sunday, July 22nd. A lot of people from Lougheed and district attended the funeral last Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wright of Toronto and their daughter Linda of Edmonton were recent visitors with their aunt and uncle Marian and Warren Walto. They also visited other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riddell, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and Wilbur Smith were in Edmonton to Reuben Bartley's retirement party. It was nice to be all together again.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Smith from Surrey, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bartley of Edmonton spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddell.

A week ago this past Saturday night we had quite a bad storm hit Lougheed and district. Some crops were hailed and the wind wrecked granaries south of Lougheed also other buildings. Quite a lot of windows were broken especially on the east end of town. Hail did damage to gardens in town too.

Mrs. Margaret Denham had as her overnight guests her grandsons Robert Burdess of Edmonton and Gary Burdess of Kelowna, B.C. They also spent a short time at the Alf Blumhagen home at Galahad.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wylie attended Ernie's sister and brother-in-laws's Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Meares of Red Deer 50th wedding anniversary last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Benton, Kelly and Mark of Coronation spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Graham Benton. Also Graham's sisters Blanche Beaton and Peg Smith of Vancouver spent a few days with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jones and family of Delburne were visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitbeck in Sedgewick last week.

Helsler couple celebrate 50th Anniversary

Clarence and Emma Reather celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday June 30th in the Elks Hall with reception for 75 guests. All their four children Ken, Lillian, Leona and Vivian and their husbands and wives, 19 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren were present. The master of ceremonies, Archie Solomey, called on Ricky Reather to say the blessing after the enjoyable supper, there was an entertaining program during which telegrams were read including one from Premier Peter Lougheed and Lt. Governor Ralph Steinhauer.

Granddaughter Charlene Banack presented a history book with pictures of the lives of Emma and Clarence and family and their families, which was also enjoyed by the guests. Other gifts of the family were a lovely bedroom suite.

Great-grandson Darcy Nelson presented Emma and Clarence with a spoon rack to represent the map of Alberta, containing 50 gold colored spoons, each spoon engraved with the names of a member of their family. The program was finalized by Emma and Clarence cutting the cake which was decorated by Mrs. Joe Banack.

A open house and dance followed with the lively music of the Bretton Band.

Folks attending from out of town were from: Stocton, California, Vancouver, Pine Point, N.W.T., Lake Field, Ontario, Grand Centre, Fort Saskatchewan, St. Paul, Cold Lake, Drayton Valley, Breton, Edmonton, Camrose, Red Deer, Calgary, St. Albert, Leduc, Vermilion, Hinton, Manning, Innisfree, Pincher Creek, Daysland, Rimwell, Strome, Forestburg and Galahad.

Keeping in Touch

by Arnold Malone, M.P.

A NEW JOB

Prime Minister Clark wrote me a short time ago requesting that I assume responsibility for counselling the government on matters concerning parliamentary reform. I am now a member of a government study committee reviewing the ramifications of various government systems. We will give special study to the British, Australian, and New Zealand parliaments, the U.S. congress and senate, and the German bundestag.

Our principal objectives are:

1. to return greater account ability to government
2. to strengthen the role of the private member
3. to enhance the opportunities for public influence on parliamentary business

Obviously the above objectives necessitate a freedom of information law. Such a law would give added force to the power of the public and the opposition parties. A legal requirement forbidding acts of secrecy, except in instances of national security, should yield a more open and democratic system.

After sixteen years in opposition we are a party that has become highly aware of the need to enhance the role of the private member. All good ideas are not harboured in the minds of the government cabinet. A government, of any political association, would benefit from a system that allows for free votes on private members' bills.

I am delighted with my new task. If you have some suggestions for the reform of parliament I would appreciate being made aware of your views.

This committee will meet for two days every couple of weeks this summer; so keep in touch.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for the gifts and cards received on our Silver Wedding Anniversary. Special thanks to our family and those who participated in the program, the ladies of the B.C.W. for catering at the Open House and all who attended. Also to every one who took part in the program, to Connie Ingvaldson for being M.C., to the Lyle Metz Orchestra for the good music and to the girls who worked in the kitchen and the fellows on refreshments.
Special thanks to Elaine and Lis and all our friends and relatives for helping out in so many ways. Thanks to Sheila and Casonia for looking after the guest book. Thank you to everyone who came to celebrate with us. We appreciated it very much.

CARDS OF THANKS

We'd like to extend a big thank you to the Killam Ag. Society for nominating our family for the Farm Family Award. We go cheered at the Coliseum for coffee, then went to City Hall by L.R.T. for a brief tour at which Mayor Purves gave a short speech. We then boarded a city bus and toured the Legislative Buildings and the Muttart Conservatory. We were then taken to North lands for dinner at which Lieu tenant Steinhauer was the guest speaker. Individual family photos were taken and then we were free to attend the Klondike Midway attractions. Once again thank you for a most enjoyable day.
Dennis, Sherry, Kerry, Ricky, Steven and Darren Bunn

Thanks to all my relatives and friends who made my graduation party so enjoyable. A special thanks to the ladies for helping provide a lovely lunch, especially Verna and Ginny for decorating the cake. It will be an evening long remembered.

IN MEMORIAM

KIPP, HENRY in memory of my husband Henry A. Kipp who passed away August 6, 1978
One sad and lonely year has passed
Since our great sorrow fell
The shock that we received that day
No one can ever tell
It's lonely here without you
We miss you more each day
For life is not the same for us
Since you were called away
You bade no one a last farewell
Nor even said good-bye
You were gone before we realized
And only God knows why.
Sadly missed by Bert, Bon and Stan, Wayne and Pat and families

BOSH, Mike - In loving memory of our father and husband, who died August 4, 1978.
The rolling stream of life rolls on
But still the vacant chair
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile
Of the one who once sat there.
Kathleen Bosh and family

News From Hardisty

Sunday morning service at St. Paul's United Church was the last service until Rev. and Mrs. Jackson return from their August holidays.

Garrett Allan Nelson was christened and his aunt, Mary Bress, sang "Children of the Heavenly Father" accompanied by Maryon Dragoe.

The second selection was "Others" which fitted in nicely with Rev. Jackson's sermon.

Among the visitors in church were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dodds of Lac La Biche, Mrs. Helen Morrison of Airdrie, Mrs. Henry Metz of Red Deer, Anna Wilson and Sheila of Camrose, Dorothy Tennis and Mrs. Ferchoff with an unknown visitor and Ivy May of Soda Beach.

When passing the campsite on Monday we discovered it to be freshly mowed so the long grass etc. is gone and it really looked nice. Members of the Drop-In Centre keep the grounds tidy as do the campers themselves.

Elsie Parkin and Mrs. Gertie Terry were hoping to attend a girl's ball game between Amisk and Hughenden but due to the rain it had been cancelled. Grandmother Terry was disappointed, she had hoped to see her granddaughter play.

Shane Reber of Cleardale, in Peace River country has been visiting his grandmother, Marguerite Thaksim.

Paul and Bessie Mazure attended a wedding in Edmonton on Saturday when one of Stanley and Jessie Mazure's children was married. Being in Edmonton they missed out on the great display of heavenly fireworks which caused many of us to jump when the thunder and lightning came together.

We were most fortunate not to receive much hail as sad to say some are completely hailed out and such lovely crops.

Tracy and Sammy Oldfield are visiting their grandmother Bonnie Olsen in Duncan B.C.

Elsie Parkin accompanied by Isabel Nelson went to Czar on Monday to attend the funeral of Hazel (Weatherly) Hargreaves. Hazel was born in Sedgewick in 1910 and was a niece of the late Mrs. Tom Kenny's, also a niece of the late Alex McLeod well known auctioneer in the Alliance area.

We are indeed sorry to hear of Glenn Smith of Camrose, passing away. Glenn lived in the Strong district as a young boy and sympathy is extended to his wife Joan and family, also brothers and sisters.

Marion Elm celebrated her birthday July 23 with 3 birthday cakes. Helen Anderson brought a nice cake as did her great granddaughter Skye. Then in the evening along came Eugene and family with another cake.

Also to wish Grandma Elm a happy birthday were 2 granddaughters as well. Marion had a very happy birthday.

Mrs. Bob Quast, Linda Pakh and Isabel Nelson visited with a few at Flagstaff Lodge. Mrs. Quast and Mrs. Sutter recalled all the times they had shared together. Isabel visited Olaf Nelson also Mrs. Skoberg and met Mrs. M. Madsen a new comer to the Lodge.

Enough people for 7 tables of whist enjoyed the evening at Smyth hall to honor Steve Mazure and his bride and as usual a lovely lunch was served after gifts were opened. We wish them much future happiness.

Belva Leadlay has just returned from a very well deserved holiday and is back to work at the post office again. Belva with son Leif and Penny, niece Myra (Overman) Letki and her husband George all went to Moose Jaw to visit Belva's niece and husband John and Margaret Skoberg, also niece Marie Bordeaux, both are Myra's sisters. As John is provincial N.D.P. member of Moose Jaw he enjoyed touring them through the parliament buildings in Regina and his office as well.

They visited the R.C.M.P. museum and the large museum which one can spend hours in. They also saw the Diefenbaker home in a park and saw places of interest in Moose Jaw as well.

The Skobergs oldest daughter Diane has been back packing over Europe and was in Switzerland at this time.

Belva was very pleased that her niece Marie Bordeaux has worked herself up to the position of deputy secretary for the city of Moose Jaw. They got back just in time for that vicious electrical storm and worked to keep the coin wash from being flooded.

Another highlight of Belva's holiday was when they had lunch in the parliament building with John Skoberg and he invited Premier Blakeney and the minister of External Affairs to join them and meet his relatives.

Belva's sister-in-law Blanche Gilbertson called on her the other evening.

Sorry to learn that Mrs. Leeghoins has her foot in a cast and has to use a walker to get around, having broken a bone in her foot. We people on foot find the stony places very hard walking. It is nice that her daughter Mrs. Ruth Golding from Owen Sound is here now.

Word has been received of the passing of Mrs. Abel Peterson near St. Helen's, Oregon. Blanche Peterson nursed in Hardisty Hospital for a few years and in 1945 the family left for Oregon where Blanche had brothers and a sister. She nursed for many years in Portland, retiring shortly before her lingering illness became apparent.

Pat and Alan Morrison of Calgary spent the weekend with Pat's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews.

Mary Breen of Camrose and Olaf Nelson of Sedgewick Lodge were weekend visitors at the I. Nelson home. Mary was so pleased to meet up with her old school friend and neighbours of Strong school and Hardisty. Marie (Overman) Bordeaux of Moose Jaw called on her and the two girls decided that it was 23 years since they had seen each other. They had quite a few things to recall before it was time for Mary to leave on the bus.

Hardisty Hospital Aux.

ber of ladies who could actually deliver the meals is so small, a decision was made that the Auxiliary would deliver meals one day a week. It is hoped that other organizations could supply volunteers for the other days of the week.

Because of the distress felt by hospital patients during the recent heat wave, the auxiliary moved to pay for the purchase of any number of fans that might be needed to provide for the comfort of all patients. Mr. West is to be informed of this decision.

President Erma Mathews announced the completion of the work of compiling attendance statistics, to see which members will be honored with service pins this fall. Members had to have at least 70% attendance over 5 consecutive years. Those who will receive the pins are Rose Marie Thompson, Hilary Grey, Doodie Cahill, Bea Hahn and Marion Elm.

The gathering was saddened to hear the news that our beloved Sister Elizabeth has passed away. When our regular meetings resume this fall it is hoped that the auxiliary will determine a fitting memorial for this dedicated lady, who was known and loved by us all during her years of service at St. Anne's Hospital.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

TRY IT YOU'LL LOVE IT!

The most obvious proof of personal pleasure we humans are gifted with, is a smile. From this smile radiates several feelings--friendship, cheer, delight, and a love of life. All a person does to smile is curl up the edges of his/her mouth and part his/her lips in an attractive way.

A smile brings joy not only to the giver but to the receiver. Once I walked down the street, met an elderly man, smiled at him and said, "Hi!" He looked up and his face brightened when he saw that I was smiling at him. Then he, too, smiled. I think we both felt we had shared something very nice.

A smile gives a person a glowing warmth inside. The receiver feels flattered that someone cared enough about him to give him a smile and the giver feels good for making someone else happy too. Smiling gives you a feeling of inner satisfaction--you have lifted a person's mood even just one little moment on one day.

A smile is a personal treasure. Every human has one. He just has to learn to use it--in sincerity, not deceit or mockery. A smile helps you get through uncomfortable situations and on depressing days, a smile can work wonders.

Try it! Smile at a person you meet and see the response you get. True, some people won't return your smile for they may be thinking, "What kind of a lunatic is this person here, smiling at me--a perfect stranger?" And there are those who are too insecure or self-conscious to smile, fearing that no one will smile back. There are also those who are so uptight and take life so seriously that they figure smiling is either a useless waste of time or simply ridiculous.

So if you don't find yourself in any of these categories, you have only one alternative--that's right-Smile! Go ahead. It's kind of fun once you get started. Don't overdo it, though, and quer the world! And when you leave a room smiling, people risk appearing idiotic or drunk. Just "think happy" and your lips should very naturally take care of the rest.

Because first impressions seem so important to us human beings, make it a terrific first impression: When you enter a room smile radiantly, people feel warmer toward you, for that smile on your face seems to say, "Hi, I'm happy. I'll be your friend." Smiling gives you new confidence so spirit-lifting, you feel as though you could conare left with the impression that even after a long evening of spilling drinks on your new dress, a drunk constantly pestering you, and sore toes from clumsy dance partners, you still feel good enough about yourself about life--to smile.

Smiling is such a simple thing to do with so many great, surprising results. If you haven't mastered it yet, I've just shown you the technique. Now it's up to you: Try it. You'll love it.

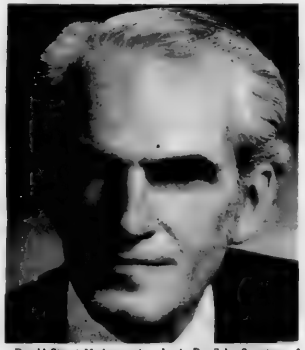
Former resident, Ambassador



Ronald Stuart Maclean, originally from Sedgewick, was recently appointed as Ambassador to Brazil by Secretary of State for External Affairs, Flora MacDonald.

Although Ronald was born in New Norway, Alta., his family moved to Sedgewick when he was four years old, in 1930. Many people will recall his parents, as his father, Rev. M.M. Maclean, was the United Church minister for almost 25 years. Ronald had 2 brothers, Ian and Scott, and one sister Betty (Mrs. David Cook). Mr. and Mrs. Maclean are both deceased and Ian succumbed to cancer a number of years ago.

Ronald took most of his schooling in Sedgewick before going on to University at Edmonton. There he received his B.Sc. and B.Ed. He later received his M.A. at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

In 1966 he joined the External Affairs Department. He has served abroad in New Delhi, as secretary for the Ambassador in Paris, and in Tokyo. Since 1975 he has been Ambassador and Permanent Representative to the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development in Paris.

Ronald Maclean, although he left this area almost 30 years ago, is still remembered by a number of people, especially his former employer, Mr. Walter Hallum, on whose farm Ronald worked during holidays.

Lougheed Fair This Saturday

An annual event, not to be missed, is the Lougheed Fair on Saturday, August 11, starting with breakfast served at the Museum 6 to 11:30 a.m.

The parade, to get underway at 9:30 a.m. is expecting a good turn-out of entries and spectators. All roads lead to the fairgrounds after the parade, to take part in baseball, fastball, bingo, visit the exhibits or the museum, and many other activities on the program.

A cold-plate luncheon will be available during the day and a barbecue supper will get underway at 5:00. Other food booths will also be open.

It'll be a better fair, if you're there!

Introducing Evelyn and John Skene who have opened the Bar-None Auto Parts in Hardisty. The Skenes moved from Lacombe where the rest of their family resides, and both are looking forward to living at Hardisty. They report their interests as just being with friends and duffer golf.

They need no introduction to their line of business as they operated a "Bumper to Bumper" outlet in Lacombe.

Bill Davis 90 Years Young

Way back in Toronto, 90 years long ago

A baby arrived, with hand on his toe,

Now this is important as you all will see

That he'd be a traveller by land or by sea.

So after his schooling, and playings of youth

His spirits grew restless, he must move forsooth

He purchased a ticket to venture out west,

The land that sure offered all that was best.

He spent a few months near Portage and Main

Then boarded the railway to travel again

This time he would settle and never more roam.

For out in Alberta he found his new home.

Some generous voices sounded out o'er the hill

"Who's that," they exclaimed out, the new man called Bill.

He's calling his horses, "Here Molly and Bess"

They galloped to meet him and feel his caress.

He farmed on his quarter, then moved into town

Thinking back on life's moments, sometimes up, sometimes down

His life is a history of times in this land

I'm sure he is saying life sure can be grand.

So on this occasion, your 90th year

We wish you good health, We wish you good cheer

May all of Bills blessings abide with you still

Many more Happy Birthdays we all wish you Bill.

This poem, written and sung by Rev. Jackson was the highlight of the birthday party held to celebrate Bill Davies 90th year. A really nice crowd of friends met at the Christian Education Center last Thursday, August 2, at 8:00 p.m. for the party.

There was a short program, a community sing-song led by K. Blackwell, a most entertaining number by Gladys Siebrasse, recalling the olden days when Bill served on the School Board at Thelma School at the time she taught there.

To top the evening off lots of delicious goodies and a big beautiful birthday cake complete with Happy Wishes and sparklers.

Surprise visitors at Bill Davies birthday party were Mrs. Leda (Mattoon) Rudebaugh and her sister Violet Reaberry, possibly both live in Chico, California. Violet's daughter Grace Delane of Vachon, Washington drove them up here. Mrs. Rudebaugh used to live on the Fred Crome place, now owned by Gus Johnson and left this area in 1934.

Violet (Mattoon) went to school at Choice and was a school mate of Orma Thorps. She left in 1929. They had called on their brother's son Roland and his wife Margaret at Drayton Valley, also Mrs. Esther Mattoon and daughter Fay in Vancouver.

Mrs. Rudebaugh is 80 years young and they enjoyed Bill's birthday party and also went out to see the old home in Battle Ridge country.

One Year Older

The top masthead carries a new volume number this week. It is 71. This is the first issue in the 71st year that The Press has been printed in Sedgewick.

The first paper, Sedgewick Sentinal, was published by Mr. Honey, who later sold it to A.L. Eastly who combined it with five others and re-named it The Community Press. Mr. Eastly operated it until 1942 when it was taken over by his son, Art.

Art held the reins until 1969 when he sold it to the present owner, Monte Keith.

Many improvements in operation and modern techniques which have been adopted by the Community Press accounts for it being classed as one of the better "small town" Weeklies in Alberta.

Teachers and pre-school youngsters take time from their art to pose for The Press. This is just one group of this year's Merna Bible School. (More photos on Page 19).

1979 Alberta Achievement Awards

Have you heard of the Alberta Achievement Awards Programs? Initiated 11 years ago to provide recognition of Albertans who have made an outstanding contribution in a variety of areas, including agriculture, it is the only comprehensive provincial awards program of its kind in Canada.

Do you know a person or a group connected with agriculture who has made an exceptional contribution that is worthy of recognition? If so, perhaps he or she or the group might fit into one of the following categories.

• Service awards for individuals or groups that have provided outstanding voluntary service, usually over a period of 10 years or more, which has had a wide regional or provincial impact.

• Excellence awards for individuals or groups for exceptional contributions and / or achievements in a professional / occupational capacity at the provincial, national or international level.

If you know a person or group that would fit into either of these categories, those in charge of the program would appreciate your sending in a nomination form. It must be submitted before September 3, 1979.

You can obtain nomination forms and further information on the program from The Achievement Awards Program, Alberta Culture, 14th Floor, CN Tower, Edmonton, T5J 0K5.

What Others Say

Errors

The bad news about the 30th annual Lacombe Lions Baseball Tournament was the baseball.

Both semi-final games and the final were disasters. The winning team, the Barrhead Blue Jays, outscored their opponents 48-3 in three games that had a total of only 19 innings. The semi-final between Red Deer and Edmonton was just as bad - 21-3 for Red Deer.

It is obvious that the quality of ball at the Lacombe tournament just isn't there anymore.

Ralph Vold of Ponoka, honorary tournament chairman who started a career with the Brooklyn Dodgers organization by pitching the first game in the first Lacombe tournament, blamed the pitchers. "They're just not strong anymore," he said.

Terry Jones, sport columnist for the Edmonton Journal and a native of Lacombe, blamed the entire situation of baseball. "The problem," he wrote in his column on Friday, "is that semi-pro baseball is dead in these parts."

There is a problem but nobody can blame the Lacombe Lions Club. We only hope that they will continue to organize and promote the event in future years to fan the diminishing flames of semi-pro baseball in western Canada.

Hits, and

The good news about the tournament is the fans.

Each year more than 3,000 of them roll into Lacombe to enjoy the baseball event of the year. Mr. Jones of the Journal says it best in his Thursday column: "To people who have never been here, I'm sure this is just another ball tournament. But to the people who come here every year, it's far more than that. It's a tradition.

They sit in the stands here every year and they talk about the same things. This tournament is as much the past as it is the present. That's the attraction.

"...But mostly they all come here to sit in the sun and watch a baseball tournament like baseball tournaments used to be here, there and everywhere. This is the only one left that's like that anymore."

I Write As I Please

THE YEAR of 1914 was one in which all hell broke loose over the Continent of Europe. Awful know figure is assassinated and at the command of Kaiser Bill the so-called Great War was launched in all its modern horror. It was the year and the war which saw the sophisticated use of trench warfare the inhuman use of poison gas and the mass use of the Plane for bombing and straging of people and cities. It was the year and the war which involved many thousands of Canadians and finally many more thousands of Americans before the bloody holocaust was at last culminated in a so-called victory for the Allies, the formation of the League of Nations and the end of all wars. For surely after such an extreme time of blood-letting and destruction, man realized that such methods were useless and senseless. Yet the League of Nations endured a stormy and somewhat fruitless career and gave every indication that it was incapable of solving the major issues. Prosperity reigned during the war, as seems always the case, yet the economic barometer indicated trouble ahead even for Canada which had yet to see a battle waged on its own soil.

THE CURE OF WAGING such a world wide conflict left most countries including Canada wallowing in the travails of debt and the aftermath of a changed society, and while a temporary attitude of well being prevailed across Alberta, the bare facts were coming to the fore that the days of plenty were coming to an end. Lack of finances and the depressed condition of markets were clear warning that the ship of state was floundering.

THE YEAR 1914 also marked the last year one could be born and be able to vote in the great upheaval election of 1935, when a tired and disallusioned electorate decided enough was enough, and that a change was the only savior, Bill Aberhart, with Ernest Manning by his side had been stumping the hustings of Alberta for many months with a brand new theory, one calculated to bring back the lost prosperity and give Albertans a status not enjoyed by the rest of Canada. Radical as the theory was it naturally set friend and families against families, besides upsetting the governmental technicians of the rest of Canada. So, notwithstanding the Constitution and its dictates, the B.N.A. Act and its rules, the danger of destructive replenishing of the money supply beyond the guaranteeing limits, the appeal to take the gunny sacks off our backs and the gophers off our dinner tables had such an overwhelming appeal that we turned out in unheard-of numbers to upset the Farmers' Government and install in its stead the brand new Social Creditors.

After all who could, in the midst of the dirty 30's resist the appeal of $25 a month for every man, woman and child in the province, with the possibility of the amount being up to $787 In the midst of the thirties this was utopia and we were ready for that.

THE WAR REALLY WHAT I wanted to say at the start, but thought 1914 was a good year to start, for my calculations point to the First World War as the cause and effect of the depression of the thirties.

TRY AS IT MIGHT, in spite of rebuffs aplenty, ultra vires decisions one after the other, Social Credit could never get "Off the ground" on its original theories, and after the death of Aberhart, Manning took over the ship of state and for thirty some years, he and his successors ran a small conservative regime. Now the S.C's. are in trouble under the leadership of Bob Clark. Indeed to such a serious extent that there is every chance of a name change in order to regain lost status.

THERE IS SOME TALK of the new name being the Alberta Party. Far too provincial to suit me; Western Party? Too geographical to succeed. The alternative Party? Alternative to what? Social Credit reigned for years, really, under a misnomer Why not forget it altogether. Close the books and join everybody else in voting Conservative. That's the way Albertans do. No half-way measures for us by gum. We go whole hog, and when we make a move we let everybody know what it is.

LIGHTEN THE LOAD on Alberta's energy future.
Reduce your company's overhead now and help keep electrical costs in line tomorrow.
Energy Management matters – for you and for Alberta
Alberta's electrical utilities have completed a computer study. It shows that a combination of load and energy management – by industry, businesses, farms and homes – can trim future power generation costs.
By controlling demand and energy use, you can reduce the additional generating facilities that will be needed. Because the cost of adding these facilities is continually escalating, this control can help keep future power cost increases to manageable levels.
Of more immediate interest to your business is that energy and load management can reduce your operating overhead. Depending on your particular needs, energy-saving goals can be achieved in numerous ways. Check the lighting levels. Reducing the levels in halls and non-work areas may seem like a small step, but one company reported a kilowatt-hour saving of 15%.
Energy management is easier than you may think. Find out for yourself. Send for your Energy Management Action Kit.
Conserve. It's worth the energy!

COME ALIVE . . .

THE COMFORT OF A GOOD CONSCIENCE

What a valuable possession we have in our consciences! It is certainly not to be taken lightly for it can either give us tremendous peace of mind and comfort or it can literally destroy us with guilty feelings. Someone has said that a bad conscience embitters the sweetest comforts, but a good conscience sweetens the bitterest crosses. Conscience is a small inner voice; and half the time it speaks up, it finds that the line is busy; we just carelessly cast aside its advice and warnings. Sometimes we make a deliberate, forceful attempt to quiet that inner voice only to find our thoughts in more turmoil than ever Shakespeare once said "To be alone with my conscience is hell enough for me."

To many today, the mark of a wise and successful man lies in the ability to swing a shady deal for personal gain without evidence of any qualms of conscience is not troubling them, but deep inside the inner voice cannot be quieted. The story is told of a little boy walking with his father past a beautiful watermelon patch. He told his son to sit on the highest part of the fence and keep watch while he stole in and picked just one of the melons. He looked every direction to see if anyone was coming or around and then proceeded to enter the garden. His son, observing his every move, yelled out, "Daddy, there is one direction in which you didn't look. You didn't look up!" Conscience striken, the father left the watermelon patch. He had forgotten that God had even known his thoughts before the actual action. How foolish this father was to fail victim to a guilty conscience. How great is the cost of disobeying that God-given inner voice that so desires to lead us in the right and pure way. The most precious possession anyone can have is a conscience sensitive to prompting of the Holy Spirit and void of offense toward God and toward men. (Acts 24:16). Happy is the man who renounces everything that may bring a burden upon his conscience. A good conscience is the looking glass of heaven.

Your PSS Program

Youth are the future of the community. Their environment and experiences mold the way they relate to the world as adults. Flagstaff Preventive Social Services is interested in providing exciting and enriching experiences for youth in the County to them every chance in the future.

Often youth know what resources they need to develop into fully functioning adults. Seniors and adults can also lend their experience to those youth programs enriched through contact with the creative energy of youth and enriching the youth through their sense of history.

In the past, PSS has offered leadership training, camping programs, information, career counselling, canoe trips and many other activities for youth and interested adults. We would like to see other programs designed for youth in the County and invite adults and youth to get in touch with their PSS board member or the PSS office in Killam to let us know what we can do to meet your needs.

REALITY

Flames, Smoke, Noise Death,
The Sea Battle goes on;
Airplanes Swarm overhead,
Ships in flames,
Commrades dying.
The water is turning red with blood
The blood of my friends.
My old friends, from long ago.
Trees,
Birds,
Sunshine,
Life,
The field is beautiful;
Animals graze at leisure.
Flowers in full bloom.
My friends are with me.
The grass is green, the day is warm,
Warm with love and happiness.
Happiness at being alive and free.
Quick,
Aim.
Fire, Shoot,
Pull that trigger
Get back to reality!
Home is far, but death is near.
Fight to the finish.
Forget home 'till tomorrow.
Struggle to survive
For the sake of that memory.

Legislature Report

Energy minister Merv Leitch has continued to fend off and suggestions Albertans should accept stern measures to conserve energy.

The minister has applauded U.S. President Jimmy Carter's efforts to get Americans to consume less oil. But he told reporters Albertans are not ready to accept tougher conservation laws that would result in a change in their lifestyle unless other Canadians are prepared to do the same.

When asked about saving energy, Leitch is always quick to point out that the province has always encouraged sound conservation practices among oil and gas producers in the field. And to ensure that more oil is removed from underground formations from which the fossil fuels flow slowly, the provincial cabinet enhanced field conservation last week by approving a royalty cut for wells that produce less than 1,200 barrels per month.

But as for lower energy consumption in the province, the government is limiting its efforts to a $500,000 educational program encouraging better home insulation and vehicle maintenance.

With its ample supplies of oil and gas, the province has a policy that it retain reserves able to meet the needs of Albertans for 30 years.

So Leitch continues to maintain that these reserves mean there is no need for stronger laws to get Albertans to use less energy.

He also sees little need to step up government efforts in solar and wind power research.

An Energy Department report be tabled in the legislature during the spring session gingerly suggested that alternate energy forms will shortly be economical in remote parts of the province and in the rural areas surrounding Calgary and Lethbridge.

But Leitch paid little attention to these findings, preferring to quote unidentified experts who say wind and sun power are just not economically feasible.

A good idea or not, "it would be a little silly if we came up with a technological breakthrough (in solar power) which reduced the value of our hydrocarbo resources."

The fear of a major breakthrough in alternate energy has been used by Premier Peter Lougheed as an argument against banking the province's oil and gas in the ground, rather than converting the resources to cash.

BASHAW ALBERTA

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW

By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

No matter where I am, no matter what I'm doing, the subject of grain quotas always seems to come up. It's almost enough to make a fellow feel claustrophobic.

Needless to say, quotas have been on my mind in recent weeks. In particular, the subject of off-board feed grain quotas was especially prominent at the most recent Federal-Provincial Agriculture Ministers Conference in St. Andrews, New Brunswick. There, with the exception of one provincial delegation, we achieved general consensus that these quotas, since started by the Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) on August 1, are a nuisance that most provinces would rather avoid.

The exception was Saskatchewan, which wants even stricter limits placed on off-board feed grain movements. Another exception, of course, was the federal government, which has implemented the quotas first announced last spring under the Liberals. However, the new government has reviewed the situation and stated that if problems do arise, they will be rectified as quickly as possible.

With this in mind, I'd like to review several sides of this thorny issue, for I realize that each view has its supporters who are equipped with some solid arguments.

For instance, the CWB has re-introduced these quotas for a valid reason — to ease elevator congestion. On that basis alone I suppose it has significant support, but as most farmers know, the congestion is present because grain transportation continues to be so poor. Hopefully, the Heritage Trust Fund money going into the new Prince Rupert terminal will help improve this situation.

Another view comes from eastern livestock producers who depend on Alberta feed grains. Prior to 1974 these producers faced similar off-board quotas which raised prices artificially. In some cases Albertans benefitted because the resulting glut of feed grains forced prices down in our home market, which in turn made livestock raising an attractive proposition.

Unfortunately, there were two sides to that situation. Cheap feed prices which helped some producers, also hurt others. If that were to happen again, it's possible the only solution to "finding" Alberta's position might be to return to our overall marketing strategy — which, for this government, is to promote free markets.

That leads to the third, if divided, opinion of producers in this province. Some producers, such as feedlot or cow-calf operators who produce a small feed grain surplus, will benefit from the higher prices created by quotas. Larger feed growers will be hurt because quotas will limit how much they can sell, unless they have a ready market for farm-to-farm sales. Even then, prices may tend to be depressed. So, in this province, we have a split position.

To the east, Saskatchewan does not face this dilemma. She wants the new quota structure made even stricter. Of course, the fact that she produces few feed grains, in addition to having a rather low-profile livestock industry, does simplify her government's position. Saskatchewan produces wheat — and the government wants more elevator space so even more of that product can be moved.

So where does that leave Alberta? It seems we continue to be in the middle of such questions. Possibly because we are more diversified than even we realize, our producers can not make a concerted stand on either one side or the other of this 'quota' question.

At the recent Conference, the press release issued at the end of the three-day meeting stated that the provincial ministers, by majority, had agreed to petition the federal government to postpone implementing quotas on feed grains. Well, if these quotas were lifted, that would buy us time in this province, but would we be any closer to deciding where we stand on this question?

TV Report
August 5 - 18

On Tuesday evening, July 29th during a storm at 7 p.m., there was lightning struck on the bookshelves in the doctor's residence in Galahad. A few minutes later, bark and splinters of wood were strewn all over the roadway in front of the house, and a car was struck with some of the splinters of wood as it returned from the cancelled football game between Forestburg and Galahad.

Fortunately no one was hurt. Some folk walking in the area saw the strike, but were far enough away that they felt no ill effects. However, the crash of thunder that came in unison with the lightning made everyone sit up and take notice

Preserving Food

Recently, I had the chance to attend a food preservation workshop. All kinds of preserving from canning to drying, smoking, and curing were discussed. I'd like to share some bits and pieces from the workshop.

The water in a water bath canner should be 2 inches over the jar so all the air is properly driven out.

Soon the only pressure canners which will be available on the market are weighted pressure canners. Consumers who own pressure canners with gauge can purchase replacement parts at W.W. Arcade in Edmonton.

Don't cool your pressure canner with cold water. This causes the liquid to come out of the jars.

Fluctuating heat during pressure canning can also result in this problem.

If a jar doesn't seal you may reprocess. ' se the same length of time for reprocessing as was orginally done. If there are several jars that haven't sealed, something is wrong with the initial procedure.

When making jelly using a commercial pectin like Certo, the amount of sugar the recipe uses should not be reduced. If you do use less sugar, chances are the jelly won't set. Often though, a successful jam can be made with a reduced amount of sugar.

Slim set is a product on the market that uses an artifical sweetner or a small amount of sugar to make jams and jellies.

Drying foods is not the same as dehydrating foods. Drying removes 50-90% of the water while dehydrating removes 98% of the water.

Fruits, vegetables, herbs, seeds, meats, gourds or flowers can be dried.

Experiment with drying foods in the oven. If you enjoy this method of preservation, then consider making or purchasing a food dryer.

When curing meat, the meat should be bled well and chilled throughly. By chilling the meat properly, you can prevent bone souring.

Earthen ware crocks are the best for curing.

When smoking meat, the fire is most important-use a young green wood, preferably hardwood for the best results.

There are several publications, yours free for the asking, from the Alberta Agriculture. Phone 384-5727 or write Box 270, Sedgewick.

Quick - tanning Formulas: These are skin stains that will darken you without the sun. Quick tanning products have been found safe to use, but they offer no protection against sunburn, and may result in uneven colouration.

Chemical Sun Screen:

These are the ones most of us buy. Chemical sunscreens work by absorbing burning ultraviolet rays while permitting tanning rays to reach the skin. Havard's Medical school, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, and the National Cancer Institute all agredd that the best ingredient for filtering out burning rays is para-amino-benzoid acid, or PABA. Many products boast of their PABA content but it works best in a 5% concentration, suspended in an alchoiol base, rather than oily formula.

IN MEMORIAM

BUTCHER - In memory of my daughter-in-law, Pauline Butcher, who passed away in August, 1978.
Two suffered much in silence
Your spirit did not bend
You fought for life with courage
Until the very end
A lovely smile, a happy face
A special someone we cannot replace
Sadly missed, Dad and family

BARTON - In loving memory of our mother, Marie Barton, who passed away August 15, 1970.
She is gone but not forgotten
And, as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of her are always near.
Days of sadness will come o'er us
Many think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies in the heart concealed
Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by the Barton family, Frances, John, Clarence, Sandra and grandchildren.

Largest Ever Bible School

On July 30, from every direction came boys and girls to the annual Vacation Bible School held at the Mecca Seventh Day Adventist church. They came from surrounding areas of Galahad, Alliance, Sedgewick, Killam and Lougheed plus visitors from Edmonton, Calgary, Manitoba and Newfoundland. Throughout the week over eighty five children joined in the opening exercises.

The story hour centered around the Bible and its power in changing lives and nations. For crafts some of the juniors made place names by pounding nails in burnt wood while others made miniature windmills. The primary group went back to the pioneer days and made covered wagons. They also made wool around the ring wall hanging. The kindergarten group made fake fur puppies and chinelle pictures. The ball games were exciting, challenging and above all played in good sportsmanship.

On Friday evening of August 3, parents and their families attended a program put on by the students. Afterwards the folks browsed through the displayed crafts while lunch was being served. So ended another successful Vacation Bible School.

Planters Breeder's Rights

AGRI-INSIGHT by Alberta Wheat Pool

Plant breeder's rights legislation is a topic that has received considerable attention of late. The object of the proposed legislation is to provide legal rights to a variety to the developer of the variety in much the same way inventions are patented.

Under the present pedigree seed system in Canada, plant breeder's have what amounts to breeder's rights. Breeders can contract with seed growers to multiply the seed but include a provision that the crop certificate be issued in the name of the breeder rather than the grower. The breeder can thus control the marketing and distribution of certified seed. However, the present system is a practical and operational one rather than a legal one.

Canada is the only major developed country that has yet to enact breeder's rights legislation. In the absence of reciprocal protection agreements, there is some concern that good foreign varieties may be unavailable in Canada. The lack of legal varietal protection in Canada may also be detrimental to our export seed business; as seed firms in other countries are hesitant to handle Canadian varieties unless they can be assured of some exclusivity in their markets.

New varieties can come from different sources - generally from public plant breeding institutions like universities and research stations - or private individuals and firms. The introduction of plant breeder's rights legislation should increase the number of private companies in the plant breeding field. If, at the same time, the government does not cut back on funding for public plant breeders, it seems reasonable to expect an increase in the total effort to improve Canadian crops.

It is important that several key points be kept in mind when drafting the legislation. Perhaps the most important is that the licencing system stays as it is now - that is, before a variety can be licensed by the Plant Products Division of the Canada Department of Agriculture it must show merit. It is also vital that the government role in plant breeding through public plant breeders not be curtailed. Former Minister of Agriculture Eugene Whelan had promised both these conditions would be met. What the new Agriculture Minister John Wise will do is less clear, however, he has put plant breeder's rights legislation near the top of his priority list.

There are many very real concerns in addition to the ones mentioned above that will have to be dealt with in drafting the legislation, it is, however, important not to lose sight of the fact that plant breeder's rights legislation will most certainly result in making more higher yielding, disease resistant and earlier maturity varieties available to the producer.

Advice For The Used Car Buyer

It has often been said that the used car buyer is a much abused consumer. Well-true or not the consumer who shops around and knows what to look for will certainly get the best buy in a used car.

There are a number of things the used buyer should do before making a deal. Generally-most conscientious consumers will be on the look out for a car that is safe, is not overpriced, and will not cost an arm and a leg in repairs.

So-to get a good buy-the first consideration should be where to buy. The best buys are generally found by purchasing a car from a relative, a close friend, or a new car dealership, and in most cases in that order.

There are a number of reasons why a new car dealer may be able to offer a better buy that one that deals strictly in used cars. New car dealer generally sell their better used models to consumers and the poorer ones to used car lots. Also, most new car dealers have maintaince shops where they repair all the cars they sell-new or used.

The second consideration will be which car to buy. To increase the chances of finding a good used car there are a number of tests you can put the car through, both on the lot and on a test drive. A list of these tests and how to perform them is available from: Consumer and Corporate Affairs 10225-100 Avenue Edmonton, Alberta

Some of the tests included in this list must be done by a mechanic. Consumers should be prepared to pay for this service but it is certainly worth it.

And last but not least-price should be a major factor in the decision to buy. The Canadian Redbook of Used Cars, available at most libraries, is published monthly and lists the average price of most models of used cars.

As with most consumer goods there are good buys-but you have to know how to shop and compare.

Forestburg Anniversary Days

The Forestburg parade was led by two mounted R.C.M.P.s, Corporal Dennis Schaefer and Constable Dean Hodgson. The mounts were local horses, nicely matched, but the regulation tack had been brought from R.C.M.P. headquarters. The officers were followed by Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Steinhauer in a horse-drawn buggy.

Three days of activities, visiting and renewing acquaintances at the Forestburg 60th Anniversary were highlighted by a Sunday parade and program in which His Honor, Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Steinhauser were special guests. The whole event has been termed a big success.

Registration for the anniversary started at 12 noon on Saturday, August 4th at the Youth Centre where displays were held, depicting some of the historical and cultural heritage of the community of Forestburg. Handicrafts, Art and Ceramics were also on display.

Saturday afternoon featured a tour of Alberta Power Plant and Forestburg Collieries by school bus. Baseball was featured Saturday and Sunday at the Sports Grounds, and Fastball was played at the School Grounds. Dances were held during the evening.

Saturday evening saw a variety program held at the school auditorium and an old-timers baseball game, Forestburg vs Spring Lake at the sports grounds.

Breakfasts were served at the Town and Country Centre and at the Senior Citizens Drop -in Centre to get Sunday started. A Community Church Service at the gym was very well attended.

Successful Fair

The 1979 edition of the Lougheed Fair got underway Saturday August 11 with a pancake breakfast at the Museum on the fairgrounds, and was a popular attraction.

At 9:30, a parade got underway which was a credit to the community of Lougheed. The ladies of the Legion led the parade with their flags, followed by a decorated car. A representative of the Killam R.C.M.P was next.

Two young ladies, Jackie Coates and Patti Wallace, dressed in matching outfits, carrying flags, and mounted on palomino horses, escorted two dignitaries, Arnold Malone, M.P. and Tom Lysons, M.L.A.

Doctor's extra-billing

Alberta's New Democratic Party has decided to launch an election-style campaign against the controversial practice of extra-billing by the province's doctors.

Not content to wait until the fall sitting of the legislature when the government is expected to make some moves to deal with the issue, the NDP will hold a series of public meetings in five provincial centres and conduct door-to-door canvasses to solicit opinion.

The NDP wants extra-billing —the practice of charging patients directly for amounts above the Alberta Health Care Insurance Plan fee schedule— banned.

The party also advocates the abolition of medicare premiums and transfer of the burden of paying for the plan to general tax revenues.

But far from turning its back on the province's doctors, the NDP will be urging the government to negotiate a fair return to the doctors by providing a split-fee system that would not separate increased for overhead costs and professional fees.

The NDP is not ignoring how much a fair return should be. Its health care committee will announce what it believes doctors are worth sometime this fall—about the same time the government goes into its 1980 negotiations with the doctors' organization, the Alberta Medical Association.

The main activity of the NDP campaign will occur during the week of Sept. 17 when party leader Grant Notley, the MLA for Spirit-River—Fairview and sole NDP member in the assembly, will hold meetings in Calgary, Bonnyville, Medicine Hat, Grande Prairie and Edmonton.

That week will also see NDP supporters visiting homes in ridings the NDP did well in in the last provincial election and asking residents to send cards to their MLAs supporting the NDP extra-billing position. The ridings picked up for attention will likely include St. Paul, Vegreville, Bonnyville and Lac La Biche-McMurray.

Meanwhile, the Conservative caucus will be discussing the extra-billing issue at a caucus meeting later this month.

The caucus has had a report on the matter prepared by a special task force headed by Calgary Millican MLA David Carter for several weeks. But no details of the report have leaked out.

Only one thing about the report is known, Health Minister Dave Russell's decision to order doctors to report their extra-billing when making insurance plan claims was made in response to a task force recommendation.

But how the government plans to deal with extra-billing—or if it plans to take any action at all—remains a mystery.

Editorially

We all could gain

News reports from across the province tell of a host of problems faced by the boards of exhibitions and fairs. Edmonton had its fight with the loss of interest in the Klondike theme and Calgary's show and cowboys were not all that good.

The same can be said about last week's Lougheed Fair. While the participation in the parade was as good as any this year, the fair exhibitors were less than anticipated but still well worth attending. Just where do the problems lie?

Can we deduce from the lower than expected attendance figures at this year's festivals in the larger centres that people do not wish to be entertained by fairs and attractions? Or has the ever increasing cost of attending exhibitions decreased our drive? Are our pocketbooks holding us back?

It would seem to me that with 56 years in promoting a local fair one must discount any of the aforementioned ideas. Lougheed still provides a very good day's activities at a modest cost so perhaps it is that nothing new is added. Just the same old thing year after year.

Well that is wrong too. For example last year booths with displays of various kinds were set up in the arena. This year the Glenbow display trailers added much to the attractions and both were free of charge. For the young people the trampolenes were new and different. Oh dear, what can the matter be?

Could it be that there are just too many fairs in this area. If this is the case it can be very easily rectified. Each of the present community fairs could have their own event and the climax could be one central or 'A' type fair on a county wide basis. One logical chain of events could be that the Goose Creek Fair, now known as Lougheed Fair could evolve into a Battle River or Iron Creek Fair. Of course, Lougheed Agricultural Society with their nearly 60 years in the business have the expertise to organize it. All it would take is a committment on the other communities to approve and assist with complete co-operation.

What Others Say

The way it is

In the last few weeks my colleague and I have been asked that stories we have written be read before they are printed. At this time I would like to set straight the policy of professional journalists in this matter and perhaps deal with the problem of truth in reporting the news.

We can not allow our stories to be read by the people they are about before publication. Such a practice would imply editing and only my colleague, myself and our editor may edit the piece. Our job is to report the news and hopefully convey the truth of what is happening in the St. Paul area.

If you hire a brick layer to build you a brick wall you certainly have the option to comment on his work, but as he is building it, if you tried to tell him how to do his job, he certainly would be offended and may not finish the wall. We are not building brick walls but we are taking facts and constructing stories. This doesn't mean a brick layer or ourselves don't make mistakes, but it does mean we know what we are doing.

When it comes to facts we are taught to get them right and present them with as much perspective as possible. I am avoiding saying objectively because I don't really believe any journalists can truly be objective, but he can aim for the truth. And certainly everything we say will not be taken by everyone in the same vein. Different people read stories with different interpretations. Our job is to give as balanced a view as we can.

When it comes to technical facts we will try and get them straight in various ways. In some cases we will ask to make sure we have understood what has been said or we will check out the validity of it. But human communication is a frail thing, it takes time, and a great deal of consideration. Often what a person said, may not have been what he meant at all, or he had his facts wrong. In that case it's our job to find out what he did mean to say or that his facts were wrong. We can't always be sure, though. Writing is not a concrete fact like a brick wall, writing is symbols strung together to communicate. And as I said before, communication is a frail thing.

But like the brick layer, who is given the consideration he knows what he is doing, we also must be given that consideration. A brick layer is hired with the confidence he will do his job, to question his ability to do the job is to question his competence.

It has been said you can't please all the people all of the time. In the media this is especially true. Our job, as journalists, is to report the news, write stories and take pictures about what is happening in St. Paul and area, to do that you have to understand we are somewhat like brick layers.

— R.L.D. in the St. Paul Journal.

The Third Column

THIS WRITER has always maintained, and still does, that taking all parts of Alberta into consideration, this local area which is known as part of Central Alberta, is one of the most stable, if not the most stable area of the Province. Given the essential necessities to promote growth, among which are moisture and sunshine, this Central area can and does produce a steady variety of those grains and forage crops which contribute greatly to the economy of the country and provide much needed food for a hungry world. This year of 1979 is no exception except in the fact that it is producing one of the better crops of modern times.

WHEN THE AGRICULTURAL bigwigs come forth with reports and predictions, for the most part they talk about Southern Alberta and the Lethbridge area, and mostly tell us that rain has been in short supply and the crops are below average, etc. etc. etc. Either that or they are going on about the Peace Country and the problems prevailing there. Not very often do you hear anything about the area from Stettler to Vermilion and Camrose to Provost. Perhaps this is a good sign, because there is nothing startling to report except that this area is once again to produce average or better crops. If you doubt that this is a reality, take a trip out through the country and see for yourself.

JUST DRIVING through the countryside and looking at the vast expanses of ripening grain undulating in evening breezes is enough to assure you that so long as the agricultural worker continues his efforts, the rest of us are assured of an ample supply of food necessities, not only for ourselves but enough to spare to help feed those whose production is limited and technology lacking. Not only that, but our geographical location and climatic conditions make it possible to produce a quality of grain that is in high demand the world over.

OVER THE LONG haul the above area of Central Alberta produces a quality of grain in a volume that competes with any other area in the province. Yet nothing much is ever mentioned about it in high circles. This is probably good because there isn't much to say except that it is an area which can be relied upon for stable production.

IN SPITE OF ALL this there continues to be a problem in getting this production to the places where it is needed. Continually, year after year bins remain full and elevators stay plugged simply because our outdated system of handling, transportation and delivery is entirely inadequate to meet the situation and governments are too timid to take the "bull by the horns" and correct an outdated system. What actually is required is a re-structuring of the entire system conducted by people of enough intestinal fortitude to gather those responsible for the present situation together and crack a few heads. Of course this is a difficult undertaking if you have one-and-a-half eyes on the ballot box. It doesn't leave much vision for the essentials. We have been listening too long to excuses of transportation, loading and shipping. Farmers are willing to produce, and it's up to those in high placed to get that produce to the places where it belongs. Continued failure to do this will eventually force Canada out of the market place. And you must believe that where we fail other producing countries are ready and willing to take over for us.

YES A TRIP through the countryside convinces me that a good product will soon be on the market. Are we going to be able to dispose of it or be forced to store on farm because an outdated and outmoded system continues to prevail? Let's get on with it.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am writing to ask for your help with a historical research project I am doing - a complete history of all of the old river crossing ferries of Alberta.

During the past year I have received a great deal of information about some ferries, but I need a lot more on the rest of the 180 (approx.) ferries which operated throughout the province.

If any of your readers can supply any ferry information - names of ferrymen during the period 1905 to 1923 (the official files for this period have been lost); photographs (which I can have copied and returned to owners); information regarding accidents on ferries; winter crossings on "ice roads"; humorous incidents; in fact, any kind of "ferry-tales" at all, however small or seemingly insignificant, perhaps they could send them to me c/o the Glenbow Museum, 9 Avenue and 1st Street, S.E. Calgary, Alberta, T2G 0P3.

I hope that the result of my research will be some kind of publication to inform the present, and future, generations of the very important and necessary role played by the ferries and ferrymen of Alberta in the early settlement of the Canadian West.

Yours sincerely,
Elizabeth Ilantin.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Lorne Fisher

ARE YOU SAVED?

A beautiful young lady, who had a brilliant career in real estate, was always being approached by male members of her profession as well as by outside acquaintances. Being as their intentions were not honorable, she avoided any problems by asking them, "are you saved?"

This story, taken out of a popular periodical may or may not be true. It caused me to meditate on the reason for a negative reaction from the gentleman. Is there a difference between a person who is saved and one who is not saved?

In the beginning, Eve followed by Adam ate of the tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. In doing this, they rebelled against God. The result of that act caused them to be sinful. Now, you would argue with me if I told you that an apple tree gave forth plums. If you didn't, I would wonder about your knowledge and reasoning. Therefore, the offspring of Adam and Eve must be identical to their parents. Sinful parents equal sinful children. Because of this, all mankind is bound by sin. And sin is being in rebellion in the character and nature of God.

When we believe on the Lord Jesus Christ we are taken out of the power of the sinful nature of our parents. And when we are free from that domination, we are now given the power to live according to the character of God.

One who is saved has values that take on eternal or life after death meaning. Their motives are completely that which pleases Almighty God. Their attitudes, dictating their actions, are in line with the love, kindness, selflessness and honor of Jesus, their Lord. No, you can't live like what our society says "the devil" and be saved. If anything you do jeopardizes the holiness and glory of God, then I question if you are saved.

Are you saved?

Strome couple celebrates 50th

On the weekend of July 14 and 15th, many friends and relatives gathered at Memorial Hall in Strome to honor Dorothy and Sigmund Johnson on their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Both Sigmund and Dorothy were born near Pelican Rapids, Minnesota. Sigmund emigrated to Alberta with his parents in 1906. During a stay in Minnesota to visit his relatives, he met Dorothy Norgaard. They were married in Pelican Rapids on October 18, 1929. After their marriage they set out by car for Strome, Alberta. They encountered a blinding snowstorm enroute however, and were forced to leave their car in North Dakota and complete their journey by train.

Sigmund was self-employed as a carpenter until his retirement several years ago. There are many buildings in the Strome area which are evidence of his fine craftsmanship. As well as being a choir member, Dorothy served as organist for Strome United Church for a number of years.

An evening reception and dance on Saturday, July 14 was attended by 85 family members and close friends who gathered for dinner and to toast the anniversary couple. A toast was proposed by eldest son Stan in which he recalled a few humorous family incidents from the past. Words of appreciation and reminiscence were given also by Bob Johnson of Edmonton, friend of the family, Bill Johnson of Sedgewick, brother of the groom, and Tom Brinker of Daysland who also acted as Master of Ceremonies.

The beautiful triple-layered wedding cake was decorated by Connie Mah of Camrose.

A highlight of the evening was a song of dedication to Sigmund and Dorothy composed and sent by Sigmund's cousin Kolbjoern Skaare from Oslo, Norway and sung to the tune of "Kan Du Glemme Gamle Norge" (Can You Forget Old Norway) by sons Stan, Ole and Ken Johnson, Harold, Gene and Gordon Lund, cousins of the groom from Washington, U.S.A. and Bob Johnson of Edmonton.

Music for the evening dance was provided by the Sparky Hoffman orchestra. Despite 3 bouts of knee and hip surgery and a lengthy hospital stay this spring, Dorothy danced easily a slow waltz with son Stan. It was gratifying to see her completely recovered from her surgery.

An open house held Sunday afternoon was well attended by friends from the community and surrounding areas. Out of town guests in attendance during the weekend festivities were from Renton and Stanwood, Washington; Hawley, Pelican Rapids, and Moorhead, Minnesota; Brantford, Ontario, Regina, Saskatchewan; and various centers in Alberta.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have four children, Stanford and Kenneth of Edmonton, Maureen Bell also of Edmonton, and Orland (Ole) of Calgary. They have 12 grandchildren and 3 great grandchildren.

SWATHING RAPESEED

My travels around the County revealed rapeseed in various stages of maturity. I've also noticed that some plants which are partially lodged have much richer pods on the top, than on the bottom. Judging when to swath will be critical this year. There really is little to be gained in leaving the rapeseed crop standing when the majority of the seeds have started to change color.

Phil Thomas, Alberta Agriculture's oilseed Crops Specialist, at Lacombe, recommends collecting samples daily from several locations in the field when the majority of the plants are nearing maturity, but points out that the stage of maturity can vary considerably on individual plants as well as throughout the field. To overcome this problem, he advises collecting seed from both the upper and lower pods of 10 to 12 plants in different parts of the field and then mix them together to give a representative sample and a true indication of color change.

In uniformly mature rape crops, the optimum seed and oil quality will be obtained if the plants are swathed when the seeds contain about 35 per cent moisture. The best way to determine the moisture content is to examine the color of the seeds. When the moisture content is 35 per cent, about 35 per cent of the seed in most rape varieties will be reddish-brown to black. However, the seeds of the Candle variety will be reddish-brown and/or light yellow.

"To determine the percentage of color change, seed with only small patches of color should be included," Mr. Thomas says. "There should be some color change in the seed in all the pods on the main branch before any of the Polish varieties are swathed. In the case of the Argentine varieties, all the seeds in the lowest pods on the main branch should have changed color or have shown some color change five to six days before swathing began. The majority of the seeds should be firm and roll, as opposed to breaking, when pressed between the forefinger and thumb."

In a uniformly ripe field, swathing at 35 per cent moisture will reduce shattering losses and the possibility of frost damage. The seeds will mature in the swath and have a good color and oil and protein content. The seeds that are swathed from immature plants at a high moisture content (+45 per cent) in fields that are maturing unevenly will also ripen in the swath unless they are frozen or very warm weather dries up the plants.

Mr. Thomas cautions that overripe rape plants shell readily while standing and during swathing. Late swathing (less than 20 per cent seed moisture) also produces a fluffy swath, which is susceptible to blowing, and increases the likelihood of shattering and frost damage. Mr. Thomas says to reduce losses from shattering, overripe rape fields should be swathed after a rain when the humidity is high, when there is a heavy dew, or at night.

Finally, - remember the old trick of swathing into the prevailing winds. A swath that is laid in a NW to SE direction is not as easily blown by our strong N.W. winds.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

By Lynne Bevington

I Am A Child

I have so much to say. But who will listen? I'm only a kid. All the adults I meet just say "And how are you today?" and I say "Fine" and we smile and they pat me on the head and carry on their way. They don't see past the freckles and missing teeth. They don't see that I'm not just "fine." They don't care about the fight I had with Joey or that I got a 'D' on my science test. They think that's unimportant--it's childish. I think being sent to the principal for too many D's is very important. And they don't want to know that I overheard Mrs. Duncan telling Mrs. Hendricks that she doesn't like Indian people. They think it's not my place to talk about such things. And who knows when I'll ever be old enough to get better answers than "ask your father" or, "You're too young to understand." They don't seem to realize that I'm a person just like them. If they gave me a chance, maybe they would see I do understand some things. I mean, gee, I don't go around patting them on their heads.

Just once I'd like to tell Mom that I watched the news last night and I even understood some of it, and have her care. Just once, I'd like it if Daddy would ask my advice on what color my bedroom should be painted. Just once I'd like to make supper without them coming in every minute to "check on things." Oh, just once I'd like it if Mom would not introduce me as "the baby." I'm a person, too. Can't they see that? I'm not someone who wets his pants and spits out his food all the time!

I know I'm a bother to them sometimes, like when I overate at Thanksgiving and threw up on the new shag--Gold, and the time I dropped grandad's false teeth and he had to pay lots of money to get them fixed, and that day I walked into the house without taking my muddy boots off.

I do have my good days, too though. I made Dad some cheese sandwiches when he was busy working, without first being asked to. I watered Mom's azaleas when she forgot to. And I did the dishes even though it was Joey's turn.

But I guess it comes right down to it, I am still a child. I mean, I can add and subtract and read and play the piano, but I sure can't understand these textbooks Dad has to study and Mom always has to remind me that forks go on the left side and knives on the right. And I can't blame Mrs. Clefchuk for getting mad when I ask her to repeat the question every time.

I only wish Gramma wouldn't make such a fuss over me. She doesn't gush all over cousin Lyle, who's seventeen. Once she even called me "little darling" in front of my friends!

What I really want to say is: a kid isn't like a pet. We may have small bodies and few manners, but we do more than eat and play with balls of wool and chase cars. We have feelings and we do think. We cry a lot over some dumb things--Joey even cried when Mom washed his hair--but we are usually quite nice and kind to other people. At least we kids come back when we run away!

I really have so much to say. And for once, adults, don't just smile and think I'm an adorable (but mouthy) little thing. Don't give me candy just to get rid of me. Please don't punish me for being frank when I'm only standing up for my rights. Please put down your newspaper. Listen to me.

I am a child. But I'm also a person.

BLANCHING VEGETABLES IN THE MICROWAVE OVEN

If blanching in the microwave oven is a new experience for you it's recommended that you try blanching a few batches of each vegetable as an experimental project. In this way you will be able to compare the microwave and conventionally blanched products as they come from your freezer.

Blanching steps:

1. Wash, peel slice or dice vegetables.
2. Blanch only 1 quart or 1 pound of vegetables per batch.
3. Add water (amount specified in chart). Do not add salt.
4. Cover casserole. Set power for high or cook setting.
5. Stir vegetables frequently during blanching to ensure even heat distribution. Blanched vegetables should have a bright color evenly throughout. Check vegetables after minimum time in chart; if color is not evenly bright throughout, stir well and continue to cook to the maximum time.
6. Plunge into ice water immediately to prevent further cooking. The cooling time required is as long as the blanching time. This is sufficient to stop cooking. Do not allow vegetables to stay in the cooling water any longer than necessary. Remove excess moisture by spreading vegetables on paper towels.
7. Package in freezer containers labeling amounts and date.

Remember the best results are achieved in home freezing when a high quality product is used. Use fresh, tender vegetables.

Vegetable Blanching Chart

For one lb. of green or wax beans in a 1½ qt casserole use ½ cup of water and cook 3½ - 5½ minutes.

Broccoli (1 inch cuts) using 1¼ - 1½ lb. in a 2 qt. casserole needs ½ cup water and cooked for 8-5 minutes.

For carrots (sliced in coins), 1lb. in a 1½ casserole needs ¼ cup of water and cook for 3½ - 5½ minutes.

For cauliflower 1 head, cut into flowerettes in a 2 qt. casserole you need ½ cup water and let it cook for 3 - 5 minutes.

For onions (quartered)- 4 medium, in a 1qt. casserole you need ½ cup of water and cook for 2½ - 4 minutes.

Peas (shelled) 2 lbs. in a 1 qt. casserole you will need ¼ cup of water and cook for 3 - 4½ minutes.

For spinach(washed) 1lb. in a 2 qt. casserole you will need no water and cook 2-3 minutes.

For turnips (1 inch cubes) 1 lb. in a 1½ qt. casserole you will need ¼ cup water and cook 2½ - 4 minutes.

For corn - 4 ears, in a 1 qt. casserole you will need ¼ cup of water and cook 4-6 minutes.

Corn blanches best if it is removed from the cob first. Blanch corn cut from 4 ears of corn each time. Cool by setting casserole in ice water, stirring occasionally until cool.

Bridal shower held in Killam for Annette Mann

St. Joseph's Hall, Killam was gaily decorated in streamers and bows of yellow and silver for a bridal shower to honor Annette Mann. About 80 friends gathered Friday evening, August 10, to bring gifts and good wishes to Annette, whose marriage to Mr. Colin Cole takes place August 18.

Corsages were presented on behalf of the Catholic Women's League by Mrs. Eileen Kneber, M.C. for the evening. Attendants assisting Annette were bridesmaids-to-be Cyndi and Karen Davis and Ann Spiller and Mrs. Sara Cole and Mrs. Elsie Mann.

The program included an appropriate duet by Theresa Mann, youngest sister of the bride-elect, and Leola Slavik and a recitation, also by Theresa Mann. Words of advice to young brides and several humorous marital anecdotes were proferred by Mrs. Eileen Kneber. A resume of Annette's activities, her years at school and at work; her plans to remain in Killam after marriage where Colin is employed at the transit Mix were of interest to all.

An abundance of lovely and useful gifts were presented to Annette by Theresa Mann and Leola Slavik, with assistance from Cathy Slavik. Guests were then seated at tastily prepared tables and conversation over coffee and tea, delicious sandwiches and squares brought the enjoyable evening to a close.

Happy Riders win at rally in Red Deer

The Larson Water Well entry placed top in the commercial section of the Lougheed Fair parade last Saturday. The judges had a difficult time in narrowing the choices down to the top three and then honorable mentions.

This year has been a successful one for the Happy Riders 4-H club; individual members have had some coveted wins at local and distant horse shows. The annual challenge show was again a well received event.

However, on Tuesday, August 14 six members of the club travelled to Red Deer to compete, as a team, in "Horse Sense '79" which was a provincial light horse rally sponsored by the government. Angela Doody and Teresa Parsons won first as the top judging team; as a result of placing second, individually over all, Angela will represent Alberta in the judging competition to be held at Agribition in Regina in late November, 1979. Competing in the "Horse Bowl" which was similar to T.V.'s "Reach for the Top" were Jackie Cantes, Angie Blesser, Patti Wallace and Heather Parsons. They were successful during the first rounds, and then lost narrowly in the finals; this gave them second place in the province.

The club members concluded their successful day with a visit to Allen Dale Arabians where they enjoyed a tour of the facilities and seeing "the finest Arabians in North America in full action."

Keeping in Touch

by Arnold Malone

Throughout much of the summer I have been spending approximately four days in Ottawa and three days in the constituency. My principal task has been to serve on a Committee of five giving consideration to Parliamentary Reform.

Specifically we intend to:
1. Make Parliament more open
2. Make Government more accountable to Parliament
3. Provide a mechanism to increase the stature of the Private Member in all parties.

When Prime Minister Clark asked me to serve on this special Committee, he specifically asked that we treat this matter with urgency and that we implement a new direction before we forget, as a Party, what it was like to be an Opposition. We have now submitted our original proposals to the Government House Leader so that he might prepare recommendations for the Throne Speech from the Throne this October. The recommendations we have made are very extensive and if implemented should lead to a more responsive Parliament and one in which information is more readily available. Moreover, the role of the backbencher should be significantly changed. While Government Members will retain the privilege of proposing legislative changes Private Members of all parties will be given enhanced opportunities to hold the Government accountable.

The need to strengthen the role of Parliament in the control of Government had become obvious to many political analysts across the country. I have strongly endorsed the concept that Parliament, as a representative body, must be the institution that shapes the policies of the nation. It is not enough to have a Parliament that responds like trained seals with yeas or nays to legislative proposals of the Cabinet.

If our recommendations are accepted, the Committee system will take on a new importance and subsequently the Private Members from across Canada will have much more effective role in shaping the legislation that effects our citizenry. It is with pride and deligence that I have spent much of my summer in Ottawa. While I have been away from my constituency more, I believe that I have recommended a system that, if accepted, will force governments of any party to keep closer in touch with the public it is intended to serve.

Killam 4-H Horse Club attends Regional Days

Fifty four 4-H members and their horses were busy getting ready for the 4-H Regional Days at Lougheed arena on August 2 and 3.

Regional Days is for the 4-H members of the East Central Region to get together and learn, meet new friends and have a lot of fun.

Instead of taking my horse I sat and watched with the parents. I was very surprised to hear some of the parents yelling and swearing at their children to get in there and win. It really doesn't matter who wins or loses and in some ways the loser is really the winner because he learned the most.

After the classes on the first day there was a weiner roast and dance held so that the 4-H members could get together to have a lot of fun. Very few parents allowed their children to stay, it seemed like they just came to get some ribbons.

There is a poem in the 4-H Clover Leaf newsletter and I wish some parents would read this poem.

Congratulations to winners and losers and we also give a thanks to everyone who helped with the Regional Days.

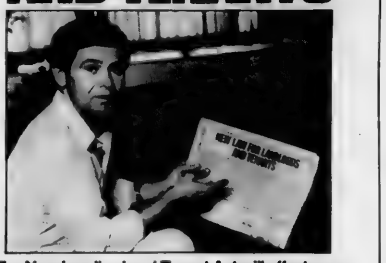
LANDLORDS AND TENANTS



The New Landlord and Tenant Act will affect you.

The new Landlord and Tenant Act came into effect July 1st, 1979. And there are a number of important changes you should be aware of.

- If the tenant wishes to vacate, or the landlord wishes the tenant to vacate NOTICE MUST BE IN WRITING
- For tenants who rent by the month, the landlord must give THREE full tenancy months' notice. Tenants must give ONE month's notice.
- Security deposits are now set at a MAXIMUM OF ONE MONTH'S RENT.
- The tenant may not change locks without the consent of the landlord. Locks may be changed by the landlord without consent provided that a key is given to the tenant immediately.

Two other important items
- Landlords and tenants may BE FINED for certain contraventions of the Act.
- Some breaches of responsibility by tenants may result in the landlord having the right to give the tenant FOURTEEN DAYS' NOTICE to vacate.

News from the Anglican Church

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Joan Morey and family of Sedgewick on the sudden and tragic loss of her young son in a weekend fire.

Mr. John Martin of Lougheed is a patient in Edmonton's University Hospital.

Mrs. Thelma Tuston of Sedgewick has now returned from her splendid visit to Norway, and claims that she is spending most of her time sleeping.

Daughter Terry and son Richard Jr. and their families were visitors last weekend at the Conrad home and enjoyed a supper of Chinese food in Hardisty.

Congratulations to young Christopher Kent Niebergall, son of Rev. and Mrs. Ray Niebergall, who was baptized at Bethania Lutheran Church on Sunday.

Don't forget Bible class every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. Class alternates between Sedgewick and Killam.

Repairs to the roof of St. John's church have been completed, and Mother Nature has obligingly tested the quality of the work and found it to be highly satisfactory.

The Greg Martin family spent last week with the grandparents in Penhold, and then spent the weekend with the grandparents at Lougheed. Greg took time out in between to attend the marriage in Edmonton of former Sedgewick resident Miss Helen Uhryn to Mr. Larry Nelson.

David and Wendy Edey of Edmonton visited with the Ted Cookson family to help out with picking and shelling peas and to leave their little dog with Mum and Dad while they spend a camping holiday in Sask.

Also holidaying in Saskatchewan is the Ken Affolder family of Sedgewick.

Mr. and Mrs. William Cookson and Mrs. Elsie Cookson attended a family gathering to celebrate the stritch wedding anniversary of Jim and Elsie Black of Lougheed. Mrs. Black is the former Elsie Cookson, William's sister.

Mrs. Verna Shultz of Killam has now taken up residence in Flagstaff Lodge.

Colvin and Eleanor Beairsto have returned from a week at their Pigeon Lake Cottage.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs

Don't Let The Name Scare you

Regularly in this column, consumers are urged to read the label on goods they buy-so they know what they are buying. Canadian law dictates that contents of food items must be listed in descending order of content. So - a Consumer who reads the labels on cereal products for example will easily be able to choose between one that contains a large percentage of sugar (listed first in ingredients) and one that is strictly a wholesome grain product.

Many ingredients on Canadian food packages are listed by their chemical or scientific name. As a result - many consumers find it difficult to understand what they're reading even though they have taken the time to check.

Following is a helpful guide describing chemical substances commonly found in food:

Lactose is a form of sugar that is found in the milk of all mammals. It is much less sweet than table sugar and can be used in foods where there is an advantage.

Sodium Caseinate. Casein is the protein in milk that helps provide its high food value. Sodium caseinate is formed from casein and sodium, an essential mineral nutrient. When combined with vegetable fats or oils, sodium caseinate can be whipped like whipping cream.

Hydroxylated Lecithin. Lecithin is found in body cells. It is a fatty substance that is present in egg yolk, soya beans and other common foods. One of its uses is to get food oils and water to mix. Hydrxylation is a process that adds oxygen and hydrogen to the lecithin. This helps it to do a better mixing job in some special cases.

Adipic Acid is found in almost every cell of the body. It is vital for turning food materials into useful energy. The synthetic Adipic Acid that is used in food products performs the same function. It also provides sharp acid flavours, desirable textures and extends the shelf life of foods.

Trisodium Phosphate is a combination of two minerals, calcium and phosphorous, with oxygen. Calcium and phosphorous are essential nutrients, which help in building and maintaining bones and teeth. This compound is used in small amounts to keep dry solid foods from caking.

BHA is Butylated Hydroxy Anisole. It is a man-made material that is used in tiny amounts to keep foods fresh. Oxygen in the air can turn food fats and oils rancid or give them a stale flavour. BHA prevents this.

We are glad to know that Howard and Barbara Hays arrived in Hardisty okay after their misfortunate accident in the Jasper area. Although Barbara was hospitalized in Jasper and then in Hardisty, we understand that she will soon be home using a walker for awhile Coming into the Hardisty Bakery one day we saw Linda Olson and Melanie. The Chuck Olsons of Edmonton were camping at the lake for awhile.

It was nice to see Ken and Heather Arnold and family at Lougheed Fair. They have been spending their holidays on the Art Armstrong farm.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Johannesson attended the retirement party for Den Kuisely in Wilkie recently. Den came to Hardisty for many years via C.P.R.

The vans on exhibition by the Devonian Foundation at Lougheed Fair were very interesting. Your reporter was interested to see on an early map of Saskatchewan where the Neutral Hills, Eye Creek etc. were all inside their border.

Cambridge Community reports

Your Cambridge Community association correspondent has been rather silent the past few months; however this is no indication that the Cambridge Ladies have been idle. The following is a summary of the last three meetings held.

In May we met at the home of Elsie Black. Eight members were present, with three visitors; Mary Lou Rawlick, Karen Rawlick and Helen Black. Our donation for this month went to the outstanding student in Language Arts of the Lougheed School. This was presented to John Carter at the awards night at the School gym on June 22.

One get-well card was sent out; Elsie Black was the birthday girl this month, and Helen Black was the lucky winner of the raffle. The roll call for this month was most interesting; an illustration of your most embarassing moment. Of course, we all have those at which we can laugh at later, but at the moment it doesn't seem too amusing. Elsie and Vesta Cookson served a delicious lunch following the meeting.

In June, we met at the Cambridge School for a brief meeting. Eight members were present for this with one visitor, Betty Freathy from Kamloops who was a guest of Ida Black. Not too much business was conducted at this meeting. We decided to send five sympathy cards to the families of those recently bereaved. Our guest was the lucky raffle winner. Following this meeting, the ladies started the barbecue and got out the food while the kids had races and a time of fun during which many hungry husbands and guests arrived for the annual Cambridge picnic. A time of visiting and good food was enjoyed by all.

Our July meeting was held on the afternoon of July 31. Prior to our meeting, we all brought our mops, pails and cleaning rags and cleaned up the school before sitting down to enjoy our pot-luck lunch. We then held a brief meeting with only six members present. There was not much business to be carried out; however five cards are to be sent out. Our next meeting will again be held at the Cambridge School, with a pot-luck lunch. The suggestion for our roll-call was prompted by an item Ida had brought and was using - a very old but lovely purse. Rita suggested that we each bring an old or antique item to the next meeting with a story or thought about it. This should be very interesting, so members please don't forget your items. Vesta was our birthday girl for this month. We adjourned, repeated the Lord's Prayer and enjoyed another cup of coffee or tea before departing for home.

Many people returned for Lougheed Fair

Mr. and Mrs. Audrey Mills (Janet Wilcox) of Edmonton were visiting in the district and called briefly in town. Janet wished to say 'Hello' to all the people she knew when teaching at Groveland and Lougheed Schools.

I just came home from the Lougheed Agriculture Fair Parade, also had breakfast at the Museum. Congratulations to all who made this Fair a great success. Keep up the good work.

Quite a number of people have come back to Lougheed for this great day. It was nice to see Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barton, Joyce Wilcox and Mary of Camrose, Mrs. Lillian Skoberg from the Lodge, Mr. Tom Lien of the Auxiliary at Killam, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Knapp of Wetaskiwin and many more that I did not see. Welcome back to Lougheed not only for this day but other visits you have made.

Carden Wier and Fred (McCoy) of Calgary called on Margaret Denham recently.

Mr and Mrs Graham Beaton, Blanche Beaton, Mr. and Mrs. Porter O'Reilly and granddaughters Sherry and Heather, Mrs. Peggy Smith, Mrs. George Riddoch, and Mrs. Margaret Denham were recent supper guests at Mr. and Mrs. Hunter White's.

Congratulations to the Lougheed Rockettes girls ball team winners of the Alberta Championship.

Mrs. Louise Schmidt is home after spending over a week in the Killam Hospital. We missed you Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hart from Calgary, Darlene and Brad Hart from Hanay, B.C. were recent weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddoch.

Don't forget to phone 386-3992 or leave your news at the Post Office please.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black of Sedgewick and Mrs. Essie Drager had a very lovely few days last week. They were in the Cypress Hills, Drumheller, Vulcan and Hanna, as well as other places of interest.

Mrs. Brita Birchill is home after a holiday in Norway visiting her relatives and friends. We missed you Brita.

Intended For Last Week

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Riddoch were Garry and Delores Acres and boys from Edmonton, also Mrs. Peg Smith, and Blanche Beaton from Burnaby, B.C.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Bob Piro (nee Valda Probst) who were married on Saturday, August 4. They are making their home in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Jeffery of Whitecourt, Margaret Ann Probst and Derek were home to attend their sister Valda's wedding. There were many more attended the wedding from Edmonton, Hardisty, Sedgewick, Bawlf and many other places.

Val Schnettler crowned Queen

Queen Val (r.) receives trophy from Toni Smolski.

The Queen of Agri Days was crowned at the dance about 11 p.m. The candidates were called to the stage by the Chairman of the Ag Society, Jim Tindall. They were Linda Davidson, sponsored by Lougheed Figure Skating Club, Sina Mackay sponsored by Sedgewick 4-H Multi-Club and Val Schnettler sponsored by Killam Rodeo Association. Last year's acting Queen Toni Smolski was also called upon to crown the Queen.

The excitement of the crowd was displayed when Val Schnettler was crowned as Agri Days Queen 1979.

The Queen then drew the lucky winners. The gas barbecue purchased at Iron Creek Gas Co-op was won by Greg Arneson of Edgerton, gas barbecue purchased at Sedgewick Co-op Service Center was won by Larry Smith, Lougheed and the standard bike also purchased at Sedgewick Co-op Service Center was won by Val Schnettler, Killam.

Congratulations to the winners of the draws but special congratulations to the Queen and the runners-up for a job well done. You are an important part of Agri Days making it very special

Agri-Days fastball tournament

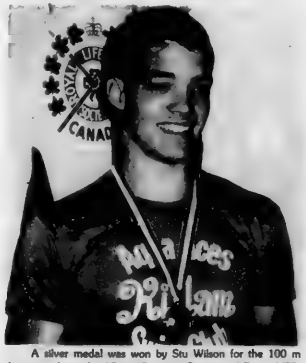
The Agri Days Fastball Tourney was very successful with 22 mens teams and 8 ladies teams.

The Irma Tigers walked away with top place on the A side of Mens A - B. Lloydminister placed second with Bashaw and Wainwright Park Hotel taking 3 and 4. Edgerton obtained the top place on the B side with Forestburg coming a close second.

The Men C - D had Consort taking home top place with our own home team Sedgewick Saints a close second. Killam Cubs and Holden took 3 and 4th. The B side of Men's C - D was won by Wainwright with Irma Midget Fastball taking second.

The Ladies top side was won by the Lougheed Rockettes, who won over Edgerton. Wainwright Ladies and Obaton Blues placed 3 and 4. The B side of the Ladies draw was called because of darkness between Castor and Viking who split the prize money.

Congratulations to all the winning teams but special congratulations to all the teams for the sportsmanship which was displayed this past weekend, making the jobs of the umpires and chairman much easier.



A silver medal was won by Stu Wilson for the 100 m breast stroke in the Alberta Summer Games and Festival '79, August 2nd to 6th in St. Albert.

An Important Cog

Every community boasts a number of organizations, as well as church, recreational and service clubs. These groups are essential to our way of life, for they serve the community, co-ordinate our lives and provide for leisure time. Each organization and club depends on the group. If it is to grow and become strong, it must also have a strong executive.

Your local Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce is one of these worthwhile groups. What is a Chamber of Commerce? A group of businessmen devoted to prove that the sun shines all the time in our community? Public spirited citizens bonded together to see that the community enjoys the highest possible standard of living? Supporters of free enterprise and freedom vigorously opposing collectivism and socialism? Businessmen trying to bring new industry and more tourists to this area? These are some of the most commonly held ideas about a Chamber of Commerce. Whatever is said about the Chamber of Commerce, there is one thing sure - it is, or should be, one of the most important organizations in the town. The Chamber of Commerce forms a strong pillar supporting the welfare and the progress of the community.

The work of the ogranization touches nearly every citizen. Usually it takes a leading part in community affairs, improving relations between the farmers and the businessmen, running "Get Out The Vote" campaigns at election time, sparking community interest in education, sponsoring clean-up and beautification weeks, organizing the Santa Claus parade every Christmas and a host of similar projects. Few chambers, of course, do all these things because they are in the main a volunteer organization and in many small communities, even the secretary is a volunteer.

The interest of the Chamber of Commerce is not, however, confined only to local matters. Just as the citizen of a municipality is also a citizen of his province and of his country, so the group has provincial and federal interests in addition to its local activities.

Members of the local Chamber of Commerce are a small, but important cog in the machinery and, through effort, we have a part in the growth of our nation.

Better prospects for moving grain

Canada is unable apparently to take advantage of the sellers' market that exists for the moments in the international grain trade because of her anticipated and inadequate internal transportation and storage system. History shows the world supply of grain bounces up and down and opportunities lost this year by an exporter like Canada may not exist next year and the year after.

Country elevators, it appears, are so clogged that severely limited quotas for grain deliveries are virtually meaningless and there are also reports of huge carry-overs of barley on the farms.

World demand exists for all of the grain in elevators in farm bins and ripening in the fields but it cannot be delivered. If the fire of the farmers' ancient resentments is fuelled by this deplorable, if not unexpected, situation, this is the least understandable.

However, the signs are encouraging that we may be finally putting together a system that will move grain expeditiously. The Prairie provinces seem ready to end the century-old Crownest freight rates which would make moving grain pay by charging realistic rates, and negotiations just completed call for the federal government and six Prairie grain companies to share the cost of constructing a new grain terminal in Prince Rupert and also commits Ottawa to provide 5,000 hopper cars. The situation would be also helped if politicians would stop paying on local emotions every time an attempt is made to close out uneconomical rail branch lines. — Stettler Independent.

The Third Column

by Truncate

EVER SINCE that eventful day when Adam and Eve cavorted among the fruit trees and tip-toed down the bridal path of the mythical Garden of Eden, man has had problems with woman and woman with man. I refer of course to those matrimonial difficulties which have plagued the world since homo sapiens became a reality. Once the umbilical cord has been severed a human destiny begins to shape its course, with the final destination unpredictable. Even though homologous the behavioristic patterns of human are varied and at times seemingly unrelated.

IN DAYS of yore the social mores and individual prudence forbade the public disclosure of marital disunity, and the discomforts of the relationship were cleverly (?) disguised by the allegorical art of the accepted symbolic public behavior. Oft times one of the union would depart for a five month recovery vacation (for health reasons you know) there to meditate on the shortcomings of the other. On return the other half would do the same thing, leaving only a sixty-day period of the year to reluctantly socialize together with society in a continued effort to convince all that their matrimonial ship was sailing in calm waters. Sometimes of course this pretence of marital bliss erupted into the public theatre to become the choice gossip of the day; only then to be thoroughly disclosed by some busybody who knew all along that the marital boat had been floundering for some time.

IN THESE latter days the old-fashioned and once enskrined social mores have taken a lambasting, and restrictive codes have given way to acceptances of just about anything in social and moral behavior and permissiveness; even public disclosure of the most personal intimacies of the marriage relationship. Legal separations (some not legal) are as easily obtainable as a loaf of bread at the corner store. Divorces are a dime-a-dozen and just as easily obtainable. Any plea of physical or mental anguish is acceptable by the courts as a sound reason for the break-up, even though a degree of tolerance or acceptability could keep the ship afloat. Some hail this as an impending disaster, others as the finally arrived emancipation of the human race. Should we wonder why so many young people today run amuck and rush headlong down each bend in the road not knowing or caring very much where it leads? Laws cannot control kitchens and bedrooms but responsible parentage can, and I think we had better get on with it.

A PRIME example of irresponsible parenthood is being blatantly displayed by a public figure in the person of "Maggie" Trudeau, whose public utterances have become so absurd and so unacceptable by a self-respecting society. Her disclosures of recent vintage have forced some to seriously doubt her maturity, but I sometimes wonder if she doesn't suffer from cerebral retardation. Once the First Lady of Canada, where she had a certain obligation to the public which she couldn't endure, she has placed herself in the present position of having turned the scorn and disrespect of respectable people everywhere.

SUCH IS the nature of our present day marriage situation, that abuse of its sanctity is becoming more and more acceptable. Even a casual observance of the statistics proves beyond a doubt the veracity of the fact.

THE REDEEMING and heartening fact is that even though the abuses get the attention, the serenity of the higher percentage of marital unions is taken for granted, and as long as this continues to exist there is abundant hope that the "Love Boat" will sail peacefully on.

No peace was ever won from fate by subterfuge or agreement; no peace is ever in store for any of us, but that which we shall win by victory over shame or sin, - victory over the sin that oppresses, as well as over that which corrupts.

Killam Tiny Tots playgroup

Several mothers in this community have expressed an interest in organizing a play group for their pre-school children. The only stipulation is that the children be from 2-5 years of age and be independently mobile.

After holding several meetings in the past few months to try and get the playgroup organized, a few of the mothers have come up with some suggestions for ways to raise funds for the group's expenses. (supplies, insurance etc.)

One way we hope to raise money is by holding an odd and ends sale at the Killam Agriplex (Curling rink) in late September. The sale is a cross between a garage sale, rummage sale and children's clothing sale. Anyone doing their fall housecleaning in the near future, we will gladly take donations for any items you feel would be useful in the sale, up to the time of the sale. Brian Bowles, our Agri-plex manager has consented to let us use the agri-plex (arena) as a drop-off depot.

The sale will also have a pie table where you will be able to purchase some excellent pies, (baked by our playgroup mothers)

A meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Agri-plex to decide upon the date of the sale and the proposed starting date of the playgroup.

Registration is still being taken by sending $5.00 to Margaret O'Dell, Killam, Alta.

Swine A.I. Pilot Project

Starting August 21, 1979, a special program to encourage use of Swine A.I. will be undertaken by Alberta Agriculture Swine Specialists.

Every Tuesday, a limited number of semen from selected boars at the A.I. station will be available at the Red Deer Regional Office directly.

Producers wishing to use this new service are advised to wean their sows either on Wednesday or Thursday and check them for estrum on Monday evening. Only sows standing still when checked by the herdsman in the presence of a beard on Monday evening will be ready for insemination on Tuesday.

Once the producer identifies the sows he wants inseminated, he should call the Red Deer Regional Office (343-5334) before 9:30 a.m. Tuesday to arrange for the service. Ian Clark and Leo Abenes will be available every Tuesday to assist farmers in inseminating their sows.

The cost of the service is $6.00 per sow plus a small freight charge.

Please phone the Red Deer Regional Office for further information about the program.

Scouts enjoy canoe trip

The first Killam Boy Scout troop have completed another successful year under the sponsorship of the Killam Lions Club. Aside from regular Thursday evening meetings the boys completed a St. John Ambulance first aid course which was conducted by the Safety supervisor for Alberta Government Telephones, they participated in a campout at Big Knife Provincial Park, that had a welcome meeting for new scouts graduating from cubs and as a windup exercise participated in a canoe trip on the North Saskatchewan River.

The canoe trip began June 30 at Genesee Bridge, north and west of Thorsby Alberta and ended downstream at Duvernay Alberta, north of Two Hills on July 7. There were 12 boys and 3 adults and we would like to thank Ken Stainthorpe for accompanying us on our trip. There were 7 canoes each manned by 2 boys. Each set of two boys had their own tent, cooked for themselves and were more or less independent from every other group. We experienced some severe rain and electrical storms, saw some wildlife, learned a lot about canoeing and mostly had a great time.

We would like to thank the people who lent us canoes, Lloyd George and Albert Spaulding for trucking us out and back, and the Killam Lions Club for sponsoring us for another year. Thank you also to all the parents and volunteers who assisted us during the year.

We are now looking forward to another year and invite all boys between the ages of 11 and 18 who are interested in outdoor activities to contact Lois Prichard at 385-3562 and leave their names for our coming year.

World War II An American Intelligence agent goes on a mission to Japan (Part 2 on Wednesday, August 29 - 9:00 p.m.)

Marilyn Douglas, Myrna Loy, Yvette Mimieux and Ralph Bellamy star in a drama concerning the appearance of Death on earth in human form. Good attendance at Lougheed Fair Lougheed Fair Day offered something for everyone, and as a result, was well attended by both young and old. A total of 1078 people were reported going through the Devonian Caravan, and the children's merry-go-round and trampolines were kept busy the whole time.

In football, Viking Men took first place, with Lougheed Barons coming in second. Sedgewick took first place in baseball with second going to Lougheed. In the ladies tournament the Lougheed Rockettes beat Viking in the finals to take first place.

Many people (approx. 600) enjoyed a barbecue supper Saturday night and many more were spectators at exhibits in the museum, arena and for the livestock shows.

COME ALIVE . . .

-Lorne Fisher

1st of 2 series.
As Slow As the Second Coming of Jesus Christ

It wasn't too long ago that I heard a friend of mine use an expression that grieved my heart. He said, "It's as slow as the Second Coming of the Lord Jesus Christ." Although my human heart was crushed, I wondered how insulted God must have felt when He was definite and man related reasons for delaying the arrival of His Son.

One reason for his delay is found in II Peter 3:9..."The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

Nowhere in history has such love and mercy poured forth as it did on the day Jesus Christ died. Here, in spite of the risk of total rejection, blasphemy and ridicule, the Son of God gave His life to begin the work of salvation.

Although the ensueing years, men have turned from God to live in selfishness and greed. They have disregarded and come to the point of hating the goodness of a loving Father in purposing to redeem men to a right relationship with Himself. Beyond this, they have haughtily proceeded to deny the holiness and judgement of God, making it a trivial passing thought.

Still, God in His love and mercy for you has delayed His plans of destruction for the hatched and His eternal for the believing. God is waiting for the entire world to be approached and given the choice of accepting or rejection His provision of eternal love and life. No wonder there is such a striving of christians today, to let every living person know that they can love God and have Him return that love. It is being done by television, radio, home prayer meetings, church service and by personal confrontation.

No, God is not slow. He is longsuffering in putting up with all that goes on today. He is waiting so that possibly you might come and say I want to be yours. God is waiting but not forever. Right now He is striving for the souls of men who will repent and turn unto God and in their spirits say "Come Lord Jesus. Come."

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Sharleen M. Chevrette

THE CHIEF

The radio flashed the news: "John George Diefenbaker is dead."

I put my fork down carefully, the food on it uneaten.

"Tributes to him continue to pour into Ottawa from across Canada and around the world."

My eyes misted with unshed tears. I listened to the words of Prime Minister Joe Clark, Pierre Trudeau, Queen Elizabeth, Governor General Ed Shreyer, Premier Peter Lougheed and a host of others. They acclaimed John Diefenbaker as a humanitarian, a great statesman, a great Canadian. They chronicled his achievements and his place in our history. And I agreed with them. But I have personal memories, too.

I was 16 when I met him. He was Prime Minister of Canada and I was a school girl. I was on a bus trip to New York City and the United Nations with 8 chaperones and 35 other students from Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Montana and Idaho. We had stopped for a tour of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa and were listening to our guide explain Parliamentary procedure when a young man approached us.

"The Prime Minister would like to meet you. If you will all follow me. I'll take you to his office."

There was stunned silence. Then one of the American kids said in an awed, disbelieving voice, "The Prime Minister of Canada wants to see us?"

The man nodded and within moments ushered us into a large room. And there he was. The Right Honorable John Diefenbaker - broad face emphasized by heavy jowls, flashing blue eyes crinkled with laughter, shock of grey hair - just as I had seen him in so many magazine and newspaper photos. Then he spoke and the expressive voice, familiar to me from hundreds of radio broadcasts, filled the room.

Greetings, stories, anecdotes of his recent visit from President Eisenhower - I don't remember his exact words, but I remember the feeling of pride I got as I listened to him. Pride in being Canadian and being part of his vision for Canada. Pride in the sense of importance he gave to each of us in that brief time. And when it was over, pride in the astonishment of the American kids that our country's leader was so approachable and so human.

In the years since that day, I've never lost that pride - nor the feeling that John George Diefenbaker was one of the greatest Canadians our country has ever produced. No other modern politician has shown his skill in oratory, his razor-like wit, his intelligence in debate. Nor has anyone else shown his determination, his sticking-powers or his courage, even in defeat.

I have watched him fill my T.V. screen as he parried questions from hostile reporters or political adversaries. With eyes blazing in his mobile face, voice thundering and forefinger stabbing the air in front of him, he has bested them all and I have chuckled with pure delight.

John George Diefenbaker is dead. He died at his desk, still working. He was Canada's oldest statesman. And as I pick up my fork to resume eating, I know that I will miss him.

P.S.S. assists in care centre program

Dayland and Forestburg have been working hard in the past year to bring into being a new concept in senior citizens care. With the assistance of Flagstaff Preventive Social Services and the University of Calgary Faculty of Environmental Design, the Multi-level Care Centre concept was developed to meet the housing, medical, social and recreational needs of seniors in rural areas.

The Multi-level care facility is designed to have a central unit that not only provides services to residents living around the centre but also to provide outreach services to seniors living in their own homes. Such a facility would be cheaper, more efficient and more complete in the type of service it could provide.

If the Provincial Government accepts this innovative idea, Dayland, Forestburg and the surrounding communities could set the pace for improved service delivering to our senior citizens. The University of Calgary report prepared for Dayland and Forestburg is receiving much attention in government and academic circles. These communities are working toward a better future for all citizens.

This is your PSS program! Let's work to develop a better community.

Today's youth can use a dependable Financial friend

And maybe that's why so many young people are becoming credit union members ... bright young men and women who are finding that all kinds of good things can happen when they take advantage of what the credit union has to offer.

Things like convenient savings plans and borrowing power that can help fulfill dreams and goals.

Because our credit union is turned on by youth, we're making every effort to keep tuned in to their special needs with services to make things easier and a staff that knows how to relate and respond.

Like we said ... we think young people can use a dependable financial friend. The credit union.

AGRI DAYS FLOWER SHOW

A large crowd took in the flower show at the Community Hall on Saturday afternoon. There was a good variety of cut flowers, house plants and flower arrangements but there was room for many more. I was told that there were no enteries at all in some classes while in many others there were only one or two. This was disappointing both to the sponsors and to the exhibitors. It's much more satisfying to win a prize when there is competition. You really don't know how good your entry is if you win a prize when you're the only entry in the class.

However there were still many beautiful entries to admire, as well as some unusual ones. Winning the trophy for the best entry of the show was Mrs. Darlene Clark for her strawberry begonia. Mrs. Marian Madden of Hardisty won the prize for the best rose while Mrs. Jean Ferrier received an award for the most original entry in the show.

It is to be hoped that there will be many more entries next year to make the flower show an even bigger success than it was this year.

AGRI DAYS HANDICRAFT

As with the flower show, there was room for many more entries in this portion of Agri Days. Many hours of work had been put into the entries and there was a great variety of knitting, crochet, needlework and many other kinds of handicraft. An enjoyable time could be spent studying everything but it would be even more enjoyable if the entries were at least doubled.

AGRI DAYS VEGETABLE

Classes had to be cancelled here as the number if entries was down. I know that work is needed to prepare entries for this show.(It's surprising how

The trophy for Open Adult Classes in Vegetables, Handicrafts and Needlework went to Marian Madden of Hardisty with 71 points

The trophy for Senior Citizens Class went to Georgina Enger of Irma with 51 points.

The trophy for Childrens Classes went to Pat MacArthur of Sedgewick with 22 points.

Extra Strength Pickling vinegar

Many of you may have seen the ad on T.V. for Allen's Vinegar that is billed as Extra strength 7% acetic acid. This vinegar has recently been introduced to Alberta's supermarkets. The label states you will have "more certain results" and "Your pickles stay firm and crisp longer."

Presently, most vinegars on the market are between 4 - 6% Acetic acid. If Allen's vinegar is of a higher acidity, consumers are wondering if they should use less. As far as pickles go, the label states "important: Use exactly the same measurements as called for in your pickling recipes. Do not use less."

Alum

Alum (keeps pickles crisp) is a common ingredient in pickle recipes especially ones passed down from our Moms and Grandmothers. In recent years it has been found that if Alum is consumed in large amounts it can produce nausea and even severe gastro-intestinal trouble Therefore use it very carefully. Home Economists recommend not to use Alum at all. A suitable substitute for Alum is Calcium Chloride. Calcium Chloride should be purchased from the drugstore in a food-pure form - not as it is sold at farm and garden supply centers Use calcium chloride in the same amount as Alum is called for in the recipe.

Zucchini

By the number of calls I've been receiving, it seems the Zucchini crop is bountiful. Zucchini may be preserved for those winter months by canning or freezing.

Zucchini Squash Fromm

Cut zucchini in ¼" slices, halve large slices. Blanch 2 minutes. Chill quickly, drain throughly. Spread on trays and freeze before packing. To cook boil 7 or 8 minutes (tasty boiled in tomato juice) or bake 20 minutes at 325 degrees farenheit.

Zucchini recipes - is a booklet free for the asking from Alberta Agriculture. Write Box 270, Sedgewick or phone 384-3737.

Vegetable Marrow

Vegetable marrow is a summer squash. To freeze follow the directions above for zucchini.

IN MEMORIAM

ELMQUIST — In loving memory of my dear husband Albert Elmquist who passed away August 24, 1978

The loneliness without you
The ache deep in our hearts
We've nothing left but memories
With them we'll never part
The family chain is broken
Life is not the same
But as God calls us one by one
The chain will link again.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by your loving wife Myrtle and family. 3-1c

BUTCHER — In loving memory of Pauline Butcher, who passed away August 23, 1978.

God took her home, it was His will.
But in our hearts she liveth still.
Sincere thanks to our friends and relatives for the many kindnesses extended to us in the past year. Jack, David, Janice and family. 3-1p

SCHELER — In loving memory of husband and father, Otto Scheler who passed away August 22, 1974.

This month comes with deep regret.
It brings back the day we cannot forget.
In our hearts you will always stay,
Loved and remembered day by day.
No verse, no flowers, no tears can say,
How much we miss you every day.
You left us so quietly without goodbye.
But memories of you will never die.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by your loving wife Mary and family. 3-1p

SKORI — In loving memory of our daughter and sister Ruby, who passed away August 18, 1978.

It has been brought to our attention about the passing away of Lawrence Eckhad in Nanaimo, B.C. at the age of 68. He is mourned by his two sons Bev of Ottawa and Roger of Vancouver, also his wife and her family. His relatives were in Denmark.

Lawrence operated the Hardisty Hardware in the early 1940's and was in the business when the hardware burned down about 1945. Different ones around will remember going to school with Bev here.

Doreniee and Meredith McGhie of Camrose have been visiting at the McGhie home.

Services for Harry Pottage

John Henry Pottage, better known as Harry, was born on July 25, 1894 in Pottageville, Ontario. In March 1906, at the age of 11 years, he came with his family to Alberta, where his parents homesteaded south of Sedgewick. He commenced his schooling in Kettleby and Toronto, Ontario, and after moving west, he completed his education at Merna School. His next few years were spent at Grouard, High Prairie and communities in the Peace River country. He then settled into a successful farming career in the Wyoming School District south of Sedgewick. Upon his retirement in 1964 he moved to the town of Sedgewick where he resided until his recent illness.

Harry was a long time member of Merna United Church. He served as a councellor for the Municipal District of Flagstaff for a number of years, and was keenly interested and took part in local and provincial politics. In recent years, he was an active member of both the Sedgewick Senior Citizens Club, and the Flagstaff Hobby Club. Harry's interest in nature and the humanities of Life were expressed by his many hobbies and activities. Some of these were birdwatching, photography, coin-collecting, and he was well-known for his collection of pioneer-days antiques. He enjoyed various sports including golf, bowling, and was an avid card-player.

He leaves to mourn his loss his brother and sister-in-law, Stephen and Bessie Pottage of Sedgewick, and many nieces and nephews, as well as a host of friends and neighbours. He was pre-deceased by his father and mother, one sister, Edith, and one brother Frank.

Rev. R. Chappell conducted services on Friday, August 3 in Sedgewick United Church. Interament followed at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery in Edmonton.

Pallbearers were Donald Ball, Olaf Eiley, Albert and Carl Eckstrand, Roy Simpson and Norman White.

Fee and Sons Funeral Home of Killam were in charge of all arrangements.

Lutheran ladies study "Me"

Thanks for Me!

Bethan.. Lutheran Ladies met Tuesday evening, August 14th. After welcoming members and visitors, President Inga Jacobsen brought a humourous reading re false eyelashes, the difficulties in fitting them on, taking them off, etc. concluding that real beauty is an inward quality and precious to God. I Peter 3:4. Business meeting followed.

Continuing on the Bible theme. "Stewards of God's Gifts." Christine Myrehaug led the ladies in a meditation on the "Gift of Life." Molly Magee introduced the study by a symbolic presentation on Creation and its concepts, drawing special attention to man made in God's image, the "Crown of all creation."

What comes to mind when we think about me? Our thoughts include a body, a personality, feelings, talents, mind and potential. Looking around us we realize that each one of us is wonderfully made in all of these capacities. Made in the image of God does not mean that we look like God, but it has to do with the peculiar dignity of a human being; the likeness of God's personality, the authority and responsibility God has given us, and the possibility of communication between God and mankind. The N.T. speaks of Christ alone as the perfect image of God, but we can be transformed into this same image when we accept Christ as our Saviour. While we must still contend with sin, our relationship with God is healed because of the perfect state we have in Christ. Although risky to God, He has respect for the Crown of His creation and leaves the choice to us. We may or may not turn to Him. If we do, He can fill our lives, work in and through us for His purposes and His glory! What a gift, the gift of life in Christ! What a gift, the gift of Christ in me!

Prayers of thankfulness followed the conclusion of the study. Refreshments were served by hostesses Thordis Taylor and Alvina Herman, and a time of fellowship greatly enjoyed.

Nazarene News

Heartfelt sympathy is expressed to Mrs. Leah Potter and family in the death of Mr. Henry Potter. Funeral services were held August 18 at Sedgewick Nazarene Church with Rev. S. Abel officiating, assisted by Rev. A. Ardrey, District superintendent, Canada West District. Special music was provided by Art and Leona Leedholm and John Swindells of Red Deer. Henry was a loved and respected member of our congregation; "Absent from the body, present with the Lord."

Any persons interested in a study on the "Dynamics of Discipleship" are invited to join a course of study 6 p.m. Sunday.

Camp "afterglow" testimonies were an inspiration Sunday evening, along with the pastor's message "Is it possible to please God?" In worship services we continue to study in depth the Lord's Prayer.

A large number of visitors have joined us for worship these summer Sundays. Welcome and do come again.

Mrs. Doreen Conrad and Mrs. Thelma Tuxton were in Lethbridge to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bradley (nee Joyce Tuxton) and family last week. All enjoyed a day at Waterton Lakes Park on Sunday, then Thelma and Doreen came home on Monday.

More plans for oil sands

Former Alberta energy minister Don Getty is expected to submit a recommendation for a royalty scheme on new oil sands plants to the provincial cabinet early this fall.

Though the Alsands and Esso Resources plans for oil extraction projects in northeastern Alberta only received preliminary approval from Energy Resources Conservation Board earlier this month, Getty has been negotiating fiscal terms with them since this spring.

Getty won't say what royalty structure he will recommend, but at least one oil company official familiar with the negotiations says the former energy minister's recommendations will be "stiff."

The oil companies claim they can live with provincial royalties, acknowledging that this form of provincial taxation represents a just return to the province for loss of a depleting natural resource.

But if the companies are ready to accept provincial royalties without too much struggle, they want tax concessions from Ottawa.

Federal policy on new oil sands plants won't be fully clear until after a meeting of Prime Minister Clark's inner cabinet in Jasper late this month. And the finishing touches on any new incentives to companies building oil sands facilities will not be applied until the federal budget promised this fall.

But the new Conservative administration might find it difficult to make additional fiscal concessions when it is struggling to balance a budget already billions of dollars in the red.

A recent publicized study of the Syncrude Canada venture by two independent economists has also shown the federal government to be the big loser in the February 1975 deal that put that project back on the tracks after the private companies sponsoring the venture threatened to abandon it.

The study claimed that by making large tax concessions to the companies in the form of capital allowances and the right to deduct provincial royalties from taxable income, Ottawa took on the majority of the burden in financing the project.

Meanwhile, the role Alberta is to play in the new oil sands ventures remains unclear.

Only direct ownership of shares in the projects appears to have been ruled out absolutely. And it is quite likely that a major role for the Alberta Energy Company, half of which is owned by individual Canadian investors, is being readied.

AEC involvement would be consistent with the government's stated goal of involving Albertans directly in the development of the province's natural resources.

Cantlon family reunion

Fifty-five members of the Cantlon family gathered at Hardisty Lake, Hardisty, Alta. during the week July 22nd to 28th, for their third family reunion in the last eight years.

Mrs. Flossie Cantlon, now in her 86th year, was pleased to have with her for the entire week, all seven children and their spouses: Aimee and Harold Moody, Hardisty, Alberta, Alvin and Barbara, Fort St. John, B.C. Lynn and Janet, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Darrell and Gloria, Deep Cove, B.C. Art and Pat, Monrovia, Liberia Africa, Ev and Martha, Fort Nelson, B.C. and Dorothy and Wes Clark of Morden, Manitoba

As well as the immediate family there were present 26 grandchildren (including spouses) and 13 great grandchildren. Mrs. Cantlon's sister Faith (Ferris) Bradshaw and her husband Ernie from New Westminister, B.C. attended the gathering also.

Friends of the family called during the week - George, Doris and Irene from Killarney, Manitoba and their guest Mrs. Ritchie from Scotland, Brad and Elizabeth Dickson, Trent and Wade also from Killarney. Ten of Harold and Aimee Moody's relatives and friends from Hardisty visited occasionally too, Mrs. E. Moody and Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Moody and boys, Helen and Carl Anderson and Lena Hopis (73 people altogether.)

The weather was wonderful and the days passed quickly. Activities included eating, visiting, quilting, swimming, canoeing, water skiing, horse shoes, fast ball, etc. Every evening closed with a good old fashioned sing-a-long.

The Cantlon family appreciated the use of the United Church camp and facilities. The lovely location and beautiful weather added to the pleasure of the occasion.

The Cantlons, if all goes well, are planning a fourth get together in 1983

Does anyone give a damn?

We viewed the damage at Sedgewick Lake over the Agri-Days weekend and it leaves serious revelation about the mental attitudes of a group of people in our communities. It would appear for a need of firewood, a building was virtually destroyed and with a dead tree less than 100 feet away. Then someone thought the roof wood was better or was it that some people are "hell-bent on destruction."

Likewise at Hardisty after sods were laid down and watered at the town pump house, vandals took their toll. In the morning a large number of sods were torn up making it almost necessary to re-lay the whole area again

Metric Mud

The country faire synonymous with August provide an excellent opportunity for meeting my constituents. I have enjoyed a day at the Camrose, Oyen, Stettler, Lougheed and Dayland Fairs and look forward to a number of others. These events are very important windows through which I am able to ascertain the wants and needs of the Crowfoot constituency.

This summer has witnessed an issue which is dominant above all others. With a consistency I have not previously experienced, people have taken me into their confidence to lament the fact that they do not understand the metric system; it interferes with their productivity, and they do not look forward to learning it easily.

In short, we have had too much metric too fast. We have proceeded as a nation without regard for our major trading partner, the United States, who has proceeded more slowly and with caution. At present, the changeover in the U.S. is voluntary rather than through a system directed by government

Following the May 22nd general election, your Federal Government dissolved the Metric Commission. Therefore, any further metrification in Canada will be voluntary. Nevertheless, another major problem faces Canadian farmers. For well over a year, the date of January 1, 1980 has been established as the time that the meat industry was to convert to metric. That date is almost upon us and farm producers are far from ready for the change. The problem is that most packing plants have already spent large sums of money retooling scales, and converting containers, labels, and record systems. They are now expecting the change to metric and have committed their budgets.

However, an auction market that buys and sells cattle or hogs by the kilogram will provide a theatrical adventure in confusion. Unlike fixed price buying, the auction market does not allow enough time to make calculations between bids

Some would prefer that we abolish all use of metric. However, many millions of dollars have been invested....and it is virtually impossible to unscramble an egg. Such a move would be irresponsible. Moreover, it is not the system that is at fault, but the method of implementation.

I intend to make a strong appeal that would allow the meat industry to internally adopt metric units on January 1, 1980, but be able to retain, for an extended period the use of imperial units for purchasing livestock from farmers. For the time being, imperial units should be retained in all auction markets.

"I Write as I Please"

AS ONE who has outpaced and outdistanced the old-time prediction that man's time span here will be three score and ten years. Having experienced many of the beauties of life and tasted much of its delicacies, not to mention some of its travails and treading in the vicinity of the verge of Jordon, I have learned to a degree to "roll with the punch and accept the fact that no matter how badly the cookie crumbles the remains are still delectable; that no matter which way the ball bounces if you are quick enough afoot and alert enough in mind you have an even chance of regaining possession. Yet not all things are within reach, but the possibility that they could be is what keeps the mind alert, the hope renewed and the ambition strong."

THAT MANKIND is continually plagued with annoyances is not a disputatious truism, but how he is able to handle is open to dispute, and satisfaction with oneself can be established by not succumbing to their threats

TO ILLUSTRATE may I relate to you some of the little annoyances that sometimes try my equanimity.

HAVE(n't BEEN blessed with only one green thumb I envy those with two. I know it's their superior knowledge in the field of horticulture, yet they annoy me, especially those smirking individuals who claim access to some kind of special language. They talk to their plants. Well, I do too but something is amiss. I call them blessed and they shrivel. I curse the weeds and they prosper. I have even performed the last rites over lamb's quarter and chick weed yet they outpace my carefully planted growth. Especially annoying is the realization that only hard labor on hands and knees keeps those unwelcome intruders at bay. The only satisfaction I get is in learning that the two-thumbers do it just like I do, so there.

GARBAGE COLLECTORS who want the dignified title of Environmental Engineers yet won't accept anything for disposal unless it is gift wrapped and tied with a yellow ribbon.

PEOPLE WHO make baldfaced statements and then attempt to sneak out from under the unpopular statement by saying they were misquoted by the media. Nine times out of ten they are quoted correctly.

PEOPLE IN the position to do so but never make a decision, while those not in the position are forever making them and then disclaiming having ever made them.

MISGUIDED MISCREANTS who rally around the exploits of law-breakers and condemn every move the police make, as infringing on the rights and freedom of people; never realizing that without the supremecy of the law there is no freedom.

CONSTRCTION CREWS and road builders who block all traffic and close roads without providing decent detours, and when they do it's like riding a rocky road to oblivion.

PEOPLE WHO don't smoke or have kicked the habit, who go around soundly and piously condemning those who do.

SERVICE PLACES that have bin after bin of every size of anything except the one you want.

HOUSEHOLDERS who insist on their right to harbor dogs and cats but who do not think it is their duty to look after them and keep them off other people's property.

CAR AND truck drivers who insist on parking three abreast on public roads to gab, expecting the rest of the drivers to wait until they are ready to move, or go around them when there isn't room to do so.

POLICEMEN who flag you over and then ask you: "Do you know what you did wrong?" This annoys me because if I knew what I did wrong I would not have done it.

YET IN spite of all these annoyances they are ones which for the most part are minor ones that can be lived with; that is if you have reached the age where you have learned to "roll with the punch"

God Is Preparing A Bride

Last week I mentioned one reason for God delaying the coming of Jesus Christ, that being to let people who do not believe in Christ as their Saviour to repent and come to Him for salvation. This week, I want to relate another reason and that being, "God is preparing a Bride."

All through the Bible we are admonished to keep ourselves pure and holy because we are being prepared to be the Bride of Jesus Christ. Paul says in regards to our earthly marriage and the relationship of husband and wife that it is an image or a shadow of the more perfect, - heavenly mystery of Christ and His church.

That mystery in Ephesians 5:31 and 32 is to be not only realized by our future state of being with Christ in Heaven, but I believe we can understand it and be apart of it now.

Much of Christ's teaching when he walked with His disciples was about relationship of man with God. He taught that men could go beyond an external information relationship. He was not confined to a relationship of a God way out there in the wild-blue yonder who really didn't care. He didn't talk of a relationship of maybe, or sometimes or when ever convenient. He meant a relationship that was pure, and more intimate and more real than that found in marriage.

God desires a personal, intimate relationship with men. I believe that God will talk, walk, comfort, guide and love those that love Him. God is personal. He cares not in masses but you in your own little world. I believe that, if you believe in Christ as your Saviour, and live according to his commandments, you need never fear for God will be there and will not let you ever be destroyed. We are Christ's Bride.

The Bride of Christ is destined to rule and reign with the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords. She is to share His glory, His honour, His power and His authority. But she must be prepared. She is to come into purity and holiness even as God is holy. She must learn to stand against evil and yet reach out in love. She must dismiss all selfish and personal desires in order to accomodate Her lover, the Lord Jesus Christ.

The church world-wide is not saying come Lord Jesus, because of the struggle to come to unity and love. There will be a day when the saints of the world will be in unity and love and then the Holy Spirit of God and the Bride of Christ shall say "Come Lord Jesus," and God will delay the coming of His Son say longer.

Saints of the Lord Jesus Christ...come to unity and love so that we may hasten the day of Jesus return by being ready and saying "Come Lord Jesus, Come."

KALEIDOSCOPE

by Diane Bourne, DHE

Questions about food preservation:

Q. Can the plastic bags that milk comes in be used for freezing foods?
A. Yes, the bags can be used quite successfully for freezing after they have been thoroughly washed.

Q. How should pumpkin and winter squash be canned?
A. Please note the following new directions from Agriculture Canada.

Canning Canadian Fruits and Vegetables (page 34)

Wash pumpkin or winter squash, cut or break apart, remove seeds and stringy fibers. Pare pieces and cut in 1 inch cubes. Add just enough water to cover. Bring to boil. Pack cubes in jars, cover with hot cooking liquid or water leaving ½ inch headspace. Processing time in minutes.: small containers - jars 50, cans 55 medium containers - jars 90, cans 115.

Note: Do not mash pumpkin or squash before canning. Drain and mash before using if desired.

Q. What causes hollow pickles?
A. This is often due to faulty development of the cucumber or may be caused by allowing too long a time to elaspe between gathering and picking.

Q. What causes pickles to become soft?
A. Using to weak a brine or inferior grades of vinegar or diluting the vinegar too much. Boiling the pickles too long when using recipes which call for simmering.

Q. Why do pickles shrivel?
A. Placing the cucumber at once in heavy syrup, too strong brine, or too strong vinegar solution, or allowing too much time to elaspe between the gathering and picking.

Q. Can fruit be too ripe, or too green to make jelly?
A. A mixture of slightly underripe and ripe fruit is best for jelly making. There should be enough ripe fruit to give a good flavor. If the fruit is too ripe, the pectin changes to pectic acid and pectic acid will not make jelly.

Q. What are the reasons for spoilage or jars not sealing?
A. 1. Incomplete sterilization. Failure to follow exact time tables and recipes.
2. Failure to wipe sealing edge of jar clean before placing lid on jar.
3. Food, seeds or grease lodge between lid and jar.
4. If lightning or ball-type jar-clamps not properly adjusted.
5. Jars which are nicked or cracked or have sharp sealing edges.
6. If Mason jar and two-piece metal lid-band screwed down too loosely before processing.
7. Turing jars upside down while cooling and sealing.

Q. Can the microwave oven be used for blanching?
A. Yes, for a list of blanching times for various vegetables, write Box 270, Sedgewick, or phone 384-3737.

Daysland town council have busy meetings

Regular Daysland Town Council meetings were held on August 7th and 21st, 1979, at 7:00 p.m. at the Town Office.

A very informative session with Flagstaff P.S.S. Director Paul Bujold was held. Progress on this years programs was discussed and plans for next year projected. Subjects included the Local Employment Assistance Program, Alcohol & Drug Abuse programs, the position of Program Co-ordinator, Drop-in Centres, Women's Council, Playschools amongst others. The summer Playground Program has been running successfully again under Pam Ziesel. Children from 3 to 13 have been taking advantage of the program and have been having a fine time.

Council thanked Mr. Bujold for attending the meeting and looked forward to working with him in the future.

Daysland is pleased to welcome three new businesses to town, Jenny's Flowers and Crafts, Right-Way Driving School and Eskimo Carvings.

Grants may be available for projects to celebrate the Province's 75th Anniversary next year. We would welcome any ideas regarding projects for Daysland, please call at the Town Office if you have any inspirations.

Our summer students, Allan Gartner, Neil Brown, Greg Nyuli and Sandy Turney will be leaving us soon. Foreman Brown isn't too sure any more about the old saying "Many hands make light work" but even he would agree that the students have been a great help this summer.

Deputy Mayor for September and October will be Councillor Damberger. September Council meetings are on the 4th and 18th, 7:00 p.m. at the Town Office.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

by Doris Saunders

The Wilderness Unlimited

"There's Teepee Mountain," I exclaimed to my husband as we came to the top of a long hill. "Isn't that where you camped with the big game hunters?"

"Yes," he answered as he stepped on the brakes to slow our downward rush. We were on our way to the mountains for a camping trip and my question brought up some old memories in my husband's thoughts.

He had been a cook with a big game hunter's expedition some years back. Later when we made camp I started to prepare our supper with the help of our propane stove, the oven and fresh food from the refrigerator while he shared his memories with me.

"You know I had to cook for eleven people, four hunters, four guides, a wrangler the outfitter and myself."

"How did you manage?" I queried him.

"As soon as we reached a place where we thought it suitable to camp for the night I chose a place for my campfire. I shouted to the wrangler to rustle some dry wood while I got a place cleared for the fire. When that was ready I hunted for stones to put around the fire. They had to hold a grill for me to put the pans over the fire. It worked really well and do you know I even baked bread inside that fire.

"How did you do that?" I asked.

"I set the bread the night before and kept it warm in my bedroll."

"You mean you slept with it!" I exclaimed.

"That was the only way to keep it warm. In the morning I punched it down and it was put on top of a packsaddle on the back of a horse. The bedroll was strapped over it and the heat from the horse's back kept it warm enough."

"But how did you bake bread with only a campfire?" I questioned.

"I had a reflector oven. It was made of shiny tin and could be folded up for packing. The reflector oven was placed close to the glowing red coals after supper and the bread baked in it. The bread was used to make sandwiches for the next day's lunches while we were on the trail."

"You know I even made raisin pie for dessert," he continued.

"How could you roll out pie crust?" I asked.

"No problem," he answered. "I rolled it thin with a whiskey bottle. I made baking powder biscuits and bannock nearly every day. We had pancakes at other times."

"What else did you have to eat?"

"We had potatoes, canned vegetables, meat, butter, milk, fruit and eggs. We lived well as sometimes the hunters were lucky and we had fresh deer steaks or trout. The smell of steak sizzling over the fire always brought the gang hurrying to get their food. These hunters were millionaries and were used to the best," he boasted. I really had to look after the fire or I would be sure to hear grumbling if I served them up a burnt offering when they came in tired and hungry from the hunt."

I placed the supper on the table and said, "You know with you such an expert why am I doing the cooking now? I'll let you take over for the next meal. It would be a shame to let all that expertise go to waste."

Daysland family holds reunion

A family reunion of the Koshli families was held in Daysland on August 19th. Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McHargue (Margaret) celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Koshli celebrated their 1st anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Popielnack celebrated their 17th anniversary.

There were 225 guests present and 157 of them were members of the family. Dinner at 12:30 was enjoyed by all. During the day fun was had by all playing ball, horseshoe and dancing and also a lot of visiting.

There were nine Koshli brothers and four sisters present, brother Bob and sister Betty were unable to attend. The youngest member was six months of age and the oldest was Uncle Sam Koshli who is 97 years young.

Out of town guests were from Switzerland, Honolulu, Hawaii, Simi Valley San Diego, Merced and Atwater California, Portland Oregan, Vancouver, Dawson Creek, Brooks, Calgary, Sylvan Lake, Stettler, Edmonton, Calmar, Ponoka, Camrose, Strome, Sedgewick, Wetaskiwin, Tofield, Winterburn, Obaton and Daysland.

Laura Graham had Mr. and Mrs. Marion Stambaugh visiting from Edmonton. Also Mrs. Rena Thomas and her brother Paul from Ottawa and St. Stephens New Brunswick. Mrs. Brian Swain from Grande Prairie is visiting her sister Laura and the rest of her family

A large crowd met in the United Church basement last Tuesday afternoon August 21st to help Mr. Frank Moore celebrate his 90th birthday. There were 63 that signed the guest book in the afternoon. The U.C.W. ladies served lunch and then a short program was enjoyed, with Herb Robinson as M.C. Mrs. Kay Reist read a story of Frank's life around here. Frank Graham gave two recitations and the Daysland Community Choir sang which was enjoyed by all. Rev. Mel Deitrich was called to give a few words and prayer. A lot of pictures were taken during the afternoon as Frank blew out his candles and cut the birthday cake.

During the evening the family held open house for anyone to come and enjoy a nice visit and lunch.

A large crowd attended Mrs. Margaret Berry's funeral August 23rd in the United Church with Rev. Mina Pool officiating. Sympathy is extended to the family.

Killam Agriplex swim schedule

Monday, September 1st (long weekend) the Killam pool will be open from 2 - 4 p.m. and 7 - 9 p.m.

Swimming lessons will not commence again until October 1st. This will leave the pool open for more public swimming and for rentals. On Monday and Wednesday from 7:00 - 8:00 p.m the pool is open for lane swimming. This means participants can only swim lengths. This is followed by aquatic games from 8 - 9 p.m. (water polo, volleyball, tubes.) Everyone is encouraged to come out and participate in our new and exciting Monday and Wednesday programs.

For September the public swimming hours will be from 7 - 9 Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Also Wednesday afternoons from 2 - 4 and Saturday and Sunday from 2 - 4. The early bird swim will be offered again for the month of september from 6:30 - 7:30 a.m., please pre-register.

Teen Time

The agriplex is promoting a new concept. Programs for the fall will be geared towards the teens. Friday, September 14 there will be a teen swim night from 10 p.m. - midnight. There will be many pool activities and the evening will be accompanied by music and a moonlight mood.

Agri Days ball tournament

Although ist times there were a few spatters of rain the Agri Days Baseball Tournament went on as scheduled on Sunday August 19. The first three games were very close, all going seven innings.

Forestburg jumped off to a lead in the first game and hung on to beat Lougheed 7 to 5. In the second game Sedgewick brought in a run in the bottom of the seventh to defeat Hardisty 5 to 4. The next game saw Amisk lose to Daysland by the same score, 4 to 5. Forestburg received the bye, so Sedgewick and Daysland tangled in the semi-finals which resulted in a 9 to 2 win for Sedgewick. In the final against Forestburg Sedgewick continued their winning ways emerging the victors with an 8 to 2 score.

Some very enjoyable baseball on one of the last local tournaments for this season.

Lougheed and District News

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cameron of Coronation on the recent birth of a son. Another grandson for Bill Yakes and a great grandson for Mr. and Mrs. Albert Whitlock.

This last while the weather has been beautiful for the harvest. I think the farmers are working every minute they can. Swathing is fully underway, some are combining and even a lot of baling is done. So hope the weather will hold off for awhile. We would not like to see rain, even though it would be nice if it would only know when to stop.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Horricks also to the parents Mr. and Mrs. K.jsiland of Camrose on the recent birth of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schmidt and family attended Lloyd's sister Doreen's wedding on Saturday, August 18 in High River. It was also a reunion of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schmidt's family, while they were all together. A nice time was had by all.

Mrs. Rose Frewing (Pops) formerly of Lougheed, now a resident in the Lodge in Sedgewick had the misfortune of a fall a couple of weeks ago and was taken to Killam Hospital and is now in the Camrose Hospital with a fractured hip. Sorry to hear this Mrs. Rose Frewing.

Mrs. Mary Lario is home after spending a few weeks in Vancouver and other places in B.C. with relatives and friends.

The treasurer gave her report and there was an increase in two months. The card convenor was absent so there was no report from her, but all that were present signed a nice card and it was delivered to some one in the hospital.

The roll call was answered by "the last good laugh you had." I tell you there sure was some real hearty laughs arising from these laughs. Some were absolutely hilarious, but very embarrassing to the person it happened to.

Etta gave us a wonderful report about her marvellous holiday in Europe in July.

The next meeting, in September, will be at Melba's, the cohostess is Etta. The roll call is "Bring your most freakish vegetable from your garden, when it's getting picking time." We are also to bring any kind of oddments for the Lougheed play school children that is starting in September.

The meeting adjourned, we then were all seated around the round table, and the hostess and co-hostess Melba served us so many goodies and cups and more cups of coffee. Helen O'Reilly won the hostess prize and Chrissie won the lucky Tea Cup prize.

Before we left for home Marlene took us on a tour of her flower garden. I think she has every flower in the seed catalogue and then some. They were simply gorgeous, in every color, shape and form. So were her peas and raspberries but those mean work. Thank you Marlene and I hope the day is as beautiful when we meet in September.

Gretna Goodwill club holds meeting on August 15th our club held their meeting at Marlene Simpson's home. There were only six members and one visitor in attendance.

The meeting was opened by reading the minutes of the previous meeting. No business arose from the minutes. A motion was made that all bills be paid that had been turned in the past two months. Correspondence was then read and many thank you notes were read from several nice teenagers, and others.

Lougheed holds regional days

4 - H members and their horses spent two enthusiastic days, in friendly competition when the Lougheed arena was the scene, on August 2 and 3, of a Regional 4 - H Horse Show. Regionals Days, as they have been held for the last number of years, with all projects taking part, were discontinued for this year. However, the horse clubs were very reluctant to give up their part of the days and decided to have a Regional Horse Show open to all 4H members whether in the horse project or not. Fifty six 4h'ers from eleven different clubs throughout the East Central Alberta Region took part. The clubs represented were Veteran, Botha,Merna, Happy Riders, Heisler, Sounding Creek, Killam, Alliance, Esther, Forestburg and Hardisty.

The facilities in Lougheed were excellent with lots of room for parking and a beautiful floor in the arena for performance classes.

Judge for the two days was Mr. Robert Burns, a long time 4-h leader and judge from Pichardville. He was very ably assisted by Lori Dale Goodrich a former 4-H member from Hardisty. Unknown to the members, a secret judge was circulating among them, inside and out to select a 4-H'r of the day - for each day. Sportsmanship, courtesy and consideration were some of the qualities being looked for. As she said after, it was one of the most difficult jobs she'd ever had.

Selected to receive the trophy for the first day was Everett Alderdice, a pee wee from the Hardisty and Merna Clubs. The second days award went to Merle Jahns, a senior from the Forestburg Club. These two members can be very proud of their recognition, however as the judge said all the members were very sportsman like. Perhaps some of the adults should pattern themeselves after them. The reporter from the Killam Club showed a very astute view of some of the adults in her August 15 report in the Community Press. Well said Anna!

Space would not permit a list of all the winners in each event, but each club took home a good share of the ribbons, even some of the adults.

Iron Creek Fish and Game

The Iron Creek Fish and Game held their regular meeting on Tuesday night August 14 with 13 members present. There were many things discussed during the course of the meeting.

One of the reports we beard was that the fishing at Owen's Pond has been very poor due to the size of the fish. The club will be looking into having larger fish stocked there next year, the stocking of these ponds are under heavy pressure due to the heavy demand, and the problems still encountered at the fish hatcheries.

Disposal of Chemical containers are becoming somewhat of a problem. Agriculture Canad and Environment Canada are now jointly researching better disposal methods. Everyone handling these chemicals must be made aware of the dangers they involve.

The club is raising pheasants again this year and have two hundred birds which will be released in different areas in the County come fall. The report on these birds are that they are doing fine and should be a good size by the time of release.

The club has added another trophy to their competitions. This is on photography. The subject must be either scenic or wildlife. The photo size is a maximum of 5 by 7, and entries must be in by December 31. Competition is open to all members of the club and pictures are to be taken in Alberta this year. So folks when you go on those camping trips remember your camera, one never knows when he might have a winning photo.

The meeting ended with everyone having a chat over coffee and lunch. If there is anyone who would like to take part in these discussions please feel free to come. Our meetings are held on the second Tuesday of every month.

Hardisty holds flower show

The Hardisty Garden Clubs second annual Flower Show was most successful. The many fine exhibits, displayed in the basement of the Drop-in Center were judged by Mr. Laurie Blades of Obston, assisted by apprentice judge, Mr. Meers of Mannville. Upstairs a delicious tea was served. A number of plants and flowers were sold, also tickets were sold on a beautiful vase made by the Ceramics Club and filled with lovely glads. The winner was Mrs. Marian Elm.

Frank Matthews of Cairo, Egypt and his daughter Shanne of Toronto were recent visitors with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews. Frank is employed as Production Manager for Amoco Oil, and lived in Cairo with his wife for two years. They find the country extremely interesting, and have visited many of its historical sites.

Fred Mike~' of Fort McMurray visited his sister Hazel Voros and her husband Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. Del Rueech (nee Amy Weiss) and granddaughter of southern Utah were visiting Mrs. Rueech's old home grounds and former neighbors. They also visited former neighbors the Jimmy Bells and the Jim Voros, in the Irma area. They then continued on to Lac La Biche to try to collect more genealogy information.

It is nice to see Janis Oldfield, Tracy and Sammy back again after a visit in Duncan, British Columbia.

The Strong Ladies club held their meeting at the home of Debbie Currier, north of Czar. The members were very pleased at having so much success with their booth at the Light Horse Rodeo.

The Jim Voros motored to Edmonton on Sunday to visit daughter Irene and husband Pat Kennedy. They said farewell to Pat as he will be in Cornwallis, N.S. accepting a different position in the forces. Irene will continue nursing in Edmonton until suitable living quarters are available at Cornwallis.

Seen in town on Saturday night were Dick Mah and Wing Mah. Dick has left Lamont and is in Edmonton now and his brother is at Lamont.

Many attended the farmers market on Saturday with prospective customers coming from Sedgewick, Amisk and Czar. There was a nice lot of garden stuff as well as home baking. Bee Elm had a display of lovely quilts representing many hours of work also her attractively dressed dolls.

It was so nice to see Earle and Elsie Bone of Edmonton back in town again. Earle is recuperating very well after his illness some time ago and has to remember his limitations.

Well the big Hardisty bingo is over again and as it was a beautiful day more ladies were out than men, as it is harvest time. However winners were from all over, very few in Hardisty being lucky. Many proxy winners and winners from Prince Edward Island, Edmonton, Wainwright, Edgerton, Dayaland, Sedgewick, Amisk and Czar. Lena Hopfe was the lucky door prize winner so congratulations to her and Blanche McGhie on splitting $50.00 with an outsider.

Another one at the farmers market not seen around Hardisty for some time was Mrs. Sylvia Bone of Edmonton. Nice to see you Sylvia.

Donald and Charlene Alderdice have left Hardisty and will be taking over a Link Hardware in Elksford, B.C.

Congratulations to Helen Busk on winning the Elk's bingo jackpot again. She must know her lucky numbers.

Margaret Cheram, Peggy Burpee and Isabel Nelson cleaned the campsite on Friday and a lone gentleman there congratulated the ladies for keeping the site so nice but in turn the occupants need to be congratulated to because they have been so tidy with their garbage.

Lougheed scores two victories

Premier Peter Lougheed scored two substantial victories at the 30th annual provincial premiers conference at Pointe-au-Pic, Quebec.

Lougheed successfully attacked a resource revenue sharing plan put forward by Ontario Premier Bill Davis. And he ensured that Quebec's sovereignty-association proposal was at least discussed by his colleagues at the only remaining annual premiers meeting before the Quebec referendum next spring.

Premier Davis set the stage for the conference when Ontario officials released in advance a proposal that future oil prices increases should be shared by all Canadians.

This would be accomplished by establishing a national energy and employment adjustment fund that would use increased oil revenues to develop new energy sources and cushion the effects of the increases on consumers.

At a press conference on the eve of the premiers' meeting, Lougheed released a six-page, 14 point rebuttal to Davis's position and made a strong defence of the rights of provinces to collect revenues from their own resources.

Subsequently, eight provincial premiers aligned themselves with the Alberta position and Quebec and British Columbia made particularly strong statements supporting provincial resource ownership and the rights of provinces to dispose of resource revenues as they see fit.

Only Saskatchewan, an oil and gas producer, came anywhere close to backing the Ontario position. Premier Ali Blakeney resurrected a plan for a National Energy Security Fund to be jointly administered by Ottawa and the producing provinces.

But before Saskatchewan would agree to such a fund, it would want Ottawa to allow resource companies to claim provincial royalties as a deduction from taxable income.

As the premiers' conference moved into its second and final day, it began to appear as though the anglophone premiers were stadlessly holding the sovereignty-association issue.

But claiming it would have been "unnatural" to ignore this issue with the Quebec referendum so imminent, Lougheed arranged an informal breakfast meeting for the premiers to discuss the matter.

Quebec Premier Rene Levesque told them his government would be tabling a white paper on sovereignty-association in the Quebec national assembly this fall. And he added that the question of the referendum ballot would ask Quebecers to give his government a mandate to negotiate with Ottawa.

None of this was especially new. But the premiers were able to at least serve notice that they weren't prepared to give a separate Quebec state any special deals if Quebecers endorsed the independence route.

Three local swimmers won medals at the Provincial Summer Swim held at Foothills Pool in Calgary. Competition was keen, with swimmers from all over the province.

Jeff Kapler (left) of Daysland won a Gold medal and broke a record in the 11-12 year old Butterfly.

Robbie Borth (centre) of Killam won a Gold in the 8 and under Breast Stroke.

Deanne Wilson (right) of Killam won a Bronze in the 13-14 Back Stroke, coming 1/10 off a Silver medal. Congratulations to the swimmers and to their coach, Janet Borth.

Mrs. Werner Howethe proudly displays her prize hybrid cucumber grown at Sedgewick. Commonly called English cucumbers they are rarely grown here but it appears they can be if looked after properly

The seed came from Eastern Canada and was planted in pails in June. The largest cuke was 19½ inches and was one of six over a foot long. There were also 12 smaller ones.

Editorially

Thundering hooves . . .

I have read, with interest, reports the past while of great amounts of money being spent on provincial highways. For example, Highway 41 is slated for a great deal of paving and rebuilding. According to a report in the Consort Enterprise it will be upgraded to provide a major north-south link with Alberta and the U.S.A.

Last week, Gordon Stromberg, MLA announced major expenditures on highways in his constituency which included only $15,000. on highway 13 and no mention of highway 36.

Compare that if you will with the cost ($1,580,000.00 "I believe") to rebuild to highway standards and hardsurfacing a country road north of Camrose for over 10 miles.

If you have had occasion to travel either 13 or 36 you will no doubt agree with the editorial excerpt in the St. Paul Journal.

"What's new?"

"What's new? Certainly nothing on highway 36 south.

A few weeks ago the writer took this supposedly highway to go to Brooks, Alberta and found it in no better condition most of the way than it was 10 or 20 years ago.

It is hard to believe that in a province such as Alberta priding itself with its riches being hoarded in the Alberta Heritage fund that such an important highway south, parallelling No. 2 and 21 should be in such a delapidated condition.

We can remember as far back as almost thirty years ago when the Highway 36 Association was established, struggled for years with briefs to the Department of Highways for very little consideration.

Although some constructional and rebuilding is sparodic on sections of the road for the most part it remains a bumpy patched up quiltwork of breaks which make comfortable travelling almost impossible. No need to put patrols to control speed on this highway. Its natural rough state policies itself."

Mention is made of the highway 36 association and their lobbying for constant improving of the road and all this was in the past. What about the present? Is there anything that can be done to improve this important north-south link?

The importance of this link is shown when you observe the number of trucks hauling rape seed, cattle and heavy machinery between the north and south cities and down to the States. Could it be time to re-vitalize the "36 association" to become more vocal. It seems the squeeky wheel gets the grease. It is either that, or now that "41" has been named "The Buffalo Trail", 36 will soon be in shape only to herd buffalo down and cars, trucks, etc. can use "41".

What Others Say

Trifling legislation

As mentioned before in these columns, we have some reservations over the programs being promulgated under the Alberta Human Rights Commission. There is the appearance of cancelling individual rights under the label of protecting them.

George Orwell's book Animal Farm, written almost 40 years ago, had one comment which in effect said: All pigs are equal, but some pigs are more equal than others.

Orwell's time chart was just about on mark. Here we have human rights legislation and a commission endeavoring to either enforce it or prosecute under it in an effort to bring everyone under the same common denominator.

It can't be done.

Some of the regulations border on the ridiculous and citizens actually put up with it. A Calgary store which sells clothing and accessories to tall women cannot hire women over five feet eight inches! The store caters only to tall women. What in the name of heaven is wrong with hiring tall women!

Our MLA's should go back to the drawing board and come up with revisions to a silly bit of provincial legislation.

"I Write as I Please"

IF YOU don't think there's going to be a top-notch knock-down-and-drag-out confrontation between the governments of Ontario and Alberta, with the involvement of the Federalists in the growing controversy on energy and who the Natural Resources of the Provinces belong to, perhaps you had better re-assess your thinking. For just as sure as night follows day things are going to come to a head.

ONTARIO, LONG the lead dog on the team that pulls the economic sled, is in no way to see that position eroded without a battle. Long the lead voice in things Canadian she is not going to sit idly by and watch the initiative being taken away by what she terms some "upstart" from the boondocks of Alberta. Of course Davis is flying a few kites, mouthing off with tongue in cheek, but if he talks long enough and tough enough someone is going to pay attention. He's saying the right things for the people who elect him and he could care less what the rest of Canada thinks. All of a sudden Alberta's oil is not Alberta's but belongs to all of Canada. Why pick on oil as the only natural resource which comes under that category? Long-time tariff protected Ontario has suddenly found its voice; never before having felt sorry for under-privileged Provinces, it has suddenly developed a "feel sorry for myself" syndrome.

ASSUMING BUT not admitting that Provincial Resources belong to all of Canada, then Alberta has a stake in the Uranium production, the forest resources of Ontario and the Fisheries production of the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards, along with all the Mining production and Potash sales. But who is going to admit all that; certainly not the producing Provinces, Ontario included. No, Alberta has come into the limelight with its energy production and because it sits on such potential wealth and has made the fact know through its huge Heritage Fund, white-skinned Ontario citizens have turned green, a dirty shade of green at that.

NEVER BEFORE is history has Alberta become so important to the moguls of Central Canada. Never before has Alberta received the attention of the East; attention which she longed for and pleaded for so many years without much response. Suddenly she's the "darling" of Canada albeit a selfish and stubborn one. What wasn't shared before now must be shared, so goes the regional and biased thinking of those who have not what we have. It's a true enactment of the old adage "what's yours is mine and what's mine is my own." The real dog-in-the-manager attitude.

BUT MAKE no mistake. It is all going to come to a head, and that fairly soon. When it does it is going to test the metal of some very high-ranking political figures. Ontario is going to be in up to its green neck; Alberta is going to be in up to its oiled ears, and Prime Minister Joe Clark is going to be embroiled right up to his red neck as a go-between. He is going to be damned if he does and damned if he doesn't. And he better be damn sure what he does. He will have to appease Ontario where his main vote is and he has to please Alberta where all his vote is. Which way will he jump? Where's the strength? You figure it out.

THE REAL truths are that the price of domestic crude must go up, and the returns from the increase must go to the Alberta to whom it belongs and to the oil companies who produce it and put it on the market. Any large cries "take" by the Federal Government to compensate the oil hungry East will and should bring on a confrontation that will almost match the false pretentions of Quebec for Separation with Sovereignty Association. The tangle will not be bloody but could be a bruising affair. And if history repeats itself Alberta will get the bruising. How about it Mr. Lougheed? Stand firm in your rightful conviction, in spite of the fact that where ever you turn you are dealing with fellow Conservatives. Treat them the same as you would in dealing with Liberals.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

The park and fountain at the end of our main street is a real added touch of beauty to our town. A good many visitors here have remarked about how well it is kept.

The credit for this goes largely to one person, Mr. Alfred Russell. We extend to Mr. Russell our sincere appreciation for a job well done.

Yours truly,
Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce.

THEN and NOW

THEN: Until 1640 when the first commercial still was set up on Staten Island, a colonist who wanted a drink either had to import it—or make it himself. And make it himself he often did: Among the most popular of early American potables were brews made from corn, maple sugar, pumpkins, and persimmons. Hard cider from homey apples soon became a national favorite.

NOW: The most popular drink in America today, according to one recent survey, is the Bloody Mary.

COME ALIVE . . .

by Robert Cochrane

September! For most of us it means holidays are over and our children are back at school. It means carefulness to watch the speed zones at school grounds after two months of holidays. How thankful we should be that we live in a country like Canada where excellent schools are provided for the education of our children. In many countries of our world there is an appalling lack of educational opportunities and yet we take these things so often, for granted, without a thought for the less fortunate.

I couldn't help thinking about other schools in our communities that we too often forget or ignore altogether - our Sunday Schools or Church Schools. The churches in our communities provide excellent schools for the religious instruction of our children. Competent teachers are provided for instructing all ages.

It seems strange that we are not more diligent in seeing that our children attend Sunday School. Perhaps some parents take the attitude that they will wait until their children are old enough to decide for themselves what they want to believe and to which church they wish to attend. But is that not strange reasoning in a matter of such importance in a childs' life? In the city of Regina, a mother brought her two little girls to a neighbourhood "Good News Club" where children were instructed in the Word of God. She said something like this, "Our children don't know anything about God as they have never been in Sunday School or Church, but their friends told them about this club and we have decided they are now old enough to make up their own minds." Yet we teach our children table manners before they understand why. We teach them life values and don't leave it until they are old enough to decide for themselves. The Word of God says: "Train a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not turn from it." Prov. 22:6

One of the glories of Christianity is that our Saviour, the Lord Jesus, loves the children and had time for them when He was here upon earth. The disciples thought He was too busy for children. The Word of God says: "Then little children were brought to Jesus for Him to place His hands on them and pray for them. But the disciples rebuked those who brought them. Jesus said, "Let the little children come to me, and do not hinder them, for the kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these When He had placed His hands on them, He went on from there." Matthew 19: 13-15. If Jesus was here on earth today would we not want Him to bless our children? We can today bring our children to Jesus in prayer that God would bless their lives and I like to think that our Sunday School teachers and workers do bring them before Him in prayer for His blessing.

So why not begin this September by sending your children to Sunday School, but on second thought, why not bring them to Sunday School.

A hike, cooking out-of-doors, learning camp skills, first aid and crafts were all part of the program when Sedgewick Girl Guides went camping. The group went to Miquelon Lake Youth Camp August 20 - 25 and enjoyed beautiful weather all week.

Attending were Charlotte Lewis, Debbie Steil, Pat McArthur, Michelle Wahlund, Donna MacPherson of Sedgewick, Maureen and Sharon Fleck of Killam. They were accompanied by Mrs. C. MacPherson and Mrs. M. Keith.

Pat and Debbie were both successful in earning their "wilderness badge" which was tested by area camp adviser Mrs. Betty Gudmundsen of New Sarepta.

All the girls took a first aid course and were tested by Mr. Norbert Fleck who came from Killam for this purpose.

Three crib quilts were put together and quilted during the camp, to be given to the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

Services held for former Sedgewick man

"Beaty" Hay, as he was known in Sedgewick, owned the creamery in partnership with late Ernie Louh prior to being taken over by the Dairy Pool.

On August 18, 1979, Mr. Harry B. Hay of 10804 68 Avenue Edmonton formerly of Sedgewick, passed away aged 84 years.

He leaves to mourn his loving wife, Mabel, a daughter Shirley Wescock of Calgary; a son, Ian of Calgary and eight grandchildren. He was predeceased by a son, Lindsay in 1978.

Funeral services were held on August 15 at 3 p.m. with interment at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

INVITATION TO THE PUBLIC
(individuals, groups and associations)

WHAT DO YOU THINK ABOUT STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT IN ALBERTA?

WHO SHOULD BE INVOLVED IN MAKING POLICY?
WHO SHOULD SET STANDARDS OF ACHIEVEMENT?
SHOULD GRADE 12 MATRICULATION EXAMS BE REINSTATED?

In October, 1976, the Minister's Advisory Committee on Student Achievement was established to review the quality and standards of basic education in Alberta. The Advisory Committee studied ways to assess, maintain and improve student achievement. It also considered possible effects of the withdrawal of compulsory grade 12 final examinations in matriculation subjects.

The Advisory Committee conducted 18 separate studies at different grade levels in several school subjects and analyzed trends in student achievement and data on marking practices. It enlisted the assistance of members of the public and of teachers to judge standards of student achievement.

In May, 1979, the Advisory Committee reported its findings to the Hon. David King, Minister of Education. In July, the Minister appointed Dr. Gordon Mowat as Minister's Representative to secure reactions from members of the public and interest groups who might wish to comment on the recommendations of the Advisory Committee's report.

YOU are invited to respond, in particular, to the following recommendations in the Advisory Committee's report:

1. THAT Alberta Education establish a 10-member Student Evaluation Policies Board to advise the Minister of Education on student achievement.

The proposed board would include members from the public as well as educators. Formation of such a board is intended to ensure continuing public involvement in the development of procedures for testing student achievement. Are you in favor of such a board?

2. THAT a province-wide testing program in selected grades be conducted annually as a means of monitoring student achievement.

The proposed testing program is intended to serve as a means of measuring student achievement, in schools and school systems, against province-wide standards. Scores would be available to local school systems and reports would be issued periodically to the public. Are you in favor of this testing program?

3. THAT mandatory grade 12 departmental examinations for the purpose of awarding students' final marks in matriculation subjects not be reinstituted.

In 1973 the province terminated mandatory use of provincial examinations in seven subjects commonly used for university entrance. These examinations are still available to students who wish to challenge teacher-assigned marks, and to school systems which wish to use common final examinations. In general, however, final marks in matriculation subjects now are determined within local school systems without use of externally prepared examinations. The Advisory Committee proposes that the assignment of final marks remain the responsibility of local school systems. Do you agree with this recommendation?

Respondents may wish to react to other recommendations of the report, a summary of which is available from Alberta Education and from university and public libraries under the title "Student Achievement in Alberta."

Written reactions will be accepted from individuals until October 1, 1979 and from groups until October 15, 1979.

Written responses are to be sent to:

Dr. Gordon Mowat
MINISTER'S REPRESENTATIVE
Devonian Building
11160 Jasper Avenue
Edmonton, Alberta T5K 0L2

Meetings will be held in various locations during October and November, to permit discussion with persons who have submitted written statements. If you wish to be informed of further developments and to be advised of meeting dates, please include your name, address and phone number in your written reaction.

Stepping Out

'Aunts' are what I call people who ask me, "What are you going to do with your life?" Aunts only ask this question to make conversation or in hopes of getting some startling tidbits to reveal at the next bridge party. You know the type. Invariably my answer is, "I don't know", meaning that I know the outline but not the content. They go away disappointed and disapproving, and I go away irritated at the disapproval; but there is a method to my madness.

A high school education, even a senior matriculation, does not give the average student sufficient training for a career. Extra experience is needed. Granted, there are those who made it to the top with less, but I very much doubt if I am one. Therefore, I, in all likelihood, will attend University or the equivalent within the next ten years; if ambition doesn't dictate it, curiosity probably will. The reason for the delay is that I have yet to decide what I want out of a post secondary education. It would be sheer folly to waste four or more years and several thousand dollars on a piece of paper that I may not need, or to find on a later date that it has little application in my chose sphere. The prime consideration however is that I feel unprepared, both mentally and emotionally, to take such a step at this time. Again, extra experience is needed.

As to deciding what I want to go into, the number of choices available is increasing geometrically every year, and creation of your own field is always possible. I have been researching some of these options since junior high. My desk is overflowing with pamphlets, recruiting posters, catalogues, and replies from query letters. So far, I have narrowed down the number of alternatives to sixteen, but as soon as I cross off one, it seems that I am always adding two more. I have no intention of eagerly jumping head first into an occupation that is obsolete, a dead end, or incompatable with me and I for it. Nor do I wish to enter a rigidly planned, structually perfect future, where even the funeral is timed to the split second. Life is too precious for that.

This doesn't mean, however, that I'll drift away like a morning mist just as soon as school is out. Ground depressions are not all that interesting. True, I do not know what the final destination will be, but I have drafted a ground plan with reliable landmarks, so I know where I am. This is more important to my mind, because if you know where you are, you can go anywhere.

Travelling by no set itinerary means that I can pursue any line to my satisfaction. Without a schedule, I am free to adjust my pace as mood or the terrain dictates. Compare this to a person who is so intent on a distant goal he is oblivious to the land, dismissing it as worthless while tripping over the gold deposits he doesn't see. He misses the better, alternative routes towards his own goal. Once he gets there, that's it. He has a sticker to put on his luggage and nothing but hardships to remember. Hey, what happened to "getting there was half the fun?"

For an example, I have applied for a job in Katimavik, a nine month federal program meant for young people like me, who don't know what they want to do. If I am accepted, I will work for three months at a time in different regions across Canada doing jobs from planting trees to painting outhouses. They pay is almost non-existent and there is no hope for advancement, directly or indirectly, by participating, yet the advantages are many. I will learn new skills, which always come in handy. I will get a ground floor look at some of the occupations that interest me. I will revel in working at something constructive. I will meet new people with different ideas, and I will be able to experience some of Canada's cultural mosaic.

Demands on life should be few, but difficult to attain. Interest, challenge and merit, no matter how small, is what I hope will outline my future. The whole point I wish to make is that I think I am more fortunate than most other people, because I will be better equipped to take advantage of any opportunities, and I will grow, by the very fact of my uncertainty.

Pickles

If your pickles are not sealing or are spoiling, you can process the jars in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes. The home economics lab tested this procedure and found the pickles to be of the same quality as non-processed pickles.

If you have used Allen's Extra Strength Pickling Vinegar and found the brine to be very sharp (vinegary) add more sugar; don't cut down on the vinegar.

Canning and Freezing Nectarines

To can or freeze nectarines, follow the directions for peaches. Peeling the skins is optional.

Hazardous Kettles

CSA is warning owners of electric kettles to be on the lookout for a possible hazard.

The bases of the failing kettles bear the numbers 10, 11, 14 or 16 together with either of the following:

1. CSA number LF 37983 with a red four digit number between 6100 and 7216
2. CSA number LF 26791 with no red four digit number.

CSA is warning people who own these kettles to stop using them.

Although by law they are under no obligation to do anything, AMC is providing replacement kettles. If you have one of the faulty kettles return it along with $2.50 to cover handling charges to AMC Appliances Limited, 857 Fenmar Drive Weston, Ontario M1L 1C8

Volkart - Johnson wed

A late spring wedding on Saturday, May 26, 1979, in the Sedgewick United Church united Wendy Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Sedgewick and Brian Volkart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Volkart of Chilliwack, B.C.

Rev. Robert Chapell officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was becoming in her white, polyester, accordian pleated gown. Her veil, made by Mrs. Gordon MacPherson of Alliance, accented her bridal attire.

She was attended by her only sister, Adele, of Edmonton, who was attired in a yellow accordian pleated gown. The bouquets consisted of yellow and coral roses with sprays of baby's breath and asparagus fern. The groom was attended by his close friend, Larry Farquharson, of Dawson Creek, British Columbia.

The ushers were Derrick and Trevor Smolski, nephews of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a coral lace coat dress while the groom's mother wore a blue flowered gown.

The organist, Mrs. Harry Anderson, accompanied her husband as he sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "Evergreen" during the ceremony.

Reception and dance followed in the Sedgewick Community Hall with many friends and relatives of the bride and groom attending.

Photographers Dave Miller, Jerry Martin, Bob Canteion, of Edmonton and Jack Delorme of Calgary, all friends of the bride and groom, took pictures throughout the evening.

Mrs. Gail Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, looked after the register and welcomed the guests.

Guests attending from a distance were from Calgary, New Sarepta, Edmonton, Chilliwack, Vancouver, Fort St. Johnson, B.C., Dawson Creek, B.C., Bashaw, Pelican Point and Blairmore.

Brian and Wendy are now making their home at Pelican Point on Buffalo Lake.

Surprises never cease for Mrs. Elsie Dreger. When she thinks that she will have a quiet Sunday and soon she gets a phone call saying we are coming for lunch. It was Mr. and Mrs. Dave Black of Sedgewick and Mrs. Mary Gordon of New Zealand.

After lunch they decided to take a tour around the southeast part of the country looking for historical buildings and so on. They arrived at Talbot near [illegible]

Recently Dave had been reading the book "Of Us and the Ozen" all about this place. It also mentioned about Dr. Roberts too.

Arriving at Talbot they asked someone for information and they were directed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lang. Mrs. Lang was the baby that was mentioned in the book, now she is over 75 years of age. She got in the car with Dave, Ida, Essie and Mrs. Mary Gordon and they toured around the places where the pioneers of long ago once lived. One of the old buildings was a General Store and Post Office.

It was a very interesting and enjoyable trip we had on Sunday August 26. There are a lot of interesting places we can see in our Sunny Alberta. The book that is mentioned in this news was written by Dr. Roberts' wife.

Mrs. Louise Schmidt, Robyn and Dennis are home again after spending nearly 2 weeks holiday visiting Lloyd's parents Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schmidt and families in Weyburn, Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Bartley of Edmonton, Deb and Bob of Vancouver, B.C. spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. George Riddoch.

Visitors for the last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Grove and family were daughter Anne Cook of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. John Grove and family of Lethbridge.

Motorist be aware there are children crossing streets and avenues now that school is open for another season. Children must always look before crossing over streets and avenues. Let us avoid an accident.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kilgrain last week were their daughter Betty and Larry Sherback and Wesley from Edmonton and son Jimmy and Karen Kilgrain of Calgary.

Get well wishes to Mr. Pete Grove in Hardisty Hospital, also to Mr. Tom Kenny in the Killam Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Darcy spent the weekend visiting their son Mr. and Mrs. Randy Davis and granddaughter at Rocky Mountain House. Ardis had her sister Dorothy from Slave Lake visiting her last week a couple days.

Mrs. Mary Johnson spent last Wednesday visiting with Mrs. Essie Drager. In the morning they walked down to see Iron Creek Museum, of which Mary had not been in before. After dinner they went to visit Inga Haugen. Then in late afternoon Mrs. Alvina Parsons of Hardisty had supper with Mrs. Essie Drager. It was a very lovely day spent visiting.

Mrs. Margaret Desham, Mrs. Inga Haugen and Mrs. Britta Birchill have returned home after a wonderful tour through the Peace River country, Pine Point and Yellowknife, N.W.T.

School days will be here again by the time the paper will be published. Families will be back together again. Hope you all had a very nice summer.

Derek Probst has returned back to his home in Sherwood Park after spending summer holidays with Grandpa and Grandma Probst, Auntie Janet, Uncle Doug and cousin Kreshka also Molly. Sharon Jeffery of Whitecourt came down for a couple days last week.

Anglican News

Rev. Conrad was hospitalized for several days last week, undergoing tests and receiving we hope-a much deserved rest. Sending him to hospital seems to be the only way he can be convinced to take some time off from his busy schedule. Rev. Conrad was back in fine form for Sunday services, and was filled with praise for the attention and care he received from the staff at Killam General.

A special invitation is extended to all parishioners of St. Edmund's and their friends to attend a special reception on Sunday, September 9 from 2:00 - 5:00 p.m. at St. John's Anglican Church, located at 11111 - 67 Avenue in Edmonton. Because of this special occasion, only one service will take place on Sunday in St. Edmund's Parish. It will be held at 10:00 a.m. at St. John's Church in Sedgewick. You are invited to attend and bring your lunch. Following the service, we will share our lunch in the Parish Hall, with tea and coffee provided, and then set out for Edmonton. Anyone requiring a ride please contact the rector.

Please contact the rector concerning date and location of future Bible classes.

Practicing the hand-off

The Rams forward line

End of an era?

It is written - "Rejoice with them that rejoice, and weep with them that weep." Romans 12:15

Certainly Wednesday evening was not an occasion for the Galahad and district folk to rejoice. The long expected blow had fallen, too few pupils enrolled, in the school to warrant keeping the huge structure operating to educate them.

The parents who had children attending the Galahad school were invited to a meeting on Wednesday evening September 5, 1979. It was here that the cold hard facts were presented to them. Three alternatives were suggested for their choice, all left much to be desired.

After a short discussion the parents who were left to decide the fate of the Galahad school, gave their answer. In fairness to the children still attending, the Galahad school we will not oppose the County's suggestion that the pupils join their classmates in the Forestburg school.

It does sound simple, just the turn of a key to lock the school door, the whirring of motors to transport children to a different school. It was more than that, it was the end of an era of education in Galahad.

May be bore you with a backward look. Approximately 60 years ago in 1918, the first Galahad school opened in the vacant Jack Caldwell house. Children came, the makeshift school was soon filled to overflowing.

Consolidation of a number of rural schools followed. In 1919 a four roomed brick school was constructed and opened in 1920. Horse drawn vans delivered the children to the place of learning. The people rejoiced progress was being made.

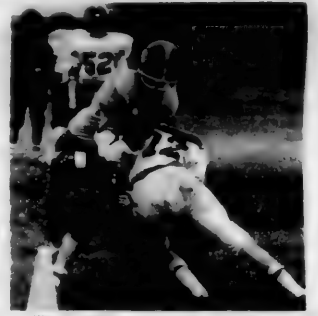
Ten years later it was necessary to add two more rooms to the school to accomodate the increased enrollment. When roads improved, and then came available motorised buses to replace the horse drawn vans.

These few paragraphs can not paint a picture of the struggle the parents made, to see the dream of a better education for their children come true.

Time marched quickly on, a beautiful modern school was dedicated and opened in 1960. Again a time of rejoicing. But this was short lived, for the school enrollment began to erode. Until the scene enacted in the Galahad school on Wednesday evening become what seemed the wise choice.

Little wonder that unshed tears glistened in the eyes of many of the parents who made the decision. In many cases it had been their home school and for some that of their parents also.

When the three buses departed from Galahad and the surrounding district on Monday morning September 10, 1979, they rolled out with the entire school population. Leaving behind the beautiful school, forlorn and empty. Hopefully to be opened at a later date.



With football fever comes the hard knocks and sore muscles as Central Rams prepare for the coming season Over 30 hopefuls are busy this week preparing for this Saturdays game at Sedgewick when they meet Wainwright

The following Saturday, September 22, they meet Lloydminster, also on their home ground and plan to use a strong aerial attack.

Margaret Denham celebrates birthday

On Saturday, September 1 relatives and friends gathered in the Kinross Branch Legion Hut in Lougheed to pay tribute to Margaret Denahm on her September birthday.

After banishing Margaret to the berry patch, her family set the stage for a complete surprise. Upon her return from the berry patch, Margaret readied herself for a supper out, but only when she was directed into the hut, did she realize that supper out was in the Hut among many more family members than she had anticipated. There were guests from Edmonton, Gwynne, Galahad, Bashaw, Swift Current, Saskatchewan, Kelowna, B.C., Camrose and Lougheed. Throughout the meal, her children and grandchildren entertained with poetry and music.

After supper, neighbors and friends called to wish Margaret well and to socialize over birthday cake and coffee.

The relatives, not content to let Margaret rest in her glory, converged on her house on Sunday to eat the left over turkey as well as all the accompanying goodies.

Happy hunting

Thanks to the Prairie Waterfowl Harvest Program, a cooperative venture of Environment Canada's Canadian Wildlife Service and the three prairie provinces, will seek answers to long-standing questions concerning waterfowl, as well as fixing season and bag limits for the next five years. This year they have set the bag to their previous limits.

The daily bag and possession limits for ducks are 8 and 16 respectively. While the limits are 5 bagged and 10 possessed. The season dates are only slightly changed and one should check with your local license issuer for them.

All hunters except Inuit and Indians must have a migratory game bird hunting permit. This can be obtained from post offices across the Prairies at a cost of $3.50. The Post Offices also display posters of the hunting regulations, and hunting information is printed and distributed by provincial resource agencies.

Hunters are asked to keep careful records of their daily bag on the card attached to the permit. This will help them complete the harvest survey questionnaire which some of them will receive at the end of the season. Information from the questionnaire is used to set season dates and bag and possession limits for the following year.

Of all hunting regulations, the most confusing and the one most often broken concerns entering occupied land. This law relates to all aspects of hunting—upland or migratory birds and big game. For the benefit of those who tend to ignore it, we will repeat it here.

"It is unlawful to hunt any wildlife or discharge any firearm upon or over occupied lands for the purpose of hunting without the consent of the owner or occupant of that land."

To clarify the matter even more, the regulations define occupied lands as follows: "Fenced or cultivated land not exceeding 640 acres (one section) on which the owner or occupant resides or any other privately owned land lying within one mile of the above mentioned area and owned or leased by the same owner or occupant."

While the law leaves some room for interpretation there is one rule that all hunters should adhere to. It is called "The Golden Rule - Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

What Others Say

Communities are like gardens

Without rain, a plant cannot survive. The soft water from the heavens gives the plant its life, nourishes it and enables it to draw nutrients from the soil.

Take away the regular water supply and the results soon become evident. The ground—the foundation beneath the plant—soon begins to dry and crack. Then gradually the plant stops growing. While some of the more hardy plants manage to hang on by shooting down deeper roots to live in a stunted life, most just wither up and die.

It is a sad situation because what is a garden without the plants? Each plant in the garden is responsible for the garden's overall beauty. Should one lose one plant, the whole garden suffers from the effect.

Communities are a lot like gardens. Made up of businesses, which need patronage to grow, their spirit and attractiveness is determined by the environment which surrounds them.

When one business dies and the climate is insufficient for a new one of the same species to take root, the community as a whole suffers. The number and the size of the businesses determine the growth of the community. Like a garden, a community with a healthy environment becomes increasingly productive. If all businesses in a community prosper, it is a sign that the community is alive and investors will be eager to put new roots down.

While a rainfall increases a plant's beauty, the volume of sales of a business enhances it. A growing business can increase its stock to provide greater selection and it is better able to sell its goods or services at more competitive prices.

After studying what makes a garden grow, you can see the importance of patronizing the businesses in your own community. When you shop out of town, where prices may be slightly cheaper and selection greater, you steal the lifes-blood of the community's economy.

People who throw their rainwater out the back door, rather than sprinkling it around in their own garden, cannot expect their own garden to grow.

Neglect will kill a plant just as surely as a scythe will. Give your garden the attention it deserves. Rain on a business today and grow a community you will be proud of.

- The Western Review, Drayton Valley.

The Third Column

by Truncate

"I Write as I Please"

ALL MY life I considered myself an average sort of person, not too bright and by the same not too stupid. Oh sometimes in my younger years I went on some egotistical journeys but it didn't take the more sensible people long to set me straight, sometimes with painful results including a loss of pride. But that's the price of growing up. You simply can't have it all. I even ran away from home once because I thought my Father was too old fashioned in using the strap for enforcing discipline. In later years I discovered that sometimes using the strap acts as a sort of plumb - line to keep things in due bounds. Of course the strap can be used to excess, and that could get things out of line. I used to get strapped at school every day; twice on Fridays to last me over the weekend. One Friday I got half way home and discovered I had only had the strap once, so I went back for the second one. Things can become a habit, and that opens up a whole kettle of fish.

NEARLY EVERYONE tries to be reasonable about things. We all have habits, some good, some bad. I've been pretty reasonable about one of my habits for a long time. My wife nattered at me for years to stop, my children frowned at me, my grandchildren were openly defiant, reminding me of the risks I was taking (all for my own good of course). This I can take, even from friends who do not have the habit. What gets to me though are those who extol their virtuousness in having kicked the habit. I have a friend who, every time he meets me, says, "it has been one year, four months, thirteen days, two hours and (looking at his watch) nine minutes since I gave it all up." I try to be polite, tolerant and cognizant of the fact that I am addicted to a habit which is ojectionable to those who don't share my weakness. No, I don't pop acid, sniff cocaine, beat children, drive through red lights, cheat the Government, write bad cheques, mug old ladies, or indulge in sex orgies. I'm a smoker. I'm trying to learn to be a polite smoker, even though there are those who maintain there is no such thing. I can abstain where it is forbidden, I respect non-smoker's homes. I understand, and even though I'm addicted to nicotine I would not encourage kids to smoke or try to persuade non-smokers to get started. I try not to tell lies, discuss scandals discovered by accident, hash over other people's martial problems, run around, fool around, pr play around. I smoke.

NOW HAVING made my apologies I would be grateful if everyone would lay off. I'm tired of hearing how anti-social we smokers are and how we are polluting the atmosphere, infringing on other people's rights, and messing up the area. You know something? I'm a reasonable tolerant person (I think) but there are some things others do which can get a person up tight. I do not disrespect the Flag or the National Athem, am not a Racist and don't believe that my particular faith is the only way to heaven. I do not think the world would be far better if everyone thought as I do. No. I merely smoke.

HOW MANY non-smokers drive cars and how many of those cars lack anti-pollution devices? Silly isn't it? Yet how much more smoking would have to be done to come near the pollution level of exhaust pipes. How about dog and cat owners who believe solidly that owning them is a great thing, and include letting them run at large because a dog should not be cooped up indoors all the time. I'm in favor of all living creatures doing their own thing but does it always have to do it on my lawn?

I DON'T drive my car without insurance, drink and drive, brag about my ancestors (much) or buy status symbols simply to keep up with the Jones family. I merely smoke. I repeat, I'm a reasonable person. I'm happy to let other people live their lives as they want, and if anyone finds it necessary to do something I wouldn't do, I figure that's really their own business. Maybe I don't approve of it, and I don't have to follow their example, but neither do I have to try and play God and think I know what's best for everyone else.

I'M WILLING to live and let live, only please shut up about my smoking. Otherwise I might feel the need to publicly point out all the things others do which are less than perfection, even though I realize that only smokers are sinners these days.

PARTS OF the above was compiled by Joanne Chipera, feature writer for the Calgay Albertan, the rest was mine; which goes to show that two great literary artists think alike

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

The Crow Rate — Does it help or hurt Alberta farmers, aid or cost our customers, help or hinder Canada's grain marketing capability? How about our gross international grain sales and net individual farm income? Questions and more questions —

Let me pose one more. Do you understand the Crow Rate?

With the excellent resources I have at my disposal, I think I have developed a good understanding of all the different aspects of this issue. And, I know that what I have found leaves me greatly concerned as both a farmer and minister that many Alberta farmers may be suffering losses for reasons some may not even understand.

O.K., now let me relay some facts revealed in a report commissioned by Alberta Economic Development. The study concerned North American grain marketing in the 70's. It found that the grain throughput capacity in the United States had increased by more than 100 percent during the past decade. In Canada, the study noted that our capacity had suffered a net decrease during the same period.

According to the report, U.S. grain transport rates are almost four times those in Canada. Yet, a U.S. producer, despite paying those higher rates, actually obtained a significantly higher return than his Canadian counterpart.

Those facts are pretty straightforward. They also point out that we do have some major problems in this country.

The question then is to identify these problems and to resolve them. At present we're investigating the issue through the Western Premiers' Committee. We've also joined the other western provinces in setting up an important technical committee to develop solutions.

So what are our problems? Well, we've identified the level of the Crow Rate as one thing which has indirectly held back improvements in our grain handling and transport [illegible].

In the past creating a new institution or regulation was a standard solution for rectifying a specific problem in our grain marketing system. The pattern formed, more rules and more institutions were established which led to the inevitable bureaucratic jungle which has choked the Canadian grain marketing system under an overgrowth of rules, regulations and policies.

Today, we're looking to improve the total system, for we know that the 'bandaid' approach is just a stop-gap measure. My short overview of our grain transport mess now finished, let's look at a few specifics.

The Canadian Wheat Board (CWB) has developed into Canada's sole agency for handling grain export sales. Over the years the CWB has initiated programs intended to make the marketing system 'more equitable and flexible'. Instead, the system has become stiff and fragile.

One result has been multiple grades which use up needless terminal space — even waste it — causing required grades to be absent from the proper export position. Clean grain is nice, but has anyone ever stopped to calculate its costs vs. its benefits. When we have to put dockage back in to conform with our sales contracts; well, that's a double waste — taking dockage out and then putting it back in.

Now, let's review the 'Crow benefit' which is the difference between the low Crow Rate and the actual transport cost. Of course, that rate is nowhere equal to the current cost of grain transport. That difference, the 'benefit' to producers, is a cost to the railways that is supposed to be but hasn't been paid by the federal government. Is it any wonder the railways don't have any incentive to improve grain transport when their loss increases with every extra bushel they carry?

So farmers have had to store grain instead of shipping it. To keep chaos from erupting, quotas have been implemented; hence, farmers have been unable to ship all the grain they produce. On-farm stocks have continued to grow. In fact, this year we've already set a new record for total on-farm grain stocks. Remember, producer profit is calculated as volume 'times' margin, and a high margin means nothing if the volume is low.

Anyway, out of all this mess, there are some obvious conclusions. First, farmers operating on borrowed money are paying needless interest on that money because they cannot sell grain to pay back the principle.

Second, Agri-business is losing. Since farm income is reduced, farmers need more credit, and that can strap some firms for cash, just as farmers can be strapped for cash. Others are also being hurt, such as beginning farmers who face land prices rising under one more pressure — that of land being bought simply for its quota value. In fact our whole industry has been affected, cow-calf operators, meat packers and implement dealers alike, because all these sectors are inter-related and interdependent.

And all of these problems can be related back to one thing — our apparent inability to move more grain. And why is our system unable to move grain — because it hasn't been maintained or improved — and that is one of the results of low incentives in the grain handling and transportation [illegible].

Is there a solution to all of this? Yes. Right now we're working to increase overall efficiency and throughput. But, it's most important that we obtain producer input so that we can see the different factors at work, and have at hand the information needed to decide whether or not we actually need major changes, and if we do, what they should be.

Alberta Agriculture has already scheduled meetings with major producer groups. We're considering holding local information and study sessions around the province. We're also in the process of releasing just about every study we could find that was ever completed on the subject.

In the meantime, this subject is just too big for me to talk about in one column. Over the next couple of months I intend to discuss various aspects of the issue as well as to request your personal input through a future mail-back, questionnaire column.

Daysland girl earns R.N.

Lorraine Caroline Janet Hill only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hill of Daysland graduated June 28th from the Royal Alex Hospital where she obtained her R.N.

She took her previous schooling in Daysland, working one year in the Daysland Hospital before going in training. She is presently employed in the Emergency Ward at the Royal Alex Hospital in Edmonton.

Three young people from Daysland have done well as members of the Killam Aqua Aces competitive swim club this summer. At the regional competition at Red Deer, Jeffrey Kaplar received three medals gold, silver and bronze, Philip Taranger received a bronze medal and Leah Taranger had a seventh place finish in the breast stroke. As well the boys were part of the medley relay team which finished second entitling them to go to Calgary for the provincial competition. There Jeffrey did extremely well, winning a gold medal, and setting a new Provincial record, while the relay team placed fourth. These young people and their coach, Janet Borth, are to be commended on a fine effort.

The Daysland Sunbeam Club started their card games September 5th in the Community Hall with 25 members present. There were 5 tables of whist and three ladies played 500. High score went to Emily Hill, and low to Sally Manning. There were two more members who came for the meeting after lunch. The meeting was held to find out the progress of the new Drop-In Centre. Canvassers are going around Town to get contributions. Anyone interested could come to the next card party September 19th.

The Daysland United Church Sunday School will commence September 16th.

Miss Joan Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Campbell of Daysland, received the highest Aggregate Points obtained in the Junior Foods of 15 years and under at the Fall Fair August 11 and 12th. It was presented by Daysland and District Agriculture Society for 1979.

Agriculture Land

For many years I have been writing and speaking on the important issue of agricultural land use. It was more than fifteen years ago that I wrote a half page article for The Edmonton Journal on this very important subject. This fall, I intend to intensify my campaign to have the majority of Canadians understand and appreciate the value of agricultural lands.

At present there are only two sources of human food; the first is soil and the second is water. One of the major issues of present day society is the concern respecting an energy supply and our ability to discover and develop fossil fuels. It is my personal opinion that our food production capacity looms as a far greater crisis than the question of energy. The potential for extended petroleum supply and development of alternate sources of energy is so extensive that the word "crisis" is improper. In the area of food production, however, the situation is alarming.

In the world today, there is one acre of agricultural land for every citizen on earth; in Canada, there are three acres of agricultural land for every Canadian, however, by the year 2,000, there will only be three quarters of an acre of agricultural land for each Canadian if we continue to destroy our land resource at the present rate. It is appalling to think that in a generation from now that our agricultural producing land will be diminished to a level below that of the present world average. There are some who harbour the opinion that there is an unlimited amount of agricultural land in Canada. The fact, however, is that only 7% of our country is made up of class 1 and 2 soil that is located in climatically favoured regions Unfortunately, almost all of our best agricultural land is threatened by urban sprawl and transport systems. Presently, 50% of our class 1 and 2 soil lies within thirty-five miles of our largest twenty-two cities.

I noted with interest when I was in a number of Middle-East countries last fall that most of the old cities of Isreal and Jordon were built amidst crumbling rock on the tops of mountains. These were initiated in a period of time when a location on the top of a hill or mountain was chosen so that it could be better defended against attacking invaders. The sociology of Canadian settlement took quite a different pattern. In Canada our cities sprang up in support of an agricultural hinterland. Therefore, it is not a coincidence that the cities of Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina, Lethbridge, Red Deer, Edmonton and Grand Prairie are all built in the middle of old geological lake beds. The result is that the cities just mentioned are situated on silted-out soil; the best of our agricultural lands.

With four-fifths of the world presently suffering malnutrition, and seventy million people per year suffering permanent irreversible brain damage from an inadequate supply of protein, it is imperative that we recognize the imminent need for an ample food supply. When we consider future projections, however, the thoughts are even more alarming. There are seventy-seven million more mouths to be fed every year (four times the present Canadian population) and each year we have a significant decrease in agricultural lands.

Most people would readily agree that urban centres should not be allowed to sprawl over most of our other resources such as iron ore, copper, tar sands, and the like. It is dumbfounding to realize that in the year 1979 our society is still unwilling to accept that agricultural land is our most important resource and in the priority of human needs, comes ahead of mineral and forest requirements.

We must learn to keep in touch with the fact that agricultural lands are not an unlimited gift.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mr. Keith;

I have enjoyed receiving the Community Press this past year and my subscription is up for renewal very soon. Although our paper is sometimes 2 - 3 weeks late it is interesting to read of the happenings around Hardisty, since our family settled and farmed many different areas, arriving around 1910 and left the area in 1946.

Thank You,

Mrs. Anne Brown

Fellowships will be offered to help interested doctors to take specialized training to lead to a full time career in this field.

In addition to the above, professional information will be supplied to both the medical profession and to the public.

Regular scheduled consultation services will be made available at various clinics throughout the province where referred patients are seen.

BANGERS — ACETYLENE EXPLODERS — Duck depredation on grain crops is a serious problem. Two main reasons for heavy losses are: grain lying in swath, and a delayed harvest due to wet weather. A relatively low-cost yet effective scare-away device is the banger or acetylene exploder. Bangers go off with a blast like a shotgun. They can be set to fire every minute or at longer intervals, depending on conditions. After the banger is set out in the field it requires little attention. One banger can protect fields as large as 220 acres.

Killam kindergarten underway

Septembe is here and we are sending our youngsters back to school. Some of us, like myself, have a child in kindergarten. Kindergarten is different from the regular school program as it is funded by the government but run by the parents. This is perhaps the only time when we, as parents, can really become involved in our children's schooling - a time when we really know just what our kids are doing. In Killam, because parents come into the centre on a daily basis, they have the opportunity to be involved with their children and to see their progress throughout the year. The parents are also able to share their own particular talents, be it storytelling or cooking with the group.

The philosophy of our centre is that children learn best through meaningful play. The children can be seen playing house, doing carpentry work or weighing and measuring objects but at the same time they are learning intellectual and social skills. Co-operation not competition is stressed; children learn to interact with others, to share and to co-operate. Children are praised for their worthwhile efforts and made to feel that their individual contributions are important.

Our program is community-centred. The children learn about the world in which they live through interaction with community members. Several organizations within the community have taken part in our kindergarten program in the past but if you, as an individual, a business or a community organization have something new to offer our program, we would be pleased to hear from you.

Old and new equipment building

Hardisty Elks Lodge No. 167, proudly provided the large new building pictured, to be used for swimming lessons they sponsor each summer. The new building, used for the first time this year was constructed by Beval Contractors of Hardisty.

Funds used for the building construction were in the form of a donation received from the Alberta Provincial Elks Foundation and also monies raised by the Hardisty Lodge.

This summer of 1979 boasted approximately 170 students partaking of the lessons; a very successful summer.

Provincial manufacturing development increasing

Alberta appears to be making moderate headway in the development of manufacturing industry.

Non-agricultural export trade figures released by International Trade Minister Horst Schmid indicate that Alberta manufacturing products have risen as a portion of the province's total foreign sales.

While manufactured goods accounted for only 13.7 per cent of total Alberta exports in 1975, in 1978 the accounted for 20.8 per cent of goods shipped abroad.

This rise in market share has been taking place during a period of "stagnation" for exports as a whole, the annual growth rate of Alberta forgeign sales being only 0.6 per cent for the last four years. Total exports of non-farm goods were valued at $4.513 billion in 1975; in 1978 they were $4.570 billion.

The slow growth in the province's export sector is almost wholly attributable to the federal government's decision to slowly phase out oil exports by 1982. As a percentage of total exports, crude oil has dropped from 60.32 in 1975 to 26.54 last year.

Nevertheless, together, crude oil, natural gas, coal and sulphur accounted for 62 per cent of foreign sales last year, plainly demonstrating the province's continued dependence on resource extraction for its wealth.

Current export stagnation tarnishes considerably the otherwise glowing picture for manufactured exports. Clearly, a substantial portion of the increase in fabricated goods' share of the export market has occured as a result of inflation.

The prospect of a take-off for the development of secondary industry in Alberta is still distant--if it is to take place at all.

The outlook for a greater variety of markets for Alberta products is also dim.

Though the United States' share of the province's exports has dropped from 96.5 per cent to 86.7 per cent in the last five years, all of that slack has been taken up by Japan, which now purchases 4.2 per cent of Alberta's sales abroad.

Schmid has described as "disappointing" the failure of Alberta businesses to penetrate other foreign markets, particularly the European Economic Community.

Ever-optimistic, the genial trade minister claims that "Alberta produced products have not reached their full export potential in many market sectors of the world."

And he said "a concerted drive" will be launched to improve the province's forgeign sales.

Away We Go . . . Northward Bound

What was the cause of the gay, excited chattering at the Killam Drop-In-Centre at the unseemly hour of 8:30 a.m. on August 16th! Just this - Senior citizens were about to take off on an unprecedented tour by bus to Yellowknife. Planes fly in; cars drive there; but, a bus, seldom, if ever! The reason, could be as we were to discover, the unpaved sections of road, either dusty or muddy. For us it happened to be the latter.

Joan Sutton, Toronto columnist, wrote: "Yes, I am growing older". The important word in that sentence is not "older". The important word is "growing". Mrs. Amy Robinson of Killam, with co-helpers Mrs. Tena Blakeney of Sedgewick and Mrs. Alma Eager of Irma, set out to prove the above quotation true, I believe. It was discovered that Majestic Tours of Edmonton was willing to give such a tour a try. And who would the pioneer passengers be? Senior citizens, of course! Ranging in ages from the mid-sixties to 92 years - we were a venturesome crew.

For example, there was Mrs. Kate McLean of Irma, a young 92 years and already a veteran traveller of the north and her friend of 86, Mrs. Ella McRoberts. Then there were Mr. Harry O'Brien of Killam, aged 91 years, along with his friend from Sedgewick, Mr. Robert Lecholm, a mere 86 years. Grandma Gunda Storbakken aged 85 with her sister Valda, the latter just returned from a trip to Norway, also joined the merry [illegible].

Another just back from Norway, was Mrs. Brita Birchill, all set to go again. In all, 44 eager "growers" from the surrounding area, included three seniors from Rosalind, one from Provost, two from Consort and four from Edmonton, all prepared to venture northward that Thursday morning on what was to prove to be not only an educational experience, but a most delightful bus tour.

A number were interested in filling in their "Travel Alberta" pages as well. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mattinson of Edmonton said they had been unable to find another travel agency who was the least bit interested in such an undertaking as ours--except Majestic Tours. They fortunately, had been able to come along because of a cancellation.

We all felt that our jolly Majestic Tours escort Marg MacDonald and our driver, Scott Hartley, went far beyond the path of duty to show special spots of interest, or to stretch our morning and afternoon breaks a bit, especially if we had discovered an interesting Souvenir Shop.

At most stopping points we had a tour of our own or a local guide showed us the highlights. It wasn't long before all had become friends and a gay comaraderie was evident. There was never a dull moment...what with the chattering across the aisles, the jolly sing-songs with a tape or led by talented people like Mrs. Peggy Fleming, Mrs. Dorothy Smallwood, Mrs. Tina Blumhagen.

Between times, goodies were continually circulating. Oh, yes, and one afternoon we had bingo fun, the winner's prizes drawn from the little pot of "fines". The bed word was "bus" with only the word coach permissible. The fine for each mistake was the big sum of five cents. And we made poetry too, most of the passengers adding their contribution to build up a delightful account of our tour. There were opportunities to share jokes and stories. Scott, perhaps, would have taken a prize here, or maybe Minnie or Johnny.

Day One took our "coach" as far as Valleyview, where we found it rather warm and somewhat dusty. We took our own valley tour and appreciated the beautiful setting. The tribute to John Diefenbaker touched a responsive chord in our hearts on the eve of the death of the "Chief". Both our driver and escort willingly gave us every possible driving bounce while Marg endeavoured to obtain tourist goodies for us everywhere; souvenir pins or badges, maps, booklets, etc. All these were much appreciated. Before our tour was over, we were all well decorated with our many gifts.

We noticed the crops immediately around Peace River looked quite good. On our return, most were already in the swath. Here Mr. Sanderson, an old timer like ourselves, was our tour guide. Of course, we all wanted to see the 12-foot Davis monument and to hear that story.

The Peace River Bridge was another fine sight. Peace River has a population of 6,000 and many fine buildings. If we had had more time we knew that Mr. Sanderson had much more to show and tell us.

At High Level we were privileged to spent the night in the post new Plainsman Motor Inn. Some ex-Sedgewick folk live there now, so a number of friendly reunions resulted.

On Day Three we set out for Pine Point in the Northwest Territories - five miles south of Great Slave Lake. This town, constructed in the 1960's sits astride the largest open pit lead-zinc mine in the world. The railway reached Pine Point in 1964 enabling ore shipments to be sent directly to Kimberley or Trail, B.C. for processing. We had the opportunity to visit the mine site (at least some of it) with a guide, and to poke around in the dirt for ore samples. We received badges and booklets here.

Because Day Four was Sunday, August 19th, Marg produced a tape and we sang some favorite hymns. We were travelling through Wood Buffalo Park and rather hoped to see some wildlife on our way to Fort Smith. Someone spotted a deer once, but only ravens and gulls were much in evidence. The few hours we had to spend at Fort Smith proved to be one of the most fascinating and interesting experiences.

We never got a glimpse of a forest fire, but we were truly given celebrity treatment. Mr. Jacques Van Pelt was indeed a knowledgeable guide. His love of nature and interest in his town was most apparent. He related a bit of history, how the settlement first came into being as a Hudson's Bay Post as far back as 1874. It was through the years the main government administrative centre in the territories from 1911 to 1967 and it was hoped that Fort Smith might become the capital of the N.W.T. That honor was given to Yellowknife.

The above report was submitted for publication by Mrs. Doris Likness and will be continued

COME ALIVE . . .

by
Robert Cochrane

Tears, tears, tears! What a familiar expression of human emotion. We have all shed tears. Little babies and strong men - yes we all shed tears for life is full of sorrows. And they are all the same no matter what color the face down which they roll, for tears are intensly human. One day as I was browsing through the great library at the University of British Columbia my eye fell on a small book which was the story of a Wolf Child. The book was fully documented with authentic pictures of the girl inside a twelve foot high enclosure made of strong wire. It happened in India. Apparently she had been snatched away as a baby by a wolf while her parents were working in the fields. They estimated she had lived about twelve years among the wolves. She ran with them, ate with them and slept with them. She ran in a crouching position and with hard calloused knees was able to keep up with the wolves. The villagers noticed the pack in the distance on various occasions and were intrigued by the "man" that seemed different and had a peculiar gait. Eventually they captured her, and put her snarling and fighting into the wire pen. She was wild and would bare her teeth and snarl, backing into the corner if anyone tried to approach her. When there was a full moon she would hear the wolves howling in the distance and answer them. She loved to eat the raw entrails of chickens. After many days of trying to communicate with her(for she had) never known a human touch or a human voice of tenderness) the woman who was working with her was able to touch her and as she spoke kindly to her for the first time she saw a tear roll down her cheek and then another and soon she was quietly crying. Yes tears are intensly human and so they knew they had finally communicated with her.

Our Lord Jesus was a Man of Sorrows and acquainted with grief. Three times it is recorded in the Word of God, that Jesus wept. He wept tears of sorrow over the city of Jerusalem. Coming to a vantage point on the road He looked over that great city and wept saying "If you, even you, had only known on this day what would bring you peace--but now it is hidden from your eyes. The days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment against you and encircle you and hem you in on every side. They will dash you to the ground you and the children within your walls. They will not leave one stone on another, because you did not recognize the time of Gods' coming to you." Luke 19: 43-44. Our Lord's tearful prophecy was fulfilled in 70 A.D. when Titus at the head of the Roman armies marched against the city and after a long and bitter siege took the city. The awful horrors of that day will never be fully known. History tells us that they ran out of wood to crucify the inhabitants of the fallen city as tens of thousands were put to death.

Then at the grave of Lazarus, He wept tears of sympathy and those touching and beautiful words are recorded:"Jesus wept. Then the Jews said, "See how He loved him." John 11: 35 & 36.

The third recorded time was in the garden of Gethsemane - tears of suffering. "During the days of Jesus' life on earth, He offered up prayers and petitions with loud cries and tears to the one who could save Him out of death, and He was heard because of His reverent submission." Hebrews 5:7. The cross of Calvary lay just before Him where He suffered the just for the unjust that He might bring to us God. I Peter 3:18. As he anticipated that, He wept and prayed.

Today He still grieves over the impenitent who despise and reject His salvation. To those who belong to Him, He still enters sympathetically into their sorrows. One last thought about tears. There are no tears in heaven. "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain; for the former things are passed away." Rev. 21:4.

How will you celebrate Alberta's 75th Anniversary?

Tell us. We can help!

Alberta 75 1905 1980

Invitation

To: All Albertans
- Individuals
- Clubs
- Families
- Associations
- Religious and other groups
- Businesses, large or small

From: Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission

Next year will be an important milestone in Alberta's heritage!

On September 1, 1905, we became a province in the proud Confederation that is Canada.

This is your invitation to take an active role in the province-wide, 75th Anniversary celebrations that will be held throughout 1980.

So act now and decide just what your role will be — as an individual, a family, a group or an organization. Tell us how you plan to celebrate ALBERTA 75, because we can help! Start working on it right away. Develop an idea that will recognize Alberta's history, acknowledge her present, or contribute to her future heritage. Perhaps you can even combine all three! And, whatever you plan, we're sure you will also want to put your active support behind Homecoming 1980 — an ALBERTA 75 program. Now is the time to submit details of your ALBERTA 75 celebration event or other idea for official approval. The Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission will recognize approved submissions in one or more of these ways:

- A letter, certificate, plaque or other recognition from the Alberta 75th Anniversary Commissioner.
- Use of the official ALBERTA 75 emblem, as illustrated in this invitation.
- Availability of commemorative support materials, including flags, buttons, pins and posters.
- Advertising and promotional support.
- Participation by the Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission wherever possible.
- The services of an ALBERTA 75 field representative to assist in your celebration plans.
- Inclusion of your plans in a Calender of Events.
- Your idea could qualify for some funding by the Alberta 75th Anniversary Commission.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

YEAR OF THE CHILD — BY Rose Marie Bee

This International Year of the Child
Nineteen hundred and seventy-nine;
Voices of youth are questioning
What the future may define.

Future is fashioned out of the past
Comprising a Great Master Plan;
Equally important to this goal
Is each life formed by God's Hand.

All children are a gift of God
Not to own but to share;
On loan but for a brief span
To hold sacredly in your care.

Enriching all parts of living
Treasured, loved, set apart;
Kept only a short time in your arms
But forever in your heart.

Tread with careful, watchful steps
While you guide, they hold your hand;
Pay heed to what they are saying
Take the time to understand.

While exploring this wonderful world
In all things they're learning to do;
Respect and commend tasks well done
They have rights and priviledges too.

Be aware of growing pains
Frustrations, sorrows and joys;
Destiny lies within their hands
These growing girls and boys.

Teach honesty and truthfulness
Be forgiving, thankfully plod;
In close companionship daily;
Seeking the wisdom of God.

Use wisely given opportunities
Whatever vocation you choose;
Hold high regard for Nature's Laws
While Her natural resources you use.

Unitedly standing, remain humble
Don't struggle for possession and greed;
Set goals to enrich the future
A grand and strong heritage we need.

Generations speak loudly before us
Courageous brothers and sisters in ;
Growing in grace, charity and faith
That our nation remain proud and free.

A lovely family supper was enjoyed at the home of Fredda and Darrell Brausen to honor Fredda's parents, Fred and Marion Drager on their wedding anniversary. Later on a few friends called to wish them well.

We are sorry to learn that Marion has since been hospitalized in Killam so we hope that she will soon be on the mend.

Isabel Nielsen and Ruth Blue stopped to say hello to Barbara Hays lately. She finds it takes a long time to get back again to where she was before the accident.

A few years ago Frances the youngest daughter of Mary and Dave Fairfield was married to Mac MacMillan of Maidstone, Saskatchewan. Three little boys arrived to bless their home and in August, identical twin girls arrived. They were a good weight, 7 lbs. 7 oz. and 6 lbs. 5 oz. Their names are Laura Lee and Lorraine Rae. Congratulations Frances and Mac.

Marian Elm with daughter Claudia attended Cory Neufeld's wedding in Saskatoon. Cory is a great nephew of Marian's and a grandson of Art Widiake's, his mother being Allison.

We are indeed sorry to learn that Granny Martin has some good days and other days not so good, as she had a stroke sometime ago.

On phoning Marjorie Alderdice to wish her a happy birthday, we were shocked to learn that the post office at Gunn burned down about two weeks ago. Arson is suspected. Marj and Fred have had to hurry and get temporary quarters together for business again as a great deal of mail goes through there.

Glad to see Barbara Hayes able to be mobile again and do her shopping down town again with Howard's help.

Roy and Beth Hays' eldest daughter Pat and two children of Edmonton were down for a visit recently.

Mrs. John Skene has her cousins visiting here. They are Mr. and Mrs. Bagshaw from Biruay, Saskatchewan. That is in the Diefenbaker Dam country and crops are very poor this fall.

Had the pleasure of meeting a lovely great grandmother in the post office on Thursday and discovered that she was Mrs. H. J. Fouts of Salem, Oregon. She is visiting her grandson and his wife and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Dalley with 10 month old son "J". Also at the house was Mrs. Dalley's brother Bruce Plamondon of Trail, B.C. The men are working for Sedco Drilling and live in Jeannette (Moran) Drager's house.

We are happy to welcome these young people from Trail to our midst. Mrs. Fouts thinks this is a beautiful country and reminds her of her girlhood home in Iowa.

The late John Klimiuck's relatives were down and held a garage sale of the surplus things.

Guess I owe Don Alderdice an apology. I gave him another wife and it is Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Alderdice who have gone to Elkford, B.C.

Proposed pay increase for MLA's

Reaction has so far been cautious to an independent, government commissioned committee's proposal to boost MLAs' pay by 47 per cent.

The pay hikes, which would raise an MLA's basic salary and tax-free expense allowance to $27,176 from $18,528, were recommended by a three-man committee chaired by Mr. Justice Tevie Miller.

Premier Peter Lougheed won't offer his opinion of the Miller proposals, claiming they are a matter for his Conservative caucus to consider first.

But Social Credit Leader Bob Clark and NDP Leader Grant Notley have given the recommendations qualified support, endorsing substantial increases for MLAs but adding they must consult their constituents first before agreeing to back legislation containing the Miller recommendations.

The Miller report suggests several significant breaks from previous practice in the system of MLAs' remuneration.

It acknowlwdges that the expense allowance has been accepted by many MLAs as regular income, and its tax-free provision is viewed by the public with suspicion. Therefore it recommends that the expense allowance be maintained at the current level of $6,176, with the full increase in total pay being accomodated by a raise in basic salary from $12,352 to $21,000.

It calls for the legislature to pay for the establishment of constituency offices in provincial ridings for the sum of $10,000 each—$5,000 for office rent and $5,000 for staff.

Perhaps the most curious recommendation is the suggestion that Premier Lougheed be given a $5,000 per year "representation allowance" to compensate him and his wife for appearing at numerous official and unofficial functions where they must "always be adequately attired and groomed."

The report notes that its recommendations were made without reference to any "underlying philosophy and approach to the compensation of elected officials." And it suggests that the government in its current term appoint a body to devise such a philosophy.

Though the Miller committee decided an additional sum of $5,000 per year should be paid to the leader of a recognised third party in the legislature, NDP Leader Grant Notley would be excluded under the reports criteria.

The third party must have four seats and at least five per cent of the popular vote. Though the NDP captured 16 per cent of the vote in the last provincial election, it has only one seat in the assembly—Notley's.

If the legislature approves Miller's recommendations in the approaching fall session of the legislature, Premier Lougheed's salary would be increased to $71,476 annually from $51,300.

Cabinet ministers would earn just over $60,000.

— Photorial —

You will notice the three vehicles in the above photo are parking quite irregular, particularly since it was 12 noon and several cars were forced to go out around the end half ton to get passed. This seems to be a regular happening in town nowadays as it seems many feel the roadways and streets are a good place to stop and chat.

Another regular happening, that makes me wonder, was the amount of open drinking at last week's football game. The consensus of some people present was that the RCMP should come and park aways away and walk back of the spectators. They could make a fine haul of over a dozen illegal possessions and one act of indecent exposure.

Then to top all the drinking and swearing two young people decided it was the smart thing to do and drive over a quantity of snow fence, which did the fence no good.

If the people who own the fence would like to press charges the license numbers were 486-384 and VRT-856 and the time was 4:06 p.m.

What Others Say

Liberals in opposition

Opposition Leader Pierre Trudeau probably had gauged well the temper of the public when he asserted his Party will not be in any hurry to try to bring the monority government down. He also stated that rather than being obstructionist, the Liberal members will help the Tories in power to formulate policy that will build a better country.

A sensible course of action, the country which so lately elected Prime Minister Clark after 20 years of Liberal rule would not take kindly if its judgement was questioned so soon. The new prime minister and his cabinet still have goodwill on their side and excessive zeal by the opposition would be taken now as political obstruction. Perhaps a year or 18 months from now the good-will will have dissipated as people realize this government is as powerless as its predecessor in the face of the country's historic problems.

Adding to the public's uncertainty is the enigma of Mr. Clark. When he finally faces the scrutiny of the House of Commons, it may be possible to guess the fate of his government.

However, the survival of the government is not the principal problem of the Liberals. As a party, they have been completely rejected by Western Canada. They have a critical rebuilding job that must be tackled for the good of the nation. Much as we admire Pierre Trudeau as one of Canada's great prime ministers, we must admit he has not the slightest chance of gaining popularity in the West. His party with its power centers in Central Canada failed to understand the West and, courageous, intelligent, and fervently dedicated to Canadian unity though he is, will be made its scapegoat.

CATTLE EGRET (Bubulcus ibis) — The cattle egret is a small white heron with a short neck and a yellow bill. As its name implies, the egret is often associated with grazing cattle. It follows and picks up insects disturbed by the cattles' movements, and frequently may be seen standing on the animals' backs. This Old World heron has only recently become established in North America (1940's). It spread dramatically and reached Canada in 1952.

"I Write as I Please"

THE THINGS THAT people do and what causes them to do it is what keeps the couches of the head shrinkers constantly occupied. These professional probers into the inner workings of the human brain are probably more certain to come up with reasonable answers than the ordinary layman; yet there are a few answers the layman could lay on the line which make more sense.

TAKE VIOLENCE as a for instance. According to the professionals any person who has been the victim of violence, say, at the hands of his parents, is more inclined to use violence in his association with people, especially his own children. Likewise those who have suffered the pains of violence in their contact with people are more inclined to retaliate with violence. Those who have lacked the essence of kindness and compassion, therefore return the same to others. In other words violence begets violence and kindness begets kindness. Not necessarily so says the layman in opposition to the professionals. Generically speaking, violence is not hereditary in the stable society. Rather it is something that is developed in the human mind by association and by activity along with the desire for self-preservation and the assertion of manhood. Violence is promulgated by society, especially in the media, as the way of life. Now that it has reached the stage of abuse steps are being taken to lessen its impact. That is the reason why Ontario interests are taking steps to see that violence in the area of minor hockey is curtailed or hopeful entirely eliminated from a game that is suppose to be one of fun and skill. Back to the fundamentals they say. That is precisely why the Russians are beating us at our own game, by sticking to the basics of the game. "If you can't beat them in the alley you can't beat them on the ice." is an untruth which the Russians proved beyond the shadow of a doubt. Skillful ability and physical conditioning comes far closer to the truth. I do not believe that basically the hockey lovers are a blood-thirsty lot of buffoons, for it is far more pleasing to watch a talented stick-handler control the puck and make it do what he wants it to do, than a butcher whose only aim is to put the other fellow out of business by violent action and dirty tactics. Rule changes are sadly needed in spite of the potestations of owners and coaches, and in the end I firmly believe that the true sportsman will still support the game. They do it in football and the game outdraws hockey. Throw a punch or display unsportmanlike conduct and you're gone. Why not the same in hockey?

WE'RE STILL ON the head-shrinkers couch when we go from violence to vandalism. Here the professionals come up with some dillies for answers. They escape from the truth by taking you on a voyage back to your childhood where you endured the continual scene of husband and wife destroying everything in the household by throwing it at each other in fits of anger and frustration, while you cowered in a corner fearing for your life. You saw so many things destroyed by such asinine behavior that you come to believe this is the way of life. The only way. So you develop the vandalism syndrome and destroy everything you come in contact with. Such a theory may fit the young immature mind but it certainly does not wash with maturity, stability and sanity. Especially is this true for those who must meet the bills for such stupidity.

AND THIS IS where the citizenry comes into light of day. We are so reluctant to inform on vandals for fear of retaliation or loss of friendships that we let them get away with murder and instead vent our anger on the lawkeepers for not maintaining law and order. It's time we changed our way of thinking and got co-operative; otherwise we will have to continue paying out millions of tax dollars to replace those things which never should have been destroyed in the first place. Deliberate vandalism is a dirty, rotten game and we should all help to diminish its devastating aftermath. It's a germ which should be destroyed. It's as bad, if not worse, than the man who said he started fires because "I like to see the fire engines go by." That's a case of immaturity as its maturist level.

Pipeline to be replaced

Interprovincial Pipe Line Limited applied in August to the National Energy Board for leave to replace 9½ miles of 34" pipe in its Line No. 3 system in the fall of 1979. This 9.5 mile section extends from Interprovincial's Edmonton Terminal southeast to Highway 21. The Company also plans to apply later this year for leave to replace a further 13½ miles between Edmonton and Kingman, Alberta and 15 miles between Strome and Hardisty, Alberta in the summer of 1980. The cost of upgrading the 38 miles of the Line 3 system is estimated at $19 million.

The decision to take this remedial action is the result of five failures in this 34" pipe since installation in 1969. The most recent failure caused an oil spill on July 4 at a location 3½ miles east of Edmonton.

The new 34" line will be installed in a ditch parallel to the existing 34" line. When construction is completed the new line will be placed in pumping service and the older line deactivated. Under this arrangement the program for replacing the 34" pipe will not impair Interprovincial's ability to transport Alberta's crude oil production.

Jensen - up in the air

When former air force captain Nels Jensen piloted fighter planes, he flew at speeds of 2,000 mph; now that he is retired from the service, has started Medley Airways and is restricted to small planes at 100 mph or so, his love of flying has not diminished with the reduction in speed.

"If I want to get somewhere, I'll take a jet," he said. But if he wants to relax and enjoy the scenery, small planes at low speeds are preferable.

Unlike many recruits, Mr. Jensen had his commercial licence before he first donned the blue uniform of the air force 18 years ago.

"At that time, there were few jobs around for brand new commercial pilots, so I joined mainly to fly."

He said he knew that he would be involved with flying, even after he retired from the Canadian Armed Forces, but two years ago he considered starting a cargo, passenger and flying instruction service in Cold Lake.

He was born in Hardisty, raised in the Battle Bend district and received his education in Alliance, so Alberta is native soil and he wanted to stay in wild rose country. He was posted to CFB Cold Lake three years ago and flew helicopters with Base Flight. He was specifically trained to pilot helicopters for that posting and, as a result, will have a helicopter for charter, in addition to the 180 and 185 Cessnas and twin Cougar.

Mr. Jensen said the impending oil development boom persuaded him that Cold Lake was the place, and offered the opportunity, to almost an air service.

Already he has made a number of charter flights to Grise Lake and he only officially gave up his captaincy in August.

Carrying cargo will only be part of the function performed by Medley Airways; it will also teach flying lessons. "The charter is the primary job and instructing is secondary."

Mr. Jensen said he will have a helicopter for charter purposes as well, but will not give flying lessons on that aircraft, because it is too involved and expensive.

Medley Airways will operate from the new regional airport just outside Cold Lake. The new airport will open shortly, but there aren't any hangars or even a terminal yet-just a 3,000 foot runway. Eventually, Mr. Jensen said his company will have its own hangar at the airport. In the meantime, however, he said he will soon move a trailer onto the airport as a shelter for the people in the flying club.

Mr. Jensen is the moving force behind Medley Airways. "Until I get it organized, it will be primarily myself - I'm Medley Airways, but I'm looking for people who might be interested in investing.

CFRN TV set to broadcast

CFRN Television of Edmonton will commence broadcasting on Channel 7 on Saturday, September 22nd at 9 p.m.

The Channel 7 signal will encompass Sedgewick on the north to the Coronation area in the south, and from Czar - Metinkow in the east to Rosalind Donalda in the west.

Originally scheduled to go on air earlier this month, the station encountered unforseen difficulty with interferences from a nearby oil company transmission.

The Lougheed rebroadcast station boosts the station's viewing audience by an additional 20,000 viewers living in the new region.

The first telecast seen on the new channel will be a C.F.L. telecast of the game between the Toronto Argonauts and the B.C. Lions.

CFRN -TV is a division of Sunwapta Broadcasting Limited, which also owns and operates 126 CFRN Radio, and CKXM-FM Stereo in Edmonton.

COME ALIVE . . .

by Robert Cochrane

Life is full of decisions. Yet many of us hesitate to make far reaching decisions and so commit ourselves to a definite course of action. That day long ago was no exception. The crowds pressed around Jesus listening to His teachings and seemingly hanging on His every word. Not that they all understood or agreed with His teachings. In fact, from that day many of His disciples turned back and no longer followed Him. Jesus then turned to the twelve, who were known as His Apostles, and asked this question. "You do not want to leave too, do you? Peter answered Him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life. We believe and know that you are the Holy One of God." John 6 67-69. When a decision was called for, Peter, without hesitation committed himself and the rest of Twelve. It was as though Peter said - "If we leave you who else can we follow with confidence? Who else is worthy of our deepest trust?" There is no one else who claimed to come from God in order to reveal to man who God is. Only Jesus could say referring to Himself, "The Son of Man came...to give His life a ransom for many." To Peter there was no alternative worthy of consideration.

But, Peter also added, "You have the words of eternal life." The words, as well as individuals, were thrilled with the gracious words He spoke.

Beautiful words of Jesus,
Spoken so long ago,
Yet, as we read them over,
Dearer to us they grow.

But He also spoke with authority and this deeply impressed them. Why, did He not tell them about heaven and hell? He spoke about eternal life and how to receive it. How wonderful to hear from His own lips those words, "Son, your sins are forgiven" or "Daughter, be of good cheer, your faith has saved you, go in peace."

I am reminded of the words of DeWette, who lived in the Town of Basel, in Switzerland, a brilliant scholar, who instead of accepting "the words of eternal life," spent his life endeavoring to show their unreliability. Some lines he had penned shortly before his death were found among the papers in his desk.

"I lived in times of doubt and strife,
When child-like faith was forced to yield;
I struggled to the end of life:
Alas! I did not gain the field."

Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life. We believe and know that you are the Holy One of God.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Trilogy To A Past Summer

I. AFTERGLOW:
After the flame has sunken down,
And the embers glow in a heap,
Closer and closer about the spot
The deepening shadows creep.

And then in the rosy gleaming
Before the ashes fall
Bright sparks snatch at the shadows
Flickering out from the shadow wall.

II. REVERIE:
The sky was very blue to-day.
All the clouds had sailed away,
Far beyond that hazy line
That separates your world, and mine.

I hope it will be clear to-night;
With many stars shining bright,
So the moon, of shadows free,
May light my lonely path for me.

And yet, at eventide, 'tis best
To have a cloud-bank in the west,
To catch the sun's last bright ray,
And glorify departing day.

And oft young love has kist,
When chaste Diana, in a midst,
Has modestly obscured her face,
And deepened shadows for a space.

III. AFTERMATH:
About my feet, in shattered fragments,
The ruins of a perfect dream are strewn;
Rendolent with the breath of bruised petals,
Pwale from a flower that fell too soon.

The Other World

From August 19th to August 31st, I was a Canadian delegate at the United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for developing countries in Vienna, Austria. More that one hundred and thirty countries attended this Conference. This was the final Conference in a series of world meetings on various subject areas of which the Habitat Conference in Vancouver in 1976 was one of the series.

The developing countries and the industrialized world arrived in Vienna with an enormous difference of opinion with respect to science and technology. The original view of the developing countries was that they wanted access to all of our science and technology; they wanted in now, and they wanted it free.

In the industrial world, much of the science and technology is developed by private industries and companies, and is basis of a competitive relationship between one company and another. Within industrial countries, the right of patent and capitalization on the discovery of a new idea is respected and protected under patent law. To give an assurance to the developing nations that all forthcoming science and technology would automatically be transferred to them was simply not possible. Moreover, it needed to be asked whether or not it would have always been in the best interests of developing nations to engulf them with all of our space age technology when often what is required is health, education, and agricultural techniques at the village level.

After two weeks of very hard and intense work, in a Conference that functions in six official languages, substantial agreement was reached on institutional and financial arrangements for the transfer of science and technology from the industrial world to the developing countries. However, very little progress was made towards directing the United Nations on the specific kinds of science and technology that should be utilized in developing countries.

The Canadian delegation was very active in the negotiations throughout the two weeks of the Conference. I was both interested and pleased to note that Canada held the respect of the majority of the developing countries, as well as most of the industrial block. Often when the Conference appeared to be bogged down, delegates from other countries directly approached the Canadian delegation with recommendations for compromise. Certainly the status that Canada enjoys in international negotiations places us in the position of a favoured country in these very sensitive relationships.

I was spellbound by the very long and tedious process of negotiations. One hundred and thirty-six countries and the majority of them speaking languages that were not understood by the others. Hours were spent checking and cross-checking the definition of a specific word. For reasons I still don't understand, the term "multi-national corporations" was unacceptable to a number of countries and, in its place, the term "trans-national corporations" was accepted. That type of example repeated itself many times every day in the various committee structures that were set up throughout the City of Vienna.

The nordic nations, supported by Canada, requested that any transfer of science and technology be used in such a way as not to widen the gulf of discrimination between males and females. At first that position was accepted and later had to be significantly modified when the Turks and people of the Islamic region challenged that there was no discrimination against women, and therefore the sentence was redundant.

In the United Nations, nothing is agreed upon until it can be agreed upon by all nations. As a result, the task is laborious and long. Nevertheless, being bound up in extended hours of Conference communication is no doubt far better than venting our frustrations on the field of war. No matter how laborious or how much the misunderstandings appear to be, United Nations is a good concept and it is necessary for us to keep in touch with one another.

Writers wanted

"Would you like to be a writer?" If so, how about joining us, "The Flagstaff Creative Writers"? Don't let our name scare you off, we are just people like yourself, and people of both sexes ranging in age from grandmother to young teenagers living in many different places in the Flagstaff district. The one thing we all have in common is our love of writing and a desire to see our work published.

We have been in existence since March of 1979 when a group of writers and would-be writers was formed. Since that time, the membership has changed as people have moved away or come into our district, but a few of the orginal members are still in the group. All of the members have had work published, some in national magazines, others in local newspapers. Since June of 1976, articles from various members have appeared each week in The Community Press under the heading of "Riters Ramblings". The group acts as editor for these articles and decides which should be forwarded for publication. The paper has a commitment to publish one of these each week for which the author receives renumeration.

Our meetings are held every other Monday in the Library at Killam Public School commencing at 7:30 p.m. and usually ending at 9:30 p.m. Most of these meetings are concerned with this business of writing, but occasionally a speaker, an author or editor, is invited to help us with our work.

This year, our first meeting was Monday, September 17 with 8 in attendance. Regular meetings will start October 1, and we hope to discuss such topics as: setting up a manuscript correctly, where to find ideas, how to find what an editor looks for, how to write an anecdote, a character sketch or a personal experience, where to look for markets for your writing and many other items will be covered in this course. There will also be time for us to read our work and to receive, or give help or make suggestions to other members.

So we'll be looking for you on October 1st. If you'd like to write, if you have already done some writing, or if you'd just like to see what it's all about, we extend you a hearty welcome. Just think, maybe in the near future you'll turn to "Ritters Ramblings" and that'll be your name under the article! And I'm sure any author will tell you that no matter how often that happens, it's always a thrill.

If you'd like more information, contact Mrs. Sharleen Chevraux at Killam 385-2186, or Mrs. Betty Walsh at Sedgewick 384-3576.

Hardisty Social club report on campsite

The postponed August meeting of the Hardisty Social Club was held in the Drop-in Centre on Tuesday, September 4 with president Mary Goudrich in the chair.

Members were glad to see Barbara Hays able to attend after her recent accident.

Reports were given on the summer activities. The care of the campsite has been a successful project. It was remarked by all that the campers had been very co-operative in not littering the grounds. The cement work has been painted, also the back steps, by a few ladies. Future improvements with the help of an available grant will include a glass front cabinet for pictures and artifacts of interest to the community, new chairs and a retaining wall at the rear of the lot.

It was decided to combine the next meeting on September 25 with a meeting of the history book, for the purpose of setting up committees etc. Once again all are urged to attend if interested. Further notices will be posted.

The pot luck suppers will start again on September 29 followed by the usual card party.

St. Mark's Guild meets

St. Mark's Women's Guild met at the home of Mrs. Hearn on Wednesday, September 22. Devotions were led by the hostess. Minutes of the June meeting were read and approved. The treasurer reported that the knitathon receipts were all in and showed a most satisfactory result. Finished strips of knitting are to be given to Mrs. B. Matthews to be assembled for the afghan.

It was decided to make the date of future meetings the first Wednesday of the month, September to June.

As September 30 has been set for the Harvest Thanksgiving services, members will meet at the church on Saturday September 29 to clean and decorate the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Matthews spent Sunday of the long weekend at Big Knife Park, for the annual family gathering, and enjoyed a beautiful day.

Hardisty Legion reports

The little daughter of Brent and Tami Hople was born September 4, weighed 6 lbs 14 ½ ozs. and is named Deanna Dawn.

Allen Lawson was nicely surprised when his niece and great niece from Victoria called on him. They had spent the previous night at the home of Uncle Danny. They were Donald Lawson's daughter and granddaughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Peterson of Portland, Oregon, spent a couple of days around Hardisty visiting with their Whitehead cousins.

Not long ago the three sisters Bernice Tillmar, Erma Matthews and Eunice Rud from Edmonton flew to Courtenay, B.C. to attend their sister Verna's art show.

Verna had 29 pictures in her exhibit. Among such subjects were the elevators at Lougheed, an Indian cemetery, fishing boats, old buildings, a light house and flowers. Sounds like a very interesting variety.

A very favorable report was given her showing by Courtenay reporter. He preferred her old building paintings and Bernice liked her flower paintings.

It was interesting to note in the Lougheed news where Mr. and Mrs. Black, Essie Drager and Mrs. Gordon had gone on that drive to the Talbot area and were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Lang who are very familiar with that part of the country. Mrs. Lang is an aunt to my sister-in-law who has had the post office in Metiskow for twenty five years.

The Legion Auxiliary met in the Hut on Thursday evening September 6 with 9 members present. The meeting opened with the usual ceremony.

Following the minutes and financial report were given. Tickets had been sold at the Fins Market during Roundup Days on a hand hooked rug to be drawn for in November. Tickets sales are progressing well.

Help was given the Men's Group in serving breakfast during Roundup Days, resulting in a successful effort.

It was reported that scrolls for presentation with student's awards had been made by Mrs. Barbara Davidson. Date for the awards has not yet been set.

A general discussion followed regarding poor attendance at meetings and ways of increasing interest in the group.

Mmes. Kroezer and Matthews reported a start made on the Auxiliary history, as album has been purchased for photos of interest.

Following the closing ceremony, a delicious lunch was served with a birthday cake in honor of Mme Hearn, whose birthday was in August.

Lougheed Rebekah's organizational meeting

On Wednesday evening September 12, twenty members of Lougheed Rebekah Lodge met for their first meeting of the term. Lodge opened in regular form with N. G. Sis H. Skoberg in the chair.

Officers for the ensuing term are as follows: Jr. Past N.G. Sister Verona Cookson, N.G.Sister Hazel Skoberg, V.G. Sister S. McClements, supporters of N.G. Sister M. Pope and Sister Carol Butcher, supporters of Vice Grand Sister Eileen Paterson and Sister Gayle McClements, Fin. Secretary Sister H. Swainson, Treasurer Sister S. Marlow, recording secretary Sister Mable Quast, Chaplain Sister K. Snethun, Warden Sister Verda Wallins, Con. Sister B. Bratland, color bearer Sister R. Kinghorn, inside guardian Sister Jerry Johnson, O.G. Sister S. McClements, Musician Sister M. Roggensack.

The Noble Grand welcomed the members upon their return to lodge after the summer recess.

The sisters were indeed sorry to hear of the passing of Sister M. Roggensack's father and of the recent passing of Sister Carol Butcher's step father and Sister R. Riddoch's brother. Members reported the hospitalization of Sister M. Drager, Sister Kneeland, Sister C. Butcher and Mr. Grove, father of Sister R. Kinghorn. During the summer visitis had been made to the local hospitals as well as the Senior Citizen's Lodge and Rosehaven.

A group of sisters had visited the cemetery in Lougheed and in Sedgewick, where flowers were placed on the graves of departed Oddfellows and Rebekahs.

Upon hearing the report of the float decorating committee, the sisters were glad the Sister Beaton was able to be present, for she had found herself wedged between the carpet and the doorway. Perhaps the fact that the lodge had won first prize in one category was because Sister Beaton managed to get on the right side of the carpet.

D.D.P. Sister Lawson will be present for the next meeting of to complete the installation of officers. Members are requested to wear long dresses.

The district meeting will be October 23 in Killam.

Members were pleased to hear that members from Lethbridge Lodge had visited Sister Grove and Sister Derraugh.

Under Good of the Order, members expressed thanks for cards, help in time of sorrow, and for anniversary felicitations.

Surely Solomon in all his glory could not have surpassed the array of beautiful sisters to whom the members sang happy birthday.

Lodge closed in harmony with the good will carrying over to lunch when Sister H. Skoberg and Sister S. McClements served zucchini loaf and raspberry jam. For more good fellowship the Rebekahs will meet again on September 26.

Sedgewick resident passes

Rose Lindquist was born into this world and given the name Rosalia Snachuk by her beloved parents. She was just a babe in arms when she immigrated with her family to Canada from Austria in the year 1908.

They homesteaded in the Lefond area until moving to Edmonton in about 1923. There Rose lived until moving to the Lougheed area in 1939.

Rose and Erland Lindquist were married in 1940 and together they farmed north of Sedgewick. They retired and moved into Sedgewick in 1968.

Rose loved her family very much. She especially loved to garden and found great beauty in her flowers. She loved a good time and enjoyed life with her family. Erland and Rose won several dance contests. She was a wonderful cook and as the family will gladly testify she excelled in her preparations of Ukranian food. Rose lived in Sedgewick until her recent illness and although she fought for her life she loved, our Lord whispered "you are weary" and called her home on Sunday, August 26, 1979.

Rose will be sadly missed by all who knew her, especially her husband Erland, daughter Myrtle and family of Edmonton, step daughters Ruby and family of Sedgewick, Dorothy and family of Killam, Essie and family of Edmonton, Joyce and family of Edmonton also 16 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Also left to mourn her are brothers Mike of Radway, Steve of Edmonton, sisters Annie of Vernon, B.C. and Mary of Edmonton.

Rose was predeceased by her Mother and Father and a sister Casey of St. Paul in 1977.

Funeral services were held August 29th, 1979 in St. John's Anglican Church in Sedgewick with Rev. Conrad officiating.

Rose was laid to rest in the Sedgewick Cemetery.

Fee and Sons were in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Jim Davidson, Ted Lister, Ed Simon, Elmer Gascoyne, Melvin Becken and Colvin Beairsto.

Honorary pallbearers were Art Falls, Ernest Koehli, Ludwig Arntzen and George Jenvey.

Rest eternal grant unto her O' Lord and may perpetual light shine upon her.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to thank all of our friends and relatives who gave flowers, sympathy cards, and donations and brought baking to the house.

Also to the pallbearers, Fee and Sons and to Mrs. Rolf Jacobsen, the organist, and the A.C.W. ladies who served lunch and everyone who helped us in anyway in time of our great loss and sorrow.

Also thanks to Dr. Moor and staff of the Killam General hospital for the care and kindness given to Rose.

A special thanks to Rev. Conrad and Brenda Martin for their services and kindness shown and given.

Erland Lindquist and family.

Soil Testing

Careful sampling and testing of soil is one of the best ways to protect your fertilizer investment. A regular sampling and testing of your fields make it possible to keep tab on changes in your soil. This allows you to keep your fertilizer program in tune with any changes in the soil.

Factors such as climate and crop production have a marked effect upon the soil composition and availability of plant nutrients.

Fields that are to be seeded to a crop next spring should be sampled at the end of September, first part of October. By that time of year soil temperatures have dropped to the point where little change will occur until the soil warms up again in the spring. Forages fields can be sampled after September 1.

Frozen or waterlogged soils shouldn't be sampled because its very difficult to get a good representative sample from them.

Each field should be carefully looked over and from 15-20 sample sites chosen. These sites should be representative of the main soil types. The samples should be thoroughly mixed together and spread thinly on a clean sheet of paper and left to dry before sending out.

Small areas of the field, such as eroded knolls and low spots where growth is poor, should be sampled separately or not sampled at all.

Samples should be taken from 0-6 inch depth where no apparent soil or crop problem has been evident. For more complete information on areas where crops have been poor, or where a soil problem is suspected, samples should be taken from three depths, 0-6"; 6-12"; 12-24".

Information regarding each sample must be carefully recorded on the sheet provided with the soil sampling kit, so accurate recommendations can be made. Any unusual problems or special requests should be described in detail.

Sample kits can be obtained from your local D.A. and most fertilizer outlets. If someone is doing the testing for you, go out with him and help pick out the best sampling sites, because the farmer has first hand knowledge about his own crops and soils.

FLAGSTAFF NEWS

Sedgewick, Alberta — September 19, 1979

FROM YOUR HEALTH NURSES

Each year the dental staff carries out a preventive dental health program in schools. The aim of the program is to teach proper preventive dental habits and to detect potential dental problems at an early stage. The program is carried out in the classes at the special request of the classroom teachers. The program includes:

A. Inspections: A visual check for possible dental problems including cavities, poor oral hygiene, teeth in abnormal positions, malocclusion and habits which are affecting health of the teeth.

B. Brushing: Proper brushing habits are taught using free toothbrush kits as part of dental health lessons.

C. Lessons on Dental Health: Lessons on proper dental flossing techniques as part of a dental health lesson.

D. Lessons on Oral Health: Includes films, puppet shows, games and talks stressing preventive dental health measures.

The dental inspections are carried out only on the children with parental consent, but all children take part in the dental health lessons offered.

Other dental services offered by the Health Unit are pre-school clinic dental screening, parent education, pamphlets on dental health, toothpaste and playschool visits, fluoride supplement distribution and free fluoride application clinics. These applications are done by appointment only on children aged 3 to 7 all year, and from June 1st to September 30 all children from 3 to 15 years are eligible for this free service.

For any more information regarding these programs, please contact the Health Unit at 672-3191 (Camrose).

KALEIDOSCOPE

by Diane Bourne, DHE

The following is a recipe for Zucchini Muffins, that Betty Birch, DHE at Stettler tried. The muffins are best hot out of the oven, and delicious with homemade jam or cheese because they are not very sweet.

Zucchini Muffins

2 c. whole wheat flour
1 tbsp. baking powder
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
2 eggs
½ c. milk
½ c. oil
¼ c. honey
1 c. grated zucchini
½ c. raisins

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Oil muffin cups. Stir together dry ingredients. Combine wet ingredients and stir in to dry ingredients. Mix just enough to moisten. Stir in zucchini and raisins and spoon into muffin cups. Bake 20 - 25 minutes until golden brown.

Drying Gourds

Drying gourds is a quick many people ask. Apparently the drying of gourds is a risky business. Largely composed of water, they bruise very easily, often decaying before they dry thoroughly.

Here's how to preserve the gourd.
1. Be sure not to handle roughly as they bruise easily.
2. Pick them before the first frost.
3. Wash them in lukewarm water, and dry them well.
4. Dip them in disinfectant solution (diluted according to directions on the label.)
5. Pierce both ends with a darning needle.
6. Set on a rack in a cool, dark, well ventilated place, having an air space between each.
7. Check every week, and if there is any mold, wash with disinfectant solution.
8. Those that have soft spots have to be destroyed.
9. When gourds are dry, they may be shellacced or varnished.

Farm Home Planning Course

Are you considering building a new home or remodelling. If so, Alberta Agriculture in cooperation with the University of Alberta is offering a home study course in housing. Considering the total cost of a new home or extensive renovation project, enrolling in the farm home planning course could be one of the best investments you will ever make.

It will enable you to study the principles of home planning at home, when and where it is convenient. This well illustrated home study course is flexible enough to let you study at the depth you require, yet comprehensive enough to help solve your individual problems. It has been compiled, written and illustrated by people involved in farm home planning in Alberta and applies specifically to our local conditions. Although the emphasis is on farm homes, the information can easily apply to an acreage or urban site.

There are two options available in the farm home planning course. Option A will provide eight well illustrated lessons on new home planning and construction. A sampling of the topics covered include siting the home, financing, new home alternatives, planning, design, construction and utility service. Option B provides eight completely illustrated lessons on remodelling home planning and construction. Some of the topics covered in this comprehensive option include site development, financing, space planning, design, assessing the existing structure, construction and utility servicing.

Why not design a home that shows you care?

Away We Go . . . Northward Bound

This is the second and final episode of a bus trip taken by a group of Senior Citizens from the area.

Fort Smith, with its population of 2,500, is only a mile from the Alberta border. Mr. Van Pelt showed us the famous series of four rapids, know as the "Rapids of the Drowned", which is the nesting area for pelicans. He showed us where the big landslide had taken place making it necessary to found a new town site. We drove through the area where the Indians chose to relocate. Then we took a drive through the town intrigued by colorful street names such as: Primrose Lane, Pelican Avenue, Pine Crescent, Walrus Street, Whooping Crescent, etc. The Vocational School and the School of Dental Therapy were pointed out, the latter the only training place for adults in the north.

We visited the five new town offices where we were warmly welcomed by Mayor Kasser. We looked at some of Mr. Van Pelt's beautiful slides, but didn't have time to visit the Radium-King Museum nearby. We noted the great St. Joseph's Cathedral, an outstanding landmark, and had a glimpse of the Grotto, a replica of Lourdes. We also had an opportunity to see Mr. Van Pelt's home, a place of unique architectural beauty. And there was "Kkat City" where the gentleman spends several hours a week working with the children. As if all this wasn't enough, we wound up at the Obiate Missionary Home for coffee and goodies. The Mayor was present, too, and how delighted the residents were to talk with us. In fact, Mrs. McLean met an elderly Indian who had worked with her brother in past years. The final injunction from these kind officials was: "Don't come again for only three hours, but for three days!" Our thanks to Fort Smith for a most memorable afternoon and the lovely pin each one received.

The miles sped by quickly on our way to Hay River, that busy port town on the Slave River. Previously, we had stopped to gaze in awe at the beautiful Alexandra Falls plunging 106 feet into the Hay River. These falls are 33 miles south of Hay River. We looked forward to seeing Louise Falls on our return trip. We had to leave our tour here until our return from Yellowknife, but some of us had to go and have a look at their famous purple school, perhaps the most modern in all of North America. Named for writer anthropologist Diamond Jenness, it is of metal, with no exterior corners or straight lines, only curves. An Indian architect designed the two-and three-storey building, and the students chose the color. We were to discover when we went inside, on our return, that the glass-walled classrooms radiate from a central area. We were also told that this exterior purple color has served of great value to planes as a landmark. Ptarmigan Inn was most kind to us serving complimentary breakfasts for the two mornings we were there.

Monday, August 20th, was cloudy and raining at times, causing our windows to appear like dark brown walls from the muddy splashes. We could not complain because we had been told that there had been little or no rain for weeks and weeks. We crossed the great Mackenzie by ferry reaching Fort Providence in time for lunch. Snowshoe Inn was ready for our coming with a big sign on the dining-room door: "Welcome Majestic Tours." A delicious smorgasbord luncheon was enjoyed with fresh fruit for dessert: cantaloupe, nectarines, grapefruit, apples and oranges. The beautiful Indian craft shop in conjunction with the restaurant turned us all "on", or rather our pocketbooks all "out". This is the only place we visited where flying mites could be annoying. Most of us had prepared for such emergencies by investing in Muskol at Peace River. As no one actually made use of it, we were able to exchange it for other goods on our return to Peace River.

The rain came down all the way over muddy roads to Yellowknife. Yellowknife, only 520 miles south of the Arctic Circle, with a population of about 6,000 is situated on the North Shore of Great Slave Lake. Gold was discovered in this pre-Cambrian Shield area in 1935, later discoveries leading to the establishment of the Con and Giant mine companies. We visited the Con Mine in groups of eleven, but did not go underground nor see gold bricks being poured. The latter process at night for security reasons. We did see the pregnant tank containing a cyanide dissolution process as the only means of removing precious metals from ore. A large sign warned: "Danger! No Swimming!" Con (Cominco) celebrated its 40th anniversary on September 5th, 1978. To date, Con has poured a total of 5,345 gold bricks. Each brick weighs 45.5 pounds. It takes one ton of ore to produce one ounce of gold. In all, Con mines has produced over three million ounces of gold. The Giant mines have a similar story to tell. The gold is sent to Ottawa for processing. Con also has a new 250 foot Robertson headframe standing above a mile-deep shaft at a cost of over 19 million.

We had time to visit the shops to buy the inevitable souvenirs. Later in the afternoon, our local guide, Mrs. Joan Reimer gave us a conducted tour, along with much interesting information. We found that Senior citizens have to pay only $55.00 a month with a free meal every day. Rent and decor in the window means help is needed; that there is free medicare for everyone; that any young person wishing to attend university must go "outside" with all expenses fully paid; that alcoholism is the number one problem, the first alcohol offense rating a fine of $500, the second a jail term. We noticed that children were already at school, the reason being that families thus have an opportunity for a month-long Christmas holiday. We climbed the 69 steps to the bush pilot's memorial to have a most splendid view in all directions. That gallant lady of 92 years, Mrs. McLean, went up all those steps, too. We saw the first wheel-based plane, a Bristol-Freighter, on display, the first of its kind to land at the North Pole in 1967. Delightedly we accepted pins, certificates and polar bear license plates, with many thanks to our fine guide, a resident of Yellowknife since 1969. Then there was the very beautiful Museum of the North to visit, built by students of Sir John Franklin High School and opened in 1968. The fine Eskimo carvings on the second floor of the court house were well worth seeing. A splendid visit to Yellowknife, the largest community in the N.W.T.!

As we went southward again, we noticed the rocky soil of the area, and trees a bit on the scrubby side. But it was raining lag again so once more muddy roads splashed our windows. We called in at Rae, the largest Dene settlement in the territories, but they were not prepared for us. We had thought we might see some of their craftsmanship. These people will allow no consumption or sale of alcohol within a 15-mile radius of Rae. We stopped at Providence again for lunch, which included fresh apple pie. Then the rain stopped a bit and we were able to get a snap or two of the ferry as it crossed the river towards us.

We reached Hay River amidst rain, more or less, all the way. However, after supper at Ptarmigan Inn, a guide came with us on a tour in the rain. Scott had done his best to get our windows clear again. We discovered that Hay River, 32 miles north of Alberta, is a major shipping and fishing point. Not only is it the southernmost town for the barges travelling the great Mackenzie, but also the northern end of the railway center, built to serve the land-size deposits at Pine Point, and known as the Great Slave Lake Railway. So Hay River is indeed the "Hub" of the north. There is a high-rise, also, in this busy place, 60th parallel's largest. The population is around 4,000, including an Indian community and a fishing village. We saw the great Northwest Telecommunications (CN) set up to provide services all over the Western Arctic. Drinking water is used directly from the lake, merely filtered. Fishing, except for sportsmen, is all by gill net. The fish is cut and frozen at Hay River, canned at Yellowknife, and then flown to New York. Yes, all of it! A most interesting tour, but, alas, no picture taking possible because of weather conditions. Were we tourists ever "growing!"

August 23rd was spent at the new Travellers' Motel at Peace River. The weather was fine once again, so we took walks and pictures, and returned our bottles of Muskol, and spent a pleasant evening in one way or another. Slave Lake was to be the final night together. Majestic Tours were giving us a complimentary dinner that evening. We had a look about the stores and then our bus took us on quite a drive to actually stand on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake. We appreciated that very much. Then our dinner what a feast, finishing with fresh wild blueberry pie! Amy, Tena, Alma and our young-in-spirit Kate each was presented with a beautiful red rose by Majestic Tours. Harry received a rose boutenniere. It was only fitting that Kate and Harry should have a picture together. Alma presented a gift to Mary from the group in token of our appreciation for all her kind consideration, while Minnie did the same for Scott.

This was the official close of our tour, here at the lovely Sawridge Motel, a project of the Sawridge Indians. Before we left next morning, Chief Walter Twinn came into our bus to bid us good-bye and to answer any questions. He had been unable to attend our dinner. We took group pictures at Westlock on our noon break, dropped off our Edmonton people and one or two others enroute, arriving at Killam about 4:00 p.m. Coffee and cookies were soon produced at this hospitable Drop-in Center as they had been when we left. I am sure we all feel we have had a truly marvellous "growing" time, as well as a time of fellowship. We are also most thankful for a safe trip and that everyone came home in as good health as he/she left.

Alberta Agriculture

By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

The Norway rat, Rattus norvegicus, not pretty, not even cute, is one of the most destructive pests known to mankind.

And if we don't remain vigilant, he could become one of the worst pests ever seen in this province.

You know, we have a good thing going in Alberta. For 28 years we've been basically rat-free, yet, due to the ignorance of a few and the "what do I care" attitude of some, that freedom has been placed in distinct jeopardy.

The problem generally stems from 'outside sources'. Though Canada's nine other provinces aren't exactly crawling with rats, the rodents are present. Unfortunately, the public usually views the rats as someone else's problem. In Alberta we consider them everyone's problem. They're a hazard to everyone's health and property, and to date we've had excellent support from individual Albertans in keeping the hazard minimal.

Yet, in some parts of Canada people have grown so fond of rats that they've become family pets, like gerbils or white mice. Albertans are then jeopardized when these residents of other provinces move to Alberta bringing with them their 'friendly' rats. Others, passing through the province on vacation, bring along some laboratory rats as presents for a host's children. After a while, the rats become a nuisance and are set free. Sometimes they die, and Alberta Agriculture only learns about them when an autopsy is requested.

In both cases, the situation is potentially dangerous. In the first instance, household rats set free can breed quickly in the wild, and within three or four generations (a rat can breed every four weeks) eradication has grown into a difficult and expensive situation.

In the second case, rats carry diseases, such as Bubonic Plague or Black Death which killed off one-third of Europe's population in the mid-1300's. If a rat dies in captivity, it's always possible, if unlikely, that it could have passed on a disease to its owner.

We constantly monitor the situation. Preventive measures already exist. Under Alberta law it is ILLEGAL for anyone in this province (including transients) to possess a rat. No one is excepted, including university researchers. However, because rats make excellent laboratory animals and because universities have secure housing for the rodents, they are considered exempt.

Occasionally, we do find people harboring rats. Stories also surface of people who have obtained rats from research personnel. When confronted, these people often say — they're only pets, and even if they do get free, they've been domesticated so they'll die in the wild.

They're wrong. Laboratory rats, often called white Norway rats, can easily survive Alberta winters if they obtain proper food and shelter, and there's enough of that around.

Rats also represent a potent destructive force — eating one pound of grain per week and ruining 10 times as much in the process. Outside of soiling grain, rats can harm buildings since they need to wear down their ever-growing teeth. Did you know rats are quite capable of gnawing through a brick wall or a thick lead pipe!

A rat-infested building can also be threatened from another source — us. If baits or gassing don't control a problem, any structure can be moved if we consider it the only method left for eradicating an infestation.

Do rats cost us? Yes, but not as much as they could. In Alberta we spend about $100,000 a year on rat control. We estimate a major infestation could annually cost 200-400 times as much. If that were to happen, that cost would easily surpass the combined total of hail and crop insurance claims and water fowl damage compensation paid in each of their worst years.

We're lucky in Alberta. With natural rat defences on three sides, we need only worry about our Saskatchewan frontier. There we maintain a 30-kilometre wide, 600-kilometre long control zone where heavily distributed bait usually rids us of any rat so unwary as to try to cross the border. We have a good rat control program, and other provinces are beginning to follow our lead.

Unfortunately, just a few mistakes could cost us dearly. Again, rats are not pets. It is illegal to possess them.

If you do spot a rat, or even think you have spotted one, please inform your local pest control officer. They're spread across the province in 250 towns, villages and municipalities. And if you have trouble contacting one, then call in to our Rat Hotline — manned by Alberta Agriculture's Pest Control Branch. That number is 427-5370.

Work bee at Lougheed Hall

On September 9, I experienced an event of which I had before, only read about in books or watched on "Walt Disney." A total of 35 people gave up their leisure time to attend a "work bee" at the Lougheed Community Hall. And so I learned firsthand of the fellowship and fun generated from people who had come together to work on a community project.

The painting began at ten o'clock and to see people propped against ladders and balancing on scaffolds or saws-troughs was to destroy any fear that confusion would reign. Unfortunately it rained but the enthusiasm generated was not at all dampened. There were walls to be torn down, lumber to be stacked, holes to be drilled, siding to be coated with Linseed oil, and so after a communal lunch, the place really started hopping. The pounding of nail-pullers, hammers and chisels, compounded with drills and sprayers, mingled with the hubbub of chatter, laughter and the occasional triumphant cheer as someone wrestled yet another reluctant nail from the wall.

The end result was a job well done and 106 hours of volunteer labor to put towards the matching of the provincial grant. But perhaps more important was to see the strengthening of friendships, the cooperation that would have done 'Sesame Street' proud, and to watch common ground being found, that would turn passing acquaintances into friends. I now understand a little more about the people of the prairies and why they can remain so close in spirit while living so far apart. Who says that the community spirit of yesterday is dying? I'm watching it "live, in action" in Lougheed.

Hardisty Hospital Auxiliary News

Thirteen members attended the first fall meeting of the Hardisty Hospital Auxilary, held Tuesday September 11 at the hospital, with vice - president Jeanette Crone presiding.

Hospital planning representative, Hilary Gray, reported on the planning workshop she attended this past summer in Edmonton, and read a letter from the deputy minister of hospitals, stating that we should receive a decision on our hospital before year end.

Volunteer Services chairman, Phyllis Manning reported continued good turnover of showcase supplies, and stated that the beautiful crocheted doilies made by Ida Orr often are sold before she can display them. Another lovely baby set, made by Paulette Manning was turned in for sale.

Press secretary Rose Marie Thompson purchased a new album for our pictures and press clippings and this should provide us with an interesting and accurate chronicle of activities. Rose Marie suggested we have a group photo taken once a year for inclusion in the album, as many ladies who are members, move elsewhere, and names and faces dim with the passage of time.

The Auxiliary received a letter from the Legion Ladies Auxiliary inviting us to attend a meeting to discuss canvassing for charitable organizations. This meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. September 27 in the Legion Hut. All members are urged to attend.

The annual Alberta Hospital Auxiliaries convention is slated for November 27 to 30 in Calgary.

Charlotte Geiko was asked to order a special plaque in honor of the memory of Sister Elisabeth Veitch.

The auxiliary moved to purchase a color television set for the children's ward, to replace the cantankerous old black and white one.

Marilyn Manning is to be approached to see if she will again coordinate the volunteer program and supply instruction to the girls.

A date for our annual fall bingo has been set for 8 p.m. Monday October 29th in the Elks Hall. In keeping with inflation the auxiliary will be offering over $300.00 in prize money, with the blackout being worth $100.00 It is hoped that this year as in the past, good support will be received from persons from the surrounding areas, who use the hospital facilities in Hardisty. See ad this issue for full particulars of the bingo.

Next meeting is Tuesday, October 9th same time, same place. New members are always welcome.

Exercises for 1978-79 Graduates

Saturday, September 22nd was a day to be long remembered by the eighty-four persons in the 1979 graduation class of Central High School.

Many of the graduates had their pictures taken earlier in the day, and a class picture was taken prior to the evening festivities.

A tasty banquet was served in the Killam Elks Hall to get the evening underway. The graduation exercises followed at eight o'clock in the School gym. The theme for the day was "A New World Coming" and was carried out in the decorations in both the hall and the gymnasium. The theme song was sung by Gail Fossen and Gail Rittenhouse, accompanied by Shirley Erickson on piano and Lori Lund on guitar. Gail Rott played the music as the graduates proceeded on stage. Rev. Fisher gave the invocation.

A local-born man, Mr. Fred Sparrow Jr., now Superintendent of Treasury Branches in Alberta, was guest speaker and mentioned that he received his schooling at Sedgewick, and wished the graduates well as they entered this "new world." A presentation was made to Mr. Sparrow by Shelly Dion.

The presentation of awards followed, and are pictured on page 12 in this issue. The Valedictory address, given by Karen Steadman was a highlight of the evening, as Karen announced "look out world, 'cause here comes the graduates from Central High". Many pictures were taken by parents and friends as the graduates left the stage.

Dancing followed at Sedgewick Community Hall.

Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce reports

The Sedgewick Chamber of Commerce met in the Lutheran Hall September 19th. President Al Strobel welcomed the members to the first fall meeting and thanked the Lutheran Church Women for the excellent dinner.

Two letters from the County were received during the summer recess indicating that the road giving a second access to the town was under consideration and could possibly be built late in 1979.

Promotion of Agriculture Week October 21-27 was discussed and since agriculture is of prime importance to all citizens, it was decided to invite a guest speaker to our October meeting.

Mr. Neil Wilson, Business Development Representative for Tourism and Small Business attended the meeting and explained the management assistance program currently being offered by the government. Under this plan a professional management consultant will meet with the owner of a place of business and discuss problems and make suggestions to improve and promote his operation. More information may be obtained from Mr. V. Klimchuk.

Also, the Department of Labor has requested that the Chamber sponsor a number of workshops and seminars for employers. It was suggested and agreed that this be done and the the Killam Chamber of Commerce be invited to join in this project.

The figure skating trophy has been remodelled and now has more space for future names.

In the Town report Mayor Kochli stated that the contract for curbs and gutters had been let and work should begin next week.

Since there is now a trailer disposal in town it was decided to write a letter to the Town Council regarding a sign on the highway for it as well as one for the Farmer's Market. Though the welcome sign on the road south of the track needs updating, it was decided to leave this until a new town census is taken.

The next chamber meeting with a guest speaker from the Department of Agriculture is planned for October 16, 1979.

Public urged to co-operate

School safety patrols are again operating at the Sedgewick School according to Mr. Affolder, the principal. Motorists are cautioned that when the signs are down they must stop.

Failing to obey the signals of the patrols will result in your license number being reported to the RCMP who will prosecute.

New flying club organized

A meeting of local Killam and Sedgewick flyers met recently in Killam with the object of forming a flying club. As a result of this meeting the Iron Creek Flying Club has been formed. The club consists of approximately 32 members, all of which are local people who are interested in flying.

Officers for the club have been duly elected for this year and consist of president Bruce Gair; vice-president Darryl Larson; secretary Ross Danielson; and Mel Lantz as treasurer with a number of directors selected from the members.

The club has been organized with the idea of getting local flyers together to collectively pool the ideas that can make local aviation the safe and pleasurable experience it is.

The club is planning activities throughout the season that will involve the members only and other activities involving the public at large.

The Iron Creek Flying Club will hold their regular meetings on the first Monday of the month, with the next meeting being held a little ahead of time at the Ross Danielson strip on Sunday, September, 30. This will also double as a regular meeting but with the intent of getting the members together as a group with families.

The club invites and will welcome anyone interested in local aviation to attend the meetings which are held at the Killam Fire Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Hearings on waste disposal

Environment Minister Jack Cookson has ordered public hearings into the steadily growing problem of toxic waste disposal in Alberta.

The hearings will be conducted by the Environment Council of Alberta later this year after the ECA, the province's environmental "watchdog", receives the report of a Cookson-appointed management committee which will do a preliminary study of the need for toxic waste disposal facilities.

Cookson's announcement came in the wake of a public outcry over the proposed construction of a disposal plant at Fort Saskatchewan by a private company, Kinetic Contaminants Ltd.

The $30 million plant would be designed to destroy, either by incineration or chemical neutralization, some 50,000 tonnes of hazardous industrial materials annually.

Fort Saskatchewan residents have been organizing against the facility ever since Kinetic's plans were revealed in the legislature last spring.

The Fort Saskatchewan citizens' group, aware of Environment Canada reports that indicate the accumulation of toxic wastes poses a serious hazard in Western Canada, concedes that a suitable facility is needed to rid the province of these materials.

But the group argues that a disposal plant should not be located near any provincial population centres.

The Environment Canada report, An Inventory of Hazardous Waste in the Northwest Region, completed last January, indicates that the disposal of toxic materials is posing an ever greater problem in the slowly-industrializing West.

Lead, photographic materials, tetra-ethyl lead sludge, dry-cleaning fluids, pesticides and the cancer-causing PCBs (polychlorinated bi-phenyls) are only some of the materials being illegally dumped at landfills, poured into sewer systems, pumped into abandoned oil wells and stored in unsafe places.

"Current disposal practices are inadequate, and no economical, accessible and environmentally acceptable (disposal) facilities exist," says the Environmental Canada report.

Ordering the ECA hearings into the problem is probably the most important decision taken by Cookson since the MLA for Lacombe assumed the environment portfolio after the March 14 election.

Widely criticized earlier for indecisiveness in stalling the hearings order, the minister has now been acclaimed by opposition politicians and environmentalists for putting the issue to a formal review.

There are some doubts however that the report of the management committee might limit the scope of debate before the ECA. But Cookson says the report will make the hearings "tidier" and give the public a chance to react to specific positions.

Editorially

Trivial issues

In recent years there has been an over-abundance of human "rights" clamor for this group and that. A vocal minority of women folk resented being designated by "Mrs." and their husbands' names.

So we got "Ms."

Advertisers cannot advertise for a "man" to operate a bulldozer. It must be a "person."

A housewife wanting a woman to help her out on occasions must also advertise for a "person."

A tall-girl shop wanted employees over five feet, eight inches. No dice.

Homosexuals and others of similar ilk are petitioning for recognition of their sexual deviation ... these also are "rights."

The Diefenbaker government passed a bill of rights as did the Lougheed government. Why must everything be spelled out? What was wrong with rights granted under Magna Carta 764 years ago and which have protected the British citizen since that time?

We're getting fed up with all this drivel—which is what most of it is. What about our "rights" to be left alone? What about business people's "rights" to solve some of their own problems?

Discrimination on reasons of race, color and creed have come a long way to this enlightened age.

What we object to is the emphasis on discrimination on account of height, weight, sexual preference and a host of equally miniscule issues taking up so much of our time—and creating a bureaucracy to sustain these issues.

Satchel Paige's Philosophy

If you're looking for the secret of good health and long life, here's a classic bit of advice from the fabulous old baseball pitcher, Satchel Paige:

"Avoid fried meats which angry up the blood.

"If your stomach disputes you, lie down and pacify it with cool thoughts.

"Keep the juices flowing by jangling around gently as you move.

"Go light, very light on the vices, such as carrying around in society. The social rumble ain't restful.

"Avoid running at all times.

"Don't look back. Something might be gaining on you."

What Others Say

We owe the farmer

A merchant without his books is like a mariner without a compass, for both would most likely make shipwreck, so it must hold true with a farmer, insofar as he is a merchant — which he certainly often is — for he buys, sells and trades, and yet he rarely keeps books, and often he makes shipwreck, that is, he sells his produce at less than cost, and continues to raise what does not pay him, chancing it . . .

Necessity has made them bookkeepers but this has not guaranteed farmers success. If anything it confirms what they have long suspected . . . money earned is too often less than money spent.

We know many farmers and admire the vast majority of them. They are an optimistic and hardy breed. At the mercy of the weather and ever-mounting expenses, it is a wonder more don't give up; yet they hang on, convinced things will improve.

Perhaps it is the independence, the responsibility of succeeding determined largely by individual effort. Certainly love of the land is a major factor. It must be with tremendous satisfaction that the farmer watches that golden stream of grain flow into a bin, or that head of livestock tip the scales at a healthy weight.

It's not an easy way to make a living, and not many get rich doing it. When income is compared to expense, break-even can be an achievement. Yet, somehow, the farmer continues to improve his production, guaranteeing Canadians adequate and relatively low priced agricultural products. And if supply and demand causes a rise in prices, we err if we blame him.

If anyone in this land of ours is unpaid, it is the son of the soil and our debt to him is great indeed.

The Third Column

by Truncate

"I Write as I Please"

THIS COLUMN HAS said before and now says again, "That Power Corrupts, and Absolute Power Corrupts Absolutely". The truth of this statement becomes more and more evident with the passing of time. Ever since man became a reality on this universe, he has been seeking an identity; not only searching to identify himself and his place in the scheme of things, why he is here and what his destiny is, but what his position is with regard to those with whom he must of necessity associate himself. It became abundantly clear, with the passage of time, that association and cooperation produced the amenities of life in better abundance than individual effort. Association produced trifles, which in turn resulted in communities, which likewise resulted in the establishment of towns and cities where combined effort gave better living. Yet there were those closely associated with the land who remained as they were and became known as rural inhabitants, producers of the raw materials such as grains and livestock, without which those in urban centres could not survive. Concentration was centred on food, clothing and shelter, the basic needs of survival. Later came the desire for those amenities which eased the struggle for comfortable living. Not the least of these desires came on stream quickly as people sought ways to enjoy themselves and release their appetite for action. These things followed in the path of man having identified himself and his desires.

YET THERE continued to exist the increasing need to set priorities; to put first things first and let the rest follow in natural sequence. Among the greatest of these priorities was establishing the relationship between producers and consumers in a situation where one could not survive without the other. Such is the situation in which the entire world presently finds itself. Production, processing and getting the product to consumers has become a high priority among governments everywhere, yet the harder they work at the issue the more confused things become. A hungry world is crying for food and the system doesn't allow it to be placed before them, in necessary quantities and affordable prices.

THE PRESENT PRIORITY given by the federal government to providing 2000 new grain cars in a situation where 10,000 minimum are needed, is a good indication of slowness in realizing the priority which should be given to getting foodstuff to those who want and need it. This dereliction of duty has now gone on so long that the catching-up process will be long and agonizing. Of equal priority, in spite of the new cars to come on stream, is the ability to get the material where it belongs. Even with 100,000 grain cars, the grain will not get there unless the railway companies give priority to getting it there, and the government solves the absurdity of strikes with harbors filled with ships waiting to be loaded. There is a crying out for food all over the world. The need is there, the sales are there, but the means are way out in left field.

THE BEAUOCRATIC buffoons who for too long have been floundering in the sea of inadequacy had better surface and take a look around; have the intestinal fortitude (guts, to the layman) to put their priorities where they belong and get on with the task of helping in better manner to provide food for the hungry world.

THERE IS NO NEED for railways not to deliver grain efficiently, there is no need for strikes to cripple the terminals, there is no need for shipping companies to pay penalties while waiting to load, there is no need for producers to be sitting on quotas and losing millions because of the inadequacy of the system, there is no need for the tremendous volume of storage on the farms, there is no need for the staggering debts for purchase of machinery while grain fills the bins. The world need is most evident and from world reports is getting worse. And here we are while the powers that be smear their hands in the pork barrel and wrangle over moving an embassy. That's our problem today as I see it; the setting of priorities, seeing that those priorities are the right ones, and getting on with the task.

Strome and District News

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hayes accompanied their daughter Barbara to the Misericordia Hospital School of Nursing's first annual Banding and awards ceremony. Killam kindergarten enrolls 19 students

Kindergarten began September 5 with Mrs. Donna Polege as teacher and Mrs. M. Fisher as assistant Nineteen children enrolled for the 1979-80 class. They are Adina Alexandie, Dorothy Au, Bradley Borgel, Tanya Brodie, Thomas Bruketa, Darren Busse, Lisa Child, Kari Gair, Lori Ann George, Karla Holt, Carrie Johnson, Cory Kiebanoky, Joleen Lewis, Lisa Morken, Kelly Schafer, Andrea Spornitz, Trent Stang, Rhonda Stovin and Joanna Wallner.

The children were greeted at the door in western style - kindergarten round-up time. Paper cowboy hats decorated the walls, chaps and spurs were used as a centre piece. The children dressed western for a day. At craft time, cowboy vests were made from paper bags and little cowboy hats were made from melted styrafoam cups. Western toys were made available and enjoyed by all the children. Trent Stang loaned the kindergarten his spring horse. Thank you Trent.

The kindergarten classroom has been divided into several different centres. There exists a playhouse centre, quiet activity centre, a reading and music centre, a work centre, a carpentry centre and a play area with sandbox.

This month "me" was studied. Children brought pictures of themselves and traced around themselves. Then the "me" shape was colored, cut out and hung up for display.

The children also learned about the different shapes and colors and of course several new song and finger rhymes.

Also thank you to Mrs. Linda Bruketa who came and read a much enjoyed story. Most exciting for the kindergarten children was getting acquainted with each other and what fun it is to play together.

Swimming begins Wednesday September 26, October 3, 10, 17 and 24th from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Please send swimsuits and a towel. Mothers are welcome to come and join. Please send runners or soft soled shoes for gym Wednesday afternoons

by Darcy and Duanne Jahns

Good Morning World!

Whoever thought up the expression "Good morning!" obviously deserves to be shot. Show no mercy to those who show no mercy to you. What is so good about morning? Is it the start of a brand new day that makes people break out in a Tang rash? Hogwash! After putting in a day like the previous one, it would only be masochistic to want to endure another with a smile on your face.

For many, morning is considered the rebirth of their spirit. For me, it's the still birth of mine. I do not enjoy the first brilliant rays of sunshine blanching my eyes, nor do I find anything amusing about being serenaded awake with a miserable attempt at "There's no business like show business" by a rooster, three turkeys, two crows, and a manic goose. I would rather exist like a mushroom than wake up like Helen Keller.

I do not enjoy jumping merrily about in a cold shower to become fully awake. I don't know how the Scandinavians do it and neither am I about to waste any precious sleep trying to find out. If they want to freeze their you-know-what off that's their business. As for me, cold water on a warm body makes me black out.

I don't appreciate exercises in the morning. Muscles that scream from exhaustion don't want to scream from pain as well. With my luck I'd probably have a stroke while searching for my toes and would never be found until I began to attract flies.

Citrus juice is another thing I determinately avoid in the morning. Health freaks would rather ingest a gallon of the stuff than suffer from a cold. I would rather suffer from a cold than nurse a mouthful of acid burns.

I also don't see how anyone can eat when they arise. The slopping sound gruel makes in a bowl is about as disgusting as I am throwing it up. Toast is another killer. The harsh crunching sound on a tired brain is unbelievably maddening. I avoid corn flakes for the same reason. Rice Krispies are a bit of a challenge though. I prefer a cereal that dies peacefully on a spoon to one that kicks and screams before you eat it. While everyone porks down an eight course breakfast, I would rather slump into the oatmeal and vegetate. I've heard porridge packs are great for the skin.

After a hearty meal, most people migrate to the bathroom to tend to the regular basics like brushing their teeth, combing their hair, shaving, and applying deodrant. Im on the other hand, prefer to sit and meditate upon those concepts. I still don't understand why anyone would willfully flog their teeth with a course tooth brush for the sake of a few holes. My hair, unlike the rest of my body which is still unconscious, hurts. Touring a comb through it only emphasizes that point. Shaving is another tragedy. A razor only makes enemies with skin. For me, the only way to shave painlessly is to splash on Novacain before hand. Applying anti-perspirant is futile. After all, at this hour my sweat glands are still asleep. Why would I want to gas them with Ban and risk waking them up?

In a few minutes and another cup of coffee you should be ready to go out and face whatever the day might throw at you, right? Well you might be, but I've probably nodded off somewhere. All things considered, I hate mornings. To me, happiness is a broken alarm clock; ecstasy is a marshmallow mattress...with me on it.

Friendship club meets in Daysland

Mrs. Lydia Wendt is attending a weeks convention at Spruce Grove.

The Friendship meeting was held September 18th in the United Church social room. Erma McCarroll took the presidents chair in the absence of Anna Boggs. The devotion was read by Alma Koetke-The Devotional Challenge. The hymn sung was Bringing In The Sheaves. There were 18 members present. It was decided to have a Thanksgiving dinner at our next meeting October 16th and each member may bring a friend or her husband.

Rev. Mina Pool spoke on the Senior Citizens days at the Killam Agri-plex. Then she showed slides on her trip to Russia which was very interesting. A lovely lunch was then served.

The Sunbeam Club met in the hall September 19th with 20 members present. There were five tables of whist played. The high score went to Dorothy McDevitt and low to Rose Makarawski. There will be no card party October 3rd but the next one will be October 17th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown were visiting their son Tom and family last weekend. They went fishing at Buffalo Lake while there.

Laura Graham returned from visiting friends in California.

Mrs. Anna Boggs accompanied Mrs. Joyce Gould of Rosalind to Vermilion last Saturday to attend the graduation of their grandson Greg Boggs from the J. R. Robson High School in Vermilion.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorothy Candlish took in the graduation of Mrs. Candlish's grandaughter Cheryl Horst from the J.R. Robson High School in Vermilion.

A New Season

Nothing so vividly portrays the changes of seasons as an association with the land and agriculture. On election day, May 22nd, the spring seeding of agricultural crops had barely commenced in the constituency of Crowfoot. At that time most of the land was black with fallow.

Since early June, I have spent more time than usual in the City of Ottawa working on a couple of special summer committees. In particular, I was heavily involved with the caucus committee on Parliamentary Reform. We were expected to make recommendations to the government on Parliamentary Reform in time to be included in the fall Speech from the Throne. Those activities, plus two weeks in the City of Vienna, Austria, on a United Nations Conference on Science and Technology for developing countries has pushed summer into fall.

I am now back in the constituency in the midst of golden swaths and the whir of combines. The obvious fact that it is fall indicates that it is time for a constituency tour of the villages, hamlets and towns of Crowfoot before leaving for Ottawa in preparation for the opening of the House of Commons on October 9th.

While in Ottawa, I will look forward to your correspondence and phone calls. Remember, you can write to any Member of Parliament postage free or you may phone me person-to-person collect at area code 613 992-4460. For reasons of economy, I encourage that whenever possible you write your concerns and post them. The day-to-day issues of life are, however, often more urgent than the speed of our postal system - in which case please feel free to contact me by phone.

During the past five years I have attempted to keep close contact with my constituents. As a general rule, on most Friday evening I have returned home to my constituency and returned to Ottawa late Sunday night so that I could be in my office on Monday mornings.

My travels from Ottawa to the constituency have traditionally been in response to invitations from various organizations or communities. Since the new constituency encompasses many more towns, villages and hamlets, I wish to extend a special invitation for you to contact me when there is some activity in your area which you would like me to attend. Generally speaking, my calendar is booked two to three weeks in advance and I would ask you to bear that in mind when extending invitations. Moreover, the minority government status will limit my constituency visits to weekends and other dates will require very special consideration.

Further, I do not request that you always invite me to be your guest speaker. While that is a function I very much enjoy and believe it is important for constituents, it is equally important that we Members of a representative government also be called upon to listen to the needs and aspirations of our constituents. Whenever you are having a meeting which you believe your Member ought to be apprised of your concerns, feel free to extend the invitation. I would like to be with you if for no other reason that to be able to keep in touch with the spirit of your deliberations and the aspirations of your local community.

4.1 Litre V6 Engine Exclusive to Buick

OSHAWA, Ont. - Buick Electra's new 4.1 litre (252 CID) 4-barrel V6 engine - a Buick exclusive - completes the process begun five years ago to offer V6 engines in every Buick car line.

The new engine, standard in both Electra Limited, Electra Park Avenue, LeSabre and LeSabre Limited, will provide both efficiency of operation and performance comparable to Buick's more traditional V8 engine offerings.

The 4.1 litre rates 125 net hp and 205 pounds-feet at torque, compared to its sister 3.8 litre V6 at 115 net hp and 190 pounds-feet of torque.

A 1979 Buick Electra with a standard 5.7 litre (350 CID) 4-barrel V8 and a 1980 Electra with its standard 4.1 litre 4-barrel V6 show a 0-to-96 kmh acceleration difference of approximately 1.3 seconds in favor of the V8.

Increased displacement on the 4.1 litre was achieved by enlarging the 3.8 litre bore from 3.8 inches to 3.965 inches, using a Siamese cylinder block to maintain bore centres and avoid increasing engine weight.

New pistons were required, as well as new rings. The latter have a specific coating for the Siamese design.

The 4.1 litre version employs the rolled-fillet crankshaft from the turbocharged 3.8 litre for added strength and a quadrajet carburetor for increased power output. For improved cold engine driveability and also weight savings, the intake manifold is cast aluminum, making the larger 4.1 litre V6 actually five kilograms (11.02 lbs.) lighter than the 3.8 litre version.

Other 1980 Buicks featuring V6 engines include the front-wheel-drive compact Skylark with an optional 2.8 litre (173 CID) 2-barrel V6 and the sporty Skyhawk, mid-size Century and Regal which have the naturally aspirated 3.8 litre (231 CID) 2-barrel V6 as standard equipment.

A turbocharged version of the 3.8 litre V6 is standard in the Riviera S TYPE, LeSabre Sport Coupe, Regal Sport Coupe, and Century Turbo Coupe and available as an option in all Century coupes and sedans and in the Riviera luxury model.

News Items from the Anglican Church

Are your potatoes, pumpkins and tomatoes ready for the Harvest Festival, to be held at each of our five churches this Sunday? See you there.

Mrs. Colvin Bearisto is now confined to the University Hospital in Edmonton. Reports indicate she is progressing well.

Miss Margaret Martin spent a few days with her grandparents, Don and Verona Cookson of Lougheed, and introduced herself to the pigs. Also visiting with the Cookson family and taking advantage of the goose hunting season were Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Ibbitson of Williams Lake, B.C. and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Eaton.

Unless there is a sudden wave of response this week, the proposed auction in aid of the St. John's Church Building Fund will have to be cancelled. Come on now-you must have something stashed in your basement or garage that you no longer want and that someone else would love to have. If so, contact Rev. Conrad immediately.

Mrs. D. Young, mother of Rev. Conrad, has now returned to her home in Bridgewater, Nova Scotia after a much enjoyed three week visit with the Conrad family.

A congregational meeting of St. Edmund's Parish is scheduled for Tuesday, October 9th at 8:00 p.m. at St. John's Parish Hall. Please make every effort to attend, as Rev. Conrad brings some important messages from the Diocese.

The installation of bathrooms at St. Mark's Church in Hardisty is proceeding well.

Rev. Conrad has now completed his term as President of the Flagstaff Ministerial Association, and has now been given the position of Co-ordinator of Christian Education. His calendar indicates that he is working very hard indeed at his new post.

Gretna Goodwill club holds meeting

Our club held their monthly meeting at Melba Camerons on September 12th. There were 5 members, two lady visitors and two little boys in attendance. The president welcomed the visitors then the previous minutes were read and approved, treasurer's report followed and then the business meeting.

Roll call was answered by bringing a oddity of vegetables, fruit or flowers. Chrissie bringing the oddest of oddities a potato, just like a person's face with ears, nose, mouth and cigarette from its lips formed from a root. It was really very cute just like "The Old Man of the Mountains." All the rest were very interesting also. God made siamese twins in every living thing. We also brought many play things for the Lougheed Play School that starts late in September. We had a grand assortment for the little tots, and Marlene offered to deliver these articles to Lougheed. The birthday box again this month got its little donation.

The October meeting is to be held at Helen O'Reillys and Chrissie is to be co-hostess. The roll call is tell something you're thankful for or read a poem, pertaining to Thanksgiving.

Etta won the raffle and Marlene the lucky tea prize, which was a collander, cutting board and cabbage, very appropriate for this meeting.

The hostess and co-hostess Etta served us a lovely lunch sitting around the kitchen table in the beautiful sunshine coming through the french doors and overlooking the creek, valley, hills and trees, such a fall like scene.

Following lunch we had a cosmetic display and a model. Our model was the most perfect model that ever sat to have a face made up. He was so serious and so interested in every cosmetic and when made up was a beautiful doll. Thank you Cory.

See you all next month gals and hoping for another wonderful fall day.

Alberta Agriculture

By Dallas W. Schmidt Alberta Minister of Agriculture

As your Minister of Agriculture for the last six months, I have found myself in the position of having to set policies and initiate programs that I believe are in the best interests of Alberta producers.

During this period I have also found that this column has become one of my best forums for reviewing government agricultural policy and for discussing the many varied issues that make agriculture so interesting and sometimes controversial. This column offers me still a third option which I now intend to use.

From time to time we in government request public input into policy making. As you can appreciate, obtaining input from each individual on every agricultural issue would be almost impossible; therefore, most times we rely on meetings with representatives of various agriculture interest groups.

However, I think some larger issues require greater direct public input. This I hope to obtain in the form of feedback from my readers.

As a result, I'm requesting that all readers fill out the following questionnaire. The opening section requesting personal data is entirely optional. Still, those answers will help me make the questionnaire, what the experts call, "statistically meaningful". As I said, we often ask for public input. Too often we don't get it. This is one time that I hope you and I will provide fundamental information for our industry.

After completing the questionnaire, please clip it out and mail to the special address listed below. By all means, use an additional sheet to answer any questions you feel need a detailed reply.

Questionnaire

Please send all replies to: Alberta Agriculture — Today and Tomorrow, P.O. Box 3010, Station A, Edmonton, Alberta T5J 2T6. If necessary, hand it to your D.A.

Name of Nearest Town: _____

Type of business, farm operation, etc: _____

Number of years in farming _____ and/or in agriculture _____?

If you are a producer, what is your size of operation (unit area)? _____

1. The Crow Rate is an issue where the Alberta government has requested public input before new policy is developed.
   a. Do you wish to see the Crow Benefit — which is the true cost of transporting grain minus the Crow Rate — continue to exist? Yes ____ No ____ Undecided ____
   b. If yes, should this difference (which is the Benefit) be paid directly to farmers or to the railways? Farmers ____ Railways ____ Undecided ____
   c. Local information sessions on this issue have been suggested. Would you like to see such sessions in your area? Yes ____ No ____
2. The high cost of entering farming is becoming an important issue.
   a. Do you think special (financial) programs should be implemented beyond the beginning farmers' rebate program now operated by the Agricultural Development Corporation? Yes ____ No ____ Undecided ____
   b. Do you believe grain quotas have become a major problem for beginning farmers? Yes ____ No ____ Undecided ____
3. Agricultural services are a major responsibility of Alberta Agriculture.
   a. Is market information regularly supplied by the department adequate? Yes ____ No ____
   b. If no, what areas to you think should be expanded? _____ (if necessary, please use an additional sheet for this and other general questions).
   c. Major extension programs currently exist through our D.A.'s and D.H.E.'s. Are these helpful? Yes ____ No ____
   d. How do you think our D.A. and D.H.E. services could be improved? _____
4. In general, Canada's grain industry depends on the 'quota' system which is based on the philosophy of equal marketing opportunity.
   a. Do you favor the quota marketing system? Yes ____ No ____ Undecided ____
   b. If no or undecided, would you favor a marketing system based only on price? Yes ____ No ____
   c. If you're somewhere in the middle of this whole question, which grains do you think should have quotas? _____
   d. Which grains shouldn't have quotas? _____
   e. Should domestic feed grains be subject to quotas? Yes ____ No ____
5. Stabilization is a controversial topic. If you are a producer or associated with agri-business, then:
   a. Please list the specific type of operation in which you're involved _____
   b. Do you think a general stabilization program for all agricultural products should be implemented? Yes ____ No ____ Undecided ____
   c. Should the decision to start a program be left to each product sectors? Yes ____ No ____
   d. If you've answered yes to either 'b' or 'c', do you think any such program should be voluntary _____ or mandatory _____?
   e. Regardless of your answer to 'b' and 'c', do you think any program should have minimum (yes or no) _____ or maximum (yes or no) _____ limits?
6. Research is important to the continuing growth and maintenance of our agriculture industry. In months past I have described our Farming for the Future program. What areas do you think require further research? _____

The above questions cover some of the areas that are of great importance to Alberta's farm community. They also concern sectors where I will be required to make future decisions as your Minister of Agriculture.

I think that our input is important to my decision making process. Often, the cries of a particular sector are loudly heard while the wishes of the 'silent majority' remain unknown. Through this questionnaire I would like to see some input from that 'silent majority'.

On Thursday morning a cement pump truck owned by Canan Cementers of Wainwright was hit by a C.N. freight train on the railway crossing one mile west of Viking. Due to the angle at which the road crosses the track the truck driver did not see the approaching train which struck the truck at approximately 60 m.p.h. Heavy damage was done to both the truck and the locomotive with the truck driver receiving only minor injuries.

Missionary Church holds 60th

This year marks the 60th year of services of the Missionary Church in the Galahad District. During these past years there has been a good number of people who have been a part of this Sunday School and have gone on to be successful in the various chosen careers.

Over the years God has used this congregation of believers far beyond the limits of a local geographical area. Missionaries have gone out from its doors to go through the doors of distant lands. Men have gone to Bible Colleges, choosing God's will for their lives and entering the active ministry, while others have remained to support the church and serve as laymen. One such man is the pastor of the fastest growing and largest assembly of believers in the denomination of the Missionary Church.

A Bible College President and Bible Professor has trained others for ministry in our world. The present District Superintendent over California District is a product of Galahad Missionary Church. The young ladies have become Pastor's wives, missionaries and housewives all dedicated to serving God. One is surely to say that over the years God has used this congregation and has served not only its community, county and country, but has accomplished the commission that Christ gave, To go out into the highways and byways and compel them to come in, and to go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.

In the years to come it is the goal and purpose of this congregation to continue to train and prepare individuals to meet the challenges of our ever and rapid changing society. Our youth must be shown how to live according to the plan that God has laid out.

The celebration of these 60 years will take place at the Missionary Church in Galahad on September 29 and 30.

The following is the planned schedule: Saturday September 29 at 7:30 p.m. open house and coffee time. Rev Donald Taylor a former member of the Galahad district and present District Superintendent of the Missionary Church in California will be here and bringing the message on Sunday morning. Mrs. Paul (Jean Taylor) Leaniste will also be here with her husband. The public is invited to be here for this time of reacquaintance and fellowship with old friends.

On Sunday September 30, at 11 a.m. the worship service with Rev. Taylor bringing the message. At 12:00 will be a pot luck lunch and at 4:30 Rev Norman Reimer, District Superintendent of Canada West District of The Missionary Church will be bringing the message. At 6:30 p.m. lunch and fellowship in the church basement.

We invite you to come and join us in this happy occasion.

Fall Tillage: Pro's and Con's

Now that the harvest season is almost completed, many of you will begin to do some fall tillage. There are both advantages and disadvantages to fall tillage.

Pro's

Fall tillage is a good way to spread out the straw left after combining. It also increases the return rate of organic matter to the soil. If your combine leaves the straw in windrows after harvest, its a good idea to cultivate your land in the fall to spread and incorporate the crop residue.

In the case of rapeseed residue there is another good reason to cultivate and spread the straw around. This reason is a toxin that is readily leached from the rape residue. This toxin stunts the growth of plants, delays maturity and you end up with an uneven stand due to poor germination. Both cereal and oilseed crops may be affected if grown on land following rape. However different crops and varieties have different tolerances to this toxin. If the rapeseed straw is not spread well enough the toxin may result in uneven crop stands next year. If the straw is spread out the effect of the toxin is diluted and the following crop is usually not affected.

Another advantage to fall tillage is that the soil is broken up, which allows for percolation of water and for a more workable soil condition next spring.

Fall cultivation also gives you a last stab at those bothersome weeds. Thistle and quackgrass tend to suffer severely under late fall tillage. The plants and roots are broken up and are less able to withstand the rigors of a cold winter.

Cultivation in fall is also needed for fall applied chemicals and fall applied anhydrous ammonia.

Con's

Some of the disadvantages of fall tillage are that the snow trapping ability of the field is reduced or lost. This is because the stubble is buried or laid over and just doesn't trap snow like standing stubble does.

Tillage in fall also reduces your ground cover which in effect makes your soil more prone to wind drifting.

A compromise between the pro's and con's of fall tillage can be achieved by using a heavy duty cultivator or with ripping shanks or spikes on your cultivator. This way the soil is broken up to allow water penetration and to make a more workable soil next spring. And yet a fair amount of stubble is left standing to trap snow and to prevent wind erosion.

Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year

Nine youths and a group of Candy Stripers and Patient Aides were recognized as Alberta Junior Citizens of the Year at a luncheon held in the Calgary Inn Friday, September 21st.

Deserving youngsters between the ages of 6 and 18 are chosen annually for the awards, through a program sponsored by Alberta's investor-owned electric utilities, Calgary Power Ltd. and Alberta Power Ltd., and conducted in co-operation with the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association (AWNA).

Lieutenant-Governor Ralph Steinhauser presented the winners with commemorative certificates at the luncheon, which is held in conjunction with the AWNA's annual convention.

This year's junior citizens are Brenda Altmiks, 16, of Westlock; Susan Crocker, 15, of Dewinton; Roxanne Davidson, 16, of Edmonton; Beverly Erickson, 16, of Camrose; Grande Prairie Candy Stripers and Patient Aides; represented by Rhonda Fedchuk, 14, and Delilah Badry, 17; Kim Haustein, 16, of Erskine; Stacey Hirsch, 11, of Medicine Hat; Carol Kneller, 17, of Castor; Kurt Konschuk, 18, of Crossfield; and Mark Neiman, 17, of Leduc.

A panel of AWNA members judged nominees on the basis of courage, initiative, selflessness and responsibility.

The junior citizens and their parents toured Fort Calgary Friday morning, before the presentations were made.

Each winner also received a $300 Canada Savings Bond.

The Junior Citizens of the Year program was first organized in 1961. Since then more that 200 Alberta youths have been recognized as Junior Citizens of the Year.

The 1979 Junior Citizens of the Year were honored recently during the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association convention held in Calgary. The group is shown here touring Fort Calgary as part of the awards program. Winners include Brenda Altmiks of Westlock, Susan Crocker of Dewinton, Roxanne Davidson of Edmonton, Beverly Erickson of Camrose, Grande Prairie Candy Stripers and Patient Aides, represented by Rhonda Fedchuk and Delilah Badry, Kim Haustein of Erskine, Stacey Hirsch of Medicine Hat, Carol Kneller of Castor, Kurt Konschuk of Crossfield and Mark Neiman of Leduc.

"Helping Children Help Themselves" Teaching Package:

What parent is not interested in this topic? If your children, or the children in your youth group, are between the ages of 6 and 12 years, you will be interested in a new teaching package, starring Cory Capable and Cathy Confident. It's now available from my office free of charge. This package has written material and suggested activities that will help you teach your children to be like Cory and Cathy. It will encourage them to cook, choose their clothing, take care of their own grooming, manage their allowances wisely, make their feelings and wishes known without being obnoxious, and to be aware of home safety, particularly about fires, falls, and electricity. Write Box 270 Sedgewick or phone 384-3737. "Helping Children Help Themselves" teaching package.

Cooking Disasters:

Everyone has them. Gladys Balog, D.H.E.st Lacombe passed on these tips that she picked up from the Canadian Living Magazine.

1. Burning food is common. The best thing to do is, without scrapping, pour the contents into a clean pot. If it's potatoes you've burned, add cold water and lemon juice, bring to a boil, and cook a few minutes.
2. Now to clean the pot! Put ¼ cup automatic dishwashing detergent in the pot and fill with water. Boil about 15 minutes and cool. The burnt offerings should lift out.
3. If you overcook a roast and it's dry, slice it, add vegetables and some liquid (consomme or tomatoes) and cook, covered for ½ hour.
4. If you slightly oversalt stews, soups etc. add a piece of potato and cook a bit longer. The potato will draw out some of the salt. A little sugar added will also help counteract the salt.
5. For an underbaked cake that's moist and soggy, slice it and dry in a 350 degree oven.

Many visitors to Hardisty

Barely nice to see our old friend Bill Miller of Fredonia, Kansas back in Hardisty for a quick visit. His places to visit up here are so scattered that he can't spend much time anywhere when he does get up this way.

Bill also says that the winter wheat crop in Kansas is really tremendous this year and with a good price farmers are happy.

He found gas cheaper here and found the bread from our hard Canadian wheat a real treat when he had supper in Weyburn. He thought that Hardisty had changed a great deal since he was here last, in [illegible] before.

Mrs. Frances Budayna of Wilkie has been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Jeckells also her long time friend Betty Mills.

Edna Wells spent a few days in Edmonton babysitting her granddaughter, Candace Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Kalvin Wells.

On September 2, the twenty fifth wedding anniversary of Bud and Jean Bargbeim, the Johnston family gathered at the campsite for a dinner. All of Nettie Johnston's children attended, with Harry and Joyce coming from Coleman, Kas and Mary of Stettler, Doris and Oscar Bliss of Lloydminster, Beatrice and Ervin Kuellar of Camrose (and as their 25 wedding anniversary was not too far away they made it a double celebration.) Edith and Wayne Bliss of from here, and eleven of their grandchildren as well as Reinz and Mary Griebel of Castor with daughter Irene and Valerie and a friend from Edmonton. We hope these two couples will be back again to celebrate many more anniversaries.

Eugene Madden from England enjoyed a two weeks holiday with his Uncle Pat and Marion Madden. He was taken to Drumheller to meet Patrick and family and then Maddens took him to Banff so he saw quite a bit of Alberta which he thought was a beautiful province.

Mr. and Mrs. Orland Nokelby from Lytton, B.C. have been visiting the Goodrich families lately.

Billy Robinson accompanied her niece Margaret Gerring to Edmonton where she visited for a few days.

Sorry to learn too, that Sonny Wells was hit by a car in Edmonton and he will be on crutches for several weeks.

Olaf Nelson of Flagstaff Lodge attened his great niece's wedding at Lajord, Saskatchewan. He went with Lorne and Mary Broen and Kevin of Camrose also Isabel Nelson so maybe there will be more to report next week.

Peace is not absence of war, it is a virtue, a state of mind, a disposition for benevolence, confidence, justice.
Benedict de Spinoza

Peace is not the absence of conflict from life, but the ability to cope with it.

Golf championship playoffs

Tiny Mediski (left) receives low score for ladies from John Stubbs.

Sunday, September 9th was the day set for the President - Vice President tournament and also the men's and ladies club championship playoffs at the Sedgewick Golf Club.

Eighteen holes were scheduled but rain forced cancellation of the last nine holes; so the trophies were awarded to the low scores of the first nine holes.

Seven men and six ladies participated in the playoff. Garnet Eckstrand turned in the low score for the men and Tiny Mediski held low score for ladies. The names were drawn from a hat for the President - Vice President dual with Roy Reinke and his "Vices" coming up victorious.

Congratulations to the winners and hopefully more will come out for these club functions in the future.

Brownies and Guides begin on October 4

An organizational meeting of the Sedgewick Local association of the Girl Guides of Canada was held on September 20 at the Anglican Church Hall. In attendance at the meeting was District Commissioner, Mrs. Sonja Frank, who discussed the new age groupings which are to come into effect this year. Girls may now join Brownies at age six, Guides begin at nine, and Pathfinders at twelve.

Election of officers followed with these results: president Maryann Lewis, secretary Barb McArthur, treasurer Thora Johnson and badge secretary Shirley Kobsar.

Leaders for the Brownies this year are Laurie Nordstrom and Robin McLean and for the Guides, Elaine Keith and Jan House. Please feel free to call Laurie at 384-3855 or Elaine at 384-3892 if you have girls who would like to join these groups.

It was decided to start the year off with a wiener roast at the lake October 4. Girls are to be at the Anglican Church after school (2:00 -early closing) where transportation will be waiting to take them to the lake.

Premier juggles cabinet to replace Hugh Horner

Premier Peter Lougheed lost his rural lieutenant of 12 years as Deputy Premier and Economic Development Minister Hugh Horner resigned last week to become Ottawa's first grain transportation boss.

To maintain the rural-urban mix in the Lougheed inner cabinet, Agriculture Minister Dallas Schmidt (PC- Wetaskiwin-Leduc) has been dropped into Horner's chair in the member cabinet priorities committee.

But no individual minister will wear all Horner's many hats. The Barrhead country doctor had built up after four years in Opposition and eight years in government where he held successively the agriculture, transportation and economic development portfolios.

The six-month-old economic development portfolio was tailor-made for Horner who obtained the promise he could organize the super-department from Lougheed before he agreed to run again in the winter provincial election.

But Horner expressed no apologies and Lougheed no regrets that the minister decided to tackle the grain coordinator's job. They had not foreseen it would be established when they were considering Horner's political future late last year.

Creation of the grain coordinator's post fulfills a Conservative promise made during the campaign for the May 22 federal election.

In the job, Horner will be responsible for allocations of grain cars, negotiations with all the players in the domestic grain trade and recommendations for legislative changes that will improve the efficiency of the industry.

The new Tory government in Ottawa has taken, under Transport Minister Don Mazankowski more decisive action on the grain transport issue than it has on any other single front since coming to power. Approval in principle of the Prince Rupert terminal expansion, a promise of the final word on rail-line abandonment later this fall and Horner's appointment appear to indicate the government is determined to put the grain handling system in order.

So Horner can probably be confident of strong government backing as he makes some of the difficult decisions necessary to do the job.

But judging from his past criticisms of the Canadian Wheat Board and indications that he favors a dramatic rise in freight rates for railway companies, he is likely to encounter opposition from some quarters--most notably the Saskatchewan government, Saskatchewan Wheat Pool and the National Farmer's Union.

Meanwhile, in Edmonton, Calgary-Glenmore MLA Hugh Planche, an owner of a Calgary pipe manufacturing firm, has been appointed economic development minister in Horner's place. Planche was Conservative party whip, the government's representative on Syncrude Canada Ltd.'s board of directors and has strong connections with the Alberta business community.

Stromberg announces paving of '36'

There were over thirty interested citizens and executive at the Camrose Progressive Conservative general meeting held on Wednesday, September 26. The meeting was held in Killam in an effort to change the focus from a Camrose centred organization.

Following supper, Gordon Hilker introduced the president Brent Hrawiey and members of the executive and the MLA, Gordon Stromberg. Routine business was effectively dealt with by the chair. The chair and the MLA were called upon for a report.

Mr. Stromberg in his remarks pointed out that oil and related matters are still the major concern of the provincial legislators his major concerns however are still at the local constituency level. He told the gathering that Highway 36 will be paved next year from Killam to Galahad and also reported some activity is taking place for a Provincial Building in Killam. In concluding his remarks, just before opening the meeting for a question and answer period, he stated that he plans to continue to work for the establishing of an air strip for the area.

A number of questions ranging from hospital costs, better roads, Senior Citizen's accomodations and MLA salaries were directed at Gordon. In his reply he said a large portion of the budget now goes to hospital and education at the expense of other government services. Considerable dialogue followed on the costs of hospitals and alternate ways of financing these, with no solution forthcoming.

Mr. Ed Fee, who is on the provincial hospital board, gave a vote of thanks for additional X-ray and blood diagnostic facilities that will be coming to the Dayland and Killam hospitals. He pointed out that even with careful budgeting the hospitals in the county are operating at a deficit.

Concern was expressed on cars for Senior Citizens and the chronically ill. Mr. Stromberg said local committees are working with MLA's and government to provide a total care concept for them. This is likely to take the form of a nursing home, meals-on-wheels, drop-in centre all at one community.

Killam Public School reports

Have you ever been fed chocolate pudding blindfolded by a finger. It was initiation at Killam Public School for the grade 7's. Some of us went home with chocolate pudding in our hair and down to our toes. Initiation has been a school custom in schools for many years, our parents can tell of some funny stories too.

Our school dance on Friday September 28 was fun and thank you to Mr. Sparaits, Mrs. Frendrich, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Day for chaperoning.

The girls basketball team is now practising and starts their games on October 26 at Strome. Please come and cheer for us.

If we each save a little . . .

October is International Energy Conservation Month - this means in countries around the world efforts are being made to encourage wise use of energy.

We in Alberta have an abundance of natural resources including coal, gas, oil and some hydro electric power. At this time there is no energy crisis - however, as individuals we do have to take responsibility for using our resources wisely. Electricity cannot be stored effectively, but must be continually generated, often from non-renewable resources. We must begin using these resources carefully.

Two symbols have been adopted by the utilities of Alberta to encourage wise use of energy.

The lightbulb logo will be used to indicate energy saving ideas in electricity. The stylized man will represent the gas utilities energy program. We sometimes tend to feel that our own individual contribution to energy savings may be insignificant - if we each save a little we can all save a lot.!

Why energy management?

An immediate benefit for people who reduce their energy consumption is a reduction in their utility bills. Reduced consumption and improved energy management will also help defer the need for costly generation and transmission facilities additions and the need to develop higher cost fuel supples. This will provide a long-term beneficial effect on power rates in Alberta. More than 90 percent of the electric energy used in Alberta is generated from non-renewable resources.

Increased individual consumption has figured largely in the need for additional generation and transmission facilities. In 1957, the average residential customer in Alberta used 2120 kilowatt hours a year. That figure doubled to 4275 kilowatt hours by 1967 and nearly tripled – to 6160 kilowatt hours a year – by 1977.

The costs of producing natural gas, oil and coal and all finite resources will continue to increase relative to demands. These resources at present are in abundant supply but must be protected by wise management.

The easiest way to reduce energy consumption is to eliminate waste. By practising energy management you can enjoy the benefits of electricity and natural gas today and still keep costs in line for tomorrow by making moderate but acceptable changes in your habits and lifestyles.

What Others Say

Contrast

Held in accordance with his instructions, the state funeral of the late John Diefenbaker, including a long special train that carried in addition to selected mourners, free-loading politicians and media-types, has already cost $485,000 with some bills still to come. Taxpayers in the end will be required to put out for a tab in excess of a half-million dollars.

Columnist Charles Lynch wrote graphic daily descriptions of the train ride through the beautiful land the old Chief loved so well and of the eventual burial in a place at University of Saskatoon that must approach the stately beauty of Kubla Khan's pleasure dome in Xandau.

Something, or most likely somebody who had read his extravagant praises of it all, prompted Mr. Lynch on his return to Ottawa to visit the graveside of another former prime minister, Lester Pearson, who died in 1972 after a decade of ferocious political animosity between himself and John Diefenbaker. He found Mr. Pearson rests in a modest spot, marked by an ordinary headstone. Canadians paid $15,000 for his funeral.

Their funerals and their tombs, so much in contrast, demonstrate the divergence in the personalities of these two great Canadians. It must be left to history to say who was the more successful prime minister in terms of prompting their nation's progress.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir;

I was appalled today when my seven year old brought home a note from school saying there would be a mini-disco for pre-school to age twelve years at the Killam Agriplex on Friday night from 7 - 9 p.m. They were charging $1.50 for admittance with the proceeds going towards the swimming pool. I have no objections to the raising of funds but why pick the small children and such a thing as a disco dance. I am sure they could have picked a Walt Disney show or the selling of chocolate bars or some other equally entertaining and profitable way of raising money.

They wonder why there is so much violence, vandalism and teenage pregnancies going on but what does one expect when the parents push their kids out at such an early age and are afraid of their children's popularity so let them attend anything.

If parents spent more time with their children and did more family outings together and did not push them out of the nest so soon we would have a lot of our problems of restless teenagers solved.

I WRITE AS I PLEASE

IN THE CYCLE of the year we have come again to the season known as Thanksgiving. It will be a time of holidays for some as they spend a weekend in travel and in home-going, and it will be a time of worship for many who will seek to say "Thank you" to God for His encounted gifts. In churches everywhere there will be Harvest Festivals in which grateful people will offer songs in sanctuaries loaded with gifts, and be happy in their distribution to the needy. There is a glowing atmosphere about this season which moves sensitive people to assemble for their particular worship for the Giver of their good.

THE HARVEST is a yearly witness to a kindly Providence which is over all life and to an unfailing God who untiringly provides for our human needs. Little wonder the ancient sacred writers raise their exultant songs around this theme and call upon us to join with them in their faith that "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world and they that dwell therein." Surrounded as we are in this new harvest time by the evidence of God's creative beneficence in gardens, fields and orchards, it is timely to learn again our utter dependance upon Divine powers.

IN OUR MATERIAL world, we are so used to having our good things handed out to us, that we have grown indifferent about their source. Think of the common things of our daily table. The tea and coffee do not just come to us from the store. They come through a long commercial system of supply which involves plantations in far off land, dockers and clerks and markets, all before they reach the small packets in our house. The bread on our tables has behind it a chain of dependence beginning with the farmers and the wheat fields and mills on to the bakeries with all their processes, and again the transport to our doors. It is the same with the luscious fruits in which we delight and most of the commodities which are necessary to our life. It is by a far-reaching co-operation of workers in many places that the harvests are produced and their fruits brought to our homes and tables. Left to itself every field and garden soon becomes a wilderness. No one can be a text book farmer dreaming of laden orchards and golden fields; it just does not work. There is no substitute for genuine hard work, for skilful planning and dawn to dusk activity in achieving results. While it is true that the final harvests are in higher hands, the preparations are in human hands devoted to steady industry.

ANOTHER ASPECT of such co-operation will be in right distribution for it is a tragic truth that while half the world wastes, the other half starves. Caring people remember this and find their goods increased by sharing. There is a great sense in which after all the preparations of men in soil and seed and cultivation have been carefully made, they are helplessly dependent upon nature's powers to bring forth a harvest. It is the God of the sun and the rain and the gentle breezes added to the latest forces of the earth who marvellously gives the increase. All the latest scientific techniques must bow before life-giving energies which are higher.

IT IS SAID that whenever we take the good things of life for granted we cease to be thankful. If we apply that to the yearly harvest and to the fresh supply of food that comes with it, and think of it as a natural occurence which will always take place, then thankfulness may well be lost. To take things for granted is to lose appreciation and to assume that the law of supply can never be broken.

THE TIMELY custom of setting apart a special time in the year for giving thanks to a bountiful Giver of all our goods is heightened by the country's proclamation for its observance, and the invitation to all thankful subjects to observe the day. It is custom now deeply rooted in the heart of the nation. So wherever sensitive people are touched anew with the out-poured blessings of another fruitful season, they will crowd the sanctuaries of worship and lift up their spirits in thankful songs and prayers to God in the Highest.

- The Energuide symbol on a new refrigerator tells you how much energy it will use each month. Comparing similar models you'll find that some use less energy than others. Look for the Energuide label before you buy.
- Keep refrigerators and freezers clean, inside and out. To be sure gaskets are doing their job of keeping refrigerated air inside, close the door on a dollar bill and try to pull it out. If you can, the gasket should be replaced.

The late Theodore Erickson was born January 16, 1890 at Westbrook, Minn. He also was educated in Westbrook.

Ted moved to the Killam area in 1911 where he commenced homesteading. Later in the spring of 1919 (May 20) he was married to Judith Fossen of the Plessington District. They continued to farm in the Killam district until their retirement in the town of Killam in the fall of 1961.

He is survived by his wife Judith and six children, Gilbert of Edmonton, Dorothy and Vernon of Killam, Myrtle of Sedgewick and Helen and Marvin of Calgary. Also 22 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren. A son Clarence predeceased him in 1921 at the tender age of 5½ months.

Ted was the last surviving member of a family of 14 (7 brothers and 6 sisters).

He entered into rest at the University Hospital in Edmonton, Alberta on Wednesday, September 12, 1979 at the age of 89 years.

Funeral services were held at Plessington Lutheran Church on September 15 with Rev. Allan Severson officiating.

Pallbearers were six grandsons Bill Morgan Jr., Bob Roggensack, Darren Erickson, Brian Morgan, Danny Keindorfer and Larry Erickson.

Ted will be well remembered for his love of music, particularily his earlier years with the Killam Band, of which he was a member for approximately 7 to 8 years. He also enjoyed sports of al kinds.

Fond memories will always be - as a husband, a father, a grandfather and a great grandfather.

He will be deeply missed by all.

RITERS RAMBLINGS

Birds

Birds are so surprising. You can't anticipate their actions.

I stood by the flower bed watching two humming birds fighting over the delphiniums. One must have infringed on the other's territory as they flew at each other every time one tried to feed. They dive-bombed each other. They squeaked indignantly. They flew around my head chasing each other. Finally, as I stood there awed by their ferocity, one gave up and flew away. The victor after poking her long beak into a number of flowers sat for a moment on a branch. Satisfied that all was well she continued hovering and feeding.

Another day I was sitting quietly watching a small yellow warbler feeding on insects on a rose bush. To my surprise it suddenly flew over and landed on the arm of my chair. I turned my head slowly but it saw me and flew away. That was the closest I'd ever been to a wild bird.

My mother in her early homesteading days had got closer than that. She had found a duck's nest. Since she was a city girl she was often lonely on the farm so she visited the duck's nest every day. The first few times the duck flew off the nest pretending a broken wing. When Mother paid no attention to her broken wing routine she stood a distance away watching till Mother left. Soon the duck stayed on her nest as she got used to Mother's visits. Mother came closer and closer each day always moving slowly so as not to startle the duck. One day she was actually able to reach out and stroke the duck on her head.

I guess I must have inherited my mother's interest in birds.

This summer while we were on holidays we watched a little bird about the size of a warbler feeding a big bird almost twice its size. The little bird was catching insects on a spruce tree and the larger bird fluttered from branch to branch to receive the tid-bits.

The big baby was a cowbird. Cowbirds are the only bird parasites know in North America. They never build their own nests. When smaller birds like warblers or sparrows are absent from their nests the cowbirds will lay an egg in them.

Sometimes when a warbler finds a big cowbird's egg in her nest she will leave it and build a new one. Sometimes she will build another nest on top of the egg. Three-story nests have been found. But many cowbird's eggs are hatched with the host's eggs.

The baby cowbird being larger and stronger gets most of the food. The little warblers become weak and are easily pushed out. The foster parents devotedly continue to feed the interloper until it is several times their size. But it isn't only adopted children that birds treat kindly.

The summer had been hot and dry. Birds had been suffering from the heat so I put out a little blue dish of drinking water on our garage roof.

My husband watched one day as a fly swam about in the dish. A honey bee landed in it also. It too buzzed round and round trying to get out. A sparrow flew down, cocked his head on one side watching the insect's efforts. After a few moments he hopped over, picked up the bee with his beak and set it gently down. Under the watchful eye of the sparrow the bee shook the water from his wings, buzzed and flew away. Soon the sparrow flew away also. But why didn't he rescue the fly? Birds are so surprising!

Couple exchange vows

A truly beautiful wedding ceremony took place in St. Donatus Roman Catholic church on June 30, 1979 uniting in marriage Miss Donna Marie Prehn, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Prehn of Galahad, to Richard Anthony Sieben, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Sieben of Chilliwack, B.C. in a double ring ceremony with Rev. Fr. H. Beca officiating.

Given away by her father, the bride was radiant in her floor length sheer gown, with a trailing veil. Her only jewelry was a tiny diamond necklace, a gift from the groom. The bride carried a bouquet of pink roses and white stephanotis.

The bride was attended by her cousin Phyllis Prehn as maid of honor and Peggy Prehn a sister-in-law and Roselind Sieben, sister of the groom as bridesmaids. The girls were floor length rose halter style dresses with matching floral cape over. They carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and white daisies.

The grooms attendents were his brother Patrick Sieben, Dennis Prehn brother of the bride, and Micheal Felzien a friend of the groom. They were burgundy tuxedos while the groom wore a beige tuxedo, all having a pink rose boutonniere.

Ushers were Dayl Sommer cousin of the bride and Neil Sieben brother of the groom.

Friends of the couple, Suzanne and Theresa Fotax supplied the lovely music for the occasion. Mrs. Elaine Mattieseen, cousin of the bride read the reading.

Following the Mass a reception was held in the Galahad School Auditorium. In charge of the guest book was Michelle Mayres cousin of the bride. The four tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink roses was decorated by Mrs. Gertie Stienhauer. All the flowers for the occasion were made by Darlene Sieben, sister of the groom. Mr. John Long of Winnipeg, brother-in-law of the groom was master of ceremonies.

After the reception, open house and dance began. A large crowd attended, each in their own way expressing their good wishes for Richard and Donna.

The happy couple have made their home in Forestburg, Richard working for the Department of Highways and Donna working in her own Beauty Salon in the town of Killam.

KEEPING IN TOUCH

by Arnold Malone, M.P.

Open House

The House of Commons will soon open for the 31st Parliament. The first day is usually filled with statements of high ideals delivered in an atmosphere of longstanding tradition. If you are watching on television some aspects of the tradition may seem confusing or even silly.

When the Parliament opens, you have the majority Party sitting to the right of Mr. Speaker's Chair and the opposition Party on the left. Shortly after all Members have convened at 10:30 a.m., a wooden hammer will be used to give three sharp knocks on the House of Commons door. The Sergeant-at-Arms will respond indicating that the Gentleman of the Black Rod has arrived with a message. His message is that we have been summoned to the Honourable House of the Senate after which all Members will file through the great corridor to the Senate Chamber Upon arrival, the Commoners will be queried as to whether or not a Speaker has been chosen. Not yet having a Speaker the Commoners are instructed to return to their chamber and return only when Mr. Speaker can be presented.

Back in the House of Commons, the Right Honourable Prime Minister Clark will move that one of the Members of the Chamber be appointed to act as Speaker to keep order, maintain decorum, and retain the prestige of the Parliament. After he has made his motion and commented upon the person he has nominated, it is traditional that the Leader of the Opposition, the Right Honorable Trudeau, second the motion and extend his comments on the merit of the proposed Speaker.

After the Speaker has been named, the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition go and retain the newly nominated Speaker by the arm and force him to his Chair.

You may be puzzled and perplexed by the antics that surround the appointment of the Speaker. You can expect the Speaker will kick, attempt to get away from the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition, will dig in his heels and resist entering into the Chair, and will accept the position as Speaker only after an act that looks like he was forced to do something under great duress.

That behaviour, however, is one that is steeped in history. After the citizens of London had overthrown King John and demanded that there be a Parliament of Commoners to debate on their behalf, the King had in many ways lost his power to rule his country. The one method of control that he retained for some period of time after the Magna Carta was beheading those Speakers of the House who ruled in a manner that was in disfavor to the King's position. Naturally, after a succession of beheadings there was little lust to aspire to the position of Speaker of the House of Commons. In the historic early days of Parliamentary law, the position of Speaker was one to be feared rather than relished.

Today, the antics continue. The Speaker approaches the Chair with symbolic trepidation. Apparently Speakers of the past had genuine reason for fear when the King paid them a visit to proclaim that he had come to "Keep-in-Touch."

"As Is" What Does It Mean?

Everything sold in Alberta is covered with a minimal warranty under The Sale of Goods Act. However, this act is not applicable if other arrangements are made in a sale contract. This is the case when the seller is selling the item "as is" - with all its good and bad features. If the goods are used or damaged - they are often sold under "as is" conditions. When you accept an "as is" contract there is no warranty protection.

The seller is obligated to make the buyer aware of any defects the buyer is not likely to notice before the sale. (according to the Unfair Trade Practices Act).

In summary if you purchase an item under "as is" conditions you have no warranty protection. Be aware of what you are buying! (summarized from an article by Alberta Consumer and Corporate Affairs in the Legal Review, September 1979)

Spot and Stain Removal:

Spot and Stain Removal is a publication available free from Alberta Agriculture. It's a great book to keep beside the washer. It discusses stains, such as blood, chocolate, fingernail polish, glue, ink, cosmetics, rust, tar and more. Write Box 270, Sedgewick or phone 384-3737 for your copy.

Baking Powder:

Have you ever been cleaning your cupboard and found a forgotten tin of baking powder? You've probably wondered if it is worth keeping or not.

There is a simple test you can do to determine if the baking powder is still effective.

Mix one teaspoon of baking powder with ½ cup of hot water. If the baking powder bubbles enthusiastically, it may be used. (Source: Joy of Cooking)

Be a Name Dropper...

The Honourable Dr. J.W. Grant MacEwan is enthusiastic about Alberta's 75th Anniversary:

"I think 1980 is going to be more important than any time in our history for people to become familiar with their friends and neighbours in the province and those across borders ...

"But you can't share without someone to share with. I want to see people in our local communities become more interested in their own story, to invite people to experience their own background, their own heritage. I think a little bragging has its place, especially during our 75th Anniversary."

"Albertans have been sending in the names of out-of-province friends and family. To all of these, the Premier of Alberta will be sending a personal invitation, starting in October, to participate in "Homecoming 1980".

"I think people would be flattered to receive an invitation from our Premier. I can't think of any nicer way to have someone's aunt or uncle, friend or neighbour invited to come home to visit. It's very impressive indeed.

"I'm being a name dropper and I hope to do more. Anything I can do to encourage people to become part of our celebrations, I will do most gladly."

Join Dr. Grant MacEwan and send in the names and addresses of your out-of-province friends and relatives to:

Veterinarian starts practice

The newest husband and wife team to enter Hinton's professional scene are Dr. Wayne Steiger and his wife Laura.

Dr. Steiger has taken over the Hinton Veterinary Clinic from Dr. John Lynch. The clinic has been in operation in Hinton for the past two and a half years and has been primarily geared towards the treatment of small animals.

While Dr. Steiger will of course take care of the medical end of things, Mrs. Steiger will work in various other capacities in the clinic, including the reception area.

Dr. Steiger attended the Western College of Veterinary Medicine in Saskatoon, where he graduated in 1978.

Following graudation he worked in a veterinary practice in Winnipeg for a year before coming to Hinton.

Among his plans is the hope to do a considerable amount of work with horses here. He will also do a lot of on-the-farm calls and, although he currently does not have the facilities for major surgery, he hopes to build a new clinic in about three years.

Right now, he said that he can handle about 98 per cent of the situations that arise locally. Anything that can't be handled locally can be referred to the Veterinary College in Saskatoon, with the local clinic making all the arrangements.

Dr. Steiger opened his practice on September 1. He said that once he is established here, he hopes to spend one or two days a month in Jasper, as well as possibly one day a month in Grande Cache in his capacity as a doctor of veterinary medicine.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Steiger are originally from Alberta. Dr. Steiger comes from Forestburg near Camrose, while Mrs. Steiger is originally from Lethbridge. The couple has a six year old son, Chalmer.

What Is A Hog Worth?

The price for a finished market hog is easily determined, however, the price one should pay for a 35 lb. weanling is a more difficult question. Some pay what ever is asked, others consider market hog prices, many consider feed costs and still others consider all three. How then can a fair price be arrived at?

Bob Winchell, a regional farm economist in Barrhead has done some detailed work on the relationships between market hog, feed and weaner prices. He has found that the relationship is very close and be put into a formula.

Based on the past six years of prices, the resulting formula can be used which has the formula price following the actual price very closely:

Using - dressed hog prices in dollars / cwt
-barley prices in dollars/bushel
-40% supplement prices in dollars /cwt

The formula is:
0.74 x (dressed hog price) - 7.74 x (barley price)
-0.5 x (40% supp. price) add 5.10 = price of a 35 lb. weanling.

An example: would look like this: using September 20th figures:
dressed hogs - 963.10/cwt
barley price $ 1.80 / bushel
40% supp. price-$30.00/cwt

Then: a 35 lb. weanling price = .74 x (963.10) - 7.74 x ($1.80) - .5 x($30.00) add 5.10 = $27.87

According to Mr. Winchell, this formula is based on a dressed hog price for 100 index market hogs. As a good number of weanlings will produce finished hogs indexing over 100, a premium could be attached to the $27.87 price.

Finally, one must realize that the formula price may not always be exactly the asking price, but it can be useful as a guideline. Based on the long term it's fair to both buyer and seller, and reflects a value equally as fair as the auction markets.

200,000 adult Albertans returned to the classroom last year...

... for fun, health, recreation, personal growth, practical skills and other learning needs. They met in homes, libraries, churches, schools, places of business.

Realizing that education is a lifelong challenge, adults seized the opportunity to expand and enrich their personal, family and work lives.

They took courses in leadership ... cooking ... physical fitness ... arts and crafts ... languages ... carpentry ... conservation. Over 13,000 general interest courses on nearly every imaginable subject.

Major credit for the success of this growing continuing education program in Alberta belongs to the province-wide network of 80 Further Education Councils. Their volunteer members, nearly 1000 strong, worked long and hard to help this recent trend gain such popularity.

The Further Education Branch salutes those Council members ... and asks you to join in extending to them our recognition and sincere thanks.

Grain Grades

For each grain, there are many grades--each defined by the Canada Grain Act. In any given year, the Canadian Grain Inspection Division can issue certificates identifying up to 1,000 different grades of grain.

The purpose of a grain grading system is to differentiate the different qualities of each grain with respect to a specific end use. Grades are a method of ensuring consistency of the product from one shipment to the next and are therefore important in establishing and maintaining markets.

The factors used in determining what grade is assigned to grain entering primary or terminal elevators are test weight, variety, vitreousness, foreign material, and soundness. All are directly related to the end use of the grain. For example, different market classes and even different varieties of wheat have specific baking, milling, and processing qualities.

Dockage, moisture content, and protein content are factors that will not alter a grade but can qualify it. Protein content can qualify the grades of No. 1 and 2 Canada Western hard red spring wheat (C.W.R.S). These two high protein grades (Extra 1 and 2 C.W.R.S.) apply to No. 1 and No. 2 CWRS with a protein content of 15% or greater.

There can however, be wide variations in protein content even from within a single farm. Studies have shown a variation in protein content of up to 3% between different bins on the same farm. Producers in a high protein area should therefore sample each individual bin as it is filled in order to take advantage of the higher initial payment (for example, $132.00 per tonne for extra No. 1 C.W.R.S. compared to $128.60 per tonne for No. 1 C.W.R.S.) paid for high protein wheat.

In summary, there are a multitude of grain grades--each with a different quality and therefore a different end use; and each with a price in relation to its respective quality.

News from the Anglican Church

If the roster is moving about the parish with a brighter smile and sprightlier step than usual this week, it is because he was so pleased with the response to Harvest Festival Sunday at all points. The churches were beautifully arrayed with our autumn bounty, and the congregations were enthusiastic.

Please remember that the meeting on October 9th at Sedgewick Parish Hall is a very important congregational meeting, at which time we will address ourselves to the very pressing problem of the 1980 budget. Everyone is urged to attend. Time of the meeting is 8:00 p.m.

Get well wishes to Mr. John Martin and Mrs. Eleanor Beaubien in the University Hospital in Edmonton, and to Bill Cookson in Killam Hospital.

Any young people between the ages of 14 and 18 years who are interested in the possibility of becoming servers, should contact the rector. Once again Rev. Conrad would like to emphasize the need for more lay readers in our area. Lay readership may be just the sort of activity that you've been waiting for. Please consider giving it a try, you can contact Rev. Conrad.

Bible study is being held every Wednesday evening at 8:00 p.m. at St. John's Parish Hall in Sedgewick. Do join us.

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Martin and Margaret of Sedgewick and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Martin and family of Edmonton spent the weekend with the Ken Martin family of Penhold.

In his role as Co-ordinator of Christian Education for the Flagstaff Ministerial association, Rev. Conrad has been very busy addressing local groups and approaching other ministerial associations.

Speaking of education, the Flagstaff Further Education Council has much to offer. The September "Alabaster Box" opening took place recently and Missionary Roger Gastineau of Zambia spoke to his co-workers here showing how this money is used to help build schools, churches and hospitals on Nazarene mission fields.

A youth chorus under the direction of Frank Rott, has been singing the invocation Sunday mornings. We'd like to hear more.

A slave auction was held Wednesday evening when auctioneers Lynnette Graff and Fran Wilson brought the church youth under the hammer and over $400 was raised for the youth treasury. Alberta Agriculture

By Dallas W. Schaufele

PERTH, Australia — This column is being written 'Down Under' as I reach the end of the first week in my 17-day tour of Southeast Asia.

It's being composed during the second day of the Ninth Biennial Conference of the Royal Agricultural Society of the Commonwealth.

This four-day meeting, over a year in preparation, is a bi-annual get-together of 23 Royal Agricultural Societies from 13 nations spread over five continents. The last conference was held in the fall of 1977, and was hosted in part by Canada (Regina) and Jamaica.

Anyway, I was honored to be chosen as the chairman for this year's opening session where we staged "A Review of World Food Production" with expert commentary on current global markets. Though nothing really surprising surfaced, it was interesting to hear foreign reviews of the world market so similar to those supplied by our own market analysts.

I also noted comments by the Honorable Sir Charles Court, Premier of Western Australia. Sir Charles, the guest speaker at the session which I chaired, spoke on the topic of 'food for a hungry world'. The proposals he offered were rational, economic answers to a massive problem, solutions which Commonwealth Nations could undertake and spearhead, by good example, a universal drive to fight world hunger.

While in Australia, I've noted certain similarities between our respective agriculture industries. Like Canada, Australia faces farm labor problems, a trend to buy bigger machinery, and a declining proportion of farm and rural populations in terms of the overall population.

Like Canada, Australia has a relatively small cultivated land base compared to its massive size. In fact, due mostly to a lack of rainfall, only six percent of the country is cultivated. The principal crops are wheat and barley — that sounds familiar. Sugar cane is third.

Canada and Australia have an interesting trade relationship. Last year more than half of our imports from Australia were in the food sector, with raw sugar, beef and canned fruit leading the parade. On the other side of the ledger, almost four-fifths of our Australian exports were semi or fully manufactured goods. It's a rather interesting comparison when you consider Canadians are known as raw product exporters and finished goods' importers.

At the moment Alberta is not especially significant in the Australian trade picture. Australia's strict quarantine system effectively bans imports of live animals as well as cattle semen. However, a new quarantine station, being built on Cocos Island off Australia's west coast, is scheduled to open next year, and this may help re-establish Alberta exports of high-quality beef breeding stock. We're also looking at export opportunities for horses, peat moss and swine breeding stock, but sizeable Alberta exports really depend on a little loosening of Australia's quarantine restrictions.

To get back to the Conference of Royal Agricultural Societies, my chief reason for being here, this meeting is important to all nations present. The Society, which is really a federation of national agricultural societies, came into being in 1957. Its principal objective is to "encourage and arrange the interchange of knowledge and experience in the practice and science of agriculture, with a view to improving methods of both crop production and the breeding of livestock and to improving the efficiency of agricultural implements and machinery within the Commonwealth".

That statement hides what I consider this conference's true purposes. First, as I mentioned earlier, it gives me an opportunity to hear views on the world agriculture industry from different national perspectives. Sometimes that information can be critical to finding and exploiting new trade areas in particular countries or regions.

Second, Albertans can sometimes make major gains when we understand how another country views agricultural trade or has solved a particular agricultural problem. At other times, just knowing the person on the other end of the telephone may go a long way toward solving mutual trade problems.

I'd like to take this opportunity to congratulate Dr. Hugh Horner, who just resigned as Alberta's Deputy Premier and Minister of Economic Development, on his appointment to Grain Transportation Coordinator for the federal government. As the new "Grain Czar", Dr. Horner will pursue the government's intention of increasing Canada's grain shipments by 20 percent this year and by 50 percent over the next four years.

I was particularly delighted to see Dr. Horner comment on possible removal of grain quotas within the next five years. He recognizes, just as I have written, that quotas are only symptoms of our grain transport problems, and that if the system is healthy, the symptoms will disappear. I wish him the very best of luck in his new position.

Hardisty Chamber of Commerce has full agenda

A full agenda faced the Hardisty Chamber of Commerce at their first fall meeting held September 26 in Parkland Manor. The members were happy to see some new faces at this meeting and bid welcome to Gordy Brils, the new owner of Gordy's Bigway Foods; Mr. and Mrs. John Skene, owners of Tar Neson Auto parts, the Bumper to Bumper store; and Mr. Louis Johnson well known Hughenden teacher.

Membership chairman Doug Drever, reported 32 memberships sold to date. Welcome chairman, Lucy Syder, presented the complete format for the Welcome Booklet, and this will now go to press. Beautiful yards chairman, Rose Marie Thompson reported that the pictures and plaques are ordered and will be ready for presentation at our November supper meeting. The Hospital Planning Board report given by Alan Thompson, stated that the questionaires had been sent out and are now being returned. Rose Marie reported that the preliminary work has been done in the Devonian Park, and that the trees are to be moved in shortly. Joyce Harrison, our representative to the Battle River Tourist Association gave a report on the state of the Bott Lakes project.

The entries to the Slogan, Logo, Tourist Attraction contest, sponsored by the Chamber over the summer, were studied and discussed, but as the response was limited, it was decided to extend the contest for one more month, in the hope that more entries will be forth coming. To the anonymous sender of the two-story, two-holer entry, we thank you for your entertaining entry, as it resulted in much mirth and merriment. One fact in the letter however has proven to be incorrect. A phone call to the Historian at Heritage Park in Calgary revealed that the one on display in the Park comes originally from Lundbreck. Just as a matter of interest, can any old-timer around here tell the Chamber what happened to our original two-story outhouse?

As October 24th is the date of our annual meeting, a nomination committee was appointed. This committee consists of Danny Sim, Doug Drever, Marion Harrison, Shari Irving and Gordy Brils. Would any persons willing to stand for office, or wishing to suggest someone for an office, please contact any of the above persons, with their suggestions. Your Chamber can only be as strong as its members wish to make it, so stand up and be counted, don't be one of those who sits back and watches - take an active part in your community.

The closing date for applications to the 75th Anniversary Commission is October 15th, so a committee was set up to prepare our representation. It was decided to tie our celebrations in with Round-up Days next summer. Anyone with any ideas in this department please contact any of the following persons immediately, Joyce Harrison, Lucy Syder, Gordy Brils, Doris Yuskiw, Danny Sim or Marian Harrison.

To show how valuable new blood is to any organization John Skene presented the meeting with a unique idea for a winter attraction. This is being taken under consideration and you'll hear more at a later date.

With all general business now having been covered, President Jim Thomson introduced our special guest for the evening, Mr. Greenwood, business analyst, with Alberta Tourism and Small Business. Mr. Greenwood explained the workings of the Management Assistance program. This program provides one-to-one management consulting, for participating owner-operated businesses, at the place of business. Chambers in the four towns of Hardisty, Sedgewick, Provost and Killam are co-sponsoring the program with the Department of Tourism and Small Business. The program will be fully explained at the kick-off dinner Monday, October 15, 1979 at 7:00 p.m. at the Legion Hut in Hardisty. This dinner is open to all interested businessmen. All those businessmen wishing to participate should indicate their intentions at this meeting.

Hardisty and District News

The wedding at Lajord went off very well and it was Olaf Nelson's great neice, Aletha Iverson who married Christian Reniers. Chris was born in Holland and came from Peterborough, Ontario but the young couple will make their home in Vancouver. Olaf's 96 year old sister attended the wedding and although she cannot see, her mind is still very sharp.

The wedding cake was quite traditional with the top decoration coming from her parents wedding cake, who were married 35 years ago. There was also a nice green trim on the one layer, looking some what like a mistletoe and had been on the headrest of her Grandmother who was married in 1908.

Other decorations were a little bride and groom from Norway and a wooden shoe from Holland.

Another traditional Norwegian crisp was a tower cake. This was made by a visiting Norwegian relative and is made of graduated rings of dough. When cooked they are put together with icing and form a tower or pyramid. It too was decorated with Norwegian traditions and also had a number of flags of Norway on it. It is tasted by the bridal couple and their parents and means that "you will always be welcomed in our home."

Guests came from many parts. The groom's parents, some sisters and a brother came from Peterborough, Ontario. Others came from Ottawa, Montreal, B.C. and the Nelsons from Alberta.

The pictures at the Drop-In Centre on Tuesday were very good, all about recycling and it is amazing how many recycled things we use a second time around without realizing it. A large pop bottle grass around about 12 times before it is discarded and so much paper used in building houses etc. is recycled also.

The crops down that way had been very promising until the hard frost came the middle of August which reduced the yield greatly also the grade.

Mrs. John Skene attended a baby shower last Wednesday afternoon in Amisk to honor her brand new grandson Thomas John Skene. Mrs. Marj MacGregor was the hostess for this happy gathering.

We were glad to learn that Maryon Drager is enjoying a rest with her daughter Bette and family in Calgary before she undergoes surgery after Thanksgiving.

Congratulations to Violet Copeland on launching her book of poetry entitled "Tar Paper and Wild Roses." Violet lives at Maidstone Saskatchewan now but lived north of town for awhile.

Gordie's Bigway Store had their grand opening last weekend and who should be seen there but Beth Schmidt. Nice to see you again Beth. She is still cooking and lives in Bashaw. Cora Paulson of Strome also attended the grand opening which appeared to be very successful.

Seen by a few around Hardisty was Emil Jensen of Kelowna who made a quick trip calling on the Cibaris and Cyril Drevers.

It was interesting to see the picture in the Camrose paper of Mrs. Andy Gibson's bird of paradise plant which has bloomed after being planted for eight years.

Cambridge ladies meet

The ladies of the Cambridge Community Association met on a bright and sunny fall afternoon, September 25, at the Cambridge School. We had almost a perfect attendance, 11 present, with only one absent, and two little visitors.

The usual business was dealt with and our correspondence discussed. We received a letter from the Lougheed Community Hall Building Society requesting financial assistance towards the addition to the hall. After some discussion, we decided to donate a sum of money, with perhaps more to be donated later, depending on our financial position at the end of the year.

We decided this year to order two Regal mystery boxes instead of one, as in previous years. This has proven a good way to make a bit of money, as a price is set on the articles and each member purchases what they wish, either for gifts, or for their own use. At this time of year, many items are bought for Christmas gifts, as many of the articles pertain to Christmas.

We had no regular donations this month, but two fruit baskets were given out.

Our roll call was extremely interesting. Each member was to bring something "old" and tell about it. Various things included several old and beautiful brooches which had been passed down to relatives. Another item was a cherry stoner (of which I didn't even imagine such a thing existed). There was an old hat, a nightie with hand-crocheted lace, old books, and one item which no one seemed to be able to figure out its use. Some thought it may have been a snuff-box perhaps we will never know, but the different ideas were interesting.

Irene and Louise donated to the birthday box, and Louise was the lucky raffle winner of some home-made raspberry jelly and a jolly spoon from Wales, brought by Ida.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Irene Potter with Verona Cookson as co-hostess. Again our roll call will be different. Each one is to wear something "old" or "old-fashioned." Good thing our meeting will be close to Halloween, or people may wonder what is going on.

After adjourning we enjoyed a pot-luck lunch and a short contest supplied by Rita.

Busy agenda for Sedgewick Legion

First activity of the fall season for Branch #55 Royal Canadian Legion, Sedgewick was a highly successful turkey and ham bingo! Another bingo is slated for early December.

Remembrance Day plans include morning worship for three of the churches in town, at 10:30 a.m. in the Community Hall. A social hour follows at the Hut, then members and friends are invited to a banquet at 2:00 p.m. in the Hall.

Four Bonanza draws remain. October winners were the NADP Truckers of Camrose.

A joint project of Town Council and Legion includes providing a storage shed at the cemetery, and markers on unmarked graves.

The Legion, as sponsor, is providing ties for the Girl Guides. New bingo cards will be purchased for the Community Hall.

The Pottery and Ceramics Club will again use the facilities at the Hut from October until the end of April.

For those questioning the slow progress towards a new building - do not despair! Legal complications produced a stalemate, but the Building Committee are confident that will soon be overcome.

Tory fund raising questioned

The Conservatives' blitz of business firms in their fund-raising drive for the last provincial election brought nearly $950,000 into their party war-chest.

The Tories were far no more successful than any other political party in soliciting the big contributions that put an election campaign on the tracks.

But questions are now being asked about the propriety of their fund-raising techniques.

It was revealed during the spring legislative session that Housing and Public Works Minister Tom Chambers aimed his fundraising pitch directly at architects, engineers and construction contractors-firms that would be eligible for construction tenders from his department.

It has now been shown, since the disclosure of Chambers' campaign finances by the chief electoral office, that at least ¼ of his $28,500 election kitty, came from just such firms.

During the spring session, Chambers denied his campaign drive for contributions involved a conflict of interest, claiming he remained at arm's length from his constituency association fundraising practices.

But a cloud of suspicion continues to hang over the Chambers campaign after admissions by at least two businessmen who acknowledged they felt pressured to fork over a donation when they received the ministers' fund-raising letter.

It is difficult to imagine, however, how businesses contributing to the coffers of the Conservative Party as a whole could expect specific favors from the Tory government.

The list of firms donating more than $250 is just immense. Nearly 500 companies made contributions between $250 to $5,000, and the list of their names at the chief electoral office fills several pages of tightly-typed computer print-out.

The companies donating generously to Tory campaign coffers cover virtually every type of industrial activity in the province. They range from Four Seasons Hotels and Gentar Ltd. to the Pioneer Grain Company and Rothman's of Pall Mall; from Woody Gundy and Woodward's Stores to Atco Industries and American Eagle Petroleum Ltd.

A large number of these donations were raised in a blitz of Alberta firms conducted by Conservative party bag-men who sit on the boards of directors of the government owned Pacific Western Airlines and 50-per-cent government-owned Alberta Energy Company.

Although most businesses probably make contributions to the Tories because they expect the Lougheed government will maintain a climate favorable to business, many businessmen may nevertheless feel that if they don't donate they may be shut out of government tenders and contracts.

Good crowd at meeting

Approximately fifty concerned citizens met at the Sedgewick Legion Hut Wednesday, October 3 to discuss the vandalism and traffic violations occuring here. The meeting which had been called by Doug MacGregor, raised some interesting questions for Sergeant Lloyd Franks, who was in attendance from the Killam RCMP detachment. Constable Paul Vanderwoude was also in attendance.

Sergeant Franks suggested that all citizens who witness violations do the following: write down the license number, description of the vehicle, driver and violation; phone the information to the RCMP in Killam or Red Deer. The RCMP will investigate and press charges if warranted.

Our town reflects the people in it and their actions so let's do our best and work together, young and old.

Editorially

We are all neighbors . . .

This week is perhaps the most important week set aside to observe a special event. The calendar week of October 9 is Fire Prevention Week - a date chosen to mark the anniversary of the "Great Chicago Fire of 1871". This conflagration killed 250 persons, destroyed 17,430 buildings at a cost of approximately $200 million. It was supposedly started when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a coal oil lantern.

This disasterous fire is what started people thinking in terms of Fire Prevention rather than fire fighting.

It is also close to Thanksgiving and now is a good time to "give thanks" to the many volunteer firemen who look after fire fighting and prevention in our rural communities. We can say "Thanks" in the usual verbal way but a better way would be for all of us to look over our homes and businesses and get rid of potential fire hazards. I'm sure if the local brigade did not have any fires in the next year they would be pleased and also thankful. So let's do our part.

Fire prevention can be a family affair. That means everyone must work together to keep your home safe from fire.

For a start, get rid of old papers, clothing, draperies, boxes and nearly empty containers of paint and other liquids that might be flammable.

If you keep hot pans and small appliances such as coffee makers out of the reach of young children, they won't spill scalding hot liquids or grease on themselves.

Don't plug too many cords into any one outlet and never run cords under rugs or across doorways. If you walk on them you will damage the insulation and leave bare wires, which could start fires. Remember too, only use the proper fuses in your fuse box.

For the smokers in your house provide large, steady ashtrays. If possible, prevent people from smoking in bed or while relaxing in a chair or on the couch. Dozing off while smoking and setting fire to the bedding or furniture is the leading cause of residential fires.

When you've done everything you can to prevent fires, go one step further. Install smoke alarms. They can alert you to the presence of fire and give you time to evacuate safely, before you are overcome by flames or smoke.

Be a partner in Fire Prevention from each Fire Prevention Week to the next.

HOPPER CAR FINANCING

The publisher of a Winnipeg agri-business newsletter, Morris W. Dorosh, has an original and sensible proposal to finance more grain hopper cars. He suggests to give investors tax shelters the same as those now offered for oil exploration and mulit-unit residential buildings.

Mr. Dorosh says all that would be necessary would be changes in the Income Tax Act to provide for the formation of private interests of registered, non-profit grain transportation investment corporations (GTICs) which would sell investment units-perhaps equal to one rail car-to the general public. Losses incurred GTICs, both because of accelerated depreciation, financing and other expenses, would be allowed to flow through the GTIC to unit holders, and be applicable against taxable personal or corporate income from any other source.

I WRITE AS I PLEASE

IT'S HAPPENING.

You're not sure? You don't know that it really is? Well, you better believe it because it is happening. The sixty-year-old Swede is no longer in better physical shape than the 30-year old Canadian, and the reason is that we are taking an increasing interest in conditioning. We are participating in ways that we never dreamed of before. The theme-song of the day is "Get Involved" in exercise and sports. Get yourself in good physical shape; and we are doing it notwithstanding the millions of dollars that are being expended in the act. So far have we gone in this sometimes ludicrous crusa that we are expending sums of money that are beginning to equal that laid out for the more essential things of life. We groan and wail every time large expenditures are advocated in the realm of health care, or relief of poverty, upgrading of schools and provision of adequate hospital facilities. Not only this but we passively submit to poor management in getting the essentials of life to the proper places, and at the right time.

JUST A FEW YEARS AGO the Mayor of Montreal pushed through his gigantic extravaganza that was not to cost the taxpayers a cent, and we have been paying for it ever since. We have an Alderman in Edmonton pushing for a roof on the hockey palace that would cost as high as forty - seven million dollars. The big boss of Maple Leaf Gardens is flying a balloon to build a new structure at a cost of many more millions. All in the name of sport and physical fitness.

THE POINT is that in nearly all instances the promoters of these grand deals, in the final analysis look for government subsidies and grants at all levels. And when that happens the ordinary citizen is footing the bill whether he is interested or not in the venture. It would almost appear that we are trying to out-class that sixty-year-old Swede with dollars instead of the ordinary activities which would get us in shape at a much cheaper rate. We have gotten to the stage where we really believe that dollars can get us anything we want, and we have become more than reckless in trying to accomplish that end.

IS IT ANY wonder then that the Canadian and American economy is slipping into the gutter? That the dollar of the countries are taking such a beating on the financial market? That the big shots are hedging their future with securities other than the paper money of which we have been so proud for so many years? That is why gold has reached such unrealistic heights. Faith in the dollar has diminished and the speculaters are taking advantage of the fact that we have forgotten how to manage our economy. Yet we continue to expend millions on the less essential items of life. At the same time forgetting that such things as walking, jogging, home exercises and a lot more of things can get us to the standard of the Swede just as quickly and one heck of a lot cheaper. We continue to believe that the dollar talks the loudest and if it doesn't cost huge sums it isn't worth doing, and we will never catch that healthy look.

IN THE MEANTIME the things that are really essential are having a rough go. I'm not against sport and have been a participant in many of its activities, but I just can't see these huge expenditures in the name of sport and fitness, when a needed hospital is shelved, medical research is delayed, people are allowed to go hungry and the disabled are left to shift for themselves. It's time we got back to the basics and relearned some of the lessons of the past. We fail to do this at the peril of our future.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

We, the volunteers and staff of the Killam Agriplex are pleased that the community recognises and are concerned with the programming at the Agriplex. We would ask, however, that if you as parents have concerns you would tell us directly as we are the people who can deal with these situations.

The matter of raising funds for the Agriplex operation or any other recreational facility for that matter is always a problem. We would like to emphasize that we do not pick where our sources of revenue come from. You, the public are free to choose what and where you spend your money in respect to recreation.

In reference to the letter written to the editor in last weeks issue, it was stated by the concerned parents that we charged $1.50 per child (preschoolers and children up to 12 years of age) What the concerned parent neglected to add, was that this also included a hot dog as well as admittance into our mini-disco.

In reply to the letter we do not object to showing Walt Disney shows but we do object to the suggestions of trying to raise revenue by selling chocolate bars. Chocolate bars only promote tooth decay, hyperactivity (because of the excess of sugar) and a sales increase for the chocolate bar company. Our main objective is to promote recreation activity and better use of our facility, the Agriplex. Whether some people like it or not, dancing is very good exercise.

We the people who put on the disco are concerned parents. We are concerned about where our children are for their extra curricular activities and what they are doing. For this reason we always insist on adequate supervision for the functions we put on.

The C.H.E.D. discos we organize always have at least eight chaperones for the teen crowd, and we feel they have all been very successful. When teenagers can come to dances like this we feel they are less inclined to feel violent and they are off the streets in effect this will encourage less vandalism, and teenage pregnancies.

Our mini-disco was a family affair. The parents of these children brought their children down the majority of them stayed to watch and some even danced with their children. By 8:45 pm some of the mothers were even assisting our staff in the preparation of the hot dogs. Once the mini-disco was over, the resturant tables were filled with families.

Another special function we had at the Agriplex in the last week of September was several activities for the Senior Citizens. One of the activities was a card tournament which was very well enjoyed by all the participants. We hope you don't think we are promoting gambling as well.

Cousins meet after 60 years

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams of Strome were visited by Mrs. Lia Provoost of East Moline, Illinois, on Sunday September 3.

First cousins, Blanche Williams and Lia Provoost (pictured) had not seen each other since 1919-20 when they arrived from Belgium following the First World War.

Although separated, they have been corresponding these sixty years, and their reunion was an anticipated hope realized.

Throughout her week long stay Mrs. Provoost visited another cousin, Mrs. Mary Smith-Gander, also of Strome, as well as various other relatives.

Agriculture Week '79
October 21 - 27
The week of October 21 to 27 is Agriculture Week in Alberta.

The purpose of this week is to remind Albertans of the importance of Agriculture to us and our economy.

Agriculture is our Renewable Resource!

Food Processors:

In the October Issue of Canadian Consumer, there was a test report of food processors. The Cuisinart and Sunbeam were the top performers. The Mighty Chef was considered a pretty good buy. They also tested several other machines. If you would like more details from the report, either phone my office at 384-3737, or write Box 270, Sedgewick.

International Energy Conservation Month

October, 1979, has been declared "International Conservation Month". This month, efforts are being made to encourage wise use of energy in countries around the world.

The average North American family uses 100 times more energy than the average South American family.

In Alberta, over 90% of our electrical energy comes from non-renewable resources.

Watch the next few newscolumns for some energy saving ideas.

Canning Tomatoes

The Blue Flame Kitchen recommends using (if desired) ½ teaspoon salt per pint, 1 teaspoon per quart or 2 teaspoons sugar-salt mixture (1 part salt mixed with 2 parts sugar).

Home economists are also recommending the addition of ¼ tsp. citric acid (or 1 tablespoon vinegar) to each pint of tomatoes or a ½ tsp citric acid (or 2 tbsp vinegar) for each quart. The new varieties of tomatoes being developed are low acid which means they will not inhibit bacterial growth. The use of citric acid increases acidity and decreases the chance of spoilage.

From Here To Equality:

This is the name of the Alberta Status of Women Action Committee 4th Annual Conference. The conference will be held October 19, 20, 21, 1979, and it's free, thanks to the Provincial Legislature. Some of the workshop available include Women and Violence, Day Care, Women on Welfare, and much more. For more details contact my office at 384-3737 or write Box 270, Sedgewick, Alberta.

Fire in Alberta

For every fifty residential fires in Alberta, one person dies and seven are injured. Last year there were approximately 3,400 residential fires in the province. Most were started by the careless use of smoker's materials or by children playing with matches.

Fires are costly. The average loss per residential fire is $7,000. Many fires destroy an entire home and the family.

It is important to remember that smoke alarms don't prevent fires; they help give people time to escape. By installing them in your home, lives may be saved and property losses reduced. However, only YOU can prevent a fire. Practice fire prevention.

Edward Young passes at 91

The late Edward C. Young was born on April 9th, 1888 at Pullman, Washington. Ed passed away on August 18, 1979 at the age of 91 in the Killam Flagstaff Hospital.

In the winter of 1909 - February 13 Ed and Martha Cora Gill were united in marriage. They moved to Canada in September of 1915 where they began farming in the Killam district. In 1924 they moved to Pairie Park and five years later they moved to Willow Hollow district where they lived until Ed retired in 1959 in the town of Killam.

Ed is survived by his son Lloyd and wife Esther, three grandchildren Doug and wife Val of Valleyview, Dariyne and husband Tom of Forestburg and Eddie and wife Dale of Hinton and five great grandchildren.

Ed will be remembered for his love of sports and helping his friends in time of need.

Fond memories will always be as a father, a grandfather, and a great Grandfather.

He will be deeply missed by all.

Card of Thanks

We would like to extend our sincere thanks to the Killam Auxiliary Hospital staff and Dr. Amin for the wonderful care given to our father and grandfather during his lengthy illness.

Thanks to the pallbearers, friends and neighbours for the floral tributes, cards of sympathy, memorials and baking brought to the house. Also thanks to Mrs. Wilson and Rev. McLaughlin.

Special thanks to Bill and Dot Morgan for all they did and to Shirley Dammann, Barb Smolnki, Gertie Brodie, and Alma Uyrmsh for serving lunch after the funeral.

Alberta at the crossroads.

Alberta is energy self-sufficient today. But we must act now to assure supplies for the future. That means giving conservation the right of way. We can do a lot to ensure tomorrow's energy availability by doing little things right now.

For instance:
- Insulate your basement walls.
- Set your thermostat at 20°C (68°F) during the day and 17°C (63°F) at night.
- Use a timer for your car block heater and set it to come on two or three hours before starting your car.
- Form a car pool.
- Keep your clothes dryer lint-free.

Use what you need — but need what you use. Wise energy management is not a sacrifice! Give the right of way to energy conservation and Alberta's energy.

For more energy management ideas, contact one of Alberta's Energy Utilities.

News from Killam Agriplex

Bring the whole family to the Agriplex for rollerskating. For the month of October family rollerskating will be every Wednesday 7 - 9 p.m., Fridays 7 - 9 p.m., Saturdays 10-12 a.m. and 7-9 p.m. and Sundays 2-4 p.m.

Fridays from 9-11 p.m. there will be a special teen time for disco rollerskating. All interested teens are welcomed to attend.

Bowling leagues will be having meetings in the near future to organize their leagues. Everyone is welcomed to join and for information contact the agriplex at 385-3617.

The last teen swim was very successful. There were about 35 teens and everyone enjoyed themselves. There will be two more teen swims in November and will be announced later.

Wednesday from 2-4 p.m. there is public swimming. We were very happy to see that 12 seniors attended. This is great and was a spill over from our Senior Citizen's Week. All interested swimmers of all ages are encouraged to attend.

Don't forget that Monday and Wednesday nights from 7-8 p.m. there is lane swim. This means participants can only swim lengths. To you people who wish to practise your strokes and indulge in an excellent form of physical exercise lane swims are ideal. Monthly swim passes are not accepted for these times.

Friday, September 28 was an unused and exciting scene for the young people at the Killam Agriplex. The pool committee had previously organized several C.H.E.D. discos for the teenagers and upon request organized another mini-disco for the younger children.

Approximately eighty-one children enjoyed the disco-best to all their favorite records, played by Janet Barth and June Geir. The sound system was supplied by Jacky Crozier.

Many came with their children and enjoyed watching the dancing.

Alberta Agriculture

TODAY & TOMORROW
By Dallas W. Schmidt
Alberta Minister of Agriculture

Several weeks ago I wrote a column on the Crow Rate. In it I discussed the complexity of the problem and raised some of the questions surrounding this issue. In that article I also tried to point out that the average farmer is being severely hampered by the Crow Rate because it has indirectly initiated large and unnecessary restrictions, too much inflexibility and too few incentives in the Canadian grain handling and transportation sector.

That initial column covered only the basics. There are several related problems I intend to tackle in more detail. One such area I would now like to explore, one that is symptomatic of the problem, is grain quotas.

Grain quotas have existed in Canada for well over a quarter-century. They were originally implemented so that all farmers would have equal opportunity to market their grain during times of limited export sales. And even at the start many claimed that the quota base was inequitable; therefore, quotas weren't equitable.

Regardless, as the 50's and 60's rolled by, the use of these quotas changed. Remember, they were originally developed to give farmers equal access to export sales and to indicate what type of grain the world market was demanding.

Today, quotas are supposed to give farmers equal access to an overburdened elevator and transportation system. They are the result of a system that has not gotten the message that improvements are needed. In effect, instead of forcing changes in the handling and transportation sector, quotas have passed the problem back to the farmer by limiting what he can sell. So what they have really created is the world's cheapest storage system, one totally paid for by producers.

Canada's grain transport network has been deteriorating for almost three decades. We were fortunate during the mid-50's and again in the mid-60's that large export sales, made first to the U.S.S.R. and then to China, combined with lower than average crops to help us reduce our large grain stockpiles.

During this period quota philosophy also changed several times. At first quotas prevented grain deliveries during times when grain couldn't be sold; then they prevented deliveries when it couldn't be shipped. The important point is — quotas prevent deliveries.

Today, we stand on the edge of a world grain market that can use everything Canada can produce. Prices are high and are expected to rise further; yet, our farmers are being forced to decide whether or not to decrease plantings because it could be many years before their product is ever moved.

As they stand the quotas haven't always served to give farmers equal access to the grain transport system. Like any good business the Canadian Wheat Board (CWB), faced with a limited transport capacity, has tended to move as much high-value product as it can. That means quotas have often been used to give wheat priority over barley, oats and rye. This approach ensures that Canada gets maximum income from the system; however, it also means that Alberta farmers, forced by climate to grow shorter-season crops, do not have the equal access to the marketing system that the CWB is supposed to guarantee.

Yes, Alberta farmers can produce more wheat. In the coming years new wheat types are expected to become increasingly important on world markets, and varieties are being developed for various Alberta regions. But new varieties take years to develop, and even modern technology will be hardpressed to get new wheats into general supply before the late 1980's.

You know, the Canadian Wheat Board isn't the total villain in this piece. Its use of quotas makes common sense given the present situation, and quotas can be used in a positive fashion when they're opened up to attract certain types of grain required in the 'grain pipeline'.

But too often this grain has been wheat. Canada can't survive just on wheat sales. There are too many areas where shorter season crops like barley are the only reasonable alternative. And until transport capacity is improved those regions will probably suffer because there is no way huge quantities of these cheaper products can be moved without lowering the gross value of Canadian agricultural export sales.

The CWB has also been delinquent in cases where quotas are unnecessarily hurting Alberta farmers. These problems again stem from limited transport capacity.

For instance, domestic feed grain quotas now mean that the local market is a dumping ground for products we can't sell abroad. Since the CWB is concentrating on higher value crops, we move less feed grain. Feed grain producers require cash to operate, so they must sell their crops on the Canadian market. Since they can't move feed grains into plugged elevators, the provincial market becomes saturated, and prices no longer have any relation at all to the world feed grain prices.

COME ALIVE . . .

By Lorne Fisher

Uganda Is Free

Uganda has been enjoying her freedom from dark-ages fear. Over her whole countryside hung a mist of murder and death. Every pathway, every street, every avenue shivered in fright as terrified feet scrambled for safety. Mankind had not experienced such coldblooded, unchecked murder and torture for many years. It was a situation unheard of in our day. But now, Uganda is free.

We would never go to such a country and become hostages, yet I question whether we are as free as we say? Can we come and go as we want? Are we at liberty to buy and sell as we desire? Are we without any sense of fear in a so-called free country?

I am seeing more men becoming fearful as they are restricted in selling their crops. It is harder now, in any business to not have second thoughts about starting, in case unions take over. Economy goes up the scale and down again. Every one sighs not in relief but in a sense of fear. Confusion and anxiety I believe are the worst enemies of our economy and country.

The Bible says men's hearts shall fail them because of fear. What do they fear? They fear insecurity, depression, recession, poverty, sickness, hatred, greed, death, isolation, divorces, mortage payments and bankruptcy. All these are legitimate concerns and very much alive in our world.

Is there a way to peace and happiness?

Matthew 6:33 says "Seek ye first the kingdom of God" When God says first, He doesn't mean secondly. He is of such a mind that you must urgently deny all else and totally give yourself to know and do his ways, then you can be assured of security. God said that a man will only be at peace when his mind is totally lodged on God.

My friend, Uganda suffered eight long years under a terrible dictator. You could suffer many more years of bondage under the dictator of fear who actions have no respect to anyone except to the person who actions, attitudes and desires are in God's favor and is willing to take a chance that God has every thing under His control.

Seek the Kingdom. Seek God and receive an easy yoke. God is not a free-loader, nor is he a loafer. God has promised to pull and push with us individually. If you do let God take your affairs then fear will disappear, anxiety turns into trust and God steps in and takes you out of your Ugands.

Successful Arthritis campaign

The 1979 Arthritis Society Canvas in the Sedgewick area has been a fantastic success.

It is the first time this project has been conducted here and the canvassers were well received and people were most generous.

With four canvassers in the rural area- Inga Jacobsen, Mina Markwart, May Hampshire and Daisy Toppe, a total of $302.00 was collected.

Mrs. Nora Bergseth very ably covered the business section and collected $132.00

Everett Mayne canvassed the County Office to the tune of $38.00.

The town of Sedgewick saw fourteen canvassers converge on the town on the evening of September 17 to collect $580.25. Town canvas Volunteers were: Doris Lee, Gracie Robertson, Molly Bruce, Jean Ferrier, Helen Alexander, Mary Abott, Margaret Calbert, Mary Wilson, Pat Erickson, Georgina Brasslington, Rosemary Lesk, Harriet Wilson, Ruby Farquharson and Cathy McBride.

The whole canvas brought a total of $1,002.25.

Hat's off to all these volunteers for a job well done-a first time in this community for the Arthritic Society.

Donnie Pryor and family from Westlock spent the weekend with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Pryor.

Ed Slavik and son Darren from Fort St. John, B.C. spent the weekend in Daysland visiting friends and relatives. Mrs. Ester Slavik has been holidaying here for three weeks with sisters Bertha Olsen and Mrs. Walter Kosinski and other relatives.

Other visitors recently at Mrs. O. B. Olsen's home were: Rev. and Mrs. A. Heltne and Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Carlgren from Norway, Kansas. Mrs. Evelyne Heltne and Ivan Carlgren were Oscar Olsen's first cousins.

Then earlier this summer Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tiller from Brandon, Manitoba visited Mrs. Olsen. Harry was another cousin of Oscar's.

Mrs. Olsen's other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Exley from Gig Harbor, Washington. Mrs. Agnes Exley was Mrs. Esther Sr.'s cousin.

The U.C.W. meeting was held October 4 in the United Church Social room with President Betty Koehli opening the meeting. The devotion was read by Anna Boggs which was written by Rev. Tuttle. The roll call was answered by 14 members and there were 90 visits to the sick. Dorothy McDevitt took the secretary's chair in the absence of Phyllis Gabruch.

There were three thank you cards read. The supper for the Masons Lodge November 2nd was discussed and circle one was put in charge of it. A motion was made that we would cater to a wedding next June 28th so it was tabled till later.

The meeting adjourned and Betty Hill gave the program. A lovely lunch was served by hostess Erma McCarroll and her helpers Dorothy McDevitt and Norma Hanrahan.

We were sorry to here that Vic Gabruck was taken sick and rushed to an Edmonton hospital for an operation. Hope you will soon be better Vic.

Nice to see Henry Koehli home after his stay in the Daysland Hospital.

The first monthly parents meeting was held October 1 with several mothers present as well as teacher Mrs. June Rittammer, teacher's aid Mrs. Kay Reist and her helper Mrs. Linda Tulloch. The main topic for discussion was out of town field trips. The first out of town trip is October 5th which includes a trip to Byers Flour Mill and the Airport in Camrose. An outline of out of town trips planned for the year was given to each parent.

Power contract approved

Edmonton Power has signed a five-year contract with Alberta Power Limited (APL) to purchase half the output of a 375-MW generating unit now under construction at APL's Battle River plant near Forestburg.

Under the terms of the agreement ratified by the Public Utilities Board, city-owned Edmonton Power will pay just over $36 million a year for its half share of the unit's capacity. Approximately $7 million a year will be refunded to the city by APL under present tax legislation (95 per cent of the federal and 100 per cent of the provincial income tax paid by Alberta Power is refunded to the utility and rebated to individual customers).

Scheduled for completion in mid-1981, the $240 million addition to APL's Battle River plant is located near Forestburg, about 200 kilometres southeast of Edmonton.

The two utilities see the purchase agreement as mutually beneficial. According to Ed Kyte, general manager of Edmonton Power, the City will be paying Alberta Power the actual cost of producing the electricity received.

"The short term nature of this contract suits us," said Kyte, "because we will be replacing power supplied under this agreement with power generated by the Genesee power station when it has been approved and constructed by 1986 or 1987." Edmonton Power intends to obtain the bulk of its long-term requirements from the proposed coal-fired Genesee power station because of its close proximity to Edmonton and the fact that the City owns a large portion of the coal rights in the area.

APL's vice-president in charge of planning, Keith Provost said, "The sale allows Alberta Power customers to obtain the benefit of the higher efficiency and lower cost of per KW of a large generating unit without having to pay the cost of the added capacity until it is required in the mid 1980's.

Mr. Provost added, "The sale agreement clearly demonstrates the benefits of joint planning for generating facilities and the advantages that can result from co-operative arrangements between utilities."

The Conspiracy

There's a conspiracy at my house. And it has just one aim - to get me! I really don't know what I've done to deserve such enmity, but I know its there. At first I thought that various things that happened were just accidents but I'm convinced now that it's all part of a carefully planned strategy.

I'm not sure who is the head of these plotters but I suspect the bed. Anyone else can go in my bedroom in perfect safety but with me its quite different. As I walk around the end of the bed it moves a small fraction. Just enough to catch my leg or ankle with a bump that results in a bruise. The dressing table and high boy get into the act sometimes and my hip bears the evidence. Even the mattress helps out as it always breaks at least one of my finger nails as I'm turning it. So far I have been able to sleep peacefully but I'm expecting anytime to be suddenly awaked as that bed decides to collapse.

The living room furniture isn't quite so vicious. The coffee table has banged my shins and I've had a couple of shocks from the TV and the china cabinet has pinched my fingers but it doesn't seem to have a really mean streak.

The kitchen is a very dangerous place. I know that occasionally the oven does not get the attention it should have. But does that mean that it should burn me so frequently? Its getting so that I hardly dare open the door without donning oven mitts and four pot holders. This viciousness extends to the top of the stove. Not only does it give me the odd burn but it consistently waits till my back is turned to boil over whatever I'm cooking, so making extra cleaning for me.

Then the cupboard doors have a habit of flying open just as I'm bending foreward. So far they haven't knocked me out but I know that's their aim. The refridgerator is fairly reasonable although the freezer compartment has snapped shut on my hand a couple of times.

The small appliances give support. The kettle spouts steam at me, the toaster burns my fingers when I fish for the toast it didn't pop up. The mix master can't get my fingers so it chews the spatula. As for the iron - burns galore.

I regarded the deep freezer's habit of hiding things as a minor inconvenience until I emerged from a long searching session with burns on two fingers. So far I haven't met anyone else who has been burnt by a deep freezer.

I hope that the new washer and dryer were not going to get caught up in this diabolical plot. But just yesterday the washer lid dropped shut on my arm, causing me to jump backward. So giving the cupboard the opportunity to give me a sharp dig in the shoulder blade. It'll most likely spread to the dryer next. And from there on and on.

Of course my husband says if I look where I was going and slowed down a bit such things wouldn't happen. But I know better. As I said - there's a conspiracy against me.

Lougheed library has two day week

The month of October has come upon us with beautiful weather. How long it will last we dont know but are making the best of it while it is good. Still golden and autumn colored leaves and green grass. We haven't had time to even think of our winter clothes yet. It is a beautiful fall. The garden have done its share to supply us with very healthy looking and delicious vegetables, and plenty of them too.

Congratulations to Randy and Dianne Johnson who recently had a baby girl.

Even the chickens think its spring instead of fall. Mrs. Essie Drager's daughter Vivian Barker of Edson had a spring hatched pullet lay a nest of eggs and she hatched off 11 chicks last week. So this pullet is doing her best to help out with the food situation.

Mrs. Margaret Denham is home after spending a few days with daughter Jean and Alf Blumhagen and family of Galahad.

Mr. Ted Drager, and Alma Poli of Wetaskiwin, also Mr. George Hots of Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick spent a day last week with Mrs. Essie Drager.

Mr. Pete Grove is home after spending some time in a hospital in Edmonton and Hardisty. Nice to know Pete is much better, and he says no place like being home, although the hospital is best when you are really sick. Any way welcome home we all missed you Pete.

The Women's Institute Library will be open starting on Thursday October 11 and Saturday October 13 at 2:30 to 4:30 from this date on. So get busy and read now. They do have a lot of new books in too.

Mrs. Minnie Oliver is in the Hardisty Hospital. We wish you a speedy recovery.

Mr. Orval Probst and Mrs. Cissy Clark of Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick spent a lovely afternoon with Molly Perseyhough one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Maraschal and Janet of Domremy, Saskatchewan, have returned home after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Maraschal and boys. Also Margurite Johnson, Stacey and Chantell of Edmonton were visiting them last weekend.

The Lougheed Welcome Centre are starting their whist drives on Thursday, November 8th. So keep this in mind card players.

Don't forget to phone me your Thanksgiving news for next news. I know you will have had relatives or friends or going away yourselves this past weekend.

Hardisty plans history book

Congratulations to Cindy Huddlestone who won the TV in the draw at Gordie's Bigway opening.

Eileen Crouch of Edmonton was a recent weekend visitor with Joe and Anna Saruga. Eileen is interested in Hardisty history.

Recently Mrs. Alvina Parsons motored to Lougheed where she had dinner with Essie Drager. The two then called on Mrs. Hannah Jones and Mrs. McClements and Mrs. Parsons took them out for lunch. It is nice for Lodge residents to go for a drive as it is a nice change for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howard of Winnipeg visited with his sister-in-law Mrs. A. Parsons and her family for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bell have returned from Chilliwak recently.

Such a nice surprise of Thursday when we four had dinner at Seto's Lounge and who should be having dinner too was Mrs. Bob Quast, her sister-in-law Lydia Quast with daughters Ruth and her husband Fred Fano of Hanna. It is always nice to see Lydia and family and coming from Hanna where trees are not plentiful they thought our trees so beautiful.

Annie Whitehead's brother Andy and his wife Marlise, brought Annie's parents Carl and Inez Sandell from Seattle to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at the Whitehead home. They enjoyed a family dinner with a beautiful cake made and decorated by Heline Busk.

In the afternoon old friends from the Rosyth area came to wish the Sandells many more happy anniversaries.

It certainly was a lovely time to come to these parts as the trees and hills have been so beautiful with their fall colors.

To those who felt that last Saturday was the finish of the farmer's market at the arena they have decided to extend it to October 13th.

We welcome Ian and Sharon Whitehead to Hardisty where Ian works for I.P.L. taking Joe Saruga's place. We are sure that Joe will enjoy regular hours now, no more shift work.

At the Septembe meeting of the Hardisty Social Club on Tuesday afternoon, a project that has been in the planning for some time was finalized. The Club will set up a used paper depot on the corner lot next to Bud's Service Station. A trailer van, purchased by a grant from the Alberta Environment will be in place in 6 to 8 weeks. Meanwhile a small storage shed will be placed there. June Salamandick of the "Papercycle", Edmonton, visited the meeting and showed a film on recycling of paper, cars and glass, with a talk that was most interesting. Newspapers and similar paper are to be bundled separately.

The History Book committee met on Tuesday evening with 11 people attending. Material had been received from Freisen Printers and the Alberta Archives offering assistance in the setting up of the book. It was decided to have Freisen Printers do the publishing. A workshop will be held on Tuesday afternoon, October 30, when Mr. Al. Granger of Freisen's will give advice on the project. Notices will be sent out on this later. It should be born in mind that while the Social Club is sponsoring this project the work will need the help of all ages to make it a success.
